n Signifying, that of the Iewes should com[e] such, as should builde againe the ruines of Ierusalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is ment of the spirituall Ierusalem: whose builders were the Apostles.

13 If thou [o] turne away thy foote frō the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holie day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to cōsecrate it, [as] glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, o If thou refraine thy selfe from thy wicked workes.

14 Then shalt thou delite in the Lorde, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, & feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lorde hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities. 12 The confession of sinnes. 16 God alone wil preserue his Church, though all men faile.

Nomb. 11.23. chap. 50.2.

BEhold, * the Lordes hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his eare heauie, that it cannot heare.

Iere. 5.25.

2 But * your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hid [his] face from you, that he will not heare.

3 For your handes are defiled with [a] blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lippes haue spoken lies [and] your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

a Reade Chap. 1.15.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man [b] contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vayne things: they cōceiue mischief, and [c] bring forth iniquitie.

b Al mē winke at the iniuries and oppressiōs, and none go about to remedy them.

c According to their wicked deuises, they hurt their neighbours.

5 They hatch cockatrice [d] egges, and weaue the spiders [e] webbe: hee that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

d Whatsoeuer cōmeth from them is poyson and bringeth death.

e They are profitable to no purpose.

6 Their webbes shalbe no garment, neither shal they couer themselues with their labours: [for] their workes [are] workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie [is] in their hands.

7 Their feete runne to euill, & they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughtes: desolation and destruction [is] in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there [is] none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not knowe peace.

9 Therefore is [f] iudgement farre frō vs, neither doeth [g] iustice come neere vnto vs: We waite for light, but lo, it [is] darkenes: for brightnes, [but] we walke in darkenes.

f That is, Gods vengeance to punish our enemies.

g Gods protection to defende vs.

10 Wee grope for the wall like the [h] blinde, and wee grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: [we are] in solitarie places, as dead men.

h We are altogether destitute of counsell and can finde no ende of our miseries.

11 We roare all like [i] beares, & mourne like doues: wee looke for equitie, but there [is] none: for health, [but] it is farre from vs.

i We expresse our sorowes by outward signes, some more some lesse.

12 For our trespasses are manie before thee, and our [k] sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses [are] with vs, and we knowe our iniquities.

k This confession is general to the Church to obtaine remissiō of sinnes and the Prophets did not exempt themselues from the same.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, [&] haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, cōceiuing and vttering out of the heart false [l] matters.

l To wit, against our neighbours.

14 Therefore [m] iudgement is turned backeward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

m There is neither iustice nor vprightnes among men.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe [n] a pray: and when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, ɣ there [was] no iudgemēt.

n The wicked will destroy him.

16 And whē he saw that there [was] no man, he wondred that none would offer offer himselfe. o Therefore his arme did p saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousnesse, as an habergeon, and an q helmet of saluation vpon his head, & he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As [to make] recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries [with] a recompence to his enemies: he wil fully repay the r ylands.

19 So shal they feare the name of the Lord from the west, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for ſ enemie shall come like a flood: [but] the Spirite of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the redeemer shal come vnto Zion, and vnto t them that turne from iniquitie in Jaakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I wil [make] this my couenãt with them, saith the Lord, My Spirite that is vpon thee, and my words, which I haue put in thy mouth, u shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lorde, from henceforth euen for euer.

o Meaning, to do iustice, and to remedie the things that were so farre out of order.
p That is, his Church: or his arme did helpe it selfe, and did not seeke aide of any other.
q Signifying, that God hath all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church and to punish their enemies.
r To wit, your enemies, which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.
ſ He sheweth that there shall be great affliction in the Church, but God will euer deliuer his.
t Whereby he declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne and Satan belongeth to none, but to the children of God, whom he iustifieth.
u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the spirite, he ioyneth the one with the other, and promiseth to giue them both to his Church for euer.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shal come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shal haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

ARyse, [O Jerusalem:] bee bryght, for thy a light is come, and the glory of the Lorde is risen vpon thee.

2 For behold, darknes shal couer the b earth, and grosse darkenes the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, & his glory shalbe seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shal walke in c thy light, and Kings at the brightnes of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about, and behold: al d these are gathered, [and] come to thee: thy sonnes shal come from farre, and thy daughters shall be nourished at [thy] side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shalbe astonied e and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The f multitude of camels shall couer thee: and ŷ dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shewe forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe g of Kedar shalbe gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine h altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these i that flee like a cloud, and as the doues to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shall waite for me, and the shippes k of Tarshish, as at the beginning, ŷ they may bring thy sonnes from farre, [and] their siluer, and their golde with them, vnto the Name of the Lorde thy God, & to the holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall buylde vp thy walles, and their l Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they bee shut that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought.

12 For the nation & the m kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed.

13 The n glory of Lebanon shal come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my o feete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shal come & bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall p downe at the soles of thy feete: & they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zion of the holy one of Israel.

15 Where as thou hast bene forsaken & hated, so that no man went [by thee,] I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, & shalt sucke the q breastes of Kings: and thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Jaakob.

17 For brasse will I bring golde, and for yron wil I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernemẽt r peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of a The time of thy prosperitie and felicitie: whereas speaking of Babylon he commanded her to go downe, Chap.47.1.

b Signifying, that all men are in darknes till God giue them the light of his spirit, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church.
c Meaning, that Judea shoulde be as the morning starre and that the Gentiles shoulde receiue light of her.
d An infinite nomber from all countreys, as Chap.49.18.
e For ioy, as the heart is drawen in for sorowe.
f Meaning, that euery one shal honour the Lord with that, wherewith he is able: signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except wee offer our selues to serue his glory, and all that we haue.
g That is, the Arabians that haue great abundance of cattell.
h Because the altar was a figure of Christ Heb.13.10: he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him, which is not offred to him by this altar, who was both ŷ offring and the altar it selfe.
i Shewing what great nomber shall come to the Church and with what great diligence and zeale.
k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friendes and setters forth of the Church.
l Meaning, Cyrus and his successours: but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuerted by his Gospel.
m He sheweth that God hath giuen all power and authoritie here in the earth for ŷ vse of his Church: and that they which will not serue and profit ŷ same, shall be destroyed.
n There is nothing so excellent which shal not serue the necessitie of the Church.
o Signifying, that Gods maiestie is not included in the temple, which is but ŷ place for his feete, ŷ we may learne to rise vp to the heauens.
p To worship their head Christ by obeying his doctrine.
q Both hie & lowe shall be readie to helpe and succour thee.
r Thy gouernours shall loue thee and seeke thy wealth and prosperitie.

in thy lande, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call [f] saluation, thy walles, & praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnes of the [t] moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy sunne shall neuer go downe, neither shall thy moone bee hid: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorowe shalbe ended.

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous: they shal possesse [ŷ] land for euer, the [u] graffe of my planting shalbe the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A litle one shal become as a [x] thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophesieth that Christ shalbe anoynted and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

THe * Spirit of the Lord God [is] [a] vpon me, therefore hath the Lord anoynted mee: hee hath sent me to preache good tidinges vnto the poore, to binde vp the [b] broken hearted, to preach libertie to the [c] captiues, and to them that are bounde, the opening of the prison,

2 To preach the [d] acceptable yeere of the Lorde, and the day of [e] vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoynt vnto thē that mourne in Zion, [and] to giue vnto them beautie for [f] ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnes for the spirite of heauines, [ŷ] they might be called [g] trees of righteousnes, [ŷ] planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall build the olde waste places, [and] raise vp the former desolations, & they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many [h] generations.

5 And the strangers shall [i] stand and feede your sheepe, & the sonnes of [ŷ] strāgers shalbe your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shall be named [k] the Priests of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: ye shall eate the riches of the [l] Gentiles, and shall be exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame [you shall receiue] [m] double, and for confusion [n] they shal reioyce in [o] their portion: for in their lande they shal possesse [ŷ] [p] double: euerlasting ioy shalbe vnto them.

8 For I the Lorde loue iudgement [and] hate [q] robberie for burnt offering, and I will direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And [r] their seede shalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them, shall knowe thē, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.

10 [s] I will greatly reioyce in [ŷ] Lord, [and] my soule shalbe ioyful in my God: for hee hath clothed mee with the garments of saluatiō, and couered me with the robe of righteousnesse: hee hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tireth her selfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her budde, and as the garden causeth to growe that which is sowen in it: so the Lorde God will cause righteousnesse to growe and prayse before all the heathen.

CHAP. LXII.

The great desire that the Prophets haue had for Christs comming. 6 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

FOr Zions sake I will not [a] hold my tongue, and for Jerusalems sake I will not rest, vntill the righteousnes therof breake forth as the [b] light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shal see thy righteousnesse, and all kings thy glory: and thou shalt bee called by [c] a newe name, which [ŷ] mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also be a [d] crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, [e] Forsaken, neither shall it bee sayde any more to thy lande, Desolate, but [ŷ] shalt be called ‖ Hephzi-bah, & thy land ‖ Beulah: for the Lord deliteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an [f] husband.

5 For [as] a yong man marieth a virgine, [so] shall thy sonnes [g] marry thee: & [as] a bridegrome is glad of the bride, [so] shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set [h] watchmen vpon thy walles, O Jerusalem, which al the day and all the night continually shall not cease: [i] ye that are mindeful of the Lord, [f] Meaning, not a temporall felicitie, but a spirituall, which is fulfilled in Christs kingdome.

[t] Signifying, [ŷ] all worldly meanes shall cease, and that Christ shallbe all in all, as Reuel. 21, 22, and 22, 5.

[u] The children of the Church.

[x] Meaning, [ŷ] the Church should be miraculously multiplied.

Luke 4.18.

[a] This appertaineth to all the Prophets and ministers of God, but chiefely to Christ, of whose abundant graces euery one receiueth according as it pleaseth him to distribute.

[b] To thē that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes.

[c] Which are in the bondage of sinne.

[d] The time when it pleased God to shewe his good fauour to mā, which Saint Paul calleth the fulnes of time, Gal. 4.4.

[e] For when God deliuereth his church, he punisheth his enemies.

[f] Which was the signe of mourning.

[g] Trees that bring foorth good fruites, as Matth. 3.8.

[h] That is, for a long time.

[i] They shalbe ready to serue you in all your necessities.

[k] This is accomplished in the time of Christ, by whom al the faithful are made Priests and Kings, 1. Pet. 2.9. reue. 1.6. & 5.10.

[l] Reade Chap. 60.11,16.

[m] Abundant recompence, as this word is vsed, Chap. 40.2.

[n] That is, the Jewes.

[o] To wit, of [ŷ] Gentiles.

[p] Where as the Gentiles had dominion ouer the Jewes in times past, nowe they shall haue double autoritie ouer them and possesse twise so much.

[q] I will not receiue their offring, which are extortioners, deceiuers, hypocrites, or that depriue me of my glory.

[r] That is, of the Church.

[s] He sheweth what shalbe the affection, when they feele this their deliuerance.

[a] The Prophet saith [ŷ] hee will neuer cease to declare vnto the people the good tidings of their deliuerance.

[b] Til they haue full deliuerāce: and this [ŷ] Prophet speaketh to incourage al other ministers to the setting forth of Gods mercies towarde his Church.

[c] Thou shalt haue a more excellent fame then thou hast had hitherto.

[d] He shall esteeme thee as deere and precious, as a King doth his crowne.

[e] Thou shalt no more be cōtemned as a woman forsaken of her husband.

‖ Or, my delite in her.

‖ Or, maried. [f] That it may be replenished with children. [g] Forasmuch as they confesse one faith and religion with thee, they are in [ŷ] same bond of mariage with thee: and they are called the children of the Church, in as much as Christ maketh her plentifull to bring forth children vnto him. [h] Prophets, pastors, and ministers. [i] He exhorteth the ministers neuer to cease to call vpon God by prayer for the deliuerance of his Church, and to teach others to do the same.

keepe

keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire and vntill he set vp Ierusalem ỹ [k] prayse of the world.

8 The Lorde hath sworne by his right hand & by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thy corne to bee meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shal eate it, and prayse the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shal drinke it in ỹ courts of my Sanctuarie.

10 [l] Goe through, goe through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones [and] set vp a standart for the people.

11 Beholde, the Lorde hath proclaymed vnto the endes of the worlde: [m] tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Sauiour commeth: beholde, his wages [is] with him, and [n] his worke [is] before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A [o] citie sought out [and] not forsaken.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods benefites towardes his Church.

WHo is this that commeth [a] frō Edom, with red garmentes from Bozrah: he is glorious in his apparell and walketh in his great strength. [b] I speake in righteousnesse, [and] am mightie to saue.

2 [c] Wherefore is thine apparel redde, and thy garmēts like him that treadeth in the wine presse?

3 I haue trodē the wine presse alone, and of all people there [was] none with me: for I will treade them in mine anger, and treade them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shalbe sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will stayne all my raiment.

4 For the daye of vengeance [is] in mine heart, and the [d] yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, & I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne [e] arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therfore I will treade downe the people in my wrath, & make thē [f] drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will [g] remember the mercies of the Lord [and] the prayses of the Lord according vnto all that the Lorde hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward ỹ house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For hee saide, Surely they are my [h] people, children that will not lie: so hee was their Sauiour.

9 In all their troubles he was [i] troubled, and ỹ Angell [k] of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and hee bare them & caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled & vexed his holy spirit: therfore was he turned to be their enemie [and] he fought against them.

11 Then he [l] remembred the olde time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with ỹ [m] shepheard of his sheepe? where is he ỹ put his holy Spirit within [n] him?

12 He led [them] by the right hand of Moses with his own glorious arme, deuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name.

13 He led them through the deepe, as an [o] horse in the wildernesse, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the spirit of the Lorde gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 [p] Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holinesse, and of thy glory. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, & of thy compassions? they are restrained from [r] me.

16 Doubtlesse thou art our Father: though [f] Abrahā bee ignorant of vs, and Israel knowe vs not, [yet] thou, O Lorde, art our Father, [and] our redeemer: thy Name [is] for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast [t] thou made vs k For the restauration whereof al the worlde shall praise him.

l Signifying the great nūber that should come to the Church, and what meanes he would prepare for the restitution of the same, as Chap. 57.14.
m Yee Prophets and ministers shewe the people of this their deliuerance: which was chiefly meant of our saluation by Christ, Zach. 9. 9. matth. 21. 5.
n He shal haue all power to bring his purpose to passe, as Chap. 40. 10.
o That is, one ouer whome God hath had a singular care to recouer her when she was lost.

a This Prophesie is against the Idumeans, and enemies which persecuted the Church, on whom God will take vengeance, and is here set foorth all bloody after that he hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe citie of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcision, and the kinred of Abraham claimed to them selues the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers. Psa. 137. 7.
b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and sayeth, Yee see nowe performed in deede the vengeance, which my Prophetes threatned.
c Another question, to the which the Lorde answereth.
d Shewing, that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profit and deliuerance of his Church.
e God sheweth that he hath no neede of mans helpe for the deliuerāce of his, and though men refuse to do their duetie through negligence and ingratitude, yet he himselfe wil deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies. Reade Chap. 59. 16.
f I will so astonie them, and make them so giddie, that they shall not knowe, which way to go.
g The Prophet speaketh this to moue ỹ people to remember Gods benefites in times past, that they may be cōfirmed in their troubles.
h For I dyd chuse thē to be mine, that they should be holy, & not deceiue mine expectation.
i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne.
k Which was a witnes of gods presence: & this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth ỹ office of saluation.
l That is, ỹ people of Israel being afflicted, called to remēbrance Gods benefits which he had bestowed vpō their fathers in times past.
m Meaning, Moses.
n That is, in Moses, that he might well gouerne ỹ people: some referre this giuing of the Spirit to the people.
o Peaceably & gently, as an horse is led to his pasture.
p Hauing declared Gods benefits shewed to their forefathers, he turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue the same graces toward thē.
q Thy great affection which thou baredst towards vs.
r Meaning, from ỹ whole body of the Church.
f Though Abrahā would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our father.
t By taking away thy holy spirit from vs, by whom we were gouerned, & so for our ingratitude didst deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiscence, and didst punish sinne by sinne according to thy iust iudgement.

to erre from thy wayes: [and] hardened our heart from thy feare: Returne for thy [u] seruantes sake, [and] for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it, but a litle [x] while: for our aduersaries haue trodē downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue byn [as they,] ouer whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

u Meaning, for the couenants sake made to Abrahā, Izhak and Iaakob his seruants.
x That is, in respect of the promes, which is perpetuall: albeit they had nowe possessed the lande of Canaan, a thousand and foure hundreth yere: and thus they lament, to moue God rather to remember his couenant then to punish their sinnes.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthie cloth.

O H, that thou wouldest [a] breake the heauens, [and] come downe, [and] that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, [as] the fire caused [b] ye waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, [and] the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world they haue not [c] heard nor vnderstande with the eare, neither hath the eye seene [an other] God beside thee, which doeth [so] to him that waited for him.

5 Thou didest meete him, [d] that reioyced [in thee,] & dyd iustly: they remēbred thee in thy [e] waies: behold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: [yet] in [f] them [is] continuance, and we [g] shalbe saued.

6 But we haue al byn as an vncleane thing and all our [h] righteousnesse [is] as filthie clouts, & we all do fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there [is] none that calleth vpon thy Name, neyther that stirreth vp himself to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But nowe, O Lorde, thou art our father: We are the [i] clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angrie, O Lorde, [k] aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: loe, We beseech thee beholde, We are all thy people.

10 [l] Thine holie cities lie waste: Zion is a wildernes, [and] Jerusalē a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie and of our glorie, [m] where our fathers prayesed thee, is burnt vp with fire, and al our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou hold thy self stil [n] at these thinges, O Lorde: Wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure:

a The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to declare his loue towarde his Church by miracles, and mightie power as he did in Mount Sinai.
b Meaning, the raine, haile, fire, thunder, & lightnings.
c Saint Paule vseth the same kinde of admiration, 1. Cor. 2. 9. marueiling at Gods great benefite shewed to his Church by the preaching of the Gospel.
d Thou shewedst fauour towarde our fathers, when they trusted in thee, and walked after thy commandements.
e They considered thy great mercies.
f That is, in thy mercies, which he calleth the wayes of the Lord.
g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs.
h We are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because we haue prouoked thee to anger, and though we woulde excuse our selues, yet our righteousnesse and best vertues are before thee as vile clouts, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman.
i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgement thou mayest vtterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children.
k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doeth not immediatly sende succour.
l Which we dedicated to thy seruice and to call vpon thy Name.
m Wherein we reioyced & worshipped thee.
n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glorie: though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles and the reiection of the Jewes. 13 The ioy of the elect and the punishment of the wicked.

I haue bene sought of thē that [a] asked not: I was founde of them that sought me not: I said, Behold me, behold me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue [b] spred out mine handes all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, [euen] after their owne [c] imaginations:

3 A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in [d] gardens, and burneth incense vpon [e] brickes.

4 Which remaine among y^e [f] graues, & lodge in ye deserts, which eate [g] swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted [are] in their vessels.

5 Which say, [h] Stand apart, come not neere to mee: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath [and] a fire that [i] burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is [k] written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompence it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities & the iniquities of your fathers [shall be] [l] together (sayth the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therfore will I measure their old worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a [m] blessing [is] in it, so will I do for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seed out of Jaakob, and out of Judah, that shall inherite my mountaine: and mine elect shall a Meaning, the Gentiles which knewe not God, should seeke after him when he had moued their hearts with his holy Spirit, Rom. 10, 20.

b He sheweth the cause of the reiection of the Jewes, because they would not obey him for any admonition of his prophets, by whom he called them cōtinually, and stretched out his hande to draw them.
c He sheweth that to delite in our owne fantasies is the declining from God and the beginning of all superstition and idolatrie.
d Which were dedicate to idoles.
e Meaning their altars, which he thus nameth by contempt.
f To consulte with spirits and to coniure deuils, which was forbidden, Deut. 18, 11.
g Which was contrary to Gods cōmandement, Leui. 11. 7. deut. 14. 8.
h He sheweth that hypocrisie is euer ioyned with pride & contempt of others.
i Their punishment shall neuer haue ende.
k So that the remembrance thereof cannot be forgotten.
l Shall be both punished together: and this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers faults: to wit, when the same faults or like are founde in them.
m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithful branches of his vineyard, when he destroyeth the rotten stockes, that is, the hypocrites.

inherit inherit it, & my seruãts shall dwel there.

10 And [n] Sharon shalbe a sheepefold, and the valley of Achor shall be a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me.
11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord, & forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the [o] multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.
12 Therefore will I [p] number you to the sword, and all you shall bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answere: I [q] spake, and ye heard not, but did euill in my sight & did chuse that thing which I would not.
13 Therfore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shall [r] eate, and ye shalbe hungrie: beholde, my seruants shal drinke, and ye shalbe thirsty: behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed.
14 Behold, my seruants shal sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall crie for sorowe of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.
15 And ye shal leaue your name as a curse vnto my [s] chosen: for the Lorde God shal slay you and call his seruants by [t] another name.
16 He that shal blesse in the [u] earth, shal blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shal sweare by the true God: for the former [x] troubles are forgotten, and shal surely hide themselues from mine eyes.
17 For lo, I wil create [y] new heauens and a newe earth: and the former shal not be remembred nor come into minde.
18 But bee you glad & reioyce for euer in the things that I shal create: for behold, I wil create Jerusalem [as] a reioycing and her people [as] a ioy, 19 And I wil reioyce in Jerusalem, & ioy in my people, and the voice of weeping shalbe no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.
20 There shalbe no more there a child of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath [z] not filled his dayes: for he that shalbe an hundreth yeeres old, shal die [as] a yong mã: but the sinner being [a] an hundreth yeeres old shalbe accursed.
21 And they shall [b] build houses and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and eate the fruite of them.
22 They shall not build, and another inhabit: they shall not plant, & another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall inioy in old age the work of their hands.
23 They shal not labour in vayne, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lorde, & their buds with them.
24 Yea, before they cal, I wil answere, and whiles they speake, I will heare.
25 The [c] wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullock: and to the serpent dust [shall be] his meate. They shal no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holie Mountaine, saith the Lord.

c Read Chap. 11,6.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 He despiseth sacrifices done without mercie and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is euerlasting.

THus saith the Lorde, * The [a] heauen [is] my throne, & the earth [is] my footestoole: where is that house that yee will builde vnto mee? and where is that place of my rest?
2 For all these thinges hath myne hande made, [b] and all these things haue bene, sayeth the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him, that is poore, and of [c] a contrite spirite and trembleth at my wordes.
3 He that killeth a bullocke, [is as] if he [d] slewe a man: hee that sacrificeth a sheepe, [as] if he cut off a dogges neck: he that offereth an oblation, [as] if he offered swines blood: he that remẽbreth incẽse, [as] if he blesseth an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule deliteth in their abominations.
4 Therefore will I [e] chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answere: I spake and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things which I would not.
5 Heare the worde of the Lord, al ye that tremble at his [f] word, Your brethrẽ that hated you, and cast you out for my

Act.7.48,49.

a My maiestie is so great that it filleth both heauẽ & earth, and therefore can not be included in a Tẽple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine cõfidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices.
b Seeing that both the Temple & ỹ things therein, with ỹ sacrifices, were made and done by his appointment, he sheweth that he hath no neede thereof, and that he can be without them, Psal.50. 10.
c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiueth my doctrine with reuerẽce & feare.
d Because the Jewes thought themselues holy by offring of their sacrifices, n Which was a plentifull place in Judea to feede sheepe as Achor was for cattell.

o By the multitude & nomber he meaneth their innumerable idoles, of whome they thought they could neuer haue ynough.
p Seeing you cannot nomber your gods, I will nomber you with the sworde.
q By my Prophets, whom ye wold not obey.
r By these words, Eate & drinke, he meaneth the blessed life of the faithful, which haue alwayes consolation, and full contentment of all things in their God, though sometimes they lack these corporall things.
s Meaning, that he would call the Gentiles, who should abhorre, euen the very name of the Jewes for their infidelities sake.
t Then by the name of the Jewes.
u By blessing, & by swearing, is ment ỹ praysing of God for his benefites, & the true worshipping of him, which shal not be onely in Judea, but through all the worlde.
x I will no more suffer my Church to be desolate as in times past.
y I wil so alter & change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwel in a new world.
z Meaning, in this wonderful restauration of ỹ Church, there should be no weaknes of youth, nor infirmities of age, but al should be fresh and flourishing: & this is accomplished in the heauẽly Jerusalem, when al sinnes shal cease, and the teares shalbe wiped away.
a Whereby he sheweth that the infidels and vnrepentant sinners haue no part of this benediction.
b He proposeth to the faithful the blessings which are conteyned in the Lawe, and so vnder temporal things comprehendeth the spiritual promises.

and in the meane season had neither faith nor repentance, God sheweth that hee doth no lesse detest these ceremonies, then he doeth the sacrifices of the heathen, who offered men, dogges and swine to their idoles, which things were expressely forbidden in the Lawe.
e I wil discouer their wickednesse & hypocrisie, wherwith they thinke to blinde mine eyes, to all the world.
f Hee incourageth the faithfull by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites and hated them that feared God.

Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but hee shall appeare to your ioy, and they shalbe ashamed.

6 [g]A voyce soundeth from the citie, [euen] a voyce from the Temple, the voice of the Lorde, that recompenceth his enemies fully.

7 Before [h] she trauailed, shee brought forth: and before her paine came, shee was deliuered of a man childe.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? Who hath seene such things? shall the earth be brought forth in one [i] day? or shal a nation bee borne at once? for assoone as Zion trauailed, she brought forth her children.

9 Shall I [k] cause to trauaile, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth and shall be barren, saith thy God?

10 Reioyce ye with Jerusalem, and be glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, al ye that mourne for her,

11 That ye may sucke [l] and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out and bee delited with the brightnes of her glorie.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil extend [m] peace ouer her like a flood & the glorie of the [n] Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be [o] borne vpon [her] sides, and be ioyfull vpon [her] knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so wil I comfort you, and ye shalbe comforted in Jerusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your [p] bones shal florish like an herbe: and the hande of the Lorde shall bee knowen among his seruants, and [his] indignation against his enemies.

15 For beholde, the Lorde will come with fire, and his charets like a whirlewinde, that he may [q] recompence his anger with wrath, & his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sworde all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shalbe many.

17 They that sanctifie [r] themselues, and purifie them selues in the gardens behinde one [tree] in the middes eating [s] swines flesh, and such abomination, euē the mouse, shall be consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I [will visite] their workes, and their imaginations: [for] it shall come that I will gather al nations, and tongues, and they shal come, and see my [t] glorie.

19 And I wil set a [u] signe among thē, and wil send those that [x] escape of them, vnto the nations of [y] Tarshish, [z] Pul, and [a] Lud, [and] to them that draw the [b] bow, to [c] Tubal and [d] Jauan, yles afarre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glorie, and [e] they shall declare my glorie among the Gentiles.

20 And they shal bring all your [f] brethren for an offring vnto the Lorde out of all nations, vpon [g] horses, and in charets, and in horse litters, & vpon mules, and swift beastes, to Jerusalem mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel, offer in a cleane vessel in the house of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for [h] Priestes, [and] for Leuites, saith the Lord.

22 For as the newe [i] heauens, and the newe earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seede and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before mee, saith the Lord.

24 And they shall goe forth, and looke vpō the [k] carkases of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their [l] worme shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shalbe an abhorring [m] vnto all flesh.

g The enemies shall shortly heare a more terrible voyce, euen fire and slaughter, seeing they woulde not heare the gentle voice of the Prophets which called them to repentance.

h Meaning, that the restauration of the Church should be so sudden and contrarie to all mens opinion: as when a womā is deliuered before she looke for it, and that without paine in trauaile.

i This shall passe the capacitie of man to see such a multitude that shal come vp at once, meaning, vnder the preaching of the Gospel, whereof they that came out of Babylon, were a figure.

k Declaring hereby, that as by his power and prouidence woman trauaileth and is deliuered: so hath he power to bring forth his Church at his time appoynted.

l That ye may reioyce for all the benefites that God bestoweth vpon his Church.

m I will giue her felicitie, and prosperitie in great abundance.

n Read Chap. 60.16. o Ye shall be cherished, as her dearly beloued children. p Ye shall haue new strength and newe beautie. q This vengeance God began to execute at the destruction of Babylon, and hath euer continued it against the enemies of his Church and will do till the last day, which shall be the accomplishment thereof. r Meaning, the hypocrites.

s Wherby are ment them that did maliciously transgresse the Law, by eating beastes forbidden, euen to the mouse which nature abhorreth.

t The Gētiles shalbe partakers of ỹ glory, which before I shewed to the Jewes.

u I wil marke these that I chuse, that they perish not with the rest of the infidels: wherby he alludeth to the marking of the posts of his people, whō he preserued, Exod. 12.7.

x I will scatter the rest of the Jewes, which escape destruction, into diuers nations.

y That is, Cilicia.

z Meaning, Affrica.

a To wit, Lydia, or Asia minor.

b Signifying the Parthians.

c Italie.

d Grecia.

e Meaning, ỹ Apostles, Disciples, & others which he did first chuse of the Jewes to preach vnto the Gentiles.

f That is, the Gētiles, which by faith shalbe made the children of Abrahā as you are.

g Whereby he meaneth that no necessarie meanes shall want when God shall call the Gentiles to the knowledge of the Gospel. h To wit, of the Gentiles, as he did Luke, Timothie and Tite first, and others after to preach his word. i Hereby hee signifieth the kingdome of Christ wherein his Church shalbe renued, and where as before there were appointed seasons to sacrifice: in this there shalbe one continuall Sabbath so that all times and seasons shall be meete. k As hee hath declared the felicitie that shall be within the Church for the comfort of the godly, so doeth hee shewe what horrible calamitie shall come to the wicked, that are out of the Church. l Meaning, a continuall torment of conscience, which shal euer gnawe them and neuer suffer them to be at rest, Marke. 9.44. m This is the iust recompence for the wicked, which contemning God and his worde, shalbe by Gods iust iudgement abhorred of all his creatures.

Ieremiah.

The Argvment.

The Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Lawe, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent giftes of God, and most euident reuelations of prophesie, so that by the commandemēt of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yere of Iosiah, & continued eighteene yeere vnder the sayde King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeres: vnto the time that they were caryed away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fortie yeere, besides the time that he prophecied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares, and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnesse, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods worde, and for the consolation of the Church, reueileth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefely are to be considered three thinges. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne and obstinare, when the Prophetes doe admonish them most playnely of their destruction. Next howe the Prophets and Ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly, though God shewe his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shewe himselfe a preserver of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preseruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied, 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lorde. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his worde without feare.

THe [a] Wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of [b] Hilkiah [one] of the Priestes that were at [c] Anathoth in the lande of Beniamin.

2 To whom the [d] Word of the Lorde came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the daies of Iehoiakim the [e] sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah vnto the ende of the eleuenth yere of Zedekiah, [f] sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, [euen] vnto the caryng away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift [g] moneth.

4 Then the Worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I [h] fourmed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, [and] ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the [i] nations.

6 Then said I, [k] Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord said vnto me, Saye not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall sende thee, & whatsoeuer I commande thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afrayde of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lorde.

9 Then the Lorde stretched out his hand and [l] touched my mouth, and the Lorde said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations & ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throwe downe, to builde, and to plant.

11 After this the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I saide, I see a [m] rodde of an almonde tree.

12 Then saide the Lorde vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my Worde to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, what seest thou? And I saide, I see a seething [n] pot looking out of the North.

14 Then said [o] Lorde vnto me, Out of the North shall a plague be spred vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, sayeth the Lorde, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, & on all the walles thereof rounde about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my a That is, the sermons and prophesies.

b Which is thought to be he that founde the booke of the Law vnder King Iosiah, 2. King. 22.8.
c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, & belonged to the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21. 18.
d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: for although as he did not presume of himselfe to preach, and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God.
e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachim [f] reigned no longer.
f Of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were caryed away into Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar.
g The Scripture vseth this maner of speach to declare, that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isa. 49.1. gal. 1.15.
h For Ieremiah did not only prophesie against [i] Iewes, but also against [i] Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites, & other nations.
i Considering [i] great iudgemēts of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon [i] world, he was moued [k] a certaine compassion on the one side to pitie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature, knowing howe harde a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa. 6.11. exodus 3.11. and 4.1.
k Which declareth, that God maketh them meete, and assureth them, whome he calleth to set foorth his glorie: giuing the al meanes necessarie for the same, Exod. 4. 12. Isa. 6.7.
l He sheweth, what is the authoritie of Gods true ministers, which by his worde haue power to beat downe whatsoeuer lifteth it selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble, and such as giue them selues to the obedience of Gods worde, 2. Cor. 10.4. heb. 4.12. and these are the keyes which Christ hath left to loose, and binde, Matth. 18.18.
m He toyneth the signe with the worde for a more ample confirmation: signifying by the rod of the almonde tree, which first budded, [i] hastie cōming of the Babylonians against [i] Iewes.
n Signifying, that the Caldeans and Assyrians should be as a pot to seethe the Iewes, which boyled in their pleasures, and lustes.
o Syria and Assyria were Northwarde in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans dominion.

p I will giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance against the louers, which haue forsaken me for their idoles.

q Which declareth Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which dare not execute their duetie faithfully, either for feare of man, or for any other cause, 1. Cor. 9. 16.

r Signifying on p one part, that the more that Satan, & the world rage against Gods ministers, the more prelent will he be to helpe them. Iosh. 1. 5. Heb. 13. 5. & on the other part, that they are vtterly vnmeete to serue God, and his Church, which are afraide, and doe not resist wickednesse, whatsoeuer danger depende thereon, Isa. 50. 7. Ezek. 3. 8.

p Iudgementes touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and aryse and speake vnto them all that I cõmande thee: be not afraide of their faces, lest I q destroy thee before them.

18 For I, beholde, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar and walles of brasse against the whole lande, against the Kinges of Iudah, [and] against the princes thereof, against the Priests therof and against the people of the land.

19 For they shal fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 8 Against the Priests and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

MOreouer, p the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Goe, and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I remember thee, with the a kindnes of thy youth [and] the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernes b in a lande that was not sowen.

3 Israel [was as] a thing c halowed vnto the Lord, [and] his first fruites: all they d that eate it, shall offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4 Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord, what iniquitie haue your fathers founde in me, that they are gone e farre from me, and haue walked after banitie, and are become f vaine?

6 For they sayde not, where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs through the wildernes, through a desert, & waste lande, through a drie lande, & by the shadowe of death, by a lande that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentiful countrey, to eate the fruite thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled h my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The Priests said not, where is the Lord? and they that should minister the k Lawe, knewe me not: the l pastours also offended against me, and the Prophets prophesied in m Baal, and went after [things] that did not profite.

9 Wherefore I will yet n pleade with you, saith the Lorde, and I will pleade with your chuldrens chuldren.

10 For goe ye to the yles of o Chittim, and beholde, and sende vnto p Kedar, and take diligent heed, and see whether there be such things.

11 Hath [any] nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their q glorie, for that which doeth not profite.

12 O ye heauens, be astonied at this: be afraid and vtterly rounfounded, saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue cõmitted two euils: they haue forsaken me the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pittes, [euen] broken pittes, that can holde no water.

14 Is Israel a seruãt, or is he borne in the house? why [then] is he spoyled?

15 The r lyons roared vpon him [&] yelled, and they haue made his lande waste: his cities are burnt? without an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of s Noph & Tahapanes haue t broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lorde thy God, when he u ledde thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou nowe to doe in the way of x Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what maketh thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the water of the y Riuer?

19 Thine owne wickednesse shall z correct thee, & thy turnings backe shall reprooue thee: know therefore & behold, a According to that grace, and fauour, which I shewed thee from the beginning, when I did first chuse thee to be my people, & married thee to my selfe, Ezek. 16. 8.

b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.

c That is, all one to serue the Lord onely, and the first offered to the Lord of all other nations.

d Whosoeuer do challenge this people, or els hyd annoy them, was punished.

e That is, fallen to most vile idolatrie.

f Altogether giuen to banitie, and are become blinde & insensible as the idoles, that they serue.

g Where for lacke of all things necessarie for life, ye could looke for nothing euery houre but present death.

h By your idolatrie and wicked maners, Psal. 78. 58. & 106. 38.

i They taught not the people to seeke after God.

k As the Scribes, which thoulde haue expouded the Lawe to the people.

l Speaning, the princes and ministers: signifying that al estates were corupt.

m That is, spake daine thinges, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idole of the Moabites, are meant all idoles.

n Signifying, that he would not as he might, streight way condemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed, & repent.

o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians.

p Onto Arabia

q That is, God which is their glorie, and who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reproouing & Iewes, that they were like insensible & negligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their banities.

r Meaning, the idoles, which were their destruction, Psal. 106. 36.

s He sheweth, that the insensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, and as it were, tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same.

t Signifying, that when men forsake Gods worde, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God him selfe, and so fall to their owne inuentions, and vaine confidence, and procure to them selues destruction, Jonah. 2. 8, Zach. 10. 2.

u Haue I ordered them like seruants, and not like derely beloued children? Exod. 4. 22. therefore if is their fault onely, if the enemie spoyle them.

x The Babylonians, Caldeans, and Assyrians.

y Not one shall be left to dwell there.

z That is, the Egyptians: for these were two great cities in Egypt.

a Haue grieuously vexed thee at sundry times.

b Shewing, that God would haue still led them aright, if they would haue followed him.

c To seeke helpe of man, as though God were not able inough to defende thee, which is to drinke of the puddels, and to leaue the fountaine, reade Isa. 31. 1.

d To wit, Euphrates.

e Meaning, that the wicked are insensible till the punishment for their sinne waken them, as verse 26. Isa. 3. 9.

that

f When I deliuered thee out of Egypt, Exod.19.8. deut.5.27. iosh.24.16. ezra.10.12. nehem.8.6. ‡Ebr. feede was all true.

g Though thou vse all the purifications & ceremonies of the Law, thou shalt not escape punishment, except thou turne to me by faith and repentance.

h Meaning, that hypocrites denie that they worship the idoles, but that they honour God in them, and therefore they call their doings Gods seruice.

i He compareth the idolaters to these beastes, because they neuer ceasse running to and fro: for both valleyes and hilles are full of their idolatrie.

k He compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for she can neuer be tamed, nor yet wearyed: for as she runneth, she can take her winde at euery occasion.

l That is, what she is with loue, and therefore the hunters waite their time: for though thou canst not be turned backe now frō thine idolatrie, yet when thine iniquitie shall be at the full, God will meete with thee.

that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lorde thy God, and that my feare [is] not in thee, saith the Lord God of hoastes.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, [and] burst thy bondes, and thou saidest, f I will no more trāsgresse, but [like] an harlot ye runnest about vpō all hie hilles, and vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whole ‡ plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou wash thee with g nitre, and take thee much sope, [yet] thine iniquitie is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I h followed Baalim? beholde thy wayes in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: [thou art like] a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes:

24 [And as] a wilde i asse, vsed to the wildernesse, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: Who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie them selues, [but] will finde her in her k moneth.

25 Keepe thou thy feete from l barenesse, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saidst desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, & them will I followe.

26 As the m theefe is ashamed, when he is founde, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their Kings, their princes and their Priestes, and their Prophets, 27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my n father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will saye, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according o to the nōber of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore will p ye pleade with me? ye al haue rebelled against me, saith the Lorde.

30 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your r owne sword hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon.

31 O generation, take heede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene [as] a ſ wilderneſſe vnto Israel? or a lande of darkeneſſe? wherefore saith my people [then,] We are lordes, t We will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without nomber.

33 Why doest thou prepare thy way, to u seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach [thee,] that thy wayes [are] wickednesse.

34 Also in thy x wings is founde the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these [places.]

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltelesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me: beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayst, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, y as thou art confounded of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt go forth frō thence, & thine hands vpon z thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper therein.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promiseth the restitutiō of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudah & Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

[illegible] They say, If a man put away his wife, and she goe from him, and become another mans, shall he returne again vnto her? shall not this land a be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with manie b louers: yet c turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and beholde, where thou hast not played d harlot: thou hast sit [waiting] for them in the wayes, as the e Arabian in the wildernesse: and thou hast polluted the lande with thy whoredomes, & with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue bene restrained, and the f latter raine came not, and thou haddest a g whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

m Hereby he warneth them that they should not go into strange countreis to seeke helpe: for they should but spend their labour, and hurt them selues, which is here meant by the bare foot and thirst. Ia.57.10.

n As a thiefe will not acknowledge his fault, til he be taken with the deede, and readie to be punished, so they will not confesse their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the same light vpon them.

o Meaning, that idolaters shuld haue God of this honour: & whereas he hath taught to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

p Thou thoughtest that thy gods of blocks & stones could haue holpen thee, because they were many in nomber and present in euery place: but now let vs see whether either the multitude or their presence can deliuer thee from my plague, Chap.11.13.

q As though I did you iniurie in punishing you, seeing that your faultes are so euident.

r That is, you haue killed your Prophets, that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Iosiah, &c.

s Thou I not giuen them abundance of all things?

t But will trust in our owne power and policie.

u With strangers.

x The Prophets and the faithfull are slaine in euery corner of your countrey.

y For the Assyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iudah, euen vnto Ierusalem: and the Egyptians slew Iosiah, and vexed the Iewes in sundrie sortes.

z In signe of lamentation, as 2.Sam. 13.19.

a According as it is written, Deu.24.4.

b If he take such one to wife againe.

c That is, with idoles, and with them, whome thou shalt put thy confidence in.

d And I will not call thee off, but receiue thee, according to my mercie.

e Which dwelleth in tents, & waiteth for them that passe by to spoyle them.

f As God threatned by his Lawe, Deuteronom.28.24.

g Thou wouldest neuer be ashamed of thine actes and repent: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted, will not giue ouer,

4 Diddest thou not still crie [h] vnto me, Thou art my father, [and] the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe [his anger] for euer? will he reserue it to the ende? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord said also vnto me, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, hast thou seene what this rebell [i] Israel hath done? [for] she hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, & vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I saide, When she had done al this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah sawe.

8 When I saw, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast [k] her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraide, but she went also, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the [l] lightnesse of her whoredome she hath euen defiled the lande: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stockes.

10 Neuertheles for al this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with [m] her whole heart, but feinedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lorde said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath [n] iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and crie these words toward the North and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, [and] I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lorde, and I will not alway keepe [mine anger.]

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast [o] scattered thy wayes to the strange [gods] vnder euery greene tree, but ye woulde not obey my voyce, saith the Lorde.

14 O ye disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lorde, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe and will bring you to Zion,

15 And I will giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when ye be increased & multiplyed in the lande, in those dayes, saith the Lorde, they shall say no more, The [p] Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neyther shall they remember it, neither shal they visite it, for [q] shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, [r] The throne of the Lord, & all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, [euen] to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalē: and thence forth they shall followe no more [s] hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the [t] North, into the lande, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I sayde, Howbe did I take thee for children & giue thee a pleasant lande, [euen] the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and sayde, Thou shalt call me, [saying,] My father, and shalt not turne from me:

20 But [as] a woman rebelleth against her [u] husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

21 [x] A voyce was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue perverted their way, [and] forgotten the Lorde their God.

22 Ye disobedient children, returne [and] I will heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truely [the hope] of the hilles [is] but vaine, [nor] the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our [y] fathers labour, from our youth their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, & our shame couereth vs: [z] for we haue sinned against the Lorde our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophesied, for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

IF Israel, if thou returne, [a] returne vnto me, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt [b] sweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in h He sheweth that the wicked in their miseries will crie vnto God and vse outwarde prayer as the godly do, but because they turne not from their euill, they are not heard, Isa. 58.3,4.

i Meaning, the ten tribes.

k And gaue her vnto the handes of the Assyrians.

l The Ebrew worde may eyther signifie lightnesse and wantonnes, or naysel & huste.

m Iudah sayned for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah, and other good Kings, but she was neuer truely touched, or wholy reformed, as appeared when occasion was offred by any wicked prince.

n Israel hath not declared her selfe so wicked, as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call her to repentance.

o Where as the Israelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Assyrians, to whome he promiseth mercie, if they will repent.

p There was no way, which thou diddest not haste to seeke after the idols, and to trae a pilgrimage.

q This is to be vnderstande of the comming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shal cease.

r Meaning the Church, where the Lorde will be present to the worldes ende, Apoc. 28.20.

s Where they are now in captiuitie.

t The Ebrew word signifieth a friende or companion, and there may be taken for an husband, as it is vsed also, Hose. 3.1.

u Signifying, that God vseth they had forsaken, woulde lying their enemies vpon them, who shoulde leade them captiue and make them to crie and lamente.

x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the shame of Iudah, who stayed so long to turne vnto God.

y For their idolatrie Gods vengeance hath light vpon them & theirs.

z They confesse not them selues, or say that they woulde folowe their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings & desire forgiuenes of the same, as Exra. 9.7. Psal. 106.6. Isa. 64.6.

a That is, wholy and without hypocrisie, Ioel. 2. 12. not dissembling to turne and serue God as they doe which serue him by halues as Hose. 7.16.

b Thou shalt detest the name of Idoles, Psal. 16.4. and shalt with reuerence sweare by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduance Gods glorie, and profite others: and here, by sweating he meaneth the true religion of God.

righteous-

c He willeth them to plucke vp the impietie and wicked affection and worthily respectes out of their heart, that the true seede of Gods worde may be sowen therein, Hose.10.12. and this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut. 10,16.rom. 2,29.col.2.11.

d He warneth them of the great dangers that shall come vpon them by the Caldeans, except they repent, and turne to the Lorde.

e He speaketh this to admonish them of the great danger when euery man shall prepare to saue him selfe, but it shalbe to late, 2.King. 25.4.

f Meaning, Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon, 2. King. 24.1.

g That is, the false Prophets which still prophesied peace and securitie.

h By the false Prophetes, which promised peace and tranquillitie: and thus thou hast punished their rebellious stubbernes by causing the to hearken vnto lyes which would not beleue thy truth. 1.King. 22.23. 2.Thess. 2. 11.

i The North wind whereby he meaneth Nebuchadnezzar.

k But to carie away both come & chaffe.

l Meaning, that Nebuchadnezzar.

righteousnesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glorie in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp c your fallow ground, and sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come forth like fire, & burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions.

5 d Declare in Iudah, and shewe forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crie, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs go into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standart in Zion: e prepare to flee, [and] stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The f lyon is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, [and] gone forth of his place to lay thy lande waste, [&] thy cities shal be destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore girde you with sackecloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lorde is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, saith the Lorde, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the princes, and the Priests shall be astonished, and the g Prophets shall wonder.

10 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast h deceiued this people & Ierusalem, saying, Ye shal haue peace, and the sworde perceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shall it be saide to this people and to Ierusalem, A drie i winde in the hie places of the wildernes [cometh] toward þ daughter of my people, [but] neither k to fanne, nor to cleanse.

12 A mightie winde shall come vnto me from those [places, and] now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, he shall come vp as the l cloudes, and his charets [shall be] as a tempest: his horses are lighter the eagles. m Woe vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be saued: howe long shall thy wicked thoughtes remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from n Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount o Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, [and] publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, & crye out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the p fielde, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lorde.

18 Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall perce vnto thine heart.

19 My bely, q my bely, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I can not be still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, [and] the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my r tents destroyed, [and] my curteines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standart, [and] heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: s they are wise to do euill, but to do well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and t voyde: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines: and loe, they trembled, and all the hilles shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitefull place was a wildernesse, & all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lorde, & by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lorde sayde. The whole lande shall be desolate: yet will I u not make a full ende.

28 Therfore shal the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie shall flee, for the noyse of the horsemen and bowe men: they shall go into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And whē thou shalt be destroyed, what o Which was in the midway betweene Dan and Ierusalem.

p Which kepe the fruites so straitly, that nothing can come in nor out: so shoulde the Babylonians compasse Iudah.

q Be sheweth that the true ministers are liuely touched with the calamities of the Church, so þ all the parts of their bodie feele the griefe of their heart, albeit with zeale to Gods glorie they pronounce his iudgements against the people.

r Meaning the cities, which were as easily cast downe as a tent.

s Their wisedome and policie tende to their owne destruction, and pulleth them from God.

t By these maner of speaches he sheweth the horrible destruction that shoulde come vpon the land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tydings, seeing that the insensible creatures are mooued therewith, as if the order of nature shoulde be changed, Isa.13.10. and 24.23. ezek.32.7. ioel.2.31. and 3.15.

u But for his mercies sake he will reserue him selfe a residue to be his Church, and to praise him in earth, Isa 2.9.

c thoulde come as suddenly as a cloude that is caryed wt the winde.

m This is spoken in the person of all the people who in their affliction shoulde crie thus.

n Which was a citie in þ vtmost boyder of Israel Northward toward Babylon.

What wilt thou do? Though thou x clo-thest thy selfe with scarlet, though thou decketst thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in daine: [for] thy louers will abhorre thee [and] seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a Woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her first childe, [euen] the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth & stretcheth out her handes: y Woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man founde, neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

RUme to & fro by the streetes of Ierusalem, and beholde now, and know, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, [or] if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh a the trueth, and I will spare it.

2 For though they say, The b Lorde liueth, yet do they sweare falsely.

3 O Lorde, are not thine eyes vpon the c trueth? thou hast d striken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, [but] they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, [and] haue refused to returne.

4 Therefore I said, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they knowe not the way of the Lorde, [nor] the iudge-ment of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the e great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, [and] the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, [and] burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore f a lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a Wolfe of the wil-dernesse shall destroy them: a leoparde shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, [and] their rebellions are increased.

7 How should I spare thee for this?
thy children haue forsaken me, & sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning [like] fed horses: [for] euery man neyed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lorde? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 h Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full ende:
take away their battelments, for they are not the Lordes.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trecpassed against me, saith the Lorde.

12 They haue i denyed the Lorde, and saide, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sworde nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shall be [as] k winde, and the worde is l not in them:
thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, Because ye speake such words, behold, I will put my words into m thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be [as] wood, and it shall de-youre them.

15 Lo, I will bring a nation vpon you ° from farre, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lorde, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

16 Whose quiuer is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

17 And they shall eate thine harueſt and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe & thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines & thy figtrees: they shall destroy with the sworde thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.

18 Neuertheless at those dayes, sayeth the Lorde, I will not make a full ende of q you.

19 And when *ye shall say, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt r thou an-swere them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your lande, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaa-kob, and publish it in Iudah, saying,

21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and ‡ without vnderstanding, which haue *eyes & see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lorde?
or will ye not be afraide at my presence, which haue placed the sande for the *boundes of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it can not passe it, & though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile,

x Neither thy ceremonies nor rich giftes shall deliuer thee.

y As the Prophets were moued to pitie the destruction of their people, so they declared it to the people to moue them to repentance, Isa. 22.4. chap. 9.1.

a That is, the citie.

b Though they pretende religion and holines, yet all is but hypocrisie, for vnder this kinde of sweareing is conteined the true religion.

c Doest not thou loue vprightnesse and faithfull dealing?

d Thou hast oft times punished them, but all is in vaine, Isai. 9.13.

e He speaketh this to the reproch of them, which should gouerne and teach others, and yet are farther out of the way then the simple people.

f Meaning, Nebuchadnezzar and his armie.

g He sheweth that to sweare by any thing then by God, is to forsake him.

Ezek. 22.27.

h De commandeth the Babylonians and enemies to destroy them.

i Reade Chap. 4.27.

k Because they gaue no credite to the wordes of his Prophets, as Isa. 28.15.

l Their words shalbe of none effect, but vaine.

m They are not sent of the Lorde, and therefore that which they threaten to vs, shall come vpon them.

n Meaning, Ieremiah.

o To wit, the Babylonians and Caldeans.

p Who shall kil many with their arrowes.

q Here the Lord declareth his vnspeakeable fauour toward his Church, as Chap. 4.27. Chap. 16.10.

r Meaning, the Prophet Ieremiah.

‡ Ebr. without heart. Isa. 6.9. mat. 13.14. actes 28.27. rom. 11.8.

Iob. 26.10.

prevaile, though they roare, [yet] can they not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs nowe feare the Lorde our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: he reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harueſt.

25 [Yet] your [i] iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceit: thereby they are become great and waxen rithe.

28 They are waxen fat and [shining: they doe ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: *] they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherles: yet they [e] prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lorde? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible [f] filthie thing is committed in the land.

31 The [u] Prophets prophesie lies, and the Priestes [receiue [giftes]] in their hands, and my people delite therein. What will ye then doe in the end thereof?

i If there be any stay, that we receiue not gods blessings in abundance, we must consider that it is for our owne iniquities, Isa. 59.1,2.

Isa.1.23, Zech. 7.9.

e They feele not the plague of God for it.

u Meaning, that there coulde be nothing but disorder, where the ministers were wicked persons and corrupt, [Or, beare rule.

CHAP. VI.

1 The comming of the Assyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Jewes to repentance.

a He speaketh to them chiefly because they shoulde take heede by the example of their brethen, the other halfe of their tribe, which were nowe caried away prisoners.

b Which was a citie in Iudah fiue miles from Bethlehem, 2. Chro. 11.6.

c Read Nehe. 3.14.

d I haue intreated her gently and giuen her abundance of all things.

e She shalbe destroyed, that the sheepe may be fed in her.

f He speaketh this in the person of the Babylonians, which complaine that the time failerh them before they haue brought their enterprises to passe.

THe children of [a] Beniamin, prepare to flee out of [b] mids of Jerusalem and blowe the trumpet in [b] Tekoa: set vp a standart vpon [c] Beth-haccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to [d] a beautifull and daintie woman.

3 The pastors [e] with their flockes shall come vnto her: they shall pitch [their] tents round about by her, [and] euery one shall feede in his place.

4 [f] Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp towarde the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs go vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lorde of hostes sayde, Hewe downe wood, and cast a mount against Jerusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the middes of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before mee [with] sorowe and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O [h] Jerusalem, least my soule depart from thee, least I make thee desolate [as] a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne [i] backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whome shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares [are] [k] vncircumcised, and they can not hearken: behold, the worde of the Lord is vnto them as a reproche: they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lorde: I am wearie with holding it: [l] I will powre it out vpon the [m] children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assemblie of the yong men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, [and] the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses [with] their lands, and wiues also shall be turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnes, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, [n] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the [o] slaine: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lorde, Stand in the wayes and beholde, and aske for the [p] olde way, which is the good way and g He sheweth the cause why it should be destroyed, and howe it commeth of themselues.

h He warneth them to amend by his corrections, & to turne to him by repentance.

i He exhorteth the Babylonians to be diligent to search out all and to leaue none.

k They delite to heare vaine things, and to shut vp their eares to true doctrine.

l As the Lorde had giuen him his worde, to be as a flee of his indignatio to burne the wicked, Chap. 5.14. so he knoweth it nowe when he seeth that all remedies are past.

m None shall be spared.

n When the people began to feare Gods iudgements, the false prophets comforted them by flatterings, shewing that God would send peace and not warre. ‡ Ebr. the that fall.

o Wherein ‡ Patriarkes and Prophets walked, directed by the worde of God: signifying that there is no true way, but that which God prescribeth.

heare me, neither when I called, would ye answere)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also ye trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast s you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euē the whole seede of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp crye or prayer for them neither intreate me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Judah and in the streetes of Jerusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knede the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, saith the Lorde, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, mine anger & my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the fielde, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offrings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings & sacrifices.

23 But this thing commaunded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels [and] the stubbernesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, l rising vp early euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare me nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke, [&] did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these wordes vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lorde their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine o heare, O Jerusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lorde hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Judah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lorde: they haue set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I r commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but ſ valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beastes of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 *Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride: for the land shalbe desolate. Ezek.26.13.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendement. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the courtousines of the Prophets and Priests.

AT that time, saith the Lord, they shal bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priestes and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem out of their t graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne & the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whome they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, and whome they haue f He sheweth what is ſ only remedie to redresse our faultes: to suffer God to leade vs into ſ way, & to obey his calling, Jla.66.4.

g I will send you into captiuitie as I haue done Ephraim, ſis, the ten tribes.

h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednes, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auaile them, whiles they remaine in their obstinacie against God, and wil not vse the meanes that he vseth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11.14. & 14.11

i That is, they sacrifice to the sunne, moone & starres, which they called the Queene of heauen, Chap.44. 17.2, kin.23.5.

k Shewing that it was not his chiefe purpose and intent, that they should offer sacrifices: but that they should regard, wherefore they were ordeined: to wit, to be ioyned to the word, as seales and confirmations of remission of sinnes in Christ: for without the worde they were vaine and vnprofitable.

l Which was about foureteene hundreth yeeres.

m Reade verl. 13.

n Whereby he sheweth that the pastours ought not to leaue their flockes in their obstinacie: for the Lorde will vse the meanes of his seruants to make the wicked more faultie & to powre his.

o In signe of mourning, as Job.1.20. mich.1.16.

p Against whom he had iust occasion to powre out his wrath.

q Of Topheth reade 2.king. 23.10.

r But commaned the contrarie, as Leuit.18.21. & 20.3. deut.18. 10.

s The enemie for grieuines of game shall spoile your graues and lay you before those idoles, which in your life you worshipped, to see if they can helpe you.

haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, [but] shall be as doung vpon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired [b] rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked famille, which re-maine in all the places where I haue scattered them, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also,
Thus saith the Lorde, Shall they [c] fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebe-lion? they haue themselues to deceite, [and] would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, [but] none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, saying, What haue I done? euery [d] one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the storke in the aire knoweeth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the [e] iudgement of the Lorde.

8 Howe doe ye say, We are wise, and the Law [f] of the Lord [is] with vs? Lo, certainely in vaine made he it, the pen of the scribes is in vaine.

9 The [g] wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken. Lo, they haue reiected the worde of the Lorde, and what wisedome is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, [and] their fieldes to them that shall possesse them: * for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, [and] from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with [h] sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them.

14 Why doe we stay? [i] assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, & let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence and giuen vs water with [k] gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 * We looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and be-holde troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from [l] Dan, the whole land trembled at the noise of [m] neying of his strong [horses:] for they are come, and haue de-uoured the land with all that is in it, the citie, and thole that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will [n] send serpents, [and] cockatrises among you, which will not be charmed, and they shal sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue [o] comforted my selfe against sorowe, [but] mine heart is heauie in me.

19 Beholde, the voyce of the crie of the daughter of my people [for feare of them] of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her King in her?
why [p] haue they prouoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange [god?]

20 The [q] harueit is past, the sommer is ended and we are not holpen.

21 I am [r] sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauie, [and] astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balme at Gilead? is there no Physition there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered?

a Because of the afflictions that they shall feele through Gods iudgements.

b Is there no hope, that they will returne?

c They are full of hypocrisie, and euery one followeth his owne fantasie without any consideration.

d He accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements then these birds are of their appointed seasons, to discerne the colde and heate, as Iere. 8.7.

e The Lawe doeth not profite you, neither needeth it to haue bene written vnto you ought that you haue learned by it.

f They that seeme wise, may be ashamed of their ignorance: for all wisedome consisteth in Gods worde. Isa. 56.11. chap. 5.31. & 6.13.

g Read Chap. 6.14.

h Speaketh in the person of the people, who when the enemie commeth, wil run about to hide themselues, and acknowledge that it is Gods hand.

i That is, hath brought vs into extreme afflictions, and thus they shall not attribute this plague to fortune, but to Gods iust iudgement. Chap. 9.15. and 23.15. Chap. 14.19. l Reade Chap. 4.15.

m God threatneth to sende the Babylonians among them, who shall vtterly destroy them in such sorte as by no meanes they shall escape.

n Read Chap. 4.19.

o Thus the Lord speaketh.

p The people wonder that they haue so long time looked for succor in vaine.

q The Prophet speaketh thus.

r Seeming, that no mans helpe or meanes coulde saue them: for in Gilead was precious balme, Chap. 46.11. or els deriding the vaine confidence of the people who looked for helpe at their Priestes, who should haue bene the Physitions of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hose. 6.8.

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people.
24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce.
26 The vncircumcision of the heart.

OH, that mine head were [full] of [a] water and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of [b] daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wildernesse a [b] cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and goe from them: for they be all [c] adulterers and an assemblie of rebels.

3 And they bend their tongues [like] a The Prophet theweth the great compassion that he had toward the people, seeing that he could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them.

special note to discerne the true pastours from the hirelings, Reade Chap. 4.19.

b He sheweth that this were more quietnes and greater safetie for him, to dwell among the wilde beasts then among this wicked people, sane that God hath inioyned him this charge.

c Vtterly turned from God.

their bowes for [d] lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euill to worse, and they haue not knowen me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceite, and euery friend will deale deceitfully.

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the trueth: [for] they [f] haue taught their tongues to speake lies, & take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the middes of deceiuers: [g] because of [their] deceite they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will [h] melt them, and trie them: for what should I [els] do for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue * [is] as an arrowe shot out, [and] speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart hee layeth wait for him.

9 Shall I not visite them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the [i] mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe through them, neither can men heare the voyce of [k] flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away [and] gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, [and] a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is [l] wise, to vnderstand this? and to whom [m] mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shal declare it. why doth the land perish, [and] is burnt vp like a wildernes, that none passeth through?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Lawe, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter.

14 But haue walked after the stubbernes of their owne heart, & after Baalims, which [n] their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, [o] God of Israel, Beholde, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall [p] to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whome neither they nor their fathers haue knowen, and I will sende a sworde after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Take heede, and call for [q] the mourning women, that they may come, and send for [r] skilfull women that they may come,

18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares and our eye liddes gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, How are we destroyed, [and] vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the lande, and our dwellings [s] haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regarde the wordes of his mouth, and [t] teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our [u] windowes, [and] is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the streetes.

22 Speake, thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lie, euen as the doung vpon the fielde, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather [them.]

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the [x] wise man glorie in his wisdome, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, neither the riche man glorie in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which [y] shew mercie, iudgement, and righteousnes in the earth: for in these things I delite, saith the Lord.

25 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visite all them, which are [z] circumcised with the vncircumcised:

26 Egypt and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwel in the wildernes: for all [these] nations [are] vncircumcised, and all the house of Israel [are] vncircumcised in the heart.

CHAP. X.

1 The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weakenes of idoles, and of the power of God. 21 Their pastours are became bruite beastes.

HEare ye the word of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and d To belie, and slander their neighbours.

e Meaning, that all were corrupt and none couldbe finde an honest man.

f They haue so practised deceite that they cannot forsake it.

g They had rather forsake God, then leaue their wicked trade.

h With the fire of affliction. Psal.28.3. and 120.4.

i Signifying, that all the places about Ierusalem should be destroyed.

k Meaning, that they are all without sense, and vnderstanding, and that God hath taken his Spirit from them.

l He meweth that the children can not excuse themselues by their fathers: for both father, and childe if they be wicked, shall perish.

m Reade Chap.8.14.

n Seeing you cannot lament your owne sinnes, call for those fooleish women, whom of a superstition you haue to lament for the dead, that they by their fained teares may prouoke you to some sorow.

o As though they were worie of vs, because of our iniquities. Leuit.18.28. and 20,22.

p He derideth the superstition of the women, which made an arte of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.

q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be most sure, and most farre off, then are they soonest taken.

r Forasmuch as none can saue himselfe by his owne labour or any worldly meanes, her he weth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioyce in him, who onely can deliuer vs. 1.Cor.1.31. 2.Cor.10.17.

s These three points are necessarie to knowe aright his mercie, be not afraide for the [a] signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraide of such.

3 For the [b] customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe,

4 And [another] decketh it [c] with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The [idoles] stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they can not goe: feare them not, for they can not do euill, neither can they do good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lorde: [d] thou art great, and thy name [is] great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O king of nations? for to thee apperteineth [the dominion:] for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, & in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish: [for] the stocke is a [e] doctrine of vanitie.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and golde [f] from Uphaz, [for] the worke of the workman, & the hands of the founder: the bleue silke, and the purple [is] their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But [g] Lord [is] the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting king: at his anger [h] earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods [i] that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens)

12 Hee hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 He giueth by [his] voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

14 Euery man is a [k] beast by [his owne] knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, [and] the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The [l] portion of Iaakob [is] not like them: for he is [m] maker of all things, and Israel [is] the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes [is] his Name.

17 ℭ [n] Gather by thy wares out of the lande, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the lande, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it [so.]

19 Woe is me for my destruction, [and] my grieuous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorow, and I will beare it.

20 [o] My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coardes are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines.

21 For [p] Pastors [q] are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: & all the [flockes] of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noyse of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the [r] North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, [and] a den of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know, that [s] the way of man is not in himselfe, neither [is it] in man to walke and to direct his steppes.

24 O Lorde, correct mee, but with [t] iudgement, not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out [u] thy wrath vpon the heathen, that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten by Iaakob and deuoured him and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

a God forbiddeth his people to giue credit or feare the constellations and coniunctions of starres, and planets, which haue no power of themselues, but are gouerned by him, and their secret motions and influences are not knowen to man, and therefore there can be no certaine iudgement of them of, Deut. 18.9.

b Meaning, not only in the obseruation of the starres, but their Lawes and ceremonies whereby they confirme their idolatrie, which is forbidden, Deut. 12.30.

c The Prophets vse thus plainly and simply to set forth the vile absurdite of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isa. 44.12.

d He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought only to be feared: and therein he sheweth them not onely the cuill that they ought to eschue, but the good, which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15.4.

e Because the people thought that to haue images was a meane to serue God and to lying them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, verf. 15. and Habac. 2.18. calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the Lay people.

f Whereas they found the best gold: shewing, that they thought nothing to deare for their idoles: some reade Ophir, as 1. King. 9.28.

g This declareth, that all that hath bene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and nowe with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, and how to answere them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatrie, and therefore hee writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Ebrewe.

h The more that man thinketh to do any thing well by his owne wisdome, and not as God instructeth him, the more doeth he prooue himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these words, portion and rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicitie cōsisted in him alone, & therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes, and succours, as of idoles, &c. Deut. 32.9. plal. 16.5.

k The Prophet willeth the Iewes to prepare themselues to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand, that they should feele the things, whereof he had told them.

l It is my iust plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: wherby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselues towarde God.

m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament.

n The gouernours and ministers.

o Reade Chap. 4.15.

p He speaketh this, because of Nebuchadnez-zar purposed to haue made warre against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, hee turned his power to go against Ierusalem, Ezek. 21.21. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction.

q Considering that God had reuealed vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7.16. hee onely prayeth, that he would punish them with mercie, which Isaiah calleth, in measure, Chap. 27.8. measuring his rods by their infirmitie, 2. Cor. 10.13. for here by iudgement is ment not onely the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap. 30.11.

r Forasmuch as God can not onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that hee vseth towarde his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, he prayeth that his glorie may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79.6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the worde of God: a couenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe worde that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,
2 Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,
3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, [a] Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant,
4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from [y] yron fornace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I commande you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God,
5 That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which floweth with milke and honie, as [appeareth] this day. Then answered [b] I and saide, So be it, O Lord.
6 Then the Lord said vnto me, Crie all these wordes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Jerusalem, saying, Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and do them.
7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, [c] rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.
8 Neuertheles they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbernes of his wicked [d] heart: therfore I wil bring vpon them all the [e] wordes of this couenant, which I commaunded them to doe, but they did it not.
9 And the Lord said vnto me, A [f] conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: [thus] the house of Israel, & the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.
11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crie vnto me, [g] I will not heare them.
12 Then shal the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem go, and crie vnto the gods vnto whome they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.
13 [h] For according to the nomber of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and [according] to the nomber of the streetes of Jerusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, [euen] altars to burne incense vnto Baal.
14 Therefore thou shalt not praye [i] for this people, neither lift vp a crie, or prayer for them: for when they crie vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.
15 What should my [k] beloued [tarie] in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many: and the holy flesh [l] goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest.
16 The Lorde called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, [and] of goodly fruite: [but] with [m] noyse and great tumult he hath set fire vpon it, & the branches of it are broken.
17 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for [n] wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offring incense vnto Baal.
18 And the Lord hath taught me, and I knowe it, [euen] then thou shewedst me [o] their practises.
19 But I was like a lambe, [or] a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not that they had deuised thus against me, [saying,] Let vs [p] destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no moze in memozie.
20 But O Lorde of hostes, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy [q] vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.
21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of [r] Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, [s] Prophesie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our handes)
22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine, 23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, [euen] the yeere of their visitation.

a Heralleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods mercies, who freely chose them, made a couenant of eternal felicitie with them, and howe he euer persuaded it on his behalfe, and how they euer shewed themselues rebellious and ingrate toward him and shake it on their part, and so are subiect to the curse of the Lawe, Deut. 27.26.
b Thus he speaketh in the person of the people, which agreed to the couenant.
c Read Chap. 7.13.
d According to his owne fantasie, and not as my word appointed him.
e Meaning, the menaces and curses contained in the Lawe, Leuit. 26.14. deut. 28.16.
f That is, a generall consent to rebel against me.
g Because they will not pray with true faith and repentance, but for the smart and griefe, which they feele, Prou. 1. 28.
h Read Chap. 2.28.
i Read Chap. 7.16. & 14.11.
k My people of Israel whom I haue hitherto so greatly loued.
l Meaning, that they offer not in the Temple to God, but vpon the altars of Baal and the idoles, and so reiopced in their wickednes.
m Of the Babylonians and Caldeans.
n Ielkiah went about priuily to conspire my death.
o Let vs destroy the Prophet and his doctrine. Some reade, let vs corrupt his meate with wood, meaning, poyson.
p Thus he spake, not for hatred, but being mooued with the spirit of God, he desireth the aduancement of Gods glorie and the verifying of his word, which is by the destruction of his enemies.
q To wit, both the Priests and the rest of the people: for this towne was the Priests, & they dwelt in it, read Chap. 11.1.
r Not that they could not abide to heare God named, (for herein they would shewe themselues most holy) but because they could not abide to be charged reproued, and therefore desired to be flattered, Isa. 30.10. and to be maintained in their pleasures, Prou. 21.13. not to heare vice condemned, Amos. 7.12.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueileth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lorde. 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations, that troubled Iudah.

RIghteous art thou, O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art a righteous: yet let me talke with thee of [thy] iudgements: Wherefore doth the way of the wicked b prosper: [why] are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruit: thou art nere in their mouth, and farre from their c reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and d prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednes of them that dwel therein? the beastes are consumed and the birds, because they said, e He will not see our last ende.

5 If thou hast runne with the f footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then howe canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren, g the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpo thee: [but] beleeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken s mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the handes of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me, as a h lyon in the forest: it crieth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto me, as a bird i of diuers colours? are not k birds about her, [saying,] Come, assemble all the beastes of the field, come to eate her?

10 Many pastors haue destroyed my k vineyarde, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wildernes.

11 They haue laide it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: [and] the whole land lieth waste, because no man setteth [his] minde on it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wildernes: for the sworde of the Lord shall deuoure from the one ende of the lande, euen to the [other] ende of the lande: no flesh shall haue peace.

13 l They haue sowen wheate, and reaped thornes: they were n sicke, [and] had no profite: and they were ashamed of o your fruites, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine euill p neighbours, that touche the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherite, Beholde, I will plucke them out of their lande, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I q will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the r wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (s The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built t in the mids of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, saith the Lord.

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doinge, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes.
b This question hath bene alway a great temptation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob. 21. 7. Psal. 37. 1. and 73. 3. Habak. 1. 3.
c They professe God in mouth, but denie him in heart, which is here ment by the reines, Ier. 29. 13. matth. 15. 8.
d The Chaldey worde is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterward they should the more feele his heauie iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.
e Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, they flattered themselues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardned themselues in sinne, till at length the beastes and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubborn rebellion against God.
f Some chinke that God reproueth Ieremiah in that, that he would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footmen, meane them of Anathoth, and by the horsemen them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countrey men did.
g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatnings and flatteries labour to put him to silence.
h Euer ramping and raging against me, and my Prophetes.
i In steade of bearing my liuerie and wearing onely my colours, they haue change and diuersitie of colours of their idoles and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thicke as the soules of the aire, shal come about them to destroy them.
k He propheseieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by the captaines of Nebuchadnezzar, whome he calleth pastors.
l Because no man regardeth my worde, or the plagues that I haue sent vpon the land.
m To wit, the Prophets.
n They lamented the euilnes of the people.
o For in steade of amendment you grewe worse & worse, as Gods plagues testified.
p Meaning, the wicked enemies of his Church which blaspheme his name, & whom he would punish after that he hath deliuered his people.
q After that I haue punished the Gentiles, I will haue mercie vpon them.
r The true doctrine & maner to serue God.
s Reade Chap. 4. 2.
t They shalbe of the nomber of the faithfull, and haue a place in my Church.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

THus saith the Lord vnto me, Go, and die thee a linen girdle, & put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, go toward a Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes, the Lorde said vnto me, Arise, go toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I coma Because this riuer Perath of Euphrates was far from Ierusalem, it is euident, that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes should passe ouer Euphrates to be captiues in Babylon, and there for length of time should seeme to be rotten: although they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and beholde, the girdle was corrupt, [and] was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the Worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lorde, After this maner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my Worde, and walke after the stubbernes of their owne heart, & walke after other gods to serue them, & to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole houle of Israel, and the whole houle of Iudah, sayth the Lorde, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

b Euery one of you shall be filled with spirituall drunkennesse, and be without all knowledge to seeke howe to helpe your selues.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this Word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery [b] bottell shalbe filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Do we not knowe that euery bottell shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priests & the Prophets and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennes.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, sayth the Lorde: I will not spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proude: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord your God before he bring [d] darkenes, and or euer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you looke for [e] light, he turne it into the shadowe of death [and] make it as darkenes.

17 But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall [f] weepe in secrete for [your] pride, and mine eye shal weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the [g] King and to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of [h] the South shalbe shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shalbe wholy caried away captiue.

h That is, of Iudah, which lieth South-ward from Babylon.

20 Lift vp your eyes & beholde them that come from the North: Where is the [i] flocke that was giuen thee, [euen] thy beautifull flocke?

i He asketh the King, where his people is become.

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast [k] taught them to be captaines [and] as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

k By seeking to strangers for helpe thou hast made thē skilfull to fight against thee.

22 And if thou say in thine hearte, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts [l] discouered [and] thy heeles made bare.

l Thy cloke of hypocrisie shall be pulled off and thy shame seene.

23 Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spottes? [then] may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South wind.

25 This is thy portion, [and] the part of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lies.

m As thine iniquities haue bene manifest to all: so wilt thou shame, and punishment.

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpō thy face, [m] that thy shame may appeare.

n He compareth idolaters to horses inflamed after mares.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy [n] neyings, the filthines of thy whoredome on the hilles in the [o] fields, & thine abominations. Woo vnto thee, O Ierusalem: Wilt thou not be made cleane? when shall it once be?

o There is no place so hie nor lowe, where as the markes, and signes of thine idolatrie appeare not.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

The Worde of the Lorde that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the [a] ‖ dearth.

a Which cōmeth for lacke of raine, as verse 4.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene [b] brought to heauines vnto the grounde, and the crie of Ierusalem goeth vp.

‖ Or, refreshment.

b The wayp signifieth to be made blacke, and so is here taken for extreme sorowe.

3 And their nobles haue sēt their inferiours to [p] water, who came to the welles: [& found no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed and confounded, & couered their heads.

c To wit, with ashes in token of sorowe.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, [and] couered their heads.

5 Yea.

5 Yea, the hynde also calued in the field, and forlooke it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drewe in their winde like dragons: their eyes did fayle, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lorde, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as a strong man that cannot helpe: yet thou, O Lorde, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lorde vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lorde hath no delite in them: [but] hee will nowe remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not pray to do this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their crie, and when they offer burnt offring, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sworde, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophesie lies in my Name: *I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, [but] they prophesie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets do prophesie, shalbe cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, and the sworde, and there shalbe none to burie them, [both] they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, [and] with a sore grieuous plague.

18 For if I go into the fielde, beholde the slaine with the sworde: and if I enter into the citie, beholde them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the prophet also and the Priest go a wandring into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? we looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and beholde trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lorde, our wickednes [and] the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember [and] breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God! therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lorde woulde heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 But threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lorde vnto me, Though Moses and Samuel stoode before me, [yet] mine affection coulde not be toward this people: cast [them] out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, *Such as are [appointed] to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sworde: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kindes, sayth the Lorde, the sworde to slay, and the dogges to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that he did in Ierusalem.

a Speaning, that the huge beastes for hyngar were compelled to forsake their yong contrary to nature, and to goe seeke water, which they could not finde.

b Which are to hope of nature, that they cannot be cooled with drinking of water, but still gape for the aire to refreshe them.

c He sheweth the onely way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfained confession of our sins, and returning to him by repentance.

d That taketh no care for vs.

e As one that hath strength to helpe, and yet is afraide to put to his hand.

f Read Chap. 7.16. and 11. 14.

g He pitieth the people, and accuseth the false prophets, which deceiued them: but the Lord answered, that both the Prophets, which deceiued, and the people, which suffered themselues to be seduced, shall perish, Chap. 23.15. and 27.8,9,& 29.8. Chap. 23.21. and 27.10,15. and 29.9.

h The false Prophets promised peace, and assurance, but Ieremiah calleth to teares and repentance for their affliction, which is at hand, as Chap. 9.1. Lamen. 1. 16. and 2.18.

i Both he, and low shall be led captiues into Babylon.

k Though the prophet knewe that God had cast off the multitude, which were hypocrites, & bastard children, yet he was assured that for his promes sake he would haue still a Church, for the which he prayeth.

l He teacheth the Church a forme of prayer, to humble themselues to God by true repentance, which is the only meane to auoyde this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues.

m Speaning their woles, reade Chap. 10. 15.

n Moreouer the people was punished for the Kings sinne onely, but for their owne sinnes also, because they consented to his wickednes, 2. Kin. 21. 9.

o Speaning, that if there were any man liuing moued with so great zeale toward the people, as were these two, yet that he would not grant this request, so vehemently as he had determined the contrary, Ezech. 14. 14. Zach. 11. 9.

p The dogges, birdes and beastes should deuoure them that were slaine.

q The worde signifieth to run to and fro for feare and vnquietnes of conscience, as for

for that which he did in Ieruſalem.

5 Who ſhall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ieruſalem? or who ſhalbe ſorie for thee? or who ſhall go to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou haſt forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, and gone backeward: therefore will I ſtretch out mine hand againſt thee, and deſtroy thee: for I [c] am wearie with repenting.

7 And I will ſcatter them with the fanne [d] in the gates of the earth: I haue walted, and deſtroyed my people, yet they woulde not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widowes [g] are increaſed by me aboue the ſande of the ſea: I haue brought vpon them, and againſt the ‖aſſemblie of the yong men a deſtroyer at noone day: I haue cauſed him to fall vpon them, and the citie ſuddenly, and ‖ſpeedily.

9 She that hath borne [h] ſeuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath fayled: the ſunne hath fayled [i] her, whiles it was day: ſhe hath bene confounded, and aſhamed, and the reſidue of them will I deliuer vnto the ſworde before their enemies, ſaith the Lord.

10 [k] Woe is me, my mother, that thou haſt borne me, a contentious man, and a man that ſtriueth with [l] whole earth: I haue neither lent on vſury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vſurie: yet euery one doth curſe me.

11 The Lord ſaid, [m] Surely thy remnant ſhall haue wealth: ſurely I will cauſe thine enemie to intreate thee in the time of trouble, & in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the [n] yron breake the yron, and the braſſe that commeth from the North?

13 Thy ſubſtance and thy treaſures will I giue to be ſpoyled without ‖gaine, and that for all thy ſinnes euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a lande that thou knoweſt not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which ſhall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knoweſt, remember me, and viſite me, and reuenge me of my [o] perſecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: knowe that for thy ſake I haue ſuffred rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were found [by me,] and I did [p] eate them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hoſtes.

17 I ſate not in the aſſemblie of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but ſate alone [q] becauſe of thy plague: for thou haſt filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauines continuall, and my plague deſperate [and] cannot be healed: [why] art thou vnto me [r] as a lyer, [and as] waters that fayle?

19 Therefore thus ſayth the Lorde. If thou [s] returne, then will I bring thee againe, [and] thou ſhalt ſtand before me: and if thou take away [t] pretious from the vile, thou ſhalt be [u] according to my worde: let them returne [x] vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a ſtrong braſen wall, and they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not preuaile againſt thee: for I am with thee to ſaue thee & to deliuer thee, ſaith the Lord.

21 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

c That is, I will not call backe my plagues, or ſpare thee any more.
f Meaning, the cities.
g Becauſe I had ſlaine their huſbands.
‖Or, mother.
‖Or, ſeaſonably.
h Shee that had many, loſt all her children.
i Shee was deſtroyed in the middes of her proſperitie.
k Theſe are the prophets words, complaining of the obſtinacie of the people, and that he was reſerued to ſo wicked a time: wherein alſo he ſheweth what is the condition of Gods miniſters: to wit, to haue all the world againſt them, though they giue none occaſion.
l Which is an occaſion of contention and hatred.
m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted me, and ſaide that my laſt dayes ſhuld be quiet: and by the enemie he meaneth here, Nebuzardan the captaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choiſe either to remaine in his countrey, or to go whither he would: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, which ſhould afterward knowe Ieremiahs fidelitie, & therefore fauor him.
n As for the people though they ſeemed ſtrong as yron, yet ſhoulde they not be able to reſiſt the hard yron of Babylon, but ſhould be led captiues.
o That is, ranſome.
p Hee ſpeaketh not this for deſire of reuengeance, but wiſhing that God would deliuer his Church of them whom he knewe to be hardened, and incorigible.
p I receiued them with as great ioy as he, that is aſſamished, eateth meate.
q I had nothing ado with the wicked contemners of thy worde, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: ſhewing what the faithfull ſhould do when they ſee tokens of Gods anger.
r And haſt not aſſiſted me according to thy promes? wherein appeareth, that in ſ ſaints of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatiencie is ofte times aſſayled, as Cha. 20. 7.
s If thou forſee theſe carnall conſiderations, & faithfully exercuse thy charge.
t That is, ſeeke to winne the good from the bad.
u To wit, as I pronounced, Chap. 1. 18, and as here followeth verſe 20.
x Conforme not thy ſelfe to their wickednes, but let them folow thy godly example.
y I will arme thee with an inuincible ſtrength & conſtancie, ſo that all the powers of the world ſhall not ouercome thee.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marrie, ſheweth him what ſhould be the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe worde of the Lorde came alſo vnto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſhalt not take [a] thee a wife, nor haue ſonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord concerning the ſonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, & concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers, that beget them in this land,

4 They ſhall die of deaths [and] diſeaſes: they ſhall not be lamented, neither ſhall they be buried, but they ſhalbe as dongue vpon the earth, and they ſhall be conſumed by the ſworde, and by famine, & their carkeiſes ſhall be meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beaſts of the earth.

5 For thus ſaith the Lord, [b] Enter not into the houſe of mourning, neither go to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, ſaith a Meaning, that the affliction ſhould be ſo horrible in Ieruſalem, that wife and children ſhould but increaſe his ſorowe.

b Signifying that the affliction ſhould be ſo great, that one ſhould not haue leyſure to comforte nother.

saith the Lorde, [euen] mercie and compassion.

6 Both the great, and the small shall dye in this land: they shal not be buried, neither shall men lament for them: c nor cut themselues, nor make themselues balde for them.

7 They shall not stretch out [the hands] for them in þ mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them þ d cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also go into þ house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome & the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shewe this people all these wordes, and they shall say vnto thee, *wherefore hath þ Lorde pronounced al this great plague against vs: or What is e our iniquitie: and What is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God:

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken mee, sayeth the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, & haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Lawe,

12 (*And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euery one after the stubbernes of his wicked heart, and will not heare me)

13 Therefore will I drive you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, [neither] you, nor your fathers, & there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 *Behold therfore, sayth the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be sayde, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, 15 But the Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel f from the land of the North, and from all the landes where he had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many g fishers, and they shall fish them, and after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rockes.

17 For mine eyes [are] vpon all their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompence their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, [and] haue filled mine inheritance with their filthy h carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, [thou art] my i force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the worlde, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited k lies, [and] vanitie, wherein there was no profite.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto him selfe, and they are no gods?

21 Behold, therefore I will this once teache them: I will shewe them mine hand and my power, & they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The frowardnes of the Iewes. 5 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

THe sinne of Iudah is a written with a pen of yron, [and] with the point of a diamond, [and] grauen vpon the b table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your c altars.

2 d They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the hie hilles.

3 e O my mountaine in the field, I will giue thy substance, [and] al thy treasures to be spoyled, for the sinne of thy high places throughout all my borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, f and in thee [shall be a rest] from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for ye haue kindled a fire in mine anger, [which] shall burne for euer.

5 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lord, g Cursed [be] the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For he shall be like the heath in the c That is, should not rent their clothes in signe of mourning.

d For in these great extremities all consolation and comfort is halbe in vaine.

Chap. 5. 19.

e Because the wicked are alwayes rebellious and dissemble their own sinnes, and murmure against Gods iudgements as though he had no iust cause to punish them, he sheweth him what to answere.

Chap. 7. 26. Chap. 23. 7.

f Signifying the benefite of their deliuerance out of Babylon should be so great, that it should abolish the remembrance of their deliuerance from Egypt: but he hath here ioyned the spirituall deliuerance vnder Christ.

g By the fishers and hunters are ment the Babylonians and Caldeans, who should destroy them in such sort, that if they escaped the one, the other should take them.

h That is, their sonnes and daughters, which they offred to Molech.

i He wondreth at þ great mercie of God in this deliuerance, which shall not onely extend to the Iewes, but also þ Gentiles.

k Our fathers were most vile idolaters: therfore it cōmeth onely of Gods mercie, that he performeth his promes, & hath not vtterly cast vs off.

l They shall once againe feele my power, and mercy for their deliuerance, that they may learne to worship me.

a The remembrance of their contempt of God cannot passe, albeit for a time hee deferre the punishment, for it shall be manifest to men and Angels.

b Instead of the Law of God, they haue written idolatrie and all abominations in their heart.

c Your sinnes appeare in all the altars that you haue erected to idoles.

d Some read, So that their children remember their altars, that is, folowe their fathers wickednesse.

e Zion that was my mountaine, shal now be left as a waste fielde.

f Because thou wouldest not giue the land rest at such times, dayes, and yeeres as I appointed, thou shalt hereafter be caried away, and it shall rest for lacke of labourers.

g The Iewes were giuen to worldly policies, and thought to make themselues strong by the friendship of the Egyptians, Isa. 31. 3. and strangers, and in the meane season did not depende on God, and therefore he denounceth Gods plagues against them, shewing that they preferre corruptible man to God, which is immortall. Isa. 2. 22. Chap. 48. 6, 7.

h Reade Pſal. 1.3.

i Because the wicked haue euer some excuſe to defende their doings, he ſheweth that their owne lewde imaginations deceiue them, & hyng them to theſe inconueniences: but God will examine their deedes by the malice of their hearts, 1. Sam. 16.7. 1. Chron. 28.9. Pſalm. 7.10. Chap. 11.20, and 20.12. Reue. 2.23.

k As the partriche by calling gathereth others, which forſake her, when they ſee that ſhe is not their dam: ſo the couetous man is forſaken of his riches, becauſe he cõmeth by them falſly.

l Shewing þ the godly ought to glorie in nothing, but in God: who doth exalt his, & hath left a ſigne of his fauour in his Temple.

m Their names ſhall not be regiſtred in þ booke of life.

n He deſireth God to preſerue him that he fall not into tentation conſidering þ great contempte of Gods worde and the multitude that fall from God.

o The wicked ſay, that my prophecie ſhall not come to paſſe becauſe thou deferreſt the time of thy vengeance.

p I am aſſured of my vocation, and therefore know that the thing which thou ſpeakeſt by me, ſhall come to paſſe, & that I ſpeake not of any worldly affection.

q Howſoeuer þ wicked deale rigorouſly wt me, yet let me finde comfort in thee.

r Read Eſa. 11.20.

f Whereas thy doctrine may be beſt vnderſtand both of hie & low,

Wildernes, and ſhall not ſee When [any] good commeth, but ſhall inhabite the parched places in the wildernes, in a ſalt land, and not inhabited.

7 Bleſſed [be] the man, that truſteth in the Lorde, & whoſe hope the Lord is.

8 h For her ſhall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which ſpreadeth out her rootes by the ruer, and ſhall not feele When the heate commeth, but her leafe ſhall be greene, and ſhall not care for the yeere of drought, neither ſhall ceaſe from yeelding fruite.

9 i The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can knowe it?

10 I the Lord ſearch the heart, [and] trie the reines, euen to giue euery man accoũding to his wayes, [and] accoũding to the fruite of his workes.

11 k [As] the partriche gathereth [the yong,] which ſhee hath not brought forth: [ſo] he that getteth riches, & not by right, ſhall leaue them in the mids of his dayes, and at his end ſhalbe a foole.

12 [As] a glorious throne l eraited from the beginning, [ſo is] the place of our Sanctuarie.

13 O Lord, the hope of Iſrael, all that forſake thee, ſhall be confounded: they that depart from thee, ſhall be written m in the earth, becauſe they haue forſaken the Lorde, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale me, O Lorde, and I ſhalbe whole: n ſaue me, and I ſhall be ſaued: for thou art my prayſe.

15 Behold, o they ſay vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord: let it come now.

16 But p I haue not thruſt in my ſelfe for a paſtour after thee, neither haue I deſired the day of miſery, thou knoweſt: that which came out of my lippes, was [right] before thee.

17 Be not q terrible vnto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduerſitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that perſecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afrayde, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduerſitie, r and deſtroy them with double deſtruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord ſaid vnto me, Go, and ſtand in the f gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ieruſalem, 20 And ſay vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, & all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, that enter in by theſe gates.

21 Thus ſaith the Lord, Take heede to your ſoules, and beare no burden in the s Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ieruſalem.

22 Neither carie forth burdens out of your houſes in the Sabbath day: neither doe ye any worke, but ſanctifie the Sabbath, as I commaunded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes ſtiffe and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheles if ye will heare me, ſaith the Lorde, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in þ Sabbath day, but ſanctifie the Sabbath day, ſo that ye doe no worke therein,

25 Then ſhall the Kings and the Princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and ſhall ſit *vpon the throne of Dauid, and ſhall ride vpon charets, and vpon horſes, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem: and this citie ſhall remaine for euer.

26 And they ſhall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ieruſalem, and from the land of Beniamin, & from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which ſhall bring burnt offrings, and ſacrifices, and meat offrings, and incenſe, [and] ſhall bring ſacrifice of prayſe into the houſe of the Lorde.

27 But if ye will not heare mee to ſanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden nor to goe through the gates of Ieruſalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, & it ſhall deuoure the palaces of Ieruſalem, and it ſhall not be quenched.

t By nutting the Sabbath day, he commeth the thing, his there by ſignifieth: for if they tranſgreſſed in the ceremonie, they muſt needes be culpable of the reſt, read Exo. 20.8. & by the breaking of this one commandement, he maketh them tranſgreſſours of the whole Lawe, foraſmuch as the firſt and ſecond table are conteined herein, Chap. 22.4.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God ſheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to deſtroy the deſpiſers of his worde. 18 The conſpiracie of the Iewes againſt Jeremiah. 19 His prayer againſt his aduerſaries.

THe worde which came to Jeremiah from þ Lord, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, and go downe into the potters houſe, and there ſhall I cauſe thee my wordes.

3 Then I went downe to the potters houſe, and beholde, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.

4 And the veſſell that hee made of a As the potter hath power ouer the clay to make what pot he will, so to breake them, when he hath made them: so haue I power ouer you to do with you as seemeth good to me, Isa. 45. 9. wild. 15. 7. rom. 9. 20, 21.

a clay, was broken in the hand of the potter. So he returned, and made it another vessell, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord: beholde, as the clay [is] in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whome I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will [b] repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, & concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill in my sight and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou nowe therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpole a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they sayd [c] desperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man [after] the stubburnes of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske nowe among the heathen, Who hath heard such things? the virgine of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the knowe of Lebanon, [which commeth] from the rocke of the fielde? [d] or shall the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, [&] haue burnt incense to vanity, and [their Prophets] haue caused them to stumble in their wayes [from] the [e] ancient wayes, to walke in the pathes [and] way that is not troden, 16 To make their land desolate [and] a perpetuall derision, [so that] euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and wagge his head.

17 I will scatter them with an East Winde before the enemie: I will shewe them the backe, and [f] not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then sayd they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuice against Ieremiah: for the Lawe [g] shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the [h] tongue, & let vs not giue heede to any of his wordes.

19 Hearken vnto me, O Lorde, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stoode before thee, to speake good for them, [and] to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, [i] deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widdowes: and let their husbands be put to death, [and] let their yong men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crye be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete.

23 Yet Lorde thou knowest all their counsaile against me [tendeth] to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale [thus] with them in the time of thine anger.

b When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doeth contrary to [that] which he hath ordeined in his secret counsell: but when he threateneth, it is a calling to repentance and when he giueth man grace to repent, [& threatening (which euer conteineth a condition in it) seeketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.

c As men that hadno remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion, and to their owne selfe will.

d As no man [y] hath thirst, refuseth fresh conduit waters which he hath at home, to go and seeke waters abroade to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seeke for helpe and succour at strangers and leaue God, which was present with them.

e That is, the way of truth, which God had taught by his Lawe, reade Chap. 6. 16.

f [I will shewe mine anger & not my fauour toward them.

g This argument [y] which they haue euer vsed against the seruants of God, The Church can not erre: wee are the Church, and therefore whosoeuer speaketh against vs, they ought to dye, 1. King. 22. 24. chap. 7. 4. & 20. 2. mala. 2. 4. & thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church which standeth not in outwarde pompe, and in multitude, but is knowen by the graces of the holy ghost.

h Let vs slander him, & accuse him: for we shall be beleeued.

i Seeing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which grewe daily more and more, the Prophet being moued with Gods Spirit, without any carnal affection prayeth for their destruction, because he knewe that it shoulde tende to Gods glorie and profite of his Church.

CHAP. XIX.

The prophesieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempe and despising of the worde of God.

THus saith the Lord, Go, and bye an earthen bottell of a potter, and [take] of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the ‖ East gate: and thou shalt preache there the wordes, that I shall tell thee,

‖ Or, gate of the sunne.

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the worde of the Lord, O [a] Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoeuer heareth, his eares shall [b] tingle.

a By Kings here and in other places are meant counsellers and gouernours of the people: which he calleth the Ancients, vers. 1.

4 Because they haue forsaken mee, and prophaned this place, & haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome [neither] they, nor their fathers haue knowen, b Read of this phrase, 1. Sa. 3. 11.

knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the hie places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I commaunded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde)

c Whereby is declared, that whatsoeuer is not commanded by Gods word touching his seruice, is against his worde.

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that this place shall no more be called d Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

d Read Chap. 7.31. & 2.king. 23.10. Isai. 30. 33.

7 And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sworde before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meate for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the fielde.

Chap. 18.16. and 49.13.& 50.13.

8 *And I will make this citie desolate and an hissing, [so that] euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

Deut. 28.53. Iamen. 4.10.

9 *And I will feede them with the flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friend in the siege and streitnes, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall holde them streit.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that go with thee,

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a e potters vessell, that can not be made whole againe, and they shall burie [them in] Topheth till there be no place to burie.

e This visible signe was to confirme them touching the assurance of this plague, which § Lord threatned by his Prophet.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lorde, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shall be defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the f houses vpon whose rookes they haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

f He noteth the great rage of the idolaters, which left no place free from their abominations, insomuch as they polluted their owne houses therewith, as we see yet among the Papists.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lorde had sent him to prophesie, and he stoode in the court of the Lords house, & said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardned their neckes, and would not heare my wordes.

g Read Deut. 22.8.

CHAP. XX.

2 Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the worde of God, 3 He prophecieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the worde of God. 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preach the worde.

2 Thus we see that the thing which neither the King, nor the Princes, nor the people durst enterprise against the Prophet of God, this Priest as a chiefe instrument of Satan first attempted, reade Chap. 18.18.

‖Or, feare round about.

WHen Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the ‖ stocks that were in the hie gate of Beniamin which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stocks. Then sayd Ieremiah vnto him, The Lorde hath not called thy name Pashur, but ‖ Magor-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sworde of their enemies, and thine eyes shall beholde it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall carie them captiue into Babel, and shal slay them with the sword.

b Which haue suffered themselues to be abused by thy false prophesies.

5 Moreouer I wil deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof & all the precious things therof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and carie them to Babel.

c Herein appeareth the ignorancie, which oftentimes ouercommeth the seruants of God, when they see not their labours to prosite, and also feele their owne weaknes, read Chap. 15.18.

6 And thou Pashur, & all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there thou and all thy b friends, to whom thou hast prophesied lyes.

d Thou diddest thrust me forth to this worke against my will.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am c deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast d preuailed: I am in derision dayly: euery one mocketh me.

e He sheweth that he did his office in that he reproued the people of their vices, and threatned them with Gods iudgements: but because he was derided and persecuted for this, he was discouraged, and thought to haue ceased to preach, saue that Gods Spirit did force him thereunto.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, & proclaymed e delolation: therefore the worde of the Lord was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision dayly.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But [his worde] was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, and I could not [stay.]

10 For I had heard the railing of many, [and] feare on euery side. f Declare, [sayd they,] and We will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, [saying,] It may be that he is deceiued: so We shall preuaile against him, and We shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 g But the Lorde is with me like a mightie gyant: therefore my persecutours shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not prevaile, [and] shall be greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, [and their] euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 *But, O Lord of hostes, that triest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, prayse ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 ¶ h Cursed [be] the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed [be] the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man childe is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man be as the i cities, which the Lorde hath ouerturned & repented not: and let him heare the crye in the morning, and the shouting at noone tide, 17 Because hee hath not slaine mee, [euen] from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wombe a perpetuall k conception.

18 Holy is it, [that] I came forth of the wombe, to see labor and sorow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

Hee prophesieth that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the citie burned.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, when King Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 a Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then sayd Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, Beholde, I will b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which beseige you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the middes of this citie.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, & with a mightie arme, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man, and beast: they shall dye of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lorde, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sword and from the famine into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shal not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I set before you the c way of life, and the way of d death.

9 *He that abideth in this citie, shall dye by the sword and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that beseige you, he shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a e pray.

10 For I haue let my face against this citie, for euill and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 ¶ And [say] vnto the house of the King of Iudah, heare ye the worde of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, *Execute iudgement f in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fire and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

13 Behold, I [come] against thee, g O inhabitant of the valley, [and] rocke of the playne, saith the Lorde, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or Who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visit you according to the fruit of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire h in y forest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

CHAP.

f Thus the enemies conferred together to know what they had heard him say, that they might accuse him thereof. Reade Ier. 20. 10.

g Here bee thewen howe his fayth did striue against tentation and fought to the Lorde for strength. 1. Sam. 16. 7. 1. chro. 28. 9. psal. 7. 9. chap. 11. 20. & 17. 10.

h Howe the children of God are ouercome in this battel of the flesh and the spirit, & into what inconueniences they fall till God raise them by againe, reade Iob. 3. 1. and chap. 15. 10.

i Alluding to the destruction of Sodom and Gomorah, Gen. 19. 25.

k Meaning, that the fruite thereof might neuer come to ripenesse.

a Not that the king was touched w repentance of his sinnes, and so fought to God, as did Hezekiah, whē he sent to Esaiah, 2. King. 19. 1. Isa. 37. 2. but because y Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh fought vnto Moses, Exod. 9. 28.

b To wit, from your enemies to destroy your selues, c By yeelding your selues to Nebuchad-nezzar.

d By resisting him. Chap. 38. 2.

e As a thing recouered from extreme danger, Chap. 37. 2. & 39. 18. and 45. 5.

f Be diligent to doe iustice, Chap. 22. 3.

g Meaning Ierusalem, which was builded part on the hill and part in the valley, and was compassed about with mountaines.

h That is, in the houses thereof, which stood as thicke as trees in the forest, a He exhorteth the King to iudgement & righteousnes, 9 Why Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophecied.

CHAP. XXII.

THus said ᵖ Lord, Go downe to the house of the King of Iudah, and speake there this thing,

2 And say, Heare the worde of the Lord, O king of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus saith the Lord, *Execute ye iudgement and [a] righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widowe: do no violence, nor shead innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye do this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, *and ride vpon charets, & vpon horses, [both] he and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these wordes, I [b] sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shalbe waste.

6 For thus hath the Lorde spoken vpon the kings house of Iudah, Thou art [c] Gilead vnto me, [and] the head of Lebanon, [yet] surely I will make thee a wildernes, and as [cities not inhabited].

7 And I will [d] prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shal cut downe thy chiefe [e] ceder trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 [f] And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

9 Then shall they answere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods and serued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, [but] weepe for him [g] that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his natiue countrey.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching [h] Shallum ᵖ sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither, 12 But he shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by [i] vnrighteousnes, & his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages and giueth him not for his worke.

14 Hee saith, I will builde me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make himselfe large windowes, and sieling with ceder and paint them with vermillion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in ceder? did not thy [k] father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When he iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: Was not this because he knewe me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shead innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, [euen] to do this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall [l] not lament him, [saying,] Ah, my brother, or ah sister: neither shall they mourne for him, [saying,] Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

19 He shalbe buried as an asse [m] is buried, [euen] drawen and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Go vp to [n] Lebanon, and crie: shoute in [o] Bashan and crie by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: [but] thou saydst, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce.

22 The winde shall feede all thy pastors, [p] and thy louers shall go into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednes.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, [and] maiest thy nest in the [q] ceders, howe beautifull shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though [r] Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hande of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carie thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into a This was his ordinarie maner of preaching before the kings from Iehoahaz vnto Zedekiah, which was about fourtie yeres.

Chap.21.12.
Chap.17.25.
b Shewing that there is none greater then he is, Heb. 6.13, and that he will moste certenly performe his othe.
c He compareth Ierusalem to Gilead, which was beyond Iordan, and the beautie of Iudea to Lebanon.
d The Shewsyd signifieth to sanctifie, because the Lord doth dedicate to his vse and purpose such as he prepareth to execute his worke, Isa. 13.3. Chap. 6.4. and 12.5.
e Thy buildings made of Ceder trees.
f As they that wonder at a thing which they thought would neuer haue come to passe, Deut. 29.24.1. Kings. 9.8.
g Signifying that they should lose their king: for Iehoiachin went forth to meete Nebuchad-nezzar, and yeelded himselfe & was caried into Babylon, 2. King. 24.12.
h Whom some thinke to be Iehoiachin, and that Iosiah was his grandfather: but as I certeyth, this was Iehoiakim, as vers. 18.
i By bribes and extortion.
k Speaking Iosiah, who was not giuen to ambition and superfluitie, but was content with mediocritie and did onely delite in setting forth Gods glorie and to do iustice to all.
l For euery one shall haue enough to lament for himselfe.
m Not honourably among his fathers, but as carions are cast in a hole because their stinke should not infect, read 2. King. 24.9. Iosephus Antiq. 10.8. writeth that ᵖ enemie fletwe him in the citie, and commanded him to be cast before the walles vnburied, looke Chap. 36.30.
n To call to the Assyrians for helpe.
o For this was the way out of Iudea to Assyria: whereby as ment that all helpes should faile: for the Caldeans haue subdued both them and the Egyptians.
p Both thy gouernours and they that should helpe thee, shall vanish away as winde.
q Thou that art builte of the faire Ceder trees of Lebanon.
r Who was called Iehoiachin or Iechonah, whome he calleth here Coniah in contempt, who thought his kingdome coulde neuer depart from him, because her came of the stocke of Dauid, and therefore the abused Gods promes, and therefore was iustly depriued of the kingdome.

into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the lande, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah [as] a despised [f] broken idole? or [as] a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caried away, he and his seede, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the LORD.

30 Thus saith the LORD, write this man destitute of [children,] a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

f He sheweth that all posterite shalbe witnesses of this iust plague, as though it were registred for perpetuall memorie.

c Not that he had no children (for after he begat Salathiel in the captiuitie, Math. 1.12.) but that none should reigne after him as King.

CHAP. XXIII.

Against false Pastors. 5 A prophesie of the great Pastor Iesus Christ.

WO [bee] vnto [a] the Pastors that destroy and scatter [b] the sheepe of my pasture, saith the LORD.

2 Therefore thus saith the LORD God of Israel vnto the Pastors that [c] feede my people, Ye haue scattered my flocke and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: beholde, I will visite you for the wickednes of your workes, saith the LORD.

3 And I will gather the [d] remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall growe and encrease.

4 And I will set vp shepheards ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraide, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the LORD.

5 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the LORDE, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous [e] branche, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shalbe saued, and * Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, * The LORD our righteousnes.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the LORDE, that they shall no more say, The * LORD liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

8 But the LORD liueth, which brought vp and led the seed of the house of Israel out of the North countrey and from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

a Meaning the princes, gouernours and false prophets, as Ezek. 34.2.

b For which I haue especiall care and haue prepared good pastures for them.

c Whose charge is to feed the flocke, but they eate the fruit thereof, Ezek. 34.3.

d Thus the Prophets cure dle to mixe the promises with the threatnings, least the godly should be too much beaten downe, and therefore he sheweth how God will gather his Church after this dispertion.

e This prophecie is of the restitution of the Church in the time of Iesus Christ, who is the true branch, reade Isa. 11.1, and 45.8, chap. 33.15, Dan. 9.24. Deut. 33.28. Chap. 33.16.

f Reade Chap. 26, 14.

9 Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the [g] prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath ouercome) for the presence of the LORDE and for his holy wordes.

10 For the lande is full of adulterers, [and] because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildernesse are dryed vp, and their [h] course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet and the Priest ‖ doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I founde in mine [i] house, saith the LORD.

12 Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slipperie [wayes] in the darknesse: they shalbe driuen forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, [euen] the yere of their visitation, saith the LORD.

13 And I haue seene foolishnesse in the Prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the Prophets of Ierusalem [k] filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the handes of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednes: they are all vnto [l] me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus saith the LORD of hostes touching the prophets, Behold, I will feede them with [m] wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophets of Ierusalem is ‖ wickednes gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the LORDE of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the prophets that prophesie vnto you, and teache you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne [n] heart [and] not out of the mouth of the LORD.

17 They say still vnto them that despise me, The LORD hath said, Ye [o] shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbernes of his owne heart, No euil shal come vpo you.

18 For [p] who hath stand in the counsell of the LORD that he hath perceiued and heard his word? who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the LORD goeth forth in [his] wrath, and a violent whirlewinde shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

g Meaning, the false prophets which deceiue the people: wherein appeareth his great loue toward his nation, read Chap. 14.13.

h Ebr. passed ouer or troubled.

i They runne headlong to wickednes, and seeke vaine helpe.

‖ Or, are hypocrites.

i By Temple is full of their idolatrie and superstitions.

k They which should haue profited by my rods against Samaria, are become worse then they.

l Though to the world they seeme holy sisters, yet I detest them as I did these abominable cities.

m Read Chap. 8.14.

‖ Or, hypocrisie.

n Which they haue inuented of their owne braine.

o Read Chap. 6.14. and 8. 11.

p Thus they bib deride Jeremiah as though the word of God were not reuealed vnto him: so also spake Zidkiah to Michah, 1. King. 22.24.

20 The

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughtes of his heart: in the latter dayes ye q shall vnderstand it plainely.

q Both that God hath sent me, and that my wordes shall be true. Chap.14.13, 14.and 27.15. and 29.8,9.

21 * I haue not sent these prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

r He sheweth the difference betweene the true Prophets and the false, betweene the hireling and the true minister.

22 But if they had stand in my counsell, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God [at hand,] saith the Lord, and not a God [farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Do not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophesie lies in my Name, saying, I [haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? * Do the prophets delite to prophesie lyes, euen prophesying the deceite of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause u my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him x tell a dreame, and he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: y what is the chaffe to the wheate, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my worde euen like a fire, saith the Lorde? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore beholde, I [will come] against the Prophets, saith the Lorde, that z steale my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Beholde, I [will come] against the Prophets, saith the Lord, which haue vsed their tongues, and say, He saith.

32 Beholde, I [will come] against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and do tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lyes, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the Prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the b burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, saith the Lord.

34 And the Prophet, or the Priest, or the people that shall say, The c burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euery such one, and his house.

35 Thus shall ye say euery one to his neighbour, and euery one to his brother, What hath the Lorde answered? and What hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord shall ye mention no more: for euery mans d worde shall be his burden: for ye haue peruerted the wordes of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lorde answered thee? and What hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because ye say this word, The burde of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shal not say, the burden of the Lord,

39 Therefore beholde, I, euen I will vtterly ‖ forget you, & I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you & your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, 40 And will bring * an euerlasting reproch vpon you, and a perpetuall shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

b The vision of the baskets of figges 5 Signifyeth that part of the people should be brought againe from captiuitie, 8 And that Zedekiah & the rest of the people should be caried away.

CHAP. XXIIII.

THe Lord shewed me, and beholde, two a baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah with the workemen, and cunning men of Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket [had] very good figges, [euen] like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket [had] very naughtie figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Jeremiah? And I sayde, Figges: the good figges very good, and the naughtie very naughtie, which can not be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them that are caried away captiue of Judah to be good, whom I haue r Because this worde was brought to contempte and derision, he will teach them another maner of speach, and will cause this word Burden to reale, and teach them to aske with reuerence, What saith the Lord? d The thing which they mocke and contemne, shall come vpon them.

‖ Or, take you away.

Chap.20.11.

a The good figges signified them that were gone into captiuitie, and so saued their life, as Chap.21.8. and the naughtie figges them that remained which were yet subiect to the sword, famine and pestilence.

x Let the false prophet declare that it is his owne fantasie, & not slander my word as though it were a cloke to couer his lies, y Meaning, that it is not sufficient for Gods ministers to abstaine from lies, and to speake ‖ worde of God: but that there be fingement in alleging it, and that it may appeare to be applied to the same purpose that it was spoken, Ezek.3. 17.1.cor.2.13. and 4.2. 2.tim. 2.15.1.pet.4. 10,11.

z Which set foorth in my name that which I haue not commanded.

a To wit, the Lord.

b The Prophets called their threatnings Gods burden, which the sinners were not able to sustaine: therefore the wicked in deriding the worde, would aske of the Prophets, what was the burden, as though they would say, you seeke nothing els, but to lay burdens on our houlders: and thus they reiected the worde of God, as a grieuous burden.

sent out of this [b] place, into the lande of the Caldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will builde them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I will giue them [c] an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe my *people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto mee with their whole heart.

8 *And as the naughtie figges which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this lande, and them that dwell [d] in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and [for] a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places, where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

b Whereby he approueth the perelling of Ieconiah, and his companie, because they obeyed the inuader, who enlarged them thereunto.

c Which declareth that man of himselfe can know nothing, till God giue the heart and vnderstanding. Chap.31.33. hebr.8.10. Chap.29.17.

d Which fled thither for succour.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophesieth that they shalbe in captiuitie seuentie yeeres, 12 And that after the seuentie yeres the Babylonians should be destroyed, 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the [a] fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel:

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, & to all the inhabitãts of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto [b] this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you [c] rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lorde hath sent vnto you all his seruants [d] Prophets, rising early and sending [them,] but ye would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey.

5 They [e] saide, Turne againe nowe euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And go not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lorde, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my wordes, 9 Behold, I will sende and take [to me] all the [f] families of the North, saith the Lord, & Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my [g] seruant, & will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations [h] round about, & will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

10 *Moreouer I will take from them the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride, the noyse of the [i] millstones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole lande shalbe desolate, and an astonishment, [and] these nations shall serue the king of Babel seuentie yeres.

12 And when the [j] seuentie yeres are accomplished, I will visite [k] the king of Babel and that nation, saith the Lorde, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation.

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my words which I haue pronounced against it, [euen] all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations, & great kings shall euen [l] serue themselues of them: thus will I recompence them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne handes.

15 For thus hath the Lorde God of Israel spoken vnto me, [m] Take the cup of wine of this [mine] indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shall drinke, and be mooued, and be madde, because of the sword, that I will send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me:

18 [Euen] Ierusalem, and the cities of a That is, in the third yere accomplished, and in the beginning of the fourth: for though Nebuchad-nezzar began to reigne in the ende of the thirde yere of Iehoiakims reigne, yet that yeere is not here counted, because it was almost expired. Dan.1.1.

b Which was the fift yere and the ninth moneth of Iehoiakims reigne.

c That is, I haue spared no diligence or labour, Chap. 7.13.

d He sheweth that the Prophets wholly with one consent did labour to pull the people from those vices, which then reigned: to wit, from idolatrie, and the vaine confidence of men: for vnder these two all other were conteined, 2.King.17.23.chap.18.11, and 33.15. Ionah 3.8.

e The Caldeans, and all their power.

f So the wicked and Satan himselfe are Gods seruãts, because he maketh them to serue him by constraint, and turneth that which they do of malice, to his honour and glorie.

g As the Philistims, Ammonites, Egyptians and others, Chap.16.9.

h Or, destroy.

i Meaning, that bread and all things that should serue vnto their feasts, should be taken away.

j This reuelation was for the confirmation of his prophesie, because he told them of a time, that they should enter and remaine in captiuitie, 2.Chron. 36.21.ezra.1.1.chap.29.10. dan.9.2.

k For seeing the iudgement began at his owne house, the enemies must needes be punished most grieuously, Ezek.9.6. 1.pet.4.17.

l That is, of the Babylonians, as Chap. 27.7.

m Signifying the extreme afflictions that God had appointed for euery one, as Psal.75.8. Isa.51.17. and this cup which the wicked drinke is more bitter then that which he giueth to his children, for he measureth the one by mercie, and the other by iustice.

of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, [n] as [appeareth] this day:

19 Pharaoh [also,] King of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all sortes of people, and all the kings of the land [o] of Uz: and all [p] kings of the land of the Philistims, and [p] Ashkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod:

21 [q] Edom, and Moab, [r] the Ammonites,

22 And all the kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the [r] Iles, that are beyond the Sea,

23 And [s] Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of Arabia, that dwell in the [t] desert,

25 And all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of ‖ Elam, and all the kings of the Medes, 26 And all the kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the world, which are vpon the earth, and [u] king of [u] Shechach shall drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spew and fall, & rise no more, because of [x] sword, which I will send among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuse to take [x] cuppe at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Ye shal certainely drinke.

29 For lo, [x] I begin to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, and should you go free? Ye shal not go quite: for I will call for a sword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophesie thou against them all these words, & say vnto them, *The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: he shall roare vpon his habitation, and cry aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The sound shall come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, [and] hee will giue them that are wicked, to the sword, saith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a * great whirlewinde shall be raysed vp from [y] coastes of the earth.

33 And [y] the slaine of the Lord shalbe at that day, from [one] end of the earth, euen vnto the [other] ende of the earth: they shall not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, [but] shalbe as the dongue vpon the ground.

34 Howle, [z] ye shepherds, and crye, and wallowe your selues in the ashes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispersion, and ye shall fall like [a] precious vessels.

35 And the [b] flight shall fayle from the shepherds, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of [y] crie of the shepherds, and an howling of the principall of the flocke [shalbe heard:] for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the [c] best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forsaken his couert, as the lyon: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressor, and because of the wrath of his indignation.

n For now it beginneth and shall so continue till it be accomplished.
o Reade Iob 1.1.
p Which were cities of the Philistims.
q Edom is here taken for the whole country, and Uz for a part thereof.
r As Grecia, Italie, and the rest of those countries.
s These were people of Arabia, which came of Dedan the sonne of Abraham and Keturah.
t For there were two countries so named, the one fulfilen plentifull, and the other baren, or desert.
u That is, of Babylon, as Chap. 51.41.
x That is, Ierusalem, reade verse 12.
Ioel 3.16. amos 1.2.
y They which are slaine at the Lords appointment.
z We that are chiefe rulers and gouernours.
a What is most excellent.
b It shall be helpe the wicked seeke to flie.
c Ebr. peaceable.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Ieremiah mourneth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false Prophets and Priestes and brought to iudgement. 23 Uriah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of [y] reigne of Iehoiakim [y] sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lorde, Stand in the [a] court of the Lords house, & speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lords house, all the words that I command thee to speake vnto them: keepe not [b] a word backe,

3 If so be they will hearken, & turne euery man from his euill way, that I may [c] repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpo them, because of the wickednes of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto thē, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending [them,] and will not obey [them,] a That is, in that place of the Temple whereunto the people resort out of all Iudah to sacrifice.

b To the intent that they should pretend no ignorance, as Act. 20.27.
c Read Chap. 18.8.

6 Then

6 Then will I make this house like d Read Chap. 7.12.
d Shiloh, & will make this citie c a curse
c So that whē they woulde curse any, they shall say, God do to thee as to Ierusalem.
to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests, and the Prophets, and al the people heard Ieremiah speaking these wordes in the house of þ Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded [him] to speake vnto al the people, then the Priestes, and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and said, Thou shalt dye the death.

f Because of Gods promes to the Temple, Psal. 132.14. that he would for euer remaine there, the hypocrites thought this Temple could neuer perish, and therefore thought it blasphemie to speake against it, Mat. 26.61. Act. 6.13. not considering that this was ment of the Church, where God will remaine for euer.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the Name of þ Lord, saying, This f house shalbe like Shiloh, and this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the house of the Lord.

10 And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp frō the Kings house into the house of the Lord, & sate downe in the entrie of the g newe gate of the Lords [house.]

11 Then spake the Priests, & the Prophets vnto the princes, and to al the people, saying, ‡ This man is worthy to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiah vnto al the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath h sent me to prophesie against this house and against this citie al the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your waies and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lorde may repent him of the plague, that hee hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know ye for certaine, that if ye put me to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth the Lorde hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

16 Then said the princes & all the people vnto the Priests & to the Prophets, This man is not worthie to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

Micah. 1.1. and 3.12.

18 Michah the Morasthite *prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, and spake to all þ people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Zion shalbe plowed [like] a fielde, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, & the mountaine of the i house [shalbe] as the high places of the forest.

i That is, of the house of the Lorde: to wit, Zion, and these examples the godly alleaged to deliuer Ieremiah out of the Priests hands whose rage els woulde not haue bene satisfied, but by his death.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lorde, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the k plague, that he had pronounced against them? thus might we procure great euil against our soules.

k So that the citie was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of þ hands of Sancherib.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, [one] Uriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the wordes of Ieremiah.

l Here is declared the fiure of tyrants, who cannot abide to heare Gods word: but perseuere the ministers thereof, and yet in the end they preuaile nothing, but prouoke Gods iudgements so much þ more.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his words, þ king sought to slay him. But when Uriah heard it, he was afraide and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the King l sent men into Egypt, [euen] Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

m As in the first Hezekiahs example is to be folowed, so in this other Iehoiakims acte is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his housholde.

23 And they fet Uriah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slew him with the sworde, and m cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam n þ sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hande of the people to put him to death.

n Which declareth that nothing coulde haue appeased their furie, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah at the commandement of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudah and to þ other Kings that were nere, whereby they are moulded to be subiects vnto Nebuchadnezzar. 9 He warneth the people and the Kings and rulers that they beleeue not false prophets.

a As touching the disposition of these prophesies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which should be after, and contrariwise: which if the reader marke well, it shall auoyde many doubtes, and make the reading much more easie. b By such figures the Prophets vsed sometimes to confirme their prophesies, which notwithstanding they could not doe of themselues, but in almuch as they had a reuelation for the same, Isa. 20.2. and therefore the false prophets to get more credit, did vse also such visible figues, but they had no reuelation, 1. Kings. 22.11.

IN the beginning of þ reigne of a Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee b bondes, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to þ King of Edom, and to the King of Moab, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the king of Moab, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the King of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Jerusalem vnto Zedekiah the King of Judah,

4 And commande them to say vnto their masters, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

6 But nowe I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my [c] seruant, and the beastes of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

c Read Chap. 25.9.

7 And all nations shal serue him, and his [d] sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall [e] serue them selues of him.

d Meaning, Euilmerodach, and his sonne Belshazar.

e They shall bring him, and his kingdome in subiection, as Chap. 25. 14.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, sayth the Lorde, with the sworde, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly [giuen] them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your Prophets nor your southsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shal not serue the King of Babel.

10 For they prophesie a lye vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their necks vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lorde, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Judah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the Prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophesie a lye vnto you.

15 For I haue not * sent them, sayeth the Lorde, yet they prophesie a lye in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, [both] you, and the Prophets that prophesie vnto you. Chap. 14. 14. and 23. 21. and 29. 9.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your Prophets that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold, * the vessels of the house of the Lord shall nowe shortly be [f] brought again from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you. Chap. 28. 3.

f Which were taken when Jeconiah was led captiue into Babel.

17 Heare them not, [but] serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophets, and if the worde of the Lorde be with them, let them [g] intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the house of the Lorde, and in the house of the King of Judah, and at Jerusalem, goe not to Babel.

g For it was not onely the Prophets office to shewe the worde of God, but also to pray for the sinnes of the people, Gen. 20. 7. which these could not doe because they had no expresse word: for God had pronounced the contrarie. 2. King. 25. 13. 2. King. 24. 12. 15.

19 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, concerning the * pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not, when he caryed [h] away captiue Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim King of Judah from Jerusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem.

21 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels [i] remaine in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Judah, and at Jerusalem, h That is, for the space of seuentie yeeres, til I haue couered the Medes and Persians to ouercome the Caldeans, 22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shalbe vntill the day that I visite [k] them, sayth the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophesie of Hananiah. 12 Jeremiah reproueth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

AND that same yeere in the beginning of the [a] reigne of Zedekiah king of Judah in the [b] fourth yeere, [and] in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of [c] Gibeon, spake to me in the house of the Lord in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people, and sayd, a When Jeremiah began to beare these bonds and yokes.

b After that the land had rested, as Leui. 25. 2.

c This was a citie in Beniamin belonging to the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21. 17.

2 Thus

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 ‡ Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords house, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim King of Judah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Judah, and went into Babel, saith ꝑ Lord: for I will breake the yoke of ꝑ King of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Jeremiah said vnto the [d] Prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stoode in the house of the Lord.

6 Euen the Prophet Jeremiah sayd, So be it: the [e] Lord so do, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophesied to restore the vessels of ꝑ Lords house, and all that is caryed captiue, from Babel, into this place.

7 But heare thou nowe this worde that I will speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me & before thee in time past, [f] prophesied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 [And] ꝑ Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, [then] shall the Prophet be knowen that ꝑ Lord hath truely sent him.

10 Then Hananiah ꝑ Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet, Jeremiahs necke, and [g] brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Jeremiah) saying, 13 Go, & tell Hananiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a [h] yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the [i] beasts of the field also.

15 Then said the Prophet Jeremiah vnto ꝑ Prophet Hananiah, Heare nowe Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye.

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt dye, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the Prophet [k] dyed the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

‡ Ebr. two yeeres of dayes.

d He was so esteemed, though hee was a false Prophet.

e That is, I would wish the same for Gods honor, and wealth of my people, but he hath appointed the contrary.

f Meaning, that the Prophets that did eyther denounce warre or peace, were tried eyther true or false by the successe of their prophesies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false Prophet speaketh, to trie the faith of his. Deut. 13.3.

g This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale to the truth, but are led with ambition to get the fauour of men, and therefore cannot abide any, that might discredit them, but burst forth into rages, and contrary to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they do, so that they may maintaine their estimatiō.

h That is, a hard, and cruell seruitude.

i Signifying, that all should be his, as Dan. 2.38.

k Seeing this thing was euident in ꝑ eyes of the people, and yet they returned not to ꝑ Lord, it is manifest, that miracles cannot moue vs, neyther the worde it selfe, except God touch the heart.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He prophesieth their returne after seuentie yeeres. 16 He prophesieth ꝑ destruction of the King & of the people that remaine in Jerusalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets ꝑ seduce ꝑ people. 25 The death of Shemaiah is prophesied.

NOw these are the wordes of the ‖ booke that Jeremiah the Prophet sent from Jerusalem vnto [a] the residue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Jerusalem to Babel:

‖ Or, letter.

a For some view in the way.

2 (After that Jeconiah the King, and the [b] Queene, and the eunuches, the *princes of Judah, and of Jerusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Jerusalem)

b Meaning, Jeconias mother. Chap. 24.1.

3 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Judah [c] sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

c To increase of some equall conditions.

4 Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whom I haue [d] caused to be caried away captiues from Jerusalem vnto Babel:

d To wit, the Lord, whose worke this was.

5 Builde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke ꝑ prosperitie of ꝑ citie, whither I haue caused you to be caryed away captiues, & [e] pray vnto ꝑ Lord for it: for in ꝑ peace therof shal you haue peace.

e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affection that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest, and quietnes, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliuerance, which God had appointed most certainer for, else not only the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Isa. 14.4.

8 ¶ For

8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, and your soothsayers that bee among you, deceiue you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophesie you a lie in my Name: I haue not sent them, sayth the Lorde.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres bee accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promes toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I knowe the thoughtes, that I haue thought towardes you, sayeth the Lorde, [euen] the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and [your] hope.

12 Then shall you crie vnto mee, and ye shall go and pray vnto me, and I will heare you, 13 And ye shal seeke me and find [me,] because ye shall seeke me with all f your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, sayth the Lord, and I will turne awey your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, sayeth the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caried away captiue.

15 Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raised vs vp g Prophets in Babel, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 [Euē] thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will sende vpon them the h sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, & will make them like vile figges, that can not be eaten, they are so naughtie.

18 And I will persecute them with the sworde, with the famine, & with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, [and] k a curse, & astonishment and an hissing, and a reproch amōg al the nations whither I haue cast them,

19 Because they haue not heard my words, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophetes, l rising vp early, and sending [them,] but ye would not heare, saith the Lord.

20 Here ye therfore the word of the Lorde all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Jerusalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith tht Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophesie lyes vnto you in my Name, Behold, I wil deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and hee shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And al they of the captiuitie of Judah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whome the King of Babel burnt m in the fire, 23 Because they haue committed n villanie in Israel, and haue committed adultery with their neighbours wiues, & haue spoken lying words in my Name, which I haue not cōmanded them, euē I know it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the ‖ Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy Name vnto al the people, that are at Jerusalem, & to Zephaniah the sone of Maaseiah the priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for o Jehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the house of the Lord, for euery man that raueth and maketh him selfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Jeremiah of Anathoth, which prophesieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This [captiuity is lōg: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Jeremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

31 Sende to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus sayeth the Lorde of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophesied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: he shal not haue a man p to dwell amōg this people, neither shall he behold the good, that I will do for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoke rebellion vnto against the Lord.

f When your oppression shal be great, and your afflictiōs cause you to repent your disobedience, and also when the seuentie yeeres of your captiuitie shall be expired, 2. Chro. 36. 22 Esra. 1. 1. Chap. 25. 12. Dan. 9. 2.

g As Ahab, Zedekiah, and Shemaiah.

h Whereby he assureth them, that there shal be no hope of returning before the time appointed.

i According to the comparison, Chap. 24. 1, 2.

k Read Chap. 26. 6.

l Read Chap. 7. 13. and 25. 3 and 26. 5.

m Because they gaue the people hope of speedie returning.

n Which was adulterie, and falsifying the word of God.

‖ Or, dreamer.

o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Jehoiada to punish who so euer trespassed against the word of God, of the which he vnduly haue made Jeremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophet.

p He and his seede shall be destroyed, so that none of them shoulo see the benefite of thes deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

THe word, that came to Ieremiah frō the Lord, ſaying, 2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue ſpoken vnto thee in [a] a booke.
3 For lo, the dayes come, ſaith ỹ Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Iſrael and Iuda, ſayth the Lord: for I will reſtore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, and they ſhall poſſeſſe it.
4 Againe, theſe are the wordes ỹ the Lord ſpake concerning Iſrael, and concerning Iudah.
5 For thus ſayth the Lord, We haue heard a [b] terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.
6 Demande now and behold, if man trauaile with child? wherefore do I behold euery man with his handes on his loines as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a palenes?
7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none [hath bene] like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet ſhall he be deliuered from it.
8 For in that [d] day, ſaith the Lorde of hoſts, I will breake his yoke frō of thy necke, and breake thy bonds, & ſtrangers ſhal no more ſerue themſelues [e] of him.
9 But they ſhall ſerue the Lord their God, and [g] Dauid their King, whom I will raiſe vp vnto them.
10 Therefore feare not, O my ſeruant Iaakob, ſaith ỹ Lord, neither be afraid, O Iſrael: for lo, I wil deliuer thee frō a farre [coūtrey], & thy ſeed from the land of their captiuitie, & Iaakob ſhall turne againe, and ſhalbe in reſt and proſperitie and none ſhal make him afraid.
11 For I am with thee, ſaith the Lord, to ſaue thee: though I vtterly deſtroy all the nations where I haue ſcattered thee, yet will I not vtterly deſtroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, & not [f] vtterly cut thee off.
12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Thy bruiſing is incurable, [&] thy wounde is doloroꝰ.
13 There is none to iudge thy cauſe, [or to lay] a plaiſter: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.
14 All thy [h] louers haue forgotte thee: they ſeeke thee not: for I haue ſtriken thee with the wound of an enemie [and] with a charpe chaſtiſement for the multitude of thine iniquities, [becauſe] thy ſinnes were increaſed.
15 Why crieſt thou for thine affliction: thy ſorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: [becauſe] thy ſinnes were increaſed, I haue done theſe things vnto thee.
16 [i] Therefore all they that deuoure thee, ſhalbe deuoured, & all thine enemies euery one ſhall go into captiuitie: & they that ſpoile thee, ſhalbe ſpoiled, & all they that rob thee, will I giue to be robbed.
17 For I wil reſtore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, ſaith the Lorde, becauſe they called thee, The caſt away, [ſaying,] This is Zion, whom no man ſeeketh after.
18 Thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, and haue compaſſion on his dwelling places: & the citie ſhall be buided vpon her owne heape, [m] & the palace ſhall remaine after the maner thereof.
19 And out of them ſhall proceede [n] thankeſgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiplie them, and they ſhall not be fewe: I will alſo glorifie them, and they ſhall not be diminiſhed.
20 Their children alſo ſhalbe as afore time, and their congregation ſhalbe eſtabliſhed before me: and I will viſite all that vexe them.
21 And their [o] noble [ruler] ſhall be of themſelues, & their gouernour ſhall proceede from the midſt of them, and I will cauſe him to draw neere, & approch vnto mee: for who is this that diretteth his [p] heart to come vnto me, ſaith the Lord?
22 And ye ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.
23 Behold, [q] the tempeſt of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlwind that hangeth ouer, ſhall light vpon the head of the wicked.
24 The fierce wrath of the Lord ſhal not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the latter dayes yee ſhall vnderſtand it.

a Becauſe they ſhould be aſſured and their poſteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promiſed.

b He ſheweth ỹ before that this deliuerance ſhall come, the Caldeans ſhould be extremely afflicted by their enemies, & that they ſhould be in ſuch perplexitie and ſorowe as a woman in her trauaile, as Iſa. 13.8.

c Meaning, that the time of their captiuitie ſhould be grieuous.

d When I ſhal viſit Babylon.

e Of the king of Babylon.

f To wit, of Iaakob.

g That is, Meſſiah, which ſhould come of the ſtocke of Dauid according to the fleſh, & ſhould be the true paſtor, as Ezek. 34.23. who is ſet forth, & his kingdome that ſhould be euerlaſting, in the perſon of Dauid, Hoſ. 3.5.

h Read Chap. 10.24.

i Meaning, that no man is able to find out a meane to deliuer them, but that it muſt be the worke of God.

k The Aſſyrians & Egyptians whō thou didſt entertaine with gifts, who left thee in thine affliction.

l Herein is commended Gods great mercie toward his, who doeth not deſtroy them for their ſinnes but correct and chaſtice them, til he haue purged and pardoned them, and ſo burneth the rods by the which he did punniſh them, Iſa. 33.1.

m Meaning, that the citie & the Temple ſhould be reſtored to their former ſtate.

n He ſheweth how the people ſhal with praiſe & thankſgiuing acknowledge this benefite.

o Meaning Zerubbabel, who was the figure of Chriſt in whō this was accompliſhed.

p Signifying, that Chriſt doeth willingly ſubmit himſelf to the obedience of God his father.

q Leſt the wicked hypocrites ſhould flatter thē ſelues with theſe promiſes, the prophet ſheweth what ſhall be their portion.

r When this Meſſiah & deliuerer is ſent.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He reherſeth Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the ſpirituall ioy of the faythfull in the Church.

AT the [a] ſame time, ſayth the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Iſrael, and they ſhalbe my people.

a When this noble gouernour ſhall come: meaning Chriſt, nor onely Iudah and Iſrael, but the reſt of the worlde ſhall be called.

2 Thus saith the Lorde, The people which [b] escaped the sworde, found grace in the wildernes: [c] hee walked [before] Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me [d] of old, [say they:] [e] Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee.

4 Againe I will build thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt still [f] be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt go forth in the daunce of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of [g] Samaria, and the planters that plant them, [h] shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that the [i] watchmen vpō the mount of Ephraim shall crie, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto [k] Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lorde, Reioyce with gladnes for Iaakob, and shout for ioy among the cheefe of the [l] Gentiles: publish ye, praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Behold, I will bring them from the North countrey, [r] gather them from the coasts of the world, [with] the blind and the lame among them, [with] the womā with child, [s] her that is deliuered also: a great companie shall returne hither.

9 They shall come [m] weeping, [t] with mercie will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of [n] water in a straight way, wherein they shal not stūble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is [o] my first borne.

10 Heare the worde of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, [r] declare in the yles afarre of, and say, He that scattered Israel, will gather him [s] with keepe him, as a shepheard [doth] his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hande [p] of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall run to the bountifulnesse of the Lord, [euen] for the [q] wheate and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullockes: and their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorowe.

13 Then shal the virgine reioyce in the [t] daunce, and the yong men, [r] the old men together: for I will turne their mourning vnto ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with [u] fatnes, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard on hie, a mourning [and] bitter weeping. [x] Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weeping, and thine eies from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith the Lord, [y] they shall come againe from the land of the enemie:

17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that [thy] children shal come again to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard [w] Ephraim lamenting thus, [Thou hast] corrected mee, and I was chastised as an [x] vntamed calfe: [y] conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon [my] thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim [z] my deare sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I still [b] remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp [c] signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgin of Israel: turne again to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created [d] a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuity, The Lord bleste thee, O habitation of iustice, [e] holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shal dwel in it, and all b Which were deliuered from the cruelties of Pharaoh.

c To wit, God.

d The people thus reason as though he were not to benefit them now, as he had done of olde.

e Thus the Lord ordereth that his loue is not changeable.

f Then shall haue still occasion to reioyce: which is ment by tabrets and dancing, as their custome was after notable victories, Exod. 15. 20. iudg. 5. 1. and Chap. 1. 13.

g Because the Israelites, which were the ten tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this must be spiritually vnderstand vnder the kingdome of Christ which was the restauration of the true Israel.

h That is, that eate the fruite thereof, as Leu. 19. 23. deut. 20. 6.

i The ministers of the worde.

k They shall exhort all to the imbracing of the Gospel, as Isa. 2. 3.

l Be thewth what shall be the conceyue and loue of all vnder the Gospel, where none shall be refused for their infirmities: and euery one shall exhort one another to imbrace it.

m That is, lamenting their sinnes, which had not giuen eare to the Prophets, and therefore it followeth that God receiued them to mercie, Chap. 50. 4.

n Where they found no impediments, but abundance of all things.

o That is, my dearly beloued, as the first childe is to the father.

p That is from the Babylonians, and other enemies.

q By these temporall benefites he meaneth the spirituall graces, which are in the Church, and whereof there should bee euer plenie, Isai. 58. 11, 12.

r In the companie of the faithfull which euer prayse God for his benefites.

s Meaning, the spirit of wisedome, knowledge & zeale.

t To declare the greatnes of Gods mercie in deliuering his Iewes, he sheweth the that they were like to Beniamites, or Israelites: that is, bitterly bestroyed, and caried away, in somuch that if Rahel the mother of Beniamin could haue risen againe to seeke for her children, the should haue found none remaining.

u That is, the people that were led captiue.

x Which was wanton and could not be subiect to the yoke.

y He sheweth how the faithfull bide to pray: that is, desire God to turne them, for as much as they cannot turne of themselues.

z In signe of repentance, and detestation of my sinne.

a As though he would say, No: for his iniquitie he did what lay in him to cast me off.

b To wit, in prouiding him for my mysnes sake.

c Marke by what way thou didst go into captiuitie, and thou shalt turne againe by the same.

d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth how this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ whome a woman should conceyue, and beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man: or, here meaneth that Ierusalem which was like a baren woman in her captiuitie, should be fruitfull as ther, that is ioyned in mariage, and whom God bleseth with children.

e Meaning the Church.

e Hauing vnderstand this vision of the Messiah to come, in whom the two houses of Israel and Iudah should be ioyned, & reioyced.
f I will multiplie, and enriche them with people and cattel.
g The wicked vsed this prouerbe, when they did murmure against Gods iudgements pronounced by the Prophets, saying, That their fathers had committed the fault, and that the children were punished, Ezek. 18.2.
h Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers, and this which was giuen after, seeme diuers, yet they are all one, & grounded on Iesus Christ, saue that this is called newe because of the manifestation of Christ, and the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen to his Church vnder the Gospel.
i And so were the occasion of their owne disobedience though their infidelitie, Isa. 50.1.
‖ Or, master.
k In the time of Christ my lawe shall in stead of tables of stone be written in their hearts by mine holy spirit, Heb. 8.8,10.
l Vnder the kingdome of Christ there shall be none blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them faith, and knowledge of God for remission of their sinnes, & daily increase the same: so that it shall not seeme to come so much by the preaching of my ministers, as by the instruction of my holy spirit, Isa. 54.13. but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to the kingdom of Christ, when we shall be ioyned with our head.
m If the sunne, moone, and starres cannot but giue light according to mine ordinance, so long as this world lasteth, so shall my Church neuer faile, neither shall any thing hinder it: and as sure as I will haue a people, so certaine is it that I will leaue them my word for euer to gouerne them with.

the cities thereof together, the husbandmen & they that go forth with the flocke.
25 For I haue satiate the wearie soule, and I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule.
26 Therefore I awaked and beheld, and my sleepe [c] was sweete vnto me.
27 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah [f] with the seed of man and with the seed of beast.
28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, & to throw down, and to destroy, & to plague [them,] so will I watch ouer them to build & to plant [them,] saith the Lord.
29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue [g] eaten a sower grape, & y childrés teeth are set on edge.
30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth y sower grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.
31 ¶ Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will make a [h] newe couenãt with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hande to bring them out of the lande of Egypt, the which my couenant they [i] brake, although I was ‖ an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.
33 But this shalbe the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After [k] those daies, saith the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shalbe my people.
34 And they shal [l] teach no more euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Knowe the Lord: for they shall all knowe me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, & I will remember their sinnes no more.
35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth [m] the sunne for a light to the day, [&] the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name [is] the Lord of hosts.
36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saieth the Lord, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.
37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, [n] or the foundations of y earth bee searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith y Lord.
38 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that the [o] citie shall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.
39 And the line of the measure shal go forth in his presence vpon the hil Gareb, and shall compasse about to Goath.
40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and al the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, [and] vnto the corner of the horsegate towarde the East, [shalbe] holy vnto the Lorde, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

n The one and the other is impossible.
o As it was perfourmed, Nehemiah 3.1 By this description he sheweth that the citie should be as ample, & beautifull as euer it was: but he alluseth to the spirituall Ierusalem, whose beautie should be incomparable.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is cast into prison because he prophesied that the citie should be taken of the king of Babylon. 7 He sheweth, that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Loyd.

THe worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, in the [a] tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eightenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.
2 For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house.
3 For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus saieth the Lord, *Behold, I will giue this citie into the handes of the King of Babel, and he shall take it:
4 And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shall not escape out of y hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shal speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face,
5 And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntill [b] I visite him, saith y Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shal not prosper.
6 ¶ And Ieremiah said, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
7 Behold, Hanameel the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and say, [c] Bye vnto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kindred a So that Ieremiah had now prophesied from the eighteenth yeere of Iosiah vnto the last yeere saue one of Zedekiahs reigne, which was almost foutie yeeres.

Chap. 21.10, 17. & 34.2.
b Till I take Zedekiah away by death: for he shall not die by the sworde, as Chap. 34.4.
c Whereby was ment that the people should returne againe out of captiuitie and enioy their possessions & vineyards, as verse. 15. & 44.
‖ Or, right to redeeme it.

d Because he was next of the kinred, as Ruth.4.4.

e Of the possession of the Leuites, read Leu.25.32.

f Which moseth to of our money, about ten shillings sixe pence, if this shekel were the common shekel, read Gen.23. 15, for the shekel of the Temple was of double value, and ten peeces of siluer were halfe a shekel: for twentie made the shekel.

g According to the custome, the instrument or euidence was sealed vp with the common seale, and a copie thereof remained, which conteyned the same in effect, but was not so authentical as the other, but was left open to be seene if any thing should be called into doubt.

h And so to hide them in the ground, that they might be preserued as a token of their deliuerance.

[Or, hid. Exod.34.7. deut.5.9.

i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth that their posteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shalbe punished both for their owne wickednes, and that the iniquitie of their fathers, which is likewise in them, shalbe also reuenged on their head.

dzed [appertaineth] vnto thee d to bye it.

8 So Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, e saide vnto me, Bie my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the possession [is] thine, and the purchase [belongeth] vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth and weighed him the siluer, [euen] seuen f shekels, and ten [pieces] of siluer.

10 And I writ it in the booke e signed it, and tooke witnesses, e weighed him the siluer in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed g [according] to the Law, and custome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles [sonne,] and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Take the writings, [euen] this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen h vessel, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel sayth thus, Houses and fieldes, and vineyardes shalbe possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, 17 Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, e there is nothing [hard] vnto thee.

18 * Thou shewest mercy vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their children after them: O God the great e mightie, Whose Name [is] the Lord of hosts,

19 Great in counsell, and mightie in worke, (for thine eies are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his waies, and according to the fruit of his workes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k day, and in Israel, e among [all] men, e hast made thee a Name, as [appeareth] this day.

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, e with great terrour,

22 And hast giuen them this lande, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, [euen] a lande, that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neyther walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the l mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast saide vnto mee, O Lord God, Bye vnto thee the fielde for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all m flesh: is there any thing too hard for mee?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hande of the Caldeans, e into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel, e he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, e set fire on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rooues they haue offred incense vnto Baal, e powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euil before me from their n youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me [as a prouocation] of mine anger, e of my wrath, from the daye, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke k Meaning, that his miracles in deliuering his people should neuer be forgotten.

l The word signifieth any thing that is cast vp, as a mount or rampart, e is also vsed for engines of warre, which were layde on an hie place to shoote into a citie, before that gunnes were in vse.

m That is, of euery creature: who as they are his worke, so doeth he gouerne e guide them as pleaseth him, whereby he sheweth that as he is the author of this their captiuitie for their sinnes so will he for his mercies be their redeemer to restore them againe to libertie.

n From the time that I brought them out of Egypt, e made them my people, and called them my first borne.

me to anger, [euen] they, their Kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto me the backe and not the face: though I taught them, o rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receyue doctrine, o Read 32.33. 11.7. 25.4. 35.15. 44.4. 2.Chro. 36.15.

34 But they set their abominations in the house (whereupon my name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the hie p places of Baal, which are in the valley of q Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes, and their daughters to r passe through [the fire] vnto Molech, which I commaunded them not, neither came it into my mind, that they should do such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne.

p That is, the altars, which were made to offer sacrifice vpon to their idoles.
q Read Chap. 7.31. 2.King. 21.4,6.
r Read 2. Kin. 16.3.

36 And nowe s therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hande of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, s Read Chap. 30.16.

37 *Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, whereem I haue scattered them in mine anger, t in my wrath, and in great indignation, & I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

Deut. 30.3.

38 And they shalbe u my people, and I will be their God.

Chap. 30.22.

39 And I will giue them x one heart and one way that they may feare me for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

t One consent and one religion, as Ezek. 11.19. & 36.27

40 And I wil make an u euerlasting couenant with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to do thē good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

u Read Chap. 31.32,33.

41 Yea, I will delite in them to doe them good, & I will plant them in this lande assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I haue brought al this great plague vpon this people, so will I bring vpon them al the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fieldes shalbe possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men shal bye fieldes for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Beniamin, and rounde about Ierusalem, and in the x This is the declaration of that, which was spoken, verse 8.

cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet is monished of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised. 8 God forgiueth sinnes, for his own glorie. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdome of Christ in the Church shal neuer be ended.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the seconde time (while hee was yet shut vp in the a court of the prison) saying, a Which was in the Kings house at Ierusalem, as chap. 32.1,2.

2 Thus saith the Lorde, the maker b thereof, the Lorde that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

b To wit, of Ierusalē, who as he made it, so will he preserue it. reade Isa. 37.26.

3 Call vnto me, and I will answere thee, and shewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the c mounts, and by the sword,

c Read Chap. 32.24.

5 They come to d fight with the Caldeans, but it [is] to fill them selues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my e face from this citie, because of all their wickednes.

d The Iewes thinke to ouercome the Caldeans, but they seeke their owne destruction.
e He sheweth that Gods fauour is cause of all prosperitie, as his anger is of all aduersitie.

6 Behold, f I will giue it health & amendement: for I will cure them, and will reueale vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

f In the midst of his threatnings God remembreth his, and comforteth them.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah, & the captiuitie of Israel to returne, & wil builde them as at the first.

8 And I will g clense them from all their iniquitie, wherby they haue sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, wherby they haue sinned & gainst me, and wherby they haue rebelled against me.

g Declaring that there is no deliuerāce nor ioy, but where as we feele remission of sinnes.

9 And it shalbe to me a name, a h ioy, a praise, and an honour before al the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I do vnto them: and they shall feare, and tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this [citie.]

h Whereby he sheweth that the Church, wherein is remission of sinnes, is Gods honour and glorie, so that whosoeuer is enemy to it, laboureth to dishonour God.

10 Thus saith the Lorde, Againe there shalbe heard in this place (which ye say shalbe desolate, without mā, and without beast, [euen] in the cities of Iudah, & in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voyce of ioye and the voyce of gladnesse gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, & the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, i Praise the Lord of hosts, because the Lord is good: for his mercie [endureth] for euer, [and] of them that offer [the sacrifice] of praise in the house of the Lord. for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the lande, as at the first, saith the Lord.

i Which was a song appointed for the Leuites to prayse God by, 1. Chro.16.8, ptal.105.1. ifa. 12.4.ptal.106. 1.& 107.1. and 118.1.& 136.1

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepheards to rest their flockes.

k Meaning, that all ỹ countrey of Iudah shalbe inhabited againe.

13 In the cities of the k mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the lande of Benamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder ỹ hande of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil performe ỹ good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes and at that time, will I cause l the branch of righteousnes to growe vp vnto Dauid, and hee shall execute iudgement, and righteousnesse in the land.

l That is, I will sende the Messiah which shall come of ỹ house of Dauid, of whome this prophesie is ment, as testifie all the Iewes, ỹ that which is written, Chap.23.5

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call m her, is the Lorde our n righteousnesse.

m To wit, Christ that shall call his Church.

n That is, Christ is our Lord God, our righteousnes, sanctification, and redemptio, 1.Cor.1.30.

17 For thus sayeth the Lorde, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shal the Priests & Leuites want a man before mee to offer o burnt offrings, and to offer meat offrings, and to do sacrifice continually.

o This is chiefly meant of the spirituall sacrifice of thanksgiuing, which is left to the Church in the time of Christ, who was the euerlasting Priest and the euerlasting sacrifice figured by ỹ sacrifices of the Law,

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the p day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season, p Read Chap. 31.35.

21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, ỹ he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, [and] Priests my ministers.

22 As the armie of heauen can not be nombred, neither ỹ lande of the sea measured: so will I multiplie the seede of Dauid my seruant, & the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what q this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lorde hath chosen, he hath euen cast them off: thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

q Meaning, the Caldeans and other infidels, which thought God had vtterly cast off Iudah and Israel or Beniamin because he did correct them for a time for their amendment.

25 Thus saith the Lorde, If my couenant be not with day and night, [and] if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah shalbe giuen into the hands of the king of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelitie toward their seruants.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde (when a Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, & all the kingdomes of the earth, [that were] vnder ỹ power of his hand, and al people fought against Ierusalē, & against all the cities thereof) saying, a Who commonly of Ieremiah was called Nebuchad-nezzar and of others Nebuchadnezzar.

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus sayeth the Lorde, Beholde, b I will giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire,

2.Chro.36.19 chap.29.16, 17.and 32.3.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hande, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hande, and thine eyes shal behold the face of the King of Babel, and he shal speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the worde of the Lorde, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus saith the Lorde of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sworde,

5 [But] thou shalt die in c peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shall they burne [odours] for thee, and they shall lamēt thee, [saying,] Oh d lorde: for I haue pronounced the worde, saith the Lord.

b Not of any violent death.

c The Iewes shall lament for their lorde and King.

d The Iewes shall lament for their Lorde and King.

6 Then Ieremiah ỹ Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (when the King of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, [euen] against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This [is] the word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ieruſalē, d to proclaime libertie vnto them,
9 That euery man ſhould let his ſeruant goe free, and euery man his handmaide, which was an Ebrue or an Ebrueſſe, and that none ſhould ſerue himſelfe of thē, [to wit,] of a Iewe his brother.
10 Nowe when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one ſhoulde let his ſeruant goe free, and euery one his handmaide, and that none ſhoulde ſerue them ſelues of thē any more, they obeyed and let them goe.
11 But afterward they ‡repented and cauſed the ſeruāts and the handmaides, whome they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in ſubiection as ſeruants and handmaides.
12 Therefore the worde of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, I made a couenāt with your fathers, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, out of the houſe of ‖ ſeruantes, ſaying, 14 *At the terme of ſeuen yeeres let yee goe, euery man his brother an Ebrue which hath bene ſolde vnto thee: and whē he hath ſerued thee ſixe yeres, thou ſhalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed mee not, neither inclined their eares.
15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my ſight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, & ye had made a couenant before mee in f the houſe, whereupon my name is called.
16 But ye repented, and polluted my name: for ye haue cauſed euery man his ſeruant, and euery man his handmaide, whom ye had ſet at libertie at their pleaſure, to returne, and hold them in ſubiection to bee vnto you as ſeruantes and as handmaides.
17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed mee, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, ſaith the Lorde, to s the ſword, to the peſtilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.
18 And I will giue thoſe men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they h cut the calfe in twaine, and paſſed betweene the partes thereof:
19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ieruſalem, the Eunuches, and the Prieſtes, and all the people of the lande, which paſſed betweene the partes of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hande of their enemies, and into the handes of them that ſeeke their life: and their dead bodies ſhalbe for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beaſtes of the earth.
21 And Zedekiah King of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hād of their enemies, and into the hande of them that ſeeke their life, and into the hande of i the King of Babels hoſte, which are gone vp from you.
22 Beholde, I will commaund, ſaith the Lorde, and cauſe them to returne to this citie, and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah deſolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

He propoſeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confounderh the pride of the Iewes.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, in the dayes a of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Ioſiah King of Iudah, ſaying, 2 Go vnto the houſe of the b Rechabites, & ſpeake vnto them, & bring them into the houſe of the Lorde into one of ꝑ chambers, & giue them wine to drinke.
3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, ꝑ ſonne of Ieremiah the ſonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his ſonnes, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites,
4 And I brought thē into the houſe of the Lorde, into the chamber of the ſonnes of Hanan, the ſonne of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaſeiah the ſonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treaſure.
5 And I ſet before the ſonnes of the houſe of the Rechabites, pottes full of wine, and cuppes, and c ſaide vnto them, Drinke wine.
6 But they ſaide, We will drinke no wine: for e Ionadab ꝑ ſonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, ſaying, f Ye ſhall drinke no wine, [neither] you nor d When the enemie was at hande, and they ſaw thē ſelues in danger, they would ſeeme holy, and ſo began ſome kinde of reformatiō: but ſoone after they vttered their hypocriſie.

e According to the Law, Exo. 21,2. Deu.15. 12.
‡Ebr. returned.
‖Or, bondage.
Deu.15.1,12.
f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a moſt ſolemne and ſtreit couenant made in the Name of the Lorde.
g That is, I giue the ſword libertie to deſtroy you.
h As touching this maner of ſolemne couenant which the ancient vſed by paſſing betweene the two partes of a beaſt, to ſignifie that the tranſgreſſor of the ſame couenant ſhould be ſo deuided in pieces, reade Gen.15.10.
i To fight againſt the Egyptians, as Chap.37.11.
a For the diſpoſition and order of theſe prophecies, reade Chap. 27,1. b They came of Iobab Moſes father in lawe, who was no Iſraelite, but after ioyned with them in the ſeruice of god.
c That is, a Prophet.
‖Or, doore.
d The Prophet ſaith not, The Lord ſaith thus: for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he tendeth to another ende: that is, to declare their obedience to man, ſeeing the Iewes would not obey God himſelfe.
e Whome Iehu the King of Iſrael fauoured for his zeale, 2. King. 10,15.
f Teaching them hereby to flee all occaſion of intemperancie, ambition and auarice, and that they might know that they were ſtrangers in the earth, & be readie to depart at all occaſions.

your your sonnes for euer.

7 Neither shall yee builde house, nor sowe seede, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your daies ye shall dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the lande where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue wee obeyed the voyce of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, [neither] we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither builde we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor fielde, nor seede,

10 But we haue remained in tents, & haue obeied, & done according to g all that Jonadab our father commanded vs.

g Which was aboue 50 yeare from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, & let vs go to Jerusalem, from ỹ hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Aram: so we h dwel at Jerusalē.

h Which declareth that they were not so bounde to their vowe, ỹ it could not be broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in citis, they dwell now at Jerusalem for feare of the warres.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Will i ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord?

i Whome I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father.

14 The commandement of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab that he commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this daye they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, k rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

k I haue most diligently exhorted & warned you both by my self and my Prophets. Chap.18.11. and 25.5.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp earely, and sending [them,] saying, * Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and go not after other gods to serue them, & ye shall dwell in the lande which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which hee gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon Judah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, all the euill ỹ I haue pronounced against them, because I haue l spoke vnto them, but they would not heare, & I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

l That is, by his Prophets and ministers: which shewed that it is as much as though he should speak to vs himselfe, whē he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.

18 And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Jonadab the sonne of Rechab shal m not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

m His posterite shall continue and be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Jeremiah writeth, the booke of the curses against Judah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people and readeth it before them all. 14 Hee is called before the rulers and readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lorde.

AND in the fourth a peere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah King of Judah, came this worde vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying, a Read Chap. 25.1.

2 Take thee a roule [or] booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, & against Judah, & against all the nations, from ỹ day that I spake vnto thee, [euen] b frō the dayes of Josiah vnto this day.

b Which were twenty & three peere, as Chap. 25.3. counting from the thirteenth peere of Josiahs reigne

3 It may bee that the house of Judah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote c at the mouth of Jeremiah all ỹ words of the Lord, which hee had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule [or] booke.

c As he did indite.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am d shut vp, [and] can not go into the house of the Lord.

d Meaning, for prison, though the malice of the Priests.

6 Therefore go thou, and reade the roule, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lorde, in the audience of the people in the Lordes house vpon the e fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Judah, that come out of their cities.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of ỹ Babylonians, as their custome was when they feared warre or any great plague of God

7 It may be that they will f pray before the Lorde, and euerie one returne from his euil way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lorde hath declared against this people.

f Be hewerth that fasting without prayer and repentance auaileth nothing, but is mere hypocrisie.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Jeremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lordes house.

9 And

g The fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch red this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, & his companions were led away captives.

9 ¶ And in the fifth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the h newe gate of the Lordes house, in the hearing of all the people.

h Which is the East gate of ỹ Temple.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, ỹ sonne of Shaphan had heard out of ỹ booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then he went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, & lo, all the princes sate there, [euen] Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah ỹ sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah ỹ sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto thē all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audiēce of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hande the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, & come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke ỹ roule in his hande, and came vnto them.

15 And they said vnto him, Sit downe nowe, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

i The godly were afrayde, freing God so offended, and the wicked were astonied for ỹ horror of the punishment.

16 Now when they had heard al the wordes, they were i afraid both one and other, & said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these wordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe didest thou write all these wordes at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote [them] with ynke in the booke.

19 Then said ỹ princes vnto Baruch, Go, k hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

k They that were godly among the princes, gaue this counsell, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of ỹ King and of the wicked to be such, that they could not escape with out danger of their liues.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour & tolde the King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the princes, which stoode beside the king.

22 Now the king sate in the Winter house, in the l ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

l Which contained part of November and part of December.

23 And whē Iehudi had read three, or foure sides, he cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntil all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rēt m their garmēts, [neither] ỹ king, nor any of his seruants, ỹ heard all these wordes.

m Shewing, that the wicked in steade of repenting, when they heare Gods iudgements, growe into farther malice against him and his worde.

25 Neuertheles, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that hee would not burne ỹ roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, & Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord n hid them.

n Thus we see the continuall care, that God hath euer ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lorde came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe o another roule and write in it all the former wordes that were in ỹ first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt.

o Though the wicked thinke to haue abolished the worde of God, when they haue burnt ỹ booke therof: yet this declareth that God will not onely raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verl. 32.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus saith the Lorde, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, p Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainely come & destroy this land, and shall take thence [both] man and beast?

p These are Iehoiakims wordes.

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Hee shall haue q none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his r dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.

q Though Iehoiachin his sonne succeeded him, yet because he reigned but three moneths it was esteemed as no reigne.

r Read Chap. 22, 19.

31 And I will visite him & his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therin at the the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeeded Ieconiah, 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him, 12 Ieremiah, going into the land of Beniamin, is taken, 15 He is beaten and put in prison.

2.King.24.17. 2.chro.36.10. chap.52.1.

AND * King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel [b] made King in the land of Iudah.

a Who was called Iehoiachin, or Jeconiah.

b And called him Zedekiah where as before his name was Mattaniah, 2.King. 24.17.

2 But neither hee, nor his seruants, nor the people of the lande would obeye the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the ‡ ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

‡Ebr. hande.

3 And Zedekiah the king [c] sent Iehucall the sonne of Shelemiah, & Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

c Because he was afrayde of the Caldeans that came against him.

4 (Now Ieremiah [d] went in & out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

d That is, was out of prison and at libertie.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was [e] come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that beleged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they ‡ departed from Ierusalem) e To helpe the Iewes.

‡Ebr. went vp.

6 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall yee say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto mee to inquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their own land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it & burne it with fire.

‖Or, lift not vp your mindes.

9 Thus saieth the Lorde, ‖ Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely depart from vs: for they shal not depart.

10 For though yee had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained [but] wounded men among them, [yet] should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was brokē vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, f As some thinke, to go to Anathoth his owne towne.

12 Thē Ieremiah went out of Ierusalē to go into the land of Beniamin, [f]separating himself thēce frō among the people.

13 And when he was in the [g] gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou ‡ fleest to the Caldeans.

g By the which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

‡Ebr. fallest.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, & brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the Princes were angrie with Ieremiah, and smote him, & laide him in prison in the house of Ionathan the scribe: for they had made that the [h] prison.

h Because it was a vile and straight prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, & had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and saide, Is there any worde from the Lorde? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hande of the King of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah saide vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruāts, or against this people, that yee haue put me in prison?

19 * Where are now your Prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

Chap.28.4.

20 Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my Lord the King: let my prayer ‡ be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Ionathan the scribe, least I die there.

‡Ebr. fall.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, & that they should giue him daily a peece of breade [i] out of the bakers streete vntill all the bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

i That is, so long as there was any bread in the citie: thus God prouideth for his that he wil cause their enemies to preserue them to that end whereunto he hath appointed them.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech the king commandeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucall the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of [a] Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, a For Zedekiah had sent these to Ieremiah to enquire at the Lord for the state of the countrey now when Nebuchad-nezzar came, as Chap.21.1.

2 Thus

2 Thus saith the Lorde, Hee that remaineth in this citie, shal die by ꝑ sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shal liue: for he shall haue his life for a praye, and shall liue.

b Read Chap. 21.9. & 45.5.

3 Thus saith ꝑ Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therfore the princes said vnto the King, Wee beseeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he [weaketh] the hands of the men of warre ᶜ ꝑ remayne in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

[Or, discourageth.

c Thus we see how the wicked when they can not abide to heare the truth of Gods worde, seeke to put the ministers to death as transgressours of policies, 5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Beholde, hee is in your handes, for the king can [denie] ᵈ you nothing.

d Wherein he grieuously offended in that that not onely he would not heare ꝑ truth spoken by the Prophet, but also gaue him to the lustes of the wicked to be cruelly intreated.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, ⁊ cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, ꝑ was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coardes: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the myre.

‡Ebr. Cushite, or Ethiopian.

7 Now when Ebed-melech ꝑ ‡blacke More one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the King sate in the ᵉ gate of Beniamin)

e To heare matters and giue sentence.

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, ⁊ spake to the king, saying, f Hereby is declared that the Prophet found more fauour at this strangers hands, the he did by all the rest of his countrey, which was to their great condemnation.

9 My lorde the king, ᶠ these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah ꝑ Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and hee dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

‡Ebr. vnder thine hand.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take frō hence thirtie men ‡ with thee, ⁊ take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke ꝑ men with him and went to the house of the king vnder the treasurie, and tooke there old rotten [ragges,] ⁊ olde worne [cloutes,] and let them downe by coardes into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More said vnto Ieremiah, Put now these old rotten [ragges,] and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coards. And Ieremiah did so.

g Where the King had set him before to be at more liberty, as chap. 37.21.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiah with coardes ⁊ tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in ᵍ the court of the prison.

14 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the house of the Lorde, ⁊ the King said vnto Ieremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiah saide to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me: and if I giue thee counsel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King ware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lorde liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the handes of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt go forth vnto the King of Babels ʰ princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeelde thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the King of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, ⁊ thou shalt not escape out of their handes.

19 And Zedekiah the King said vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for ꝑ Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer me into their handes, and they ⁱ mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men, then the threatnings of God.

20 But Ieremiah said, They shall not deliuer [thee:] hearken vnto ꝑ voyce of the Lord, I beseeche thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the worde that the Lorde hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are ᵏ left in the king of Iudahs house, shalbe brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those [women] shal saye, thy friendes haue persuaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, [and] they are turned backe.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, these women of the Kings house were left: which shal be taken, saith the Prophet, ⁊ tel the King of Babel howe Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friendes and false prophets, which haue left him in the mire.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeās, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes, but shalt be taken by the hande of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then saide Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no mā know of these words, and thou shalt not dye.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and saye vnto thee, Declare vnto vs nowe, what thou hast sayde vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we wil not slay thee: also what the king said vnto thee,

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly [1] besought ꝑ king that he would not cause me to return to Jehonathans house, to dye there.

1 Herein appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who had willingnesse to saue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Jeremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commanded: so they left off speaking with him, for ꝑ matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiah abode stil in ꝑ court of the prison, vntill the day that Jerusalem was taken: & he was [there,] when Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Jerusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

2.King.25.1. chap.52.4.

IN * ꝑ ninth yere of Zedekiah king of Judah in ꝑ tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel and all his host against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

2 [And] in the eleuenth yere of Zedekiah in ꝑ fourth moneth, the ninth [day] of the moneth, the citie was broken [a] by.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, & late in the middle gate, [euen] Nergal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Nergal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the King of Judah sawe them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, & went out of the citie by night, through the kings garde, [&] by the [b] gate betwene ꝑ two walles, and he went toward the wildernesse.

b Which was a posterne doore, reade 2.King.25.4.

5 But the Caldeans host pursued after the, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho: & when they had take him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto [c] Riblah in ꝑ land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreouer hee put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bounde him in chaines, to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings house, & the houses of the people wt fire, & brake downe the walles of Jerusalē.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖ chiefe stewarde caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

[Or, captaine of the garde.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde left the [d] poore that had nothing in the lande of Judah, and gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

d For the rich and the mighty which put their trust in their riches and meanes were by Gods iust iudgements most rigorously handled.

11 Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Jeremiah [‡] vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde, saying, ‡Ebr. by the hand of.

12 Take him, and [‡] looke wel to him, and do him no harme, but doe vnto him [e] euen as he shall say vnto thee.

‡Ebr. set thine eies vpō him.

e Thus God preserued his Prophet by his meanes, whom he made the scourge to punish the King, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde sent, and Nebushazban, Rab-saris, and Nergal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, and al the King of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Jeremiah out of the courte of the prison, and cōmitted him vnto [f] Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should cary him home: so he dwelt among the people.

f Whome the King of Babel had nowe appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Iewes that he left behind.

15 Nowe the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, while hee was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Thus saith ꝑ Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my wordes vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shall be [accomplished] in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lorde, and thou shalt not be giuen into ꝑ hande of the men whome thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fal by ꝑ sword, but thy life shalbe for a pray vnto thee, because thou shalt put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

g Thus God recompenceth his zeale & fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

4 Jeremiah hath licence to go whither he will. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan ꝑ chiefe stewarde had let him goe frō Ramath, when he had taken him being bounde in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Jerusalem and Judah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and saide vnto him, The Lorde thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the Lorde hath brought it, & done according as he hath saide: because ye haue [b] sinned against the Lorde, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therfore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day frō the chaines which were on thine handes: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babel, [*] tarie still: behold, all the lande [is] || before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore [he saide,] Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, ꝑ sonne of Shaphan, whome the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or go whereseouer it pleaseth thee to go. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him go.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, [c] to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captaines of the host, [d] which were in the fieldes, [euen] they and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the lande, and that hee had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Thē they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen [e] Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan [*] sware vnto thē, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the lande, and serue the King of Babel, and it shal be well with you.

10 As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to || serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, & dwell in your cities, that ye haue || taken.

11 Likewise when al the Iewes that were in [f] Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard ꝑ the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, & that hee had set ouer thē Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuē, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and sommer fruites, very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, & all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that [g] Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael ꝑ sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, & I will slay Ishmael ꝑ sonne of Nethaniah, & no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, ꝑ all ꝑ Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah ꝑ sonne of Ahikam saide vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt [h] not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BVt in the [a] seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede royal, and the princes of the [b] King, & ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikā to Mizpah, and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the swoorde, and slewe him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the lande.

3 Ishmael also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, & all the Caldeans that were found there, [and] the men of warre.

4 Nowe the seconde day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from a From this second yeare, vnto Chap. 42. 7. it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, & separated matter: and there this storie beginneth againe, & this vision is declared what it was.

b God moued this infidell to speake this, to declare ꝑ great blindnes & obstinacie of the Iewes, which could not feele that which this heathen man confessed. ‡Ebr. cease.

|Or, at thy cōmandement.

c Which was a citie of Iudah.

d Which were scattered abroad for feare of the Caldeans.

e Who was of ꝑ Kings blood and after slewe him, Chap. 41. 2.

2. King. 25. 24.

|Or, to receiue them, or to intreat them for you.

|Or, chosen to dwell in.

f Which were fledde also for feare of the Caldeans.

g For vnder the colour of entertaining of Ishmael he sought onely to make them to destroy one another.

h Thus ꝑ godly, which think no harme to others, are soonest deceiued, and neuer lack such as conspire their destruction.

a The citie was destroyed in the fourth moneth: and in the seuenth moneth, which contained part of September, and part of October, was the gouernor Gedaliah slaine.

b Speaning, Zeechiah.

c They did eat together as familiar friends.

from Shiloh, & from Samaria, [euen] foure score men, hauing their beardes shaue, and their clothes rent & cut, with [d] offrings and incense in their handes to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet thē, weeping as he went: & whē he met thē, he said vnto them, Come to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ishmael ỹ sonne of Nethaniah slewe them, [and cast them] into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were founde among them, that sayd vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for wee haue treasures in the fielde, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherin Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whome he had slayne because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the King had [f] made because of Basha king of Israel, [and] Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slayne.

10 Then Ishmael caryed awaye captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, [euen] the Kinges daughters, and all the people that remayned in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, & all the [g] captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euil that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke [their] men, and went to fight with Ishmael ỹ sonne of Nethaniah, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gideon.

13 Nowe when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, sawe Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came again, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried awaye captiue frō Mizpah, (after that hee had slayne Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) [euen] the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the Eunuches, whome he had brought againe from Gideon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Bethlehem, to go [and] to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slayne Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whome ỹ king of Babel made gouernour in the lande.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Jeremiah what they ought to doe. 7 Hee admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, & Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And saide vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, [*] Heare our prayer, wee beseeche thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euē for al this remnant (for we are left, [but] a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe beholde)

3 That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherin we may walke, and the thing that we may [a] doe.

4 Then Jeremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard [you:] behold, I wil pray vnto the Lord your God according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lorde shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I wil keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Thē they said to Jeremiah, [b] The Lorde be a witnesse of trueth, and fayth betweene vs, if wee doe not, euen according to al things for the which the Lord thy God shall sende thee to vs.

6 whether it be good or euill, We will obey ỹ voyce of the Lord God, to whom we sende thee that it may bee well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 ℭ And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah.

8 Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the d For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning therof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorowe.

e For his death was kept secret, and he lamented that he lamented for the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple: but after slewe them whē they seemed to fauour Gedaliah.

f Asa fortified Mispah for feare of the enemy, and cast ditches & trenches, 1. King. 15.22.

g Which had bene captaines vnder Zedekiah.

h For Baalis the King of the Ammonites was the cause of this murther.

i Which place Dauid of olde had giuen to Chimham the sonne of Barzillai the Gileadite, 2. Sam. 19.38.

* Ebr. Let our prayer fall before thee, as Chap. 36.7.

a This declareth ỹ nature of hypocrites, which would know of God what they should do, but wil not follow it, but in as much as it agreeth with the thing which they haue purposed to doe.

b There are none more readie to abuse the name of God and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to couer their falsehoode vse it without all reuerence, and make it a meanes for thē to deceiue the simple and the godly.

c Here is declared the vision & the occasion therof, where of mention was made, Chap. 40.1.

people from the least to the most,

9 And saide vnto thē, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy [you,] and I will plant you, & not roote [you] out: for I [d] repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whome ye are afraide: bee not afraide of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you [e] from his hande, 12 And I will graunt you mercy ꝑ he may haue cōpassion vpon you, & he shall cause you to [f] dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but We will go into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare ꝑ word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there)

16 Then the sword ꝑ ye feared, [f] shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which yee care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, & there shall ye dye.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith ꝑ Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitantes of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a [g] curse, and a reproche, and yee shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath saide concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainely that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely yee [h] dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lorde your God, saying, Praye for vs vnto the Lord our God and declare vnto vs euē according vnto all that ꝑ Lord our God shall say, and We will do it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voice of ꝑ Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Nowe therefore, know certainely that ye shall die by ꝑ sword, by ꝑ famine, and by the pestilence, [i] in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

d Read Chap. 18,8.

e Because all Kings hearts & wayes are in his handes, he can turne them ꝙ dispose them, as it pleaseth him, and therefore they needed not to feare man, but onely obey God, Pro. 21,1. [Or, returne.

f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought them selues sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchad-nezzar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46,25.

g Read Chap. 26.6. & 44.12. shewing that this shoulde come vpon the for their infidelitie and stubbernesse.

h For you were fully minded to go into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Johanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrarie to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOwe when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of ꝑ Lorde their God, for the which the Lorde their God had sent him to them, [euen] all these wordes,

2 Then spake [a] Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, & Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [b] proud men, saying vnto Ieremiah, [c] Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath [d] not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah [e] prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hande of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carry vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Johanā the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host tooke all the remnant of Iudah, ꝑ were returned from all [f] nations, whither they had bin driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 [Euen] men and women, and children, and ꝑ kings daughters, and euery person, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah ꝑ sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah [g] the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into ꝑ land of Egypt: for they obeyed not ꝑ voyce of ꝑ Lorde: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Thē came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hande, and [i] hide them in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto thē, Thus saieth the Lord of hosts ꝑ God of Israel, Behold, a Who was also called Jezaniah, Chap. 42.1.

b This declareth that pryde is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they hast forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, read Isai. 30, 10.

d He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to faine ꝑ they would obey God and imbrace his worde, if they were assured that his messengers spake the truth: though in deed they be farre from all obedience.

e Thus the wicked do not only contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slaunder, and speake wickedly of all them that suppose to fauour the godly.

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, Chap. 40.11.

g Whom these wicked led away by force.

h A citie in Egypt neere to Nilus.

i Which signified that Nebuchad-nezzar should come euen to the gates of Pharaoh, where were his bricke kilnes for his building.

I Will sende and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel [k] my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

k Read Chap. 25.9.

11 And when hee shall come, hee shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are [appointed] for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

l Euery one shalbe slaine by that meanes that God hath appointed, chap.15.2.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and hee shall burne them and carie them away captiues, and he shal aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

m Meaning, most easily, and suddenly shall he carie the Egyptians away.

13 He shall breake also the images of ‖Beth-shemeth, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

‖ Or, the house of the sunne.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their idolatrie, 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lord, are chastened, 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein, is prophesied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah cõcerning all [n] Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, [o] remained at Migdol and at [a] Tahpanhes, and at Noph, [p] in the countrey of Pathros, saying, n These were all famous and strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt for their safetie: but the Prophet declareth that there is no holde to strong, that can preserue them from Gods vengeance.

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Ye haue seene all the euil that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, [and] to serue other gods, who they knewe not, [neither] they [nor] you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you al my seruants the Prophets [b] rising earely, and sending [them] saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

b Read Chap. 7.25. & 25.3. and 26.5. & 29.19. & 32.33.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

c He speaketh to the Iewes.

6 Wherefore my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, [c] wasted, as [appeareth] this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye [this] great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, childe and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine:

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your handes, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye bee gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproche among all nations of the earth.

d He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memorie Gods plagues from the beginning, that considering them, we might line in his feare, and knowe, if he haue not spared our fathers, yea, Kings, princes and rulers, and also whole countreis, and nations, for their sinnes, that we vile wormes cannot looke to escape punishment for ours.

9 Haue ye forgotte the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednes of the [d] Kings of Iudah, [e] the wickednes of their wiues, [f] your owne wickednes & [g] wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah [f] in the streetes of Ierusalem?

‖ Or, beaten downe. Amos.9.4.

10 They are not ‖ humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Law nor in my statutes, that I set before you & before your fathers.

e Which haue fully set their mindes, & are gone thither on purpose.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you * to cutt and to destroy all Iudah, Whereby he exceedeth the innocents as Ieremiah and Baruch that were spared: therefore the Lord sheweth, that he will set his face against them: that is, purposely destroy them.

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that [h] haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, [i] they shall all be consumed [and] fall in [k] land of Egypt: they shall [euen] be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die from [l] least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, & they shal be a detestation and an astonishment and a [m] curse and a reproch.

f Read Chap. 26.6. & 42.18.

13 For I will visite them that dwell in the lande of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by [n] famine, [o] by the pestilence, ‡ Ebr. lift vp their soules.

14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the lande of Iudah to the which they [p] haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but [q] such as shall escape.

g Meaning, but a fewe.

h This declareth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once from God, and to follow our own fantasies: for Satan euer soliciteth such and doth not leaue them till he haue brought them to extreme impudencie and madnes, euen to inflame their wickednes against God, & his Prophets.

15 Then all [r] men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stoode by, a great multitude, euen all [s] people that dwelt in the lande of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, wee will [t] not heare it of thee,

17 But we will do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, [as] to burne incense vnto [i] the Queene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, as we haue done, [both] we and our fathers, our kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, & in the streets of Ierusalem: for [then] [j] had we [k] plentie of victuales and were wel and ‖ felt none euill.

18 But since we left of to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had ‖ scarcenesse of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incense to the Queene of heauen & powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes to ‖ make her glad, and powre out drinke offrings vnto her without [l] our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, [both] you, & your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and [m] hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions, [&] because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your land desolate and an astonishment, and a curse [and] without inhabitant, as [appeareth] this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therfore this plague is come vpon you, as [appeareth] this day.

24 Moreouer Ieremiah said vnto al the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your [m] hand, saying, Wee will performe our vowes that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings to her: ye will performe your vowes and doe the things that yee haue vowed.

26 Therfore heare the word of [n] the Lord, all Iudah that dwel in [n] land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name [n] shall no more bee called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the lande of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

27 Beholde, I will watche ouer the for euill and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in [n] land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by [n] famine, vntill they be vtterly destroyed.

28 Yet a smal nomber that escape the sword, [o] shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the lande of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shal know whose wordes shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shalbe a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, whē I visite you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will [p] giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

[i] Read Chap. 7.18. It seemeth that the Papists gathered of this place their Salue Regina, & Regina cœli, laetare, calling the virgin Marie queene of heauen, and so of the blessed virgin, and mother of our Sauiour Christ made an idole: for here the Prophet condemneth their idolatrie.

[j] Ebr. we were saciat with bread.

[k] This is still the argument of idolaters, which esteeme religion by the belly, and in steade of acknowledging Gods workes, who sendeth both plentie and dearth, health & sickenes, they attribute it to their idoles, and so dishonor God.

[l] Or, fawe.

‖ Or, to appease her.

[m] This reacheth vs howe great danger it is for the husbands to permit their wiues any thing whereof they be not affamed by Gods word: for therby they take an occasion to iustifie their doings, & their husbands shall giue an accōpt thereof before God, read Mal. 3.25.

[n] Ebr. is it not come vp into his heart?

[o] This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing [p] God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

[o] We see therfore, that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, wheresoeuer they are scattered: for though they be but two or three, yet he will deliuer the when he destroyeth his enemies.

[p] He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certaintie of the plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie til they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth that fiue yeere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the ponger, hauing ouercome the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the King, & so brought these Iewes, and other into Babylon.

[m] Thou haue committed double euill in making vnchast vowes, and in performing the same.

CHAP. XLV.

2 Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that he should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

THe worde that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto [a] Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when he had written these [b] words in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou diddest say, Woe is me now: for the Lord hath layed sorowe vnto my sorowe: I [c] fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Behold, that which I haue built, will I [d] destroy, & that which I haue planted, will I plucke vp, euen this whole lande.

5 And seekest [e] thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for beholde, I will bring a plague vpon all flesh, saith the Lorde: but thy life will I giue thee for [f] a pray in al places, whither thou goest.

[a] Which was Ieremiahs disciple, and wrote his prophesies vnder him.

[b] Whereof read Chap. 36, 10.

[c] Baruch moued with an inconsiderate zeale of Ieremiahs imprisonment, but chiefly for the destruction of the people and the Temple, maketh this lamentation, as Psal. 6.6.

[d] Meaning, that God might destroy this people because he hath planted them.

[e] Thinkest thou to haue honour and credit? wherein he sheweth his infirmitie.

[f] Read Chap. 21.9.

CHAP.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 He propheſieth the deſtruction of Egypt. 27 Deliuerance is promiſed to Iſrael.

THe woꝛds of þ Loꝛde, which came to Jeremiah the Pꝛophet againſt the a Gentiles,

2 [As] againſt Egypt, againſt the armie of b Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by þ riuer Perath in Carchemiſh, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel ſmote in the fourth yere of Jehoiakim þ ſonne of Joſiah king of Judah.

3 c Make readie buckler and ſhielde, and go foꝛth to batteil.

4 Make readie the hoꝛſes, and let the hoꝛſemen get vp, & ſtand vp with [your] tallets, furbiſh the ſpeares, & put on the bꝛigandines.

5 d Wheꝛefoꝛe haue I ſeene them afraide, [and] dꝛiue backe? foꝛ their mightie men are ſmitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: [foꝛ] feare [was] round about, ſaith the Loꝛd.

6 The ſwift ſhall not flee away, noꝛ the ſtrong man eſcape: they ſhall ſtumble, and fall towarde the e Noꝛth by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this, that commeth vp, as f a flood, whoſe waters are moued lyke the riuers?

8 Egypt riſeth vp like the flood, and [his] waters are moued like the riuers, and he ſaith, I will go vp, [and] will couer the earth: I will deſtroy þ citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp, ye hoꝛſes, & rage yee charets, and let the baliant men come foꝛth, & the blacke Moꝛes, & the Lybians that beare the ſhielde, and the Lydians that handle [and] bende the bowe.

10 Foꝛ this is þ day of the Loꝛd God of hoſtes, [and] a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: foꝛ the ſwoꝛd ſhall deuour, & it ſhalbe ſatiat, and made dꝛunke with their blood: foꝛ the Loꝛd God of hoſtes hath h a ſacrifice in þ Noꝛth countrey by þ riuer Perath.

11 Go vp vnto Gilead, k & take balme, O i virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vayne ſhalt thou vſe many m medicines: foꝛ thou ſhalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy ſhame, & thy cry hath filled the land: foꝛ the ſtrong hath ſtũbled againſt þ ſtrong [and] they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The woꝛd that the Loꝛde ſpake to Jeremiah the Pꝛophet, howe Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel ſhould come and ſmite the lande of Egypt.

14 Publiſh in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and pꝛoclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, [and] ſay, Stande ſtil, and pꝛepare thee: foꝛ the ſwoꝛde ſhall deuoure rounde about thee.

15 Why are thy baliant men put backe? they couldе not ſtande, becauſe the Loꝛde did dꝛiue them.

16 Hee made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they ſaid, Ariſe, let vs goe againe to our n owne people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the ſwoꝛde of the violent.

17 They did cꝛye there, Pharaoh King of Egypt, [and] of a great multitude o hath paſſed the time appointed.

18 As I liue, ſayth the King, whoſe Name is the Loꝛde of hoſtes, ſurely as Taboꝛ [is] in the mountaines, and as Carmel [is] in the ſea: [ſo ſhall] p it come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: foꝛ Noph ſhall be waſte and deſolate, without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt [is like] a q faire calfe, [but] deſtruction commeth: out of the Noꝛth it commeth.

21 Alſo her hired men r [are] in the middes of her like fatte calues: they are alſo turned backe and fled away together: they couldе not ſtande, becauſe the day of their deſtruction was come vpon them, [and] the time of their viſitation.

22 The voyce thereof ſhall goe foꝛth like a s ſerpent: foꝛ they ſhal march with an armie, and come againſt t her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They ſhall cut doꝛowne u her foꝛeſt, ſaith the Loꝛd: foꝛ they can not be counted, becauſe they are moꝛe then the x graſſhoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt ſhall be confounded: ſhe ſhall be deliuered into the hands of the people of the Noꝛth.

25 ¶ Thus ſaith the Loꝛd of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Beholde, I will viſite the y common people of No, & Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that truſt in him, 26 And I will deliuer them into the handes of thoſe, that ſeeke their liues, & into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the handes of his ſeruants, and afteꝛwaꝛde the ſhall dwel as z in the old time, ſaith the Loꝛd.

27 ¶ But feaꝛe not thou, O my ſeruaunt Iaakob, and be not thou afrayde.

a That is, nine nations, which are rounde about the land of Egypt.
b Read, 2. Kin. 23.29. & 24.7. and 2. chro. 35. 20.
c He warneth the Egyptians to prepare theſelues to war. d The pꝛopheꝛ had this viſion of the Egyptians which ſhoulde be put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemiſh.
e The Babylonians ſhall diſcomfite the ar þ riuer Euphrates.
f He deſcribeth the boaſtings of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches, & power to haue ouercome all the woꝛld, alluding to þ riuer Nilus, which at certayne times ouerfloweth the countrey of Egypt.
g Foꝛ theſe nations tooke part with the Egyptians.
h He calleth the ſlaughter of Gods enemies a ſacrifice, becauſe it is a thing that doeth pleaſe him, Iſa. 34.6.
i That is, at Carcheſemiſh.
k Foꝛ at Gilead did gꝛowe moſt ſouereigne balme foꝛ wounds.
l So called becauſe Egypt had not yet byn ouercome by the enemie.
m He ſheweth that no ſalue oꝛ medicine can preuaile where as God giueth the wounde, n As they that ſhould repent that they helped the Egyptians.
o He deſcribeth them which ſhall impute their ouerthꝛow to lacke of counſell and policie, oꝛ to foꝛtune, and not obſeruing of time: not conſidering that it is Gods iuſt iudgement.
p To wit, that the Egyptians ſhall be deſtroyed.
q They haue abundance of all things, and therefoꝛe are diſobedient and pꝛoude.
r As verſe 9.
s They ſhalbe ſcarce able to ſpeak foꝛ feare of the Caldeans.
t Meaning, Egypt.
u That is, they ſhall flay the great and mightie men of power.
x To wit, Nebuchad-nezzars armie.
y Some take the Shewe woꝛde Amon foꝛ the Kings name of No, that is, of Alexandria.
z Meaning, that after the ſpace of foure tie yeeres Egypt ſhould be reſtoꝛed, Iſa. 19.23. ezek. 29.13.
a God comfoꝛteth all his that were in captiuitie, but ſpecially the ſmall Church of the Iewes, where of were Jeremiah and Baruch which remained among the Egyptians: foꝛ the Loꝛde neuer foꝛſaketh his, Iſa. 44.2. chap. 30.10.

O Israel: for behold, I wil deliuer thee from a farre [countrey,] and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, & Iaakob shall returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shal make him afraid.

28 Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saith the Lorde: for I am with thee, and I will vtterly destroye all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroye thee, but correct [b] thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

b Read Chap. 10.24.

CHAP. XLVII.

The woorde of the Lorde against the Philistims.

THe woordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote [a] Azzah.

a Which was also called Gaza a citie of the Philistims.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the [b] North, and shall be as a swelling flood, & shall ouerflowe the lande, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: the men shal crie, and al the inhabitants of the land shall howle, b He meaneth the armie of the Caldeans; Isa. 8.7,8.

3 At the noyse [and] stamping of the hoofes of his strong [horses,] at the noyse of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: the fathers shal not [c] looke backe to [their] children, for feeblenesse of [d] handes, c The great feare shall take away their natural affection.

d Their heart shall so faple them.

4 Because of the daye that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, & Zidon, [and] all the rest that take their part: for the Lord wil destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of [e] Caphtor.

e Of the Cappadocians, which are also called Capadocians, had destroyed in old time the Philistims and dwelt in their land, euen to Gaza, Deut. 2.23.

5 [f] Baldnesse is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp [with] the rest of their valleys. Howe long wilt [g] thou cut thy selfe?

f They haue pulled off their heare for sorow and heauines.

g As the heathen vsed in their mourning, which the Lord forbade his people to doe, Deut. 14.1.

6 O thou sworde of the Lord, howe long wil it be or thou cease? turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still.

h Speaning, that it is not possible that the wicked should by any meanes escape or flye the Lord, when he will take vengeance.

7 Howe can it [h] cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appoynted it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The woorde of the Lorde against the Moabites, 26 Because of their pride and crueltie.

a These were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchad-nezzar tooke before he went to fight against Necho King of Egypt.

Oncerning Moab, thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto [a] Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded [and] taken: Misgab is confounded and afraide.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: [for] they haue deuised euil against it. [b] Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, [c] O Madmen, [and] the sworde shall pursue thee.

b Thus shall the Babylonians encourage one another.

c Reade Isa. 25.10.

3 A voyce of crying [shalbe] from Horonaim [with] desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue caused their crie to be heard.

d Hoyonaim & Luhuth were two places whereby the Moabites should flee, Isa. 15.5.

5 For at the going vp of [d] Luhith, the mourner shall go vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a crie of destruction.

e Hide your selues in barren places, where the enemie wil not pursue after you, Chap. 17.6.

6 Flee, and saue your liues, and be like vnto the [e] heath in the wildernesse.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy [f] workes and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and [g] Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his Priestes and his princes together.

f That is, the idoles which are the workes of thine handes. Some reade in thy possessions, for in the worde may signifie as 1. Sam. 25.2.

g Both thy great idole and his maintainers shalbe led away captiues, so y they shall then know y it is in vaine to looke for helpe at idoles, Isa. 15.2.

8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish, & the plaine shal be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

h He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, and that with a courage, and rallely thys executing of his vengeance against his enemies, his worke: though the Caldeans fought another ende, Isa. 10.12.

9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 [h] Cursed [be he] that doeth the worke of the Lorde ‖ negligently, and cursed [be he] that keepeth backe his sworde from blood.

‖ Or, deceitfully.

11 Moab hath bene at rest from his youth, and he hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene [i] powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him and his sent is not changed.

i Hath not bene removed as the Iewes haue, but hath liued at ease and as a wine that feredeth it selfe on his lees.

12 ¶ Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I will sende vnto him such as shall cary him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh as the house of Israel was ashamed of [k] Beth-el their confidence.

k As the calfe of Beth-el was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shal Chemosh deliuer y Moabites.

14 Howe thinke you [thus,] we are mightie and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, and his cities [l] burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone downe to slaughter, sayeth the King, whose name [is,] The Lorde of hostes.

l Ebr. gone vp, or destroyed.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, say, [l] Howe is the strong staffe broken, l How are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches?

[and]

[and] the beautifull rodde!

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from [thy] glorie, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, [and] he shall destroy thy strong holdes.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and beholde: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, [and] say, What is done?

20 [m] Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste,

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Jahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, 24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab farre or neere.

25 The [n] horne of Moab is cut off, & his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him [o] drunken: for he magnified him selfe against the Lord: Moab shall ‖ wallowe in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art [p] moued.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 *We haue heard the pride of Moab ([he is] exceeding proude) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I knowe his wrath, saieth the Lord, [q] but it shal not [be] so: [and his] dissimulations, [for] they doe not right.

31 [r] Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crye out for all Moab: [mine heart] shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Jazer: thy plantes are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea [of] Jazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy sommer fruites, and vpon thy vintage, 33 And ioy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull fielde and from the lande of Moab: & I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall treade with shouting: [their] shouting [shall be] no shouting.

34 From the crie of Heshbon vnto Elaleh [and] vnto Jahaz haue they made their noise: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the [s] heiffer of three yeere olde [shall goe lowing:] for the waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.

35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offered in the hie places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a [t] shaume, & mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.

37 *For euery head shall be ‖ balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackecloth.

38 [And] mourning shall be vpon all the house toppes of Moab and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howle, [saying,] How is he destroyed? howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, [x] he shall flee as an egle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken & the strong holdes are wonne, & the mightie mens heartes in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp him selfe against the Lord.

43 [y] Feare, and pit and snare [shalbe] vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pitte, and he that getteth vp out of the pitte, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, [euen] vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saieth the Lord.

45 They that fledde, stoode vnder the shadowe [z] of Heshbon, because of the force: for [a] the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the toppe of the seditious children.

46 Woe [be] vnto thee, O Moab: the people of [b] Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters [ledde] into captiuitie.

47 Yet

m Thus they that flee, shall answere.

n That is, his power and strength.

o He willeth the Caldeans to lay afflictions ynough vpon them, till they be like drunken men that fal downe to their shame and are derided of all.

‖ Or, shall be full or clappe his handes.

p Thou reioycest to heare of his miserie. Isa. 16.6.

q He shall not execute his malice against his neighbours.

r Reade Isa. 16.7.

s Which citie was in the vtmost border of Moab: and hereby he signifieth that the whole land should be destroyed and the people caryed away.

t Their custome was to play on flutes or instrumẽts, beautie and graue tunes at burials and in the time of mourning, as Mat. 9.23. Isa. 15.2,3. ezek. 7.18.

‖ Or, shauen.

x That is, Nebuchadnezzar, as Chap. 49.22.

y He that escapeth one danger shalbe taken of another. Isa. 24.17.

z They fled thither thinking to haue succour of the Amonites.

a The Amorites had destroyed the Moabites in times past, and now because of their power, the Moabites shall seeke to them for helpe.

b Which banished themselues of their idole, as though he could haue defended them.

c Reade Isa. 15.5.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the c latter dayes, ſayeth the Lorde. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

c That is, they ſhalbe reſtored by the Meſſias.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The woorde of the Lorde againſt the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damaſcus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

a They were ſeparated from the Moabites by the riuer Arnon, and after that the ten tribes were carped away into captiuitie, they inuaded the countrey of God.

b To wit, of the Ammonites.

c Meaning, of the Iſraelites.

d Which was one of the chief cities of the Ammonites, as were Heſhbon and Ai: there was alſo a citie called Heſhbon among the Moabites.

e In thy plentifull countrey.

f Signifying, that power and riches can not preuaile when as God will execute his iudgements.

g That is, without looking backe and as euery one can ſhift away to eſcape.

h In the time of Chriſt when the Gentiles ſhalbe called.

i Which was a citie of Edom called by the name of Teman Eliphas ſonne who came of Eſau.

k The enemies that ſhall diſſemble as though they fled away, ſhall turne backe, and inuade your lande, and poſſeſſe it.

l Meaning, that God would vtterly deſtroy them, and not ſpare one, though the grape gatherers leaue ſome grapes, and theeues ſeeke but till they haue ynough, Obad. 1. 5.

VNto the children of a Ammon thus ſayeth the Lorde, Hath Iſrael no ſonnes? or hath he none heire? why [then] hath their b king poſſeſſed Gad? and his people dwelt in c his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, ſayeth the Lorde, that I will cauſe a noyſe of warre to be heard in d Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it ſhall be a deſolate heape, and her daughters ſhal be burnt with fire: then ſhall Iſrael poſſeſſe thoſe that poſſeſſed him, ſaith the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heſhbon, for Ai is waſted: cry ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with ſackecloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their king ſhall go into captiuitie, [and] his Prieſts, and his princes likewiſe.

4 Wherefore glorieſt thou in the e valleyes? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: ſhe truſted in her treaſures, [ſaying,] who ſhall come vnto me?

5 Beholde, I will bring f a feare vpon thee, ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, of all thoſe that be about thee, and ye ſhall be ſcattered euery man g right foorth, and none ſhall gather him that fleeth.

6 And h afterwarde I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes, Is wiſedome no more in Teman? is counſell periſhed from [their] children? is their wiſedome vaniſhed?

8 Flee, ye inhabitãts of Dedan (k they are turned backe, and haue conſulted to dwell) for I haue brought the deſtruction of Eſau vpon him, [and] the time of his viſitation.

9 If the l grape gatherers come to thee, Woulde they not leaue [ſome] grapes? if theeues come by night, they will deſtroy til they haue ynough.

10 For I haue diſcouered Eſau: I haue vncouered his ſecrets, and he ſhall not be able to hide him ſelfe: his ſeede is waſted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there ſhalbe none [to ſay,]

11 Leaue thy m fatherleſſe children, [and] I will preſerue them aliue, and let thy widowes truſt in me.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, n Behold, they whoſe iudgemẽt was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue aſſuredly dronken, and art thou he that ſhall eſcape free? thou ſhalt not goe free, but thou ſhalt ſurely drinke of it.

13 For I haue ſworne by my ſelfe, ſaith the Lorde, that o Bozrah ſhall be waſte, and for a reproch, and a deſolation, and a curſe, and all the cities thereof ſhall be perpetuall deſolations.

14 I haue heard a rumor from the Lord, and an ambaſſadour is ſent vnto the heathen, [ſaying,] Gather you together, and come againſt p her, and riſe vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but ſmal among the heathen, and deſpiled amõg men.

16 Thy [feare,] [and] the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rocke, and keepeſt the height of the hill: though thou ſhouldeſt make thy neſt as hie as the egle, I will bring thee downe from thence, ſaith the Lord.

17 ¶ Alſo Edom ſhall be deſolate: euery one ỹ goeth by it, ſhalbe aſtoniſhed, and ſhal hiſſe at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, ſaith the Lorde: no man ſhall dwel there, neither ſhal the ſonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Beholde, q he ſhall come vp like a lyon from the ſwelling of Jorden vnto the ſtrong dwelling place: for I will make [Iſrael] to reſt, euẽ I will make r him to halte away from her, and who is a choſen man that I may appoint againſt her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the s ſhepherd that will ſtand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counſel of the Lorde that he hath deuiſed againſt Edom, and his purpole that he hath conceyued againſt the inhabitants of Teman: ſurely the leaſt t of the flocke ſhall drawe them out: ſurely u he ſhall make their habitations deſolate with them.

21 The earth is moued at the noyſe of their fall: the crye of their voyce is heard in the redde Sea.

22 Beholde, he ſhall come vp, x flye as the Egle, and ſpread his wings ouer Bozrah, x at that day ſhall the heart of the m The deſtruction ſhall be ſo great, that there ſhall be none left to take care ouer the widowes, and fatheries.

n I haue not ſpared mine owne people, and howe ſhould I pitie thee?

o Which was a chiefe citie of Edom.

p That is, Bozrah.

[Or, idole.

q To wit, Nebuchad-nezzar after he hath ouercome Iudah, which is ment by the ſwelling of Jorden, ſhall come againſt mount Seir and Edom.

r That is, the Iſraelites, whome the Edomites kept as priſoners, to halte away from thence.

s The captaine and gouernour of the armie, meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar.

t They ſhall not be able to reſiſt his yeric captaines.

u To wit, the enemie.

x As Chap. 48. 40. was ſaide of Moab.

the

of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

23 ¶ Unto [y] Damascus [he sayeth,] hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted [as one] on the fearfull sea that can not rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, [and] turneth her selfe to flight, [z] feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile.

25 Howe is the glorious [a] citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her yong men shall fal in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in [p] wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of [b] Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Unto [c] Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lorde, Arise, [and] goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flockes shal they take away: yea, they shall take to them selues their [d] curtaines, [e] all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off, (c they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, sayeth the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 [f] Arise, [and] get you vp vnto the welthie nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, [but] dwell alone.

32 And their camels shalbe a bootie, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I will scatter them into all windes, and to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lorde.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, [and] desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The wordes of the Lorde that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning [g] Elam, in the beginning of [p] reigne of Zedekiah King of Judah, saying, 35 Thus saith [p] Lorde of hostes, Behold, I will breake the [h] bow of Elam, [euen] the chiefe of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towardes all these windes, and there shal be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afrayde before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, [euen] the indignation of my wrath, sayeth the Lorde, and I will sende the sworde after them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my [i] throne in Elã, [k] I will destroy [both] the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but [k] in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

and Greeke after the Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap. 48. 47.

CHAP. L.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe worde that the Lorde spake, concerning Babel, [&] concerning the lande of the Caldeans by the [‡] ministerie of Jeremiah the Prophet.

‡ Ebr. hande.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, & set vp a standart, proclaime it, and conceale it not: say, [a] Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, [b] Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, [and] their images are burst in peeces.

3 For out of the North there [c] commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her lande waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shal flee, [and] depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, sayeth the Lorde, the children of Israel shal [d] come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and [e] weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lorde their God.

5 They shal aske the way to Zion, [w] their faces thitherward, [saying,] Come [&] let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people haue bene [as] lost sheepe: their [f] shepheards haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned the away to the mountaines: they haue gone from [g] mountaine to hill, [and] forgotten their resting place.

7 All that founde them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies saide, We offend not, because they haue sinned against [p] Lord, [h] the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 [i] Flee from the mids of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, [&] be ye as [p] hee goates [k] before the flocke.

9 For a After that God hath beside the Babylonians seruice to punish other nations, he theweth that their turne shall come to be punished.

b These were two of their chiefe idoles.
c To wit, the Medes and the Persians.
d When Cyrus shall take Babel.
e Read Chap. 31. 9.
f Their gouernours and ministers by their examples haue pyned them to idolatrie.
g They haue committed idolatrie in euery place.
h For the Lord dwelt among them in his Temple, & would haue maintained them by his iustice against their enemies.
i When God shall deliuer you by Cyrus.
k That is, most forwarde and without feare.

y Which was the chiefe citie of Syria, whereby he meaneth the whole country.

z When she heard the sudden comming of the enemie.

a He speaketh this in the person of the King and of them of the countrey, who should wonder to see Damascus the chiefe citie destroyed.

b Who was king of Syria, 1. King. 20. 26. and had built these palaces, which were still called the palaces of Ben-hadad.

c Meaning, the Arabians, and their borderers.

d Because they vsed to dwell in tents, he nameth the things that pertaine thereunto.

e The enemies will dwell in your places.

f He theweth that they of Hazor will flee to the Arabians for succour, but that shall not auaile them.

g That is, Persia, so called of Elam the sonne of Shem.

h Because the Persians were good archers, he theweth that the thing wherein they put their trust, should not profite them.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set them selues in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrowes [shall be] as of a strong man, which is expert, [for] none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoyle: all that spoyle her, [l] shall be satisfied, sayeth the Lorde.

l Shall be made riche thereby.

11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, [m] because ye are growen fatte, as the calues in the grasse, [n] and neyed like strong [horses,]

m For ioy of the victorie, that ye had against my people.

12 [Therefore] your mother shall be sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall be ashamed: behold, the vttermost of the nations [shall be] a desert, a drye lande, and a wildernesse.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lorde it shall not be inhabited, but shalbe wholy desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, [o] and hisse at all her plagues.

n In signe of contempt, and disdaine.

14 [p]Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bow, shoot at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath [q] sinned against the Lord.

o He speaketh to the enemies the Medes and Persians, 15 Cry against her round about: she hath ‖ giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, [and] her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lorde: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, doe vnto her.

p Though the Lord called the Babylonians his seruants, and their worke his worke in punishing his people, yet because they did it not to glorifie God, but for their owne malice, and to pyoslite themselues, it is here called sinne.

‖ Or, yeelded or made peace.

16 Destroy the [r] sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sieth in the time of harueſt: because of the sworde of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

q Destroy her so that none be left to labour the grounde or to take the fruite thereof.

17 Israel [is like] scattered sheepe: the lyons haue dispersed them: first the King [s] of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken [t] his bones.

r Meaning, Tiglath-pelezar who caryed away the ten tribes.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will visite the King of Babel, & his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur.

s He caryed away the rest, to wit, Iudah, & Beniamin.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, & his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lorde, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be founde: for I will be merciful vnto them, whome I reserue.

t That is, Babylon: thus the Lord rayleth by Cyrus. Ezek. 23. 23.

21 Go vp against the land of [v] rebels, [euen] against it, & against [w] the inhabitants * of ‖ Pekod: destroy & lay it waste after them, saith the Lorde, and do according to all that I haue commaunded thee.

[v] Or, of them that should be visited.

22 A crie of battel [is] in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the [x] hammer of the whole world destroied, & broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

u Nebuchad-nezzar, who had smitten downe all the princes, and people of the worlde.

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art take, O Babel, & thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lorde.

25 The Lorde hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lorde God of hostes in the lande of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her [y] from the vttermost border: open her store houses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

[y] Ebr. from the ende.

27 Destroy all her [z] bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, [and] the time of their visitation.

[z] Her princes and mightie men.

28 The voyce of them that [a] flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, [&] the vengeance of his Temple.

[a] Of the Iewes which should be deliuered by Cyrus.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bende the bowe, besiege it rounde about: let none thereof escape: * recompence her according to her worke, [and] according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath bene proude against the Lorde, [euen] against the holy one of Israel.

Reuel. 18. 6.

30 Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and all her men of warre shall be destroyed in that day, saith the Lorde.

31 Beholde, I [come] vnto thee, O proude [man,] sayeth the Lorde God of hostes: for thy day is come, [euen] the time that I will visite thee.

32 And the proude shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, [and] would not let them goe.

34 [But] their strong redeemer, whose Name [is] the Lorde of hostes, he shall maintaine maintein their cause, that he may giue rest to the land, z and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A swoꝛde [is] vpon the Caldeans, saith the Lorde, ǂ vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.

36 A swoꝛde [is] vpon the *soothsayers, and they shall dote: a swoꝛde [is] vpon her strong men, and they shall be afrayde.

37 A swoꝛde [is] vpon their hoꝛses and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shall be like women: a swoꝛde [is] vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoyled.

38 A a dꝛought [is] vpon her waters, and they shall be dꝛyed vp: foꝛ it is the land of graueu images, and they dote vpon their idoles.

39 Therefoꝛe the b Ziims with the Iims shall dwell there, and c the ostriches shall dwell therein: foꝛ it shall be no moꝛe inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

40 As God destroyed * Sodom and Gomoꝛah with the places thereof neere about, saith the Lorde: [so] shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 ¶ Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised vp from d the coastes of the earth.

42 They shall holde the bowe e the buckler: they are cruell and unmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon hoꝛses, [and] be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The King of Babel hath heard the repoꝛt of them, and his handes f waxed feeble: soꝛowe came vpon him, [euen] soꝛowe as of a woman in trauaile.

44 Beholde, he * shall come vp like a lyon from the dwelling of Joꝛden vnto the strong habitation: foꝛ I will make [Israel] to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? foꝛ who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stand before me?

45 Therefoꝛe heare the counsell of the Lorde that he hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that he hath conceiued against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall dꝛawe them out: surely hee shall make [their] habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the crie is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 53 The vanitie of idolaters. 59 Jeremiah giueth his booke to Sheratah.

THus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants [that lift vp their] heart against me, a destroying a Winde,

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shal emptie her land: foꝛ in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his bꝛigandine, Wil I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thꝛust thꝛough in her stꝛeetes.

5 Foꝛ Israel hath bene no b widow, noꝛ Judah from his God, from the Lord of hoꝛstes, though their land was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 ¶ c Flee out of the midst of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: foꝛ this is the time of the Lordes vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel [hath bene as] a golden cup in the d Lords hand, that made all the earth dꝛunken: the nations haue dꝛunken of her wine, therefoꝛe doe the nations e rage.

8 * Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle foꝛ her, bꝛing balme foꝛ her soꝛe, if she may be healed.

9 We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed: foꝛsake her, and let f vs go euery one into his owne countrey: foꝛ her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath bꝛought foꝛth our g righteousnes: come and let vs declare in Zion the woꝛke of the Lorde our God.

11 Make bꝛight the arrowes: ‖ gather the shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: foꝛ his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the h vengeance of the Lord, z He sheweth that whē God executeth his iudgements against his enemies, that his Church shall ethen haue rest.

ǂ Ebr. lyars.
a Foꝛ Cyrus did cut the riuer Euphrates and deuided the course thereof into many streames, so that it might be passed ouer as though there had bene no water: which thing he did by the counsell of two of Belthazzars captaines, who conspired against their King, because he had geloed the one of them in despite, and slaine þ some of the other.
b Reade Isa. 13.21.
‖ Ebr. sonnes of the ostriches, or, yong. Gene. 19.24. Isa. 13.19.
c Meaning that the Persians should gather their armie of many nations.
d Which is ment of Belthazzar. Dan. 5.6.
Chap. 49.19.
e Reade Chap. 49.19.
[Or, of the lion that riseth vp.
a The Medes and Persians, that shall destroy them as the wind doeth the chaffe.
b Though they were forsaken foꝛ a time, yet they were not vtterly cast off as though their husbande were dead.
c He sheweth that there remaineth nothing foꝛ them that abide in Babylon, but destruction, Chap. 17.6. and 48.6.
d By whome the Lorde powred out his drinke of his vengeance, to whom it pleased him.
e Foꝛ þ great afflictions that they haue felt by the Babylonians, Isa. 21.9. reuel. 14.8.
f Thus þ people of God exhoꝛt one another to go to Zion & praise God.
g In approuing our cause and punishing our enemies.
[Or, fil, or, multiplie.
h Foꝛ þ wrong done to his people, and to his temple, Chap. 50.28.

[and] the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the ſtandart vpon þ walles of Babel, make the watch ſtrong: ſet vp the watchmen: prepare the ſhouts: for the Lord hath both deuiſed, and done that which he ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwelleſt vpon many waters, abundant in treaſures, thine ende is come, [euen] the ‖ end of thy couetouſneſſe.

i For the land of Caldea was full of riuers which ran into Euphrates. ‖ Or, meaſure.

14 The Lord of hoſtes hath ſworne by †him *ſelfe, [ſaying,] Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they ſhall crye and ſhoute againſt thee.

† Ebr, his ſoule. Amos.6.8.

Chap.10,12.

15 *Hee hath made the earth by his power, and eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſedome, and hath ſtretched out the heauen by his diſcretion.

16 He giueth by [his] voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee cauſeth the cloudes to aſcende from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth foorth the winde out of his treaſures.

17 Euery man is a beaſt by [his owne] k knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falſehood & there is no breath therein.

k Read Chap. 10.14.

18 They are vanitie, [and] the worke of errors: in the time of their l viſitation they ſhall periſh.

l When God ſhal execute his vengeance.

19 The m portion of Iaakob [is] not like them: for he is þ maker of all things, and [Iſrael is] the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſtes [is his Name.

m That is, the true God of Iſrael is not like to theſe idoles: for he can helpe when all things are deſperate.

20 Thou art mine n hammer, [and] weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdomes, n He meaneth the Medes and Perſians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hammer, Chap. 50,23.

21 And by thee will I breake horſe and horſeman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee alſo will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the mayde.

23 I will alſo breake by thee the ſheepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the huſbandman and his yoke of oxē, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, [euen] in your ſight, ſaith þ Lord.

25 Beholde, I [come] vnto thee, O deſtroying o mountaine, ſaith the Lord, which deſtroyeſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the p rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

o Not þ Babylon ſtoode on a mountaine, but becauſe it was ſtrong and fenced inuincible.

p From thy ſtrong holdes & fortreſſes.

26 They ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt be deſtroied for euer, ſaith the Lord.

27 Set vp a ſtandart in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations againſt her: call by the kingdomes q of Ararat, Minni, and Aſchchenaz againſt her: appoint þ prince againſt her: cauſe horſes to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

q By theſe three nations he meaneth Armenia the hyer, and Armenia þ lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhal tremble & ſorow: for the deuiſe of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babel, to make the land of Babel waſte without an inhabitant.

30 The ſtrong men of Babel haue ceaſed to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their ſtrength hath fayled, [and] they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, [and] her barres are broken.

31 A poſte ſhall runne to meete the poſte, and a meſſenger to meete the meſſenger, to ſhew the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a r ſide thereof, r By turning the courſe of the riuer, one ſide was made open, and the reedes that growe in the water, were deſtroyed, which Cyrus did by the counſel of Gobria & Gabatha Belſhazars rapparaines.

32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus ſaith þ Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, The daughter of Babel [is] like a threſhing flooze: the time of her threſhing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her harueſt ſ ſhall come.

ſ When thee ſhalbe cut vp and threſhed.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath t deuoured me, and deſtroyed me: he hath made me an emptie veſſell: he ſwalowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, [and] hath caſt me out.

t This is ſpoken in the perſon of þ Iewes, bewailing their ſtate & the crueltie of the Babylonians.

35 The ſpoyle of me, and that which was left of me, [is brought] vnto Babel, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, ſhall Ieruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I will maintene thy u cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drye vp the ſea, and drye vp her ſpring.

u Thus the Lord eſteemeth the iniurie done to his Church as done to him ſelfe, becauſe their cauſe is his.

37 And Babel ſhall be [as] heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment, ment, and an hilling, without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their [x] heate I will make them feastes, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lorde.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, [and] like rams and goates.

41 Howe is [y] Shechach taken! and howe is the glorie of the whole earth taken! howe is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The [z] sea is come vp vpon Babel: she is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is drie and a wildernes, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visit Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, go out of the mids of her, and deliuer ye euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord.

46 Lest your heart faint, and ye feare the rumour, that shall be heard in the land: the rumour shall come [this] yeere, and after that in the [other] [b] yeere [shall come] a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the middes of her.

48 Then the heauen and [c] the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the [d] slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that [e] haue escaped the swoorde, go away, stand not still: remember the Lord afarre off, & let Jerusalem come into your minde.

51 We are [f] confounded because we haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the sanctuaries of the Lords house.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to [g] heauen, and though she should defende her strength on hie, [yet] from me shall her destroyers come, sayth the Lorde.

54 A sound of a crie [commeth] from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans,

55 Because the Lorde hath layd Babel waste and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, [and] a sound was made by their noyse:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, [euen] vpon Babel, & her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lorde God that recompenceth, shall surely recompence.

57 And I will [h] make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the King, whose Name [is] the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, The [i] thicke wall of Babel shall be broken, and her hie gates shalbe burnt with fire, and the people shall labor in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be wearie.

59 The worde which Jeremiah the Prophet commaunded Sheraiah the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the King of Judah into Babel, in [k] fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: [euen] all these things, that are written against Babel.

61 And Jeremiah said to Sheraiah, When thou commest vnto Babel, and shalt see, & shalt reade all these wordes, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lorde, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an end of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a [l] stone to it, and cast it in the mids of Euphrates,

64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, and shall not rise from the euill, x When they are inflamed with surfetting and drinking, I will feast them, alluding to Belshazzars banket, Dan. 5.1.

y Meaning, Babel, as Chap. 25.26.

z The great armie of the Medes and Persians.

a That is, his gifftes and presents which he had receiued as part of the spoyle of other nations, and which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countreys.

b Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroyed all at once, but by litle and litle shoulde be brought to nothing: for the first yere came the tydings, the next yeere the siege, and in the thirde yeere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible destruction which the Prophets threatned in many places: for that was after this when they rebelled and Darius ouercame them by the policie of Zopyrus and hanged three thousand gentlemē besides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth shall reioyce & praise God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemie of his Church.

d Babylon did not onely destroy Israel, but many other nations.

e Ye that are nowe captiues in Babylon.

f Hee sheweth howe they should remember Jerusalem by lamenting the miserable affliction thereof.

g For the walles were two hundreth foote hie.

h I will so astonish them by afflictions that they shall not knowe which way to turne them.

i The thicknes of the wall was fiftie foote thicke.

k This was not in the time of his captiuitie, but seuen yeeres before, when he went either to gratulate Nebuchad-nezzar or to intreat of some matters.

l S. John in his reuelation alludeth to this place, when he saith that the Angel tooke a mille stone and cast it into the sea: signifying thereby the destruction of Babylon, Reuel. 18.21.

m They shall not be able to resist, but shall labour in vaine.

euill, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall [m] be wearie. Thus farre [are] the wordes of Ieremiah.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a King.

2.King.24.18. 2.chro.36.11.

ZEdekiah [was] one & twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, & he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name [was] Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And hee did euill in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

a So the Lord punished sinne by sinne, and gaue him vp to his rebellious heart, till he had brought the enemie vpon him to leade him away and his people. 2.King.25.1. and chap.39.1.

3 [a] Doubtles because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel.

4 [*] But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth [day] of the moneth came Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built fortes against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the King Zedekiah.

6 Nowe in the fourth moneth, the ninth [day] of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the Kings garden: (nowe the Caldeans [were] by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes.

b Read Chap. 39.4.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans pursued after the King, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his hoste was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the King and caried him vp vnto the King of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, [c] where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Read 2.King. 25.6. & Chap. 39.5.

10 And the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes: he slewe also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the King of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Nowe in the fift moneth in [d] the tenth [day] of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the King Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzaradan chiefe steward [which] [e] stoode before the King of Babel in Ierusalem, d In the 2.Kin.25.8. it is called the seuenth day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

e That is, which was his seruant, as 2.King.25.8.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue [certeine] of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the King of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left [certeine] of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, & to till the land.

f Of these pillars, reade 1.King.7.15.

17 Also the [f] pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen Sea, that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

g Which were also made of brasse, as 1.King.7.45.

18 The pots also and the [g] beslomes, and the instruments of musike, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the ashpans, and the basins, and the pottes, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, [and all] that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away,

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen bulles, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without [h] weight.

h It was so much in quantitie.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar [was] eighteene cubites, and a threed of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknes thereof [was] foure fingers: [it was] holowe.

22 And a chapiter of brasse [was] vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates [were] like vnto these.

23 And

23 And there were ninetie and fiue pomegranates on a side: [and] all the pomegranates vpon ꝑ net worke [were] an i hundreth round about.

24 And ꝑ chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephamah k the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 He tooke also out of the citie an Eunuche, which had the ouerlight of the men of warre, and seuen men that were in the kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoste who mustred the people of ꝑ land, and threescore men of the people of the lande, that were found in the middes of the citie.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And ꝑ king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the m seuenth yere, [euen] three thousand Iewes, and three and twentie.

29 In the n eightenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar hee caryed away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundreth thirtie and two ‡ persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons [were] foure thousand and sixe hundreth.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth [day] of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the [first] yeere of his reigne, o lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of prison,

32 And spake kindely vnto him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the kings that were with him in Babel,

33 And changed his prison p garmẽts, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion [was] a q continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he dyed.

i But because of the roundnes no more could be seene but ninetie and sixe.

k Which serued in the hie Priestes stead, if he had any necessarie impediment.

l In the 2. King. 25. 19. is read but of fiue: those were the most excellent, and the other two, which were not so noble, are not there mentioned with them.

m Which was the latter ende of the seuenth yere of his reigne and the beginning of the eight.

n In the latter ende also of that yere, and the beginning of the nineteenth.

‡ Ebr. soules.

o That is, restored him to libertie and honour.

p And gaue him princely apparell.

q That is, he had allowance in the court, and thus at length he had rest and quietnesse because he obeyed Ieremiah ꝑ Prophet, whereas the other were cruelly ordered, that would not obey him.

Lamentations.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewayleth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 And therwith that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and second Chapter begin euery verse accoyding to the letters of the Ebrewe Alphabet. The thirde hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondereth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Ierusalem, which was so strong, and so full of people, to be nowe destroyed and desolate.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countreis.

c So that he taketh no rest.

d Meaning, the Egyptians and Assyrians, which promised helpe.

e For her cruelnesse toward the poore and oppression of seruants, Ieremiah 34. 11.

f As they vsed to come vp, with mirth and ioy, Psal. 42. 4.

HOwe doeth a the citie remayne solitarie that was full of people? she is as a widowe: she that was great among the nations, [and] b princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

2 She weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares [runne downe] by her cheekes: among all her d louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, [and] are her enemies.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, because e of affliction, and because of great seruitude: she dwelleth among the heathen, [and] findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth f to the solemne feastes: all her gates are desolate: her Priestes sigh: her virgines are discomfited, and she is in ‡ heauines.

‡ Ebr. bitternes.

5 Her aduersaries g are the chiefe, [and] her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her trãsgressions, [and] her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

g That is, haue rule ouer her, Deut. 28. 44.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become h like hartes that finde no pasture, ‡ they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

h As men pined away with sorow and that haue no courage.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, [and] all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people i fell into the hande of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries sawe her, [and] did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

i In her miserie she considered the great benefites and commodities that she had lost.

k At her religion and seruing of God, which was the greatest griefe to the godly.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned therefore she is l in derision: all that honored her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthines: yea, she sigheth and turneth backeward.

‡ Or, driuen away.

l She is not ashamed of her sinne, although it be manifest.

9 Her filthines [is] in her skirtes: she remembred not her last ende, therefore

23 And there were ninetie and fiue pomegranates on a side: [and] all the pomegranates vpon ꝑ net worke [were] an i hundreth round about.

24 And ꝑ chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephamah k the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 He tooke also out of the citie an Eunuche, which had the ouerlight of the men of warre, and seuen men that were in the kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoste who mustred the people of ꝑ land, and threescore men of the people of the lande, that were found in the middes of the citie.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And ꝑ king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the m seuenth yere, [euen] three thousand Iewes, and three and twentie.

29 In the n eightenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar hee caryed away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundreth thirtie and two ‡ persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons [were] foure thousand and sixe hundreth.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth [day] of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the [first] yeere of his reigne, o lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of prison,

32 And spake kindely vnto him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the kings that were with him in Babel,

33 And changed his prison p garmẽts, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion [was] a q continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he dyed.

i But because of the roundnes no more could be seene but ninetie and sixe.

k Which serued in the hie Priestes stead, if he had any necessarie impediment.

l In the 2. King. 25. 19. is read but of fiue: those were the most excellent, and the other two, which were not so noble, are not there mentioned with them.

m Which was the latter ende of the seuenth yere of his reigne and the beginning of the eight.

n In the latter ende also of that yere, and the beginning of the nineteenth.

‡ Ebr. soules.

o That is, restored him to libertie and honour.

p And gaue him princely apparell.

q That is, he had allowance in the court, and thus at length he had rest and quietnesse because he obeyed Ieremiah ꝑ Prophet, whereas the other were cruelly ordered, that would not obey him.

Lamentations.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewayleth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 And therwith that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and second Chapter begin euery verse accoyding to the letters of the Ebrewe Alphabet. The thirde hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondereth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Ierusalem, which was so strong, and so full of people, to be nowe destroyed and desolate.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countreis.

c So that he taketh no rest.

d Meaning, the Egyptians and Assyrians, which promised helpe.

e For her cruelnesse toward the poore and oppression of seruants, Ieremiah 34. 11.

f As they vsed to come vp, with mirth and ioy, Psal. 42. 4.

HOwe doeth a the citie remayne solitarie that was full of people? she is as a widowe: she that was great among the nations, [and] b princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

2 She weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares [runne downe] by her cheekes: among all her d louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, [and] are her enemies.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, because e of affliction, and because of great seruitude: she dwelleth among the heathen, [and] findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth f to the solemne feastes: all her gates are desolate: her Priestes sigh: her virgines are discomfited, and she is in ‡ heauines.

‡ Ebr. bitternes.

5 Her aduersaries g are the chiefe, [and] her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her trãsgressions, [and] her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

g That is, haue rule ouer her, Deut. 28. 44.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become h like hartes that finde no pasture, ‡ they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

h As men pined away with sorow and that haue no courage.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, [and] all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people i fell into the hande of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries sawe her, [and] did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

i In her miserie she considered the great benefites and commodities that she had lost.

k At her religion and seruing of God, which was the greatest griefe to the godly.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned therefore she is l in derision: all that honored her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthines: yea, she sigheth and turneth backeward.

‡ Or, driuen away.

l She is not ashamed of her sinne, although it be manifest.

9 Her filthines [is] in her skirtes: she remembred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, beholde mine affliction: for the enemie ‡ is proude.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hande vpon all her pleasant things: for the hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whome m thou didst commaunde, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh and seeke [their] bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refreshe the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, all ye that passe by [this] way: beholde, and see, if there be any n sorowe like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted [me] in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath o he sent fire into my bones, which preuaile against them: he hath spred a net for my feete, [and] turned me backe: he hath made me desolate, [and] dayly in heauines.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into [their] handes, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of me: he hath called an assemblie against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden q the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 *For these things I weepe: mine eye, [euen] mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refreshe my soule, is farre from mee: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

17 Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there [is] none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob rounde about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstruous woman in the mids of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his ‡ commaundement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorowe: my virgines and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, [but] they deceiued me: my Priestes ‡ & mine Elders perished in the citie while they ‡ sought their meate to refresh their soules.

20 Beholde, O Lorde, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am ful of heauines: the sworde spoyleth abroad, as death [doeth] at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, [but] there [is] none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, [and] are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me.

22 s Let all their wickednes come before thee: ‖ doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heauie.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! [and] hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footestoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lorde hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, and not spared: he hath throwne downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: hee hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: he hath drawen backe his e right hande from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 He f hath bent his bowe like an enemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slewe all that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: he hath deuoured Israel, [and] consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his tabernacle, as a garden, he hath destroyed his congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giuen into the hand of the enemie the m God forbiddeth that the Ammonites and Moabites should enter into the congregation of the Lord, and vnder them he comprehendeth all enemies, Deut. 23.3.

‡ Ebr. hath magnified himselfe.

n Thus Ierusalem lamenteth, moouing others to pitie her and to learne by her example.

o This declareth that we should acknowledge God to be the author of all our afflictions, to the intent that we might seeke vnto him for remedie.

p Mine heauie sinnes are continually before his eyes as he that tyeth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

q He hath troden them vnder foote as they that treade grapes in the winepresse. Iere. 14.17. chap. 2.18.

r Which because of her pollution was separate from her husband, Leuit. 15.19. and was abhorred for the time.

‡ Ebr. mouth.

‡ That is, they died for hunger.

s Of desiring vengeance against the enemie, read Iere. 11.20. and 18.21.

‖ Or, gather them like grapes.

a That is, thought her from prosperitie to aduersitie.

b Hath giuen her a most sore fall.

c Alluding to the Temple or to the Arke of the couenant, which was called the footestoole of the Lord, because they should not set their minds so low, but lift vp their hearts toward the heauens.

d Speaning, the glorie and strength, as 1. Sam. 2.1.

e That is, his succour which he was wont to sende vs, when our enemies oppressed vs.

f Shewing, that there is no remedie but destruction, where God is the enemie.

the walles of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

g As the people were accustomed to praise God in the solemne feastes, with a loude voyce, so now the enemies blaspheme him with shouting and crying.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: hee hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart h and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

h This is a figuratiue speach, as that was, when he said, the wayes wil lament, chap.1.4: meaning, that this losse was so great that the insensible things had their part thereof.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed & broken her barres: her king and her princes [are] among the Gentiles: the Lawe [is] no more, neither can her Prophets ‖ receiue [any] vision from the Lord.

‖ Or, finde.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue girded themselues with sackecloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children & sucklings ‖ swoone in the streetes of the citie.

‖ Or, faint.

12 They haue saide to their mothers, Where is ‡ bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the citie, [and] when they ‡ gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.

‡ Ebr. wheate and wine.

‡ Ebr. poured out the soule.

13 i What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? What shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach [is] great like the sea: Who can heale thee?

i Meaning, that her calamitie was so exident that it needs no witnesses.

14 Thy Prophets haue k looked out vaine, and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false ‖ prophesies, and causes of banishment.

k Because the false prophets called themselues seers, as the other were call'd, therefore he saieth that they saw amisse, because they did not reproue the peoples faultes, but flattered them in their sinnes, which was the cause of their destruction.

‖ Or, burdens.

15 All that passe by the way, clap their handes at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, [saying,] Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, [and] the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainely this is the day that we looked for: we haue found [and] seene it.

Leuit.26.15. 25.deu.15,28. 25.

17 * The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of olde time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

Iere.14.17. chap.1.16.

18 Their heart * cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares run downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, crie in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine handes toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all ℓ streetes.

20 Beholde, O Lord, and consider to whome thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruite, [and] children of a spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord?

‖ Or, brought vp in their owne handes.

21 The yong and the olde lie on the ground in the streetes: my virgines and my yong men are fallen by the sworde: thou hast slaine [them] in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my ‖ terrours round about, so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemie consumed.

‖ Or, enemies, whome I feared.

CHAP. III.

1 I Am the man, that hath seene a affliction in the rod of his indignation.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, whom he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Iere.20.2.

2 He hath ledde me, and brought mee into darkenes, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand [against me] all ℓ day.

b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of words.

4 My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to ware olde, [and] he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath b builded against me, and compassed [me] with gall and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged about me, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shoute, hee shutteth out my c prayer.

c This is a great tentation to the godly, when they see not the fruite of their prayers, and reason with themselues to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God doeth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly and the oftner.

9 Hee hath d stopped vp my wayes

d And keepeth me in holde, as a prisoner.

with hewen stone, [and] turned away my paths.

10 c He was vnto me [as] a beare lying in wait, [and as] a lyon in secret places.

11 Hee hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bowe and made me a marke for the arrowe.

13 He caused † the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, [and] their song all the day.

15 Hee hath filled me with bitternes, [and] made me drunken with f wormewood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, [&] hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie,

18 And I said, My strength and mine hope g is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled h in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords i mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 [They are] renued k euery morning: great is thy faithfulnes.

24 The Lord [is] my l portion, saith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, [and] to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust, and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his m youth.

28 He sitteth alone, n and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his o mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: hee is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lorde will not forsake for euer.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doth not p punish ‡willingly, nor afflict the children of men, 34 To stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth,

35 To ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most high,

36 To subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord q seeth it not.

37 Who is he then that saith, and it commeth to passe, [and] the Lord r commaundeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most high proceedeth not s euill and good?

39 Wherefore [then is the liuing t man sorowfull? a man [suffreth] for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp u our hearts with our handes vnto God in the heauens.

42 We haue sinned, and haue rebelled, [therefore] thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered [vs] with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine [and] not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that [our] prayer should not passe through.

45 Thou hast made vs [as] the * offscouring and refuse in the middes of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.

47 Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs [with] desolation and destruction.

48 Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not,

50 Till the Lord looke downe, and beholde from heauen.

51 Mine eye x breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my citie.

52 Mine enemies chased me sore like a birde, without cause.

53 They haue shut vp my life y in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, [then] thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voyce: stoppe not thine eare from my sigh [and] from my crie.

57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saidest, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my z soule, [and] hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord,

c He hath no pitie on me.

† Ebr. sonnes.

f With great anguish and sorow he hath made me to lose my sense.

g This with paine he was driuen to and fro betweene hope and despaire, as the godly oft times are, yet in the ende the Spirit getteth the victorie.

h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may knowe themselues and seeke his mercies.

i Considering the wickednes of man, it is maruele that any remaineth aliue: but onely that God for his owne mercies sake and for his promes will euer haue his Church to remaine though they be neuer so fewe in number, Isa. 1.9.

k We feele thy benefites dayly.

l The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore looke for none other inheritance, as Psal. 16.5.

m He sheweth that we can neuer begin to timely to be exercised vnder the crosse, that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience also by experience may be stronger.

n He murmureth not against God, but is patient. o He humbleth himselfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground. p So with patience waiteth for succour. p He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessitie for our amendment, when he suffereth the wicked to oppresse the poore. ‡ Ebr. with his heart.

q He doth not belieue thereon.

r He sheweth that nothing is done without Gods prouidence.

s That is, aduersitie and prosperitie, Amos. 3.6.

t When God afflicteth him.

u That is, both hearties and hands: for els to lift vp the handes, is but hypocrisie.

1. Cor. 4.13.

x I am ouercome with sore weeping for all my people.

y Reade Ier. 37.16. howe he was in the myrie dungeon.

z Meaning, the cause wherefore his life was in danger,

59 O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, [and] all their deuises against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproche, O Lorde, [and] all their imaginations against me:

62 The lippes [also] of those that rose against me, & their whispering against me continually.

63 Beholde, their sitting downe and their rising vp, [how] I am their song.

Psal.28.4. 64 * Giue them a recompence, O Lorde, according to the worke of their hands.

[Or,an obstinate heart. 65 Giue them ‖ sorowe of heart, [euen] thy curse to them.

66 Persecute with wrath and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

a By the gold he meaneth the Princes, as by the stones he vnderstandeth the Priests. [Or,hid. [Or,stones.

HOw is the a golde become so dimme: the most fine golde is changed, [and] the stones of the Sanctuarie are scattered in the corner of euery streete.

b Which are of small estimation and haue none honour.

2 The noble ‖ men of Zion comparable to fine gold, howe are they esteemed as earthen b pitchers, [euen] the worke of the hands of the potter!

c Though the dragons be cruell, yet they pitie their yong and nourish them, which thing Ierusalem doeth not. d The women forsake their children, as the ostriche doth her egges, Iob 39.17.

3 Euen the dragons c draw out the breasts, and giue sucke to their yong, [but] the daughter of my people [is become] cruell like the d ostriches in the wildernes.

4 The tongue of the sucking childe cleaueth to the roofe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, [but] no man breaketh it vnto them.

5 They that did feede delicately, perish in the streetes: they ƿ were brought vp in skarlet, embrace the dongue.

Gen.19.25. 6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodom, that was * destroyed as in a moment, & ‖ none pitched tentes against her.

[Or,no strength was against her. Numb.6.2. 7 Her * Nazarites were purer then the snow, [and] whiter then the milke: they were more ruddie in body, then the red precious stones: they were [like] polished saphir.

e They that were before most in Gods fauour, are now in greatest abomination vnto him. f For lacke of foode they pine away, and consume.

8 [Now] their e visage is blacker then a cole: they can not knowe them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered, like a stocke.

9 They that be slaine with the sword are better, then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away [as] they were striken through for the f fruites of the fielde.

10 The hands of the pitifull women haue sodden their owne children, [which] were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lorde hath accomplished his indignation: hee hath powred out his fierce wrath, hee hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of ƿ world would not haue beleeued that the aduersarie and the enemie should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her Prophets, [and] the iniquities of her Priestes, that haue shed the blood of the iust in the middes of g her.

g He meaneth that these things are come to passe therefore, contrary to all mens expectation.

14 They haue wandred [as] blinde men h in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that i they would not touche their garments.

h Some refer this to the blind men, which as they went, stumbled on the blood, wherof the citie was full. i Meaning, the heathen which came to destroy them, could not abide them. [Or,face.

15 [But] they cried vnto thē, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touche not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue said among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

16 The ‖ anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard thē: k they reuerenced not the face of ƿ Priests, nor had compassion of the Elders.

k That is, the enemies.

17 Whiles wee waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for l a nation that could not saue vs.

l Ye thetwo principall causes of their destruction: their crueltie, and their vaine confidence in man: for they trusted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

18 They hunt our steppes that wee cannot goe in our streetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our end is come.

m Our King Iosiah, in whom stood our hope of Gods fauour, and on whō depended our state and life, was slaine, whom he calleth annoinred, because he was a figure of Christ.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the egles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and layed waite for vs in the wildernes.

20 The m breath of our nostrels, the Anointed of ƿ Lorde was taken in their nets, of whom we sade, Vnder his shadow we shall be preserued aliue among the heathen.

n This is spoken by derision. [Or,shew thy nakednes.

21 Reioyce and be glad, n O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the lande of Vz, the cup also shall passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be dronken ‖ and vomite.

o He comforteth ƿ Church by that after seuentie yeres their sorowes shall haue an ende, whereas the wicked shoulb be tormented for euer.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he o will no more carie thee away into captiuitie, [but] hee will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he will discouer thy sinnes.

CHAP.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: [a] consider, and beholde our reproche.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.

3 We are fatherlesse, euen without father, [and] our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunke our [b] water for money, [and] our wood is solde [vnto vs.]

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our [c] hands to the Egyptians, [and] to Assyrr, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their [d] iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the [perill] of our liues, because of the sword [e] of the wildernes.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, [and] the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke [g] yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the [h] gate [and] the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioye of our heart is gone, our daunce is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: Woo now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our [i] eyes are dimme,

18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 [But] thou, O Lord, remainest for [k] euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, [and] forsake vs so long time?

21 [l] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shalbe turned: renue our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angrie against vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made whē some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the poorest remained, and some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.

c We are ioyned in league and amitie with them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.

d As our fathers haue bin punished for their sinnes, so wee that are culpable of the same sinnes, are punished.

e Because of the enemie that came from the wildernes, and would not suffer vs to go, & seeke our necessarie foode.

f That is, by the enemies hand.

g Their slaueric was so great, that they were not able to abide it.

h There were no more lawes nor forme of common wealth.

i With weeping.

k And therefore thy couenant, and mercies can neuer fayle.

l Whereby is declared, that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Ier. 31. 18.

Ezekiel.

The Argvment.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had propheſied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by newe visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, shoulde be brought into cruell bondage. And least the godly shoulde despaire in these great troubles, hee assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefely be perfourmed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glorie of the Newe Temple shoulde perfectly be restored. He propheſied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah propheſied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel propheſied and in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The vision of the foure beastes. 26 The vision of the throne.

[a] IT came to passe in the thirtieth yeere in the fourth [moneth, and] in the fift [day] of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I saw visions of God.

2 In the fift [day] of the moneth (which was the fift yere of King Ioiachins captiuitie)

3 The worde of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the [d] hand of the Lorde was vpon him.

a After that the booke of the Law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was founde, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after sawe these visions, b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.

c That is, notable, and excellent visions, so that it might be knowen, it was no naturall dreame but came of God.

d That is, the Spirit of propheſie, as Chap. 3. 22. and 37. 1.

4 And

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: [a] consider, and beholde our reproche.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.

3 We are fatherlesse, euen without father, [and] our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunke our [b] water for money, [and] our wood is solde [vnto vs.]

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our [c] hands to the Egyptians, [and] to Assyrr, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their [d] iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the [perill] of our liues, because of the sword [e] of the wildernes.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, [and] the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke [g] yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the [h] gate [and] the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioye of our heart is gone, our daunce is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: Woo now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our [i] eyes are dimme,

18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 [But] thou, O Lord, remainest for [k] euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, [and] forsake vs so long time?

21 [l] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shalbe turned: renue our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angrie against vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made whē some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the poorest remained, and some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.

c We are ioyned in league and amitie with them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.

d As our fathers haue bin punished for their sinnes, so wee that are culpable of the same sinnes, are punished.

e Because of the enemie that came from the wildernes, and would not suffer vs to go, & seeke our necessarie foode.

f That is, by the enemies hand.

g Their slaueric was so great, that they were not able to abide it.

h There were no more lawes nor forme of common wealth.

i With weeping.

k And therefore thy couenant, and mercies can neuer fayle.

l Whereby is declared, that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Ier. 31. 18.

Ezekiel.

The Argvment.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had propheſied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by newe visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, shoulde be brought into cruell bondage. And least the godly shoulde despaire in these great troubles, hee assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefely be perfourmed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glorie of the Newe Temple shoulde perfectly be restored. He propheſied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah propheſied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel propheſied and in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The vision of the foure beastes. 26 The vision of the throne.

[a] IT came to passe in the thirtieth yeere in the fourth [moneth, and] in the fift [day] of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I saw visions of God.

2 In the fift [day] of the moneth (which was the fift yere of King Ioiachins captiuitie)

3 The worde of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the [d] hand of the Lorde was vpon him.

a After that the booke of the Law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was founde, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after sawe these visions,

b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.

c That is, notable, and excellent visions, so that it might be knowen, it was no naturall dreame but came of God.

d That is, the Spirit of propheſie, as Chap. 3. 22. and 37. 1.

4 And

c By this diuersitie of words he signifieth ꝑ feareful iudgements of God, & the great afflictions that should come vpon Ierusalem.

4 And I looked, and beholde, c a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnes [was] about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in ꝑ middes of the fire [came out] as the likenes of ‖amber.

5 Also out of ꝑ middes thereof [came] the likenes of foure beasts, f & this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

f Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glorie of God, as chap. 3.23.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete [were] streight feete, and the sole of their feete [was] like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled

‖Or, pale yelowe.

THE VISION OF EZEKIEL.

A. The whirle winde that came out of the North, or Aquilon.
B. The great cloude.
C. The fire wrapped about it.
D. The brightnes about it.
E. The likenes of amber, or the pale colour.
F. The forme of the foure beasts.
G. Their feete like calues feete.
H. Hands comming out from vnder their wings.
I K L M. The facion of the foure faces of euery beast.
N. Their wings ioyned one to another.
O. Their two wings, which couered their bodies.
P. Fire running among the beastes.
Q. Wheeles hauing euery one foure faces.
R. The rings of the wheeles which were full of eyes.
S. The firmament like vnto chrystall.
T. The throne, which was set vpon the firmament.
V. Where sate like ꝑ appearance of a mã.
X. The appearance of amber aboue, and beneath the man.
Y. The fire about him.
Z. The brightnes of fire like the rainebowe.
Midi, or the South.

like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man [came out] from vnder their wings in the foure partes of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

9 They were ioyned by their wings one to another, [and] when they went forth, they returned not, [but] euery one went streight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces [was as] h the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an egle.

h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lion on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an egle on the left side.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings [were] spred out aboue: two [wings] of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their ‡ spirit led them, [and] they returned not when they went forth.

‡Ebr. Whither their spirit, or will was to go.

13 The similitude also of the beastes, [and] their appearance [was] like burning coles of fire, [and] like the appearance of lampes: [for the fire] ranne among the beasts, & the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ran, and i returned like vnto lightening.

i That is, whē they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not, till God had changed the state of things.

15 ¶ Nowe as I beheld the beasts, beholde, a wheele [appeared] vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The facion of the wheeles & their worke [was] like vnto a k chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their facion, & their worke [was] as one wheele in [another] wheele.

k The Ebrew worde is tarshish: a meaning, that the colour was like the Cilician sea, or a precious stone so called.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, [&] they returned not when they went.

18 They had also ‖rings, & height, and were [fearefull] to behold, & their rings were ful of eyes, round about thē foure.

‖Or, the rents.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheeles went with them: & when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, [and] thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of

of the beastes [was] in the wheeles.

21 When the[y] beasts [went], they went, and when they stoode, they stoode, and when they were lifted vp from ỹ earth, ỹ wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirite of the beasts [was] in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of ỹ firmament vpon the heads of the beasts [was] wonderfull, like vnto chrystall, spred ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament [were] their wings streight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which couered them, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies.

l Which declares ỹ swiftnes and the fearefulnes of Gods iudgements.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their wings, like the noyse of great waters, [and] as ỹ voyce of the Almightie, [euen] the voyce of speache, as the noyse of an hoste: [and] when they stood, they m let downe their wings.

m Which signified, that they had no power of themselues but only waited to execute Gods commandement.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stood, [and] had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, [was] the facion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne [was] by appearance, as ỹ similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I sawe as the appearance of amber, [and] as the similitude of fire n round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpward: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downewarde, I sawe as a likenes of fire, and brightnes round about it.

n Whereby was signified a terrible iudgement toward the earth.

28 As the likenes of the bowe, that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so [was] the appearance of ỹ light round about.

o Considering the maiestie of God, and the weaknes of flesh.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lorde: and when I sawe it, I fel o vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their errour.

a That is, the Lorde.
b Meaning man, which is but earth and ashes, which was to humble him, and cause him to consider his owne state and Gods grace.
c So that he could not abide Gods presence till Gods spirit vid enter into him.

AND a he said vnto me, b Sone of man, stand by vpon thy feete, and I will speake vnto thee.

2 c And the Spirit entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of mã, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: [for] they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For [they are] ‡ impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, & thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither in deede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that d there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, e feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels, and thornes [be] with thee, & thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afraide at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my wordes vnto them: [but] surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like [this] rebellious house: open thy mouth, and f eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, an hand was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke [was] therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, g Lamentations, and mourning, and wo.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the worde of God and with the constant boldnes of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer hee saide vnto mee, Sonne of man, eat that thou findest: a eate this roule, and go, [and] speake vnto ỹ house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of mã, cause thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eat it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie.

4 And he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, go, [and] enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknowne ‡ tongue, or of an hard language, [but] to the house of Israel,

6 Not to many people of an vnknowne tongue,

‡Ebr. hard of face.
d This declareth on the one part Gods great affection towarde his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will sende his Prophets among them, and admonisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to doe their duetie, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the woyde of God shall be either to their saluation or greater condemnatiõ.
e Reade Iere. 1.17: he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to doe their duelies.
f He doeth not onely exhort him to his duetie, but also giueth him the meanes wherewith he may be able to execute it.
g He sheweth what were the contents of this booke: to wit, Gods iudgements against the wicked.
a Whereby is ment, that none is meete to be Gods messenger before he haue receiued the woyd of God in his heart, as Ier. 1.9. and haue a zeale thereunto, and delite thereiu, as Ier. 15.16. reuel. 10.
‡Ebr. deepe lippes.

tongue, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face [b] strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, [and] harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraide at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, [c] receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, and heare [them] with thine eares, 11 And go [and] enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lorde God: [but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noyse of a great rushing, [saying,] [d] Blessed [be] the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 [I heard] also the noyse of [p] wings of the beastes, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, [e] tooke me away and I [e] went in bitternesse, [and] indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them [g] seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes, the worde of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [h] watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely dye, [e] thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shall dye in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a [i] righteous man turne from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a [k] stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall dye in his sinne, and his [l] righteous deedes, which he hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the [m] hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he layd vnto me, Arise, [and] go into the ‖ fielde, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the fielde, beholde, the [n] glorie of the Lorde stoode there, as the glorie which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which [o] set me vp vpon my feete, [e] spake vnto me, and sayde to me, Come, [and] [p] shut thy selfe within thine house.

25 But thou, O sonne of man, behold, they shall put bands vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue [q] cleaue to the roofe of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumme, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth off, [r] let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

b God promiseth his assistance to his ministers, & that he will giue them boldnes & constancie in their vocation, Iſai. 50, 7. Iere. 1, 18. mich. 3, 8.

c He sheweth what is ment by the eating of the booke, which is, that the ministers of God may speake nothing as of themselues, but that onely, which they haue receiued of the Lord.

d Whereby he signifieth, that Gods glorie shoulde not be diminished, although he departed out of his Temple: for this declared, that the citie and temple shoulde be destroyed.

e This sheweth that there is euer an infirmitie of the flesh which can neuer be readie to render full obedience to God, and also Gods grace, who euer assisteth his, and ouercommeth their rebellious affections.

f Which was a place by Euphrates, where ỹ Iewes were prisoners.

g Declaring hereby, that Gods ministers must with abusement, and deliberatio bitter his iudgements.

h Of this, read Chap. 33, 2.

i If the that hath bene instructed in the right waye turne backe, k I wil giue him vp into a reprobat mind, Rom. 1, 28.

l Which seemed to haue bene done in faith, and were not.

m That is, the Spirite of prophesie.

‖ Or, valley.

n Meaning, the vision of the Cherubims & the wheeles.

o Read Chap. 2, 2.

p Signifying, that not onely he shoulde not profit, but they should grieuously trouble and afflict him.

q Which declareth the terrible plague of the Lord, when God stoppeth the mouthes of his ministers, and ỹ all such are the rods of his vengeance that vse it. Reuel. 22, 11.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Jerusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophesied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, [euen] Jerusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and build a forte against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an [s] yron pan, and set r Which signified the stubburnes and hardnesse of their heart.

set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shalbe besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the [b] house of Israel vpon it: [according] to the nomber of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue layde vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the nomber of the dayes, [euen] three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of ỹ house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, [euen] a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, & thine [d] arme [shall be] vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And beholde, I will lay [e] bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheat, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, & millet, [f] and fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof [according] to the nomber of the daies, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: [euen] [g] three hundreth & ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, [shall be] by weight, [euen] [h] twentie shekels a day: [and] from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, [euen] the first part of [i] an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it [as] barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it [k] in the doung that commeth out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord sayde, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then sayd I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any [l] vncleane fleth in my mouth.

15 Then he said vnto me, Lo, I haue giuen thee bullocks [m] dongue for mans dongue, & thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake [n] the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the heares, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

AND thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, [or] take thee a barbours rasor and [a] cause it to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and deuide the [heare.]

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the mids of [b] the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the [other] third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the [last] third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will drawe out a sworde after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in nomber, and binde them in thy [c] lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: [d] for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the middes of the nations and countreys, [that] are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my [e] iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreys, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, [and] they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your [f] multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according b Hereby he representeth the idolatrie & sinne of the ten tribes (for Samaria was on his left hand from Babylō) and how they had remained therein three hundreth and ninetie yeres.

c Which declared Iudah, who had nowe from the time of Iosiah dyed in their sinnes fourtie yeres.

d In token of a speedie vengeance.

e The people should so streitly be besieged, that they should not be able to turne them.

f Meaning, ỹ the famine should be so great, that they should be glad to eat whatsoeuer they could get.

g Which were fourteene monethes that the citie was besieged, & this was as many dayes as Israel sinned yeeres.

h Which make a pounde.

i Reade Exod. 29.40.

k Signifying hereby ỹ great scarcitie of fuell, and matter to burne.

l Much lesse such vile corruption.

m To bee as fire to bake thy bread with.

n That is, the force & strength wherewith it should nourish, Isa. 3.1. chap. 5.17. & 14.13.

a To shaue thine head and thy beard.

b To wit, of that citie which he had pourtrayed vpon the bricke, Chap. 4.1. By the fire and pestilence he meaneth the famine, wherewith one part perished, during the siege of Nebuchadnezzar. By the sword those that were slaine when Zedekiah fled, and those that were caried away captiue. And by the scattering into the winde those that fled into Egypt and into other parts after the citie was taken.

c Meaning, that a very few should be left, which the Lord would preserue among al these sorowes, but not without troubles, and triall.

d Out of that fire which thou kindlest shall a fire come, which shall signifie the destruction of Israel.

e By worde and fayre intoo idolatrie and superstitions. f Because your idoles are in greater nomber, and your superstitions moe then among the professed idolaters, reade Isa. 65.11: or he condemneth their ingratitude in respect of his benefites.

ding

ding to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus saith ꝑ Lord God, Beholde, I, euen I [come] against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, [euen] in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did [before,] neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the middes of thee, the fathers * shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes.

Leuit.26.29. deut.28.53. 2.king.6.29. lament.4.10. baruch.2.3.

11 Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lorde God, Surely because thou hast defiled my Sanctuarie with all thy filthines, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare [thee,] neither will I haue any pitie.

12 The thirde part of thee shall dye with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the middes of thee: and [another] third part shall fall by the sworde round about thee: and I will scatter the [last] third part into all windes, and I will drawe out a sworde after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be s comforted: and they shall knowe, that I the Lorde haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

g That is, I will not be pacified, till I be reuenged. Isa.1.24.

14 Moreouer, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, [and] in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproche and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger ‖ in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lorde haue spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the euill h arrowes of famine, which shalbe for [their] destruction, [and] which I will send to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

‖ Or, dangerous.

h Which were the grashoppers, mildew, and what soeuer were occasions of famine. Chap.14.13.

17 * So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beasts, ‖ they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence ‖ blood shal passe thorow thee, and I will bring the sworde vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

The Lorde threweth that Jerusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatrie.

8 He prophecieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

AGaine the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face towards ꝑ * mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against them, Chap.36.1.

3 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the a mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers and to the valleys, Beholde, I, [euen] I will bring a sworde vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

a He speaketh to all the places where the Israelites accustomed to commit their idolatries, threatning them destruction.

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the b sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles.

b Read 2.kin. 23.11.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their c idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

c In contempt of their power & force, which shall neither be able to deliuer you nor themselues, 2.King.23.20.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the hie places shall be layd waste, to that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall be broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your workes shall be abolished.

7 And the slaine shall fall in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lorde.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, d that you may haue [some] that shall escape the sworde among ꝑ nations, when you shalbe scattered through the countreys.

d He threweth that in all dangers God will preserue a few, which shall be as the seede of his Church and call vpon his Name.

9 And they that escape of you, shal remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they e shall be displeased in themselues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations.

e They shalbe ashamed to see that their hope in idoles was but vaine, and so shall repent.

10 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, [and] that I haue not sayd in vaine, that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, f Smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

f By these signes hee would that the Prophet should signifie the great destruction to come.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the swoorde, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then [g] ye shall knowe that I am the Lord, when their slaine men shalbe among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the tops of the mountaines, & vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, [which is] the place where they did offer sweete sauour to all their idoles.

14 So will I [*] stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste, and desolate [h] from the wildernesse vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

MOreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end [is] come vnto the land of Israel: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Nowe [is] the end [come] vpon thee, and I will sende my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all [a] thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shall be in the middes of thee, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lorde God, ‖ Behold, one euill, [euen one] euill is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it [b] watched for thee: beholde, it is come.

7 The [c] morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in [d] land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the [d] sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Nowe I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare [thee,] neither will I haue pitie, [but] I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the [e] rod flourisheth: [f] pride hath budded.

11 [g] Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them [shall remaine,] nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be [h] lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the byer [i] reioyce, nor let him that selleth, [k] mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shall not [i] returne to that which is solde, although they were yet aliue: for the [m] vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, [and] they returned not, [n] neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 [o] They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battel: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The swoorde [is] without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the fielde, shall dye with the swoorde, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee awaye from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doues of the valleys: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 [*] All hands shall be weake, and all knees shall fall away [as] water.

18 [*] They shall also gird them selues with sackecloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame [shalbe] vpon all faces, and baldnes vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their golde shall be [cast] farre off: their [*] siluer and their golde can not deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lorde: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for [this] ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beautie of his [p] ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, [and] of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the hands of the [q] strangers to be spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, & they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my [r] secrete place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 ¶ Make a [s] chaine: for the land is g That is, all nations, when you shall see my iudgements.

Chap. 5. 14.
h Some read, more desolate then the wildernesse of Diblath, which was in Syria, and bordered vpon Israel, [e] from the wildernesse, which was South vnto Diblath, which was Moabs meaning, the whole country.
a I will punish thee as thou hast deserued for thine idolatrie.
‖ Or, beholde, euill commeth after euill.
b He sheweth that the iudgements of God euer watch to destroy the sinners, which notwithstanding be delayed til there be no more hope of repentance.
c The beginning of his punishments is already come.
d Which was a voyce of ioy, and mirth.
e The scourge is in a readinesse.
f That is, the proude tyrant Nebuchadnezzar hath gathered his force and is ready.
g This cruel enemie shall be a sharpe scourge for their wickednes.
h Their owne afflictions shall be so great, that they shall haue no regarde to lament for others.
i For the present prosite.
k For he shall lose nothing.
l In [p] yeere of [p] Iubile, meaning, that none should enioy [p] priuiledge of the law, Leuit. 25. 13. for they should all be caried away captiues.
m This vision signified, that all should be caried away.
n None should returne for their Iubile.
o This Israelites made a brag, but their hearts failed them. Isai. 13. 7. Ierem. 6. 24. Esai. 15. 3. Ierem. 48. 37. Reuel. 11. 4. Zephan. 1. 18. Ecclus. 5. 8.
p Meaning, the Sanctuarie.
q That is, of the Babylonians.
r Which signifieth [p] most holy place, wherinto none might enter but the hie Priest.
s Signifying, that they should be bounde and ledde away captiues.

full

full of the [r] iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie.

t That is, of ſinnes that deſerue death.

24 Wherefore I will bring the moſt wicked of the heathen, and they ſhall poſſeſſe their houſes: I will alſo make the pompe of the mightie to ceaſe, and u Which was the Temple, that was deuided into three parces, Pſal. 68,35.

their [u] holy places ſhalbe defiled.

25 When deſtruction commeth, they ſhall ſeeke peace, and ſhall not [haue] it.

26 Calamitie ſhall come vpon calamitie, and rumour ſhall be vpon rumour: then ſhall they ſeeke a viſion of the Prophet: but the Law ſhall periſh from the Prieſt, and counſell from the Ancient.

27 The king ſhall mourne, and the prince ſhall be clothed with deſolation, and the handes of the people in the land ſhall be troubled: I will do vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they ſhall know that I am ỹ Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An appearance of the ſimilitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ieruſalem in the ſpirit. 6 The Lord ſheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the houſe of Iſrael.

a Of the captiuitie of Iecconiah.

b Which conteined part of Auguſt and part of September.

AND in the [a] firſt yeere, in the [b] firſt [moneth, and] in the fift [day] of ỹ moneth, as I ſate in mine houſe, and the Elders of Iudah ſate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

c As Chap. 1, 27.

2 Then I beheld, and loe, [there was] a likenes, as the appearance of [c] fire, to looke to, from his loines downeward, and from his loines vpward, as the appearance of brightneſſe, and like vnto amber.

3 And he ſtretched out the likeneſſe of an hand, [ꝛ] tooke me by an hearie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought me [ǂ] by a Diuine [d] viſion to Ieruſalem, vnto ỹ entrie of the inner [e] gate that lyeth toward the North, where remained the idole of [f] indignation, which prouoked indignation.

ǂ Ebr. in the viſions of God.

d Meaning, that he was thus caried in ſpirit, and not in body.

e Which was the porch or the court where the people aſſembled.

f So called becauſe it prouoked Gods indignation, which was the idole of Baal.

4 And beholde, the glorie of the God of Iſrael [was] there according to the viſion, that I ſaw [g] in the field.

g Read Chap. 3,22.

5 Then ſaide he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes towarde the North, and beholde, Northward, at the gate of the [h] altar, this idole of indignation [was] in the entrie.

h That is, in the court, where the people had made an altar to Baal.

6 Hee ſayde furthermore vnto mee, Sonne of man, ſeeſt thou not what they do? [euen] the great abominations that the houſe of Iſrael committeth here to cauſe [me] to depart from [i] my Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee [and] thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations.

i For God will not be where idoles are.

7 And hee cauſed me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole [was] in the wall.

8 Then ſaide he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge nowe in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, [there was] a doore.

9 And he ſaid vnto me, Go in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they do here.

10 So I went in, and ſawe, and beholde, [there was] euery ſimilitude of creeping things and [k] abominable beaſts and all the idoles of the houſe of Iſrael painted vpon the wall round about.

k Which were forbidden in the lawe, Leui, 11,4.

11 And there ſtoode before them ſeuentie [l] men of the Ancients of the houſe of Iſrael, and in the middes of them ſtoode Iaazaniah, the ſonne of Shaphan, with euery man his cenſour in his hande, [ꝛ] the vapour of the incenſe went vp [like] [m] a cloude.

l Thus they that ſhoulde haue kept all the reſt in the feare, and true ſeruice of God, were the ringleaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God.

m Ie was in ſuch abundãce, n For, beſides their common idolatrie, they had particular ſeruice, which they had in ſecret chambers.

12 Then ſaide he vnto me, Sonne of man, haſt thou ſeene what the Ancients of the houſe of Iſrael [n] do in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they ſay, The Lord ſeeth vs not, the Lord hath forſaken the earth.

13 Againe he ſaid alſo vnto me, Turne thee againe, [and] thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations that they do.

14 And he cauſed me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords houſe, which was toward the North: and beholde there ſate women mourning for [o] Tammuz.

o The Iewes write that this was a Prophet of the idoles, who after his death was once a yere mourned for in the night.

15 Then ſaide he vnto me, Haſt thou ſeene [this,] O ſonne of man? Turne thee againe, [and] thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations then theſe.

16 And he cauſed me to enter into the inner court of ỹ Lords houſe, [ꝛ] beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar [were] about fiue and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the Eaſt, [ꝛ] they worſhipped the ſunne, toward the Eaſt.

17 Then he ſaid vnto me, Haſt thou ſeene [this,] O ſonne of man? Is it a ſmall thing to the houſe of Iudah to commit theſe abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the lande with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke mee: and loe, they haue caſt out [p] ſtinke before their noſes.

p Declaring that the cenſings and ſeruices of the idolaters, are but ſtinkyng and vilenie before God.

Prou.1.28. Isai.46.7. Ierem.11.11. mich.3.4.

18 Therefore will I also execute [my] wrath: mine eye shall not spare [them,] neither will I haue pitie, and *though they crye in mine eares with a loude voyce, [yet] will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shalbe saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the prophet for the destruction of the people.

1 He cryed also with a loude voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of [a] the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

a The time to take vengeance. b Which were Angels in the similitude of men. c Signifying that the Babylonians should come from the North to destroy the citie and the Temple. d To marke them that should be saued. e Which declared that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednesse, and worship him aright.

2 And beholde, fiue [b] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hande to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers [d] ynkhorne by his side, and they went in and stoode beside the brasen altar.

3 And the glorie of the God of Israel was [e] gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was [and stoode] on the ‖ doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his side.

Or, threshold.

4 And the Lorde saide vnto him, Go through the middes of the citie, [euen] through the middes of Ierusalem, and ‖ set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that [f] mourne, and crye for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof.

Or, marke with Thau.

f He sheweth what is the manner of Gods children, whom he marketh to saluation: to wit, to mourne and cry out against the wickednes, which they see committed against Gods glorie.

5 And to the other hee saide, that I might heare, Go ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy vtterly the olde, [and] the yong, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whome [is] the [g] marke, and beginne at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the [h] Ancient men, which were before the house.

g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his small number, which he marketh, as Exod. 12.22. Reuel. 7.3, but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.

h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap.8.11.

7 And he saide vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, [then] go forth: and they went out, and slewe [them] in the citie.

8 Nowe when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, [i] Ah Lorde God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

i This declareth, that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgements executed.

9 Then said he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah [is] exceeding great, so that the land is full [k] of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lorde seeth [vs] not.

k That is, with all kinde of wickednes, Reade Isa.1. 15.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare [them,] neither will I haue pitie, [but] will recompence their wayes vpon their heades.

11 And beholde, the man clothed with linen which had the ynkhorne by his side, made report, and saide, [Lord,] I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke hote burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearsall of the vision of the wheeles, of the beastes, and of the Cherubims.

1 And as I looked, beholde, in the *firmament that was aboue the head of the [a] Cherubims there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as [it were] a saphir stone.

Chap.1.22.

a Which in the first Chap. verse 5. he calleth the foure beastes.

2 And he spake vnto the man clothed with linen, and said, Go in betweene the wheeles, [euen] vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer [b] the citie. And he went in, in my sight.

b This signified, that the citie should be burnt.

3 Nowe the Cherubims stoode vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court.

4 Then the glorie of the Lord [c] went vp from the Cherub, [and stoode] ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloude, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glorie.

c Meaning, that the glorie of God should depart from the Temple.

5 And the [d] sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of [e] Almightie God, when he speaketh.

d Read Chap. 1.24.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, [and] from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stoode beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hande from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, & tooke [thereof, and] put it into the handes of him that was clothed with linen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenes of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure foure wheeles [were] beside the Cherubims, one Wheele by one Cherub, and another Wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles [was] as e Read Chap. 1,16. e the colour of a chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance ([for] they were [all] foure of one facion) was as if one Wheele had bene in [another] wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, [and] they f turned not as they went.
f Until they had executed Gods iudgements.

12 And their whole body, and their ‖rings, and their hands, & their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, [euen] in the same foure wheeles.
‖ Or, rents.

13 And [the Cherub] cryed to these wheeles in mine hearing, [saying,] O wheele.

14 And euery [beast] had foure faces: the first face [was] the face of a Cherub, and the second face [was] the face of a man, and the thirde the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an egle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: * this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar. Chap.1.5.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: & when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the [Cherubims] stood, they stoode: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp [also:] for the g There was one consent betweene the Cherubims & the wheeles. g spirit of the beast [was] in them.

18 h Then the glorie of the Lorde departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stoode vpon the Cherubims.
h Read Chap. 9,3.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also [were] beside them: and [euery one] stood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords house at the East side, and the glorie of the God of Israel [was] vpon them on hie.

20 * This is the i beast that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims. Chap.1.15.
i That is, the whole body of the foure beastes or Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euerie one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans handes [was] vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces [was] the selfe same faces, which I saw by the riuer Chebar, [and] the appearance of the [Cherubims was] the selfe same, [and] they went euery one straight forwarde.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he prophesieth, shewing them how they shalbe dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the Spirit lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lyeth Eastwarde and beholde, at the entrie of the gate [were] fiue and twentie men: among whom I sawe Iaazamiah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then saide he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 [For] they say, a It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this [citie] is the b caldron, and we be the flesh. a Thus the wicked deride the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, and therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures. b We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.

4 Therefore prophecie against them, sonne of man, prophecie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lorde, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye saide, and I knowe that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye murthered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streets therof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, They that ye haue slaine, & haue layed in the middes of it, they are c the flesh, and this [citie] is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the middes of it. c Contrarie to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murthered therein, and so lye as flesh in the caldron.

8 Ye haue feared the sworde, and I will bring a sworde vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the middes therof, and deliuer you into d the handes of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you. d That is, of the Caldeans.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, [and] I will iudge you in the border of e Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord. e That is, in Riblah, reade 2. King. 25, 6.

11 This [citie] shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, [but] I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall knowe that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophecied, Pelatiah the sonne of f Benaiah dyed: then f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, & therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God towarde the rest of the people.

1 The parable of the captiuitie. 18 An other parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe worde of the Lorde also came vnto me, saying,
2 Sone of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a rebellious houle, which haue eyes to see, & see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious houle.
3 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious houle.
4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt goe forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.
5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.
6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon [thy] shoulders, [and] cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee [as] a signe vnto the houle of Israel.
7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, [and] I bare it vpon [my] shoulder in their sight.
8 And in the morning came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,
9 Sonne of man, hath not the houle of Israel, the rebellious houle, said vnto thee, What doest thou?
10 [But] say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This ‖ burden [concerneth] the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the houle of Israel that are among them.
11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall go into bondage [and] captiuitie.
12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall go forth: they shall digge through the wall, to carie out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with [his] eyes.
13 My net also will I spread vpon him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.
14 And

a That is, they receiue not the fruite of that which they see and heare.
‡ Ebr. make thee vessels to go into captiuitie.
b That as thou doest, so shall they do, and therefore in thee they shall see their owne plague and punishment.
c Do not they deride thy doings?
‖ Or, prophecie.
d When the King shall thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17, 20. and 32, 3.

15 Sone of man, thy e brethren, [euen] thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholy [are they] vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue saide, Depart ye farre from the Lord: [for] the lande is giuen vs in possession.
16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreis, yet will I be to them as a litle f Sanctuarie in the countreis where they shall come.
17 Therefore say, Thus saith ỹ Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.
18 And they shall come thither, and they shal take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.
19 *And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the g stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.
21 But vpon them, whose heart is towarde their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heades, saith the Lord God.
22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles beside them, and the glorie of the God of Israel [was] vpon them on hie.
23 And the glorie of the Lorde went vp from the midst of the citie, and stoode vpon the mountaine which is towarde the East side of the citie.
24 Afterwarde the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought mee in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were ledde away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.
25 Then I declared vnto them that were h led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

e They that remained still at Ierusalem thus reproched them that were gone into captiuitie, as though they were cast off and forsaken of God.
f They shalbe yet a litle Church, shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his name, whome he wil preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.
Iere. 32. 39. chap. 36. 26.
g Meaning, the heart whereunto nothing can enter, and regenerate them anewe, so that their heart may be soft, and readie to receiue my graces.
h When Iechonias was led away captiue.

14 And I will ſcatter toward euery winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garilons, and I will drawe out the ſword after them.

15 And they ſhall knowe that I am the Lord, when I ſhall ſcatter them among the nations, and diſperſe them in the countreis.

c Which ſhould heare his name, and ſhould be his Church, reade Chap. 11. 16.

16 But I will leaue a c litle nomber of them from the ſword, from the famine, and from the peſtilence, that they may declare all theſe abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnes,

19 And ſay vnto the people of the land,
Thus ſayth the Lord God of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, [and] of the land of Iſrael, They ſhall eate their bread with carefulnes, and drinke their water with deſolation: for the land ſhalbe de-ſolate from her abundance becauſe of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, ſhall be left voyde, and the land ſhall be deſolate, and ye ſhall knowe that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came
vnto me, ſaying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that pro-uerbe that you haue in the land of Iſrael, ſaying, The daies d are prolonged and all viſions ‖ faile?

d Becauſe they did not immediatly ſee the prophecies accompliſhed, they contemned them as though they ſhould neuer be fulfilled. ‖ Or, take none effect.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus ſayth the Lorde God, I will make this pro-uerbe to ceaſe, and they ſhall no more vſe it as a prouerbe in Iſrael: but ſay vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euery viſion.

24 For no viſion ſhalbe any more in vaine, neither [ſhall there be] any flattering diuination within the houſe of Iſrael.

25 For I am the Lord: I will ſpeake,
[and] that thing that I ſhall ſpeake, ſhal come to paſſe: it ſhall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious houſe, will I ſay the thing, and will perfourme it, ſayth the Lord God.

e That is, it ſhall not come to paſſe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuſe Gods patience and benignitie.

26 Againe the word of the Lord came
vnto me, ſaying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the houſe of Iſrael ſay, The viſion that he ſeeth, is for e many dayes [to come,] and hee prophecieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord God, All my words ſhal no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue ſpoken, ſhalbe done, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The woyde of the Lord againſt falſe prophets, which teache the people the counſels of their owne hearts.

AND the woyde of the Lorde
came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie againſt the Prophets of
* Iſrael, that prophecie, and ſay thou Chap. 14. 9. vnto them, that prophecie out of their a owne hearts, Heare the woyde of the Lord.

a After their owne fantaſie, and not as hauing the reuelation of the Lord, Jerr. 23. 16.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Woo vnto the foolish Prophets that followe their owne ſpirit, and haue ſeene nothing.

4 O Iſrael, thy Prophets are like the foxes b in the waſte places.

b Watching to deſtroy the vineyard.

5 c Ye haue not riſen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for the houſe of Iſrael, to ſtand in ‖ the batte in the day of the Lord.

c He ſpeaketh to the gouernours and true miniſters that ſhoulde haue reſiſted them.

6 They haue ſeene vanitie, and lying diuination, ſaying, The Lorde ſaith it, and the Lorde hath not ſent them: and they haue made [others] to hope that they would confirme the word [of their prophecie.]

d He promiſed peace to this people & now ye ſee their deſtruction, ſo that it is manifeſt, that ye are falſe prophets.

7 Haue ye not ſeene a vaine viſion?
and haue ye not ſpoken a lying diuinati-on? d ye ſay, The Lord ſayeth it, albeit I haue not ſpoken.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Iſraelites are written.

8 Therefore thus ſaith ‖ the Lord God, Becauſe ye haue ſpoken vanitie e haue ſeene lyes, therefore beholde, I am a-gainſt you, ſaith the Lord God,

f Reade Jerr. 6. 14.

9 And mine hand ſhalbe vpon ‖ the Prophets that ſee vanitie, and diuine lyes:
they ſhall not be in the aſſemblie of my people, neither ſhall they be written in the f writing of the houſe of Iſrael, neither ſhall they enter into the land of Iſ-rael: and ye ſhall knowe that I am the Lord God.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophecied ‖ deſtruction of the ſinne to bring the people to repentance, the falſe prophets ſpake the contrary and flattered them in their vanities, ſo that what one falſe prophet ſaide, (which is here called the building of the wall) an other falſe prophet would affirme, though he had neither occaſion nor good ground to beare him,

10 And therefore, becauſe they haue deceiued my people, ſaying, g Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a h wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered [morter,] h Or, ſtone.

11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered [morter,] that it ſhall fall:
[for] there ſhall come a great ſhowre, and I will ſend haileſtones, [which] ſhal cauſe it to fall, and a ſtormie winde ſhall breake it.

12 Lo,

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said vnto you, where is the dawbing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith ꝑ Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake foorth in my wrath, and a great shower shall be in mine anger, and hailestones in [mine] indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered [morter,] and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation therof shalbe discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the middes thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, & vpon them that haue daubed it with [h] vntempered [morter,] and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 [To wit,] the Prophets of Israel, which prophecie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophecie out of their owne heart: and prophecie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the [women] that sowe pillowes vnder all armeholes, and make bailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt ꝑ soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of [k] barly, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not dye, and [l] to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare [your] lyes?

20 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will [haue to do] with your pillowes, wherewith ye hunt the [m] soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules go, [euen] the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flye.

21 Your bailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with [your] lyes ye haue made ꝑ heart of ꝑ [n] righteous sad, whō I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life,

23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.

2 And the word of ꝑ Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Euery man of the house of Israel that letteth vp his idoles in his heart, & putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to ꝑ multitude [d] of his idoles:

5 That [e] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and letteth by his idoles in his heart, & putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him ‖ for my selfe,

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and a prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be [f] deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I ꝑ Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shalbe euen as the punishment of him that h Whereby is ment whatsoeuer man of him selfe setteth forth vnder the authoritie of Gods worde.

i These superstitious women for lucre sold prophecie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon and kercheifes to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will ye make my worde to serue your bellyes?

l These sorcerers made the people beleeue that they could preserue life or destroy it, and that it shoulde come to euery one accoyding as they prophecied.

m That is, to cause them to perish, and that they should depart from the body.

n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing lesse, then their admonitions, and also howe by one meanes or other, God doeth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which lead the in blindnesse, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, read Ierem. 10. 15.

c To inquire of things which ꝑ Lord hath appointed to come to passe.

d As his abomination hath deserued: that is, he shall be left with lyes according as he delited therein, 2. Thes. 2. 10.

e That is, conuince them by their owne conscience.

f The Prophet declareth that God for many ingratitude rayseth vp false Prophets to seduce them that delight in lyes rather then in the truetly of God, and thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1. King. 22. 20, 22. and destroyeth alwel those Prophets as that people.

that asketh,

g Thus Gods iudgements against ỹ wicked, are admonitions to the godly to cleaue vnto the Lord, and not to defile themselues with like abominations.

11 That the house of g Israel may go no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, & I may be their God, saith ỹ Lord God.

12 The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, When the land sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, h and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast footh of it.

h Read Chap. 4.16. & 5.17. Iſai 3.1.

14 Though these three men i Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they shoulde deliuer [but] their owne soules by their k righteousnes, saith the Lord God.

i Though Noah and Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captiuitie with Ezekiel) and so these three together shoulde pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare the, read Jer. 15.1.

k Meaning, that a very few (which he calleth the remnant, verse 22.) shuld escape these plagues, whō God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousnes is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his owne sake.

15 If I bring noysome beastes into the land and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, ỹ no man may passe through, because of beasts,

16 [Though] these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shall be deliuered, but the land shalbe waste.

17 Or [if] I bring a worde vpon this land, & say, Sword, go through ỹ land, so that I destroy man & beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, saith the Lorde God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselues.

19 Or [if] I send a pestilence into this land, & powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast,

20 And [though] Noah, Daniel and Iob [were in] ỹ middes of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall [but] deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnes.

Chap. 5.17.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, How much more when I send my * foure sore iudgements vpō Jerusalem, [euen] the sword, and famine, and ỹ noysome beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it:

l Read Chap. 5.3.

22 Yet beholde, therein shalbe left a remnant of them that shalbe caried away [both] sonnes and daughters: beholde, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shalbe comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Jerusalem, [euen] concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way and their enterprises: and ye shal know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Jerusalem shalbe burnt.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, What commeth of the vine tree aboue all [other] trees? and of the vine brāch, which is amōg ỹ trees of ỹ forest?

a Which hath more footh no fruite, no more then the other trees of the forest doe: meaning, that if Jerusalem, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring forth fruite, it should be vtterly destroyed.

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any worke? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Beholde, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meete for [any] worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: howe much lesse shal it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, As the vine tree, [that is,] among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

7 And I will set my face against thē: they shall go out from [one] b fire, and [another] fire shall consume them: and ye shal know, that I am the Lord, whē I set my face against them.

b Though the escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

8 And [when] I make ỹ land waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of God towarde Jerusalem. 15 Their vnkindnes. 46 He inflicteth the wickednes of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Jerusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

AGAINE, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Jerusalem to know her abominations, a Thou boastest to be of the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followest ỹ abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children do the maners of their fathers, Iſai 1.4. and 57.3.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Jerusalem, Thine habitation and thy kinred is of the land a of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

b Either I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

4 And in thy natiuitie whē thou wast b borne, thy naual was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften [thee:] thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in cloutes.

5 None

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open fielde to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine [c] owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: [thy] breasts are factioned, thine heare is growne, where as thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time [was as] the time of loue, & I spred my skirts ouer thee, & couered [d] thy filthines: yea, I ware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with [e] thee, sayeth the Lorde God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with [f] water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I [g] anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broydred worke, & shod thee with badgers skinne: and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou decked with gold and siluer, and thy rayment was of fine linen, and silke, and broydred worke: thou diddest eate fine floure, and honie and oile, & thou wast very beautiful, and thou didest grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my [i] beautie which I had set vpon thee, sayeth the Lord God.

15 Nowe thou didest [k] trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renoume, and hast powred out [l] thy fornications on euery one that passed by, [thy desire] was to him.

16 And thou didest take thy garments, and deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, [m] and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire ieWels [made] of my golde and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and [n] madest to thy selfe images of men, and didest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broydred garmẽts, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also, which I gaue thee, [as] fine floure, oyle, and honie, [wherewith] I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, sayth the Lord God.

20 Moreouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to [o] be deuoured: is [this] thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, & deliuered them to cause them to passe [through fire] for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, [and] wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, & hast made thee an hie place in euery streete.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery ‖ corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the [p] Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, [euen] to the ‖ daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with [q] Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played [r] harlot with them, & yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 Howe weake is thine heart, sayth the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, [euen] the worke of a ‖ presumptuous whorish woman:

31 In

c Being thus in thy filthines and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee and gaue thee life: whereby is ment that before God waith his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthines & death.

d These words as blood, pollution, nakednesse, and filthines, are often times repeted, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to confesse what they were before God reteined them to mercie, fauoured them and couered their shame.

e That thou shouldest be a chaste wife vnto me, and that I shoulde maintaine thee, and endue thee with all graces.

f I washed away thy sinnes.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

h Hereby he sheweth how he fauted his Church, enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

i He declareth wherein the dignitie of Ierusalem stood: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beautie and excellencie.

k In abusing my giftes, and in putting thy confidence in thine owne wisdome and dignitie, which were the occasions of thine idolatrie.

l There was none idolatrie so vile, wherewith thou didest not pollute thy selfe.

m This declareth howe the idolaters put their chiefe delight in those things which please the eyes, and outward senses.

n Thou hast conuerted my besselss and instruments, which I gaue thee to serue me with, to the vse of thine idoles.

o Meaning, by fire, reade Leuit. 18.21. 2.king. 23.10.

‖Or, head.

p He noteth the great impietie of this people who strift falling from God to seeke helpe at strange nations, did also at length embrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amitie more strong.

‖Or, Cities.

‖Or, that will beare rule.

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery Way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not beene as an harlot q that despiseth a reward, q Speaning, that some harlots contemne small rewards, but no louers giue a reward to Israel, but they giue to al others: signifying, that the idolaters bestow all their substãce, which they receiue of God for his glorie, to serue their vile abominations.

32 But [as] a wife that playeth the harlot, [& taketh others for her husbãd:

33 They giue giftes to all [other] whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto al thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from [other] women in thy fornications, neither [the like] fornication [shall be] after thee: for in that thou giuest a rewarde, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrarie.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the Word of the Lord.

36 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Because thy ‖ shame was powred out, & thy filthines discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations and by the blood of thy children, which thou didest offer vnto them,

‖ Or, nether parces.

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all r thy louers, with whome thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthines vnto them that they may see all thy filthines.

r Egyptians, Assyrians, and Caldeans, whom thou cookest to be thy louers, shall come and destroy thee, Chap. 23.9.

38 And I will iudge thee [after] the maner of them that are s harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

s I will iudge thee to death, as the aduouterers and murtherers.

39 I wil also giue thee into their hãds, and they shall destroy thine hie place, & shal breake downe thine hie places: they shall strippe thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire Iewels, & leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a companie against thee, and they shal stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swordes.

41 And they t shal burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

2. King. 25.9.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my u ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angrie.

t I will bitterly destroy thee, and so my ielousie shall cease.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked mee with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue x brought thy way vpon thine head, sayeth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of al thine abominations.

44 Behold, al that vse prouerbs, shal vse [this] prouerbe against thee, saying, As [is the mother, y so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husbande and her children, and thou art the sister of thy z sisters, which forsooke their husbãds and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her a daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and b thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, [is] Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou c not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very litle [thing,] thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, sayeth the Lorde God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, [neither] shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, d Pride, fulnesse of breade, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

50 But they were hautie, & committed abomination before me: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither e hath Samaria cõmitted halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, & hast f iustified thy sisters in al thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therfore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast cõmitted more abominable then they [which] are more righteous then thou art: be thou therfore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therfore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them,

54 That thou maist beare thine owne shame, and maist bee confounded in all u I haue punished thy faults, but thou wouldst not repent.

x As were the Canaanites, and the Hittites & others your predecessors, so are you their successors.

y That is, of Samaria and Sodom.

z That is, her cities.

a Eb. thy sister younger then] thou.

b Vpon the allegeth these foure vices, pride, excesse, idlenes, & contempt of the poore, as foure principall causes of such abomination, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Gen. 19.24.

c Which twise slipped the calues in Beth-el and Dan.

d Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee, Sodom and Samaria were iust.

e This bee speaketh in comparison, saying, that he would restore Ierusalem, when Sodom should be restored, that is, neuer: and this is ment of the greatest part of the Iewes, that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom & her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, & whē thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom * was not heard of [h] by thy repoꝛt in the day of thy pꝛide, 57 Before thy wickednes was [i] discouered, as in that same time of [j] repꝛoch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims rosid about [k] her which despise thee on all sides.

58 Thou hast borne [therefore] thy wickednes and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

59 For thus saith the Lorde God, I might eue deale with thee, as thou hast done: When thou didst despise the [l] othe, in breaking the couenant.

60 Neuertheles, I will [m] remember my couenant [made] with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant.

61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and bee ashamed, when thou shalt receiue [n] thy sisters, both thy elder and thy yonger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not [o] by thy couenant.

62 And I will establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord, 63 That thou maist remember, and be [p] ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified towarde thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

f In that thou hast shewed thy selfe wyse the they, and yet thoughtest to escape punishment.

g Meaning, that it should neuer came to passe.

h Eb. was not a rumour in thy mouth.

i Thou wouldest not call her punishment to mind when thou wast aloft, to learne by her example to feare my iudgements.

j That is, till thou wast brought vnder by [f] Syrians & Philistims, 2. Chro. 28. 19 k Which ioyned with the Syrians, or compelled about Jerusalem.

l When thou hakest the couenant, which was made betweene thee and me, as verse 8, m That is, of mercie & loue I will pitie thee, and so stand to my couenant, though thou hast deserued the contrarie.

n Whereby he shewerh that among the most wicked he had euer some seed of his Church which he would cause to fructifie in due time: and here he declareth how he will call the Gentiles.

o But of my free mercy.

p This declareth what fruites Gods mercies worke in his, to wit, sorowe and repentance for their former life.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Egles.

AND the Worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, put forth a parable & speake a pꝛouerb vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great [a] egle with great wings, [&] long wings, [and] full of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanō, and tooke the hiest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twigge, [&] caried it into the land [b] of marchants, [and] set it in a citie of marchants.

5 He tooke also of the [c] seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it [as] a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, and was [d] like a spreading vine of [e] lowe stature, whose branches turned toward it, & the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also [f] another great egle with great wings and many fethers, & beholde, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that he might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great [g] waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Shal it pꝛosper? shall [h] he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to dꝛie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but shall it pꝛosper? shall it not be dꝛied vp, and wither? [i] when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grewe.

11 Moreouer, the Worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Knowe yee not, What these thinges [meane?] tell them, Beholde, the King of Babel is come to Jerusalem, & hath taken [k] the King thereof, and the pꝛinces thereof, and ledde them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken [one] of the Kings seede, & made a couenant with him, and hath taken [l] an othe of him: he hath also taken the pꝛinces of the land, 14 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, [but] keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But hee rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him hoꝛses, and much people: shall he pꝛosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him king, whose othe he despised, and whose couenant [made] with him, he brake.

17 Neither a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar, who hath great power, riches, & many countreys vnder him, shall come to Jerusalem and take away Jeconiah the king, as verse. 12.

b Meaning, to Babylon.

c That is, Zedekiah, who was of [f] kings blood, and was left at Jerusalem, and made king in stede of Jeconiah, 2. King. 24. 17 Jere. 37. 1.

d This was Zedekiahs kingdome.

e That it might not haue power to rebel against Babylon, as verse. 14.

f Meaning, the King of Egypt, of whō Zedekiah fought succour against Nebuchad-nezzar.

g That i thought to be moistened by the waters of Nilus.

h Shall not Nebuchad-nezzar destroy it?

i By this dry wind, he meaneth the Babylonians.

k That is, Jeconiah, 2. King. 24. 15.

l For his subiection and obedience,

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with [his] mightie hoste, & great multitude of people, mainteine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mountes, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the othe, and broken the couenant (yet lo, he had giuen his hand) because he hath done al these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therfore, thus saith ꝑ Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine othe ꝑ hee hath despiled, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 *And I will spread my net vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasse ꝑ he hath cõmitted against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shalbe scattered toward al the winds: and ye shal know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take of the top of this hie reder, and will set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.

23 [Euen] in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: & it shall bring forth boughes and beare fruit, and be an excellent reder, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euery ꝑ foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And al the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I haue dried vp ꝑ greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

m Because he broke ꝑ name of God in vaine, & brake his othe which he had confirmed by giuing his hand, therefore ꝑ prophet declareth that God would not suffer such periurie and infidelitie to escape punishment. Chap. 12.13. and 32.3.

n This promise is made to the Church which shall be as a smal remnant, and as the top of a tree.

o I will reuiue it and dresse it. ꝑ Both the Iewes & Gentiles shalbe gathered into it.

q All ꝑ world shall knowe that I haue plucked downe the proude enemies, & set vp my Church which was low and cõtemned.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 He sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THe worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the lande of Israel, saying, *The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lorde God, ye shal vse this prouerb no more in Israel.

4 Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man bee iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right,

6 [And] hath not eaten b vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eies to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath *defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath *lien with a *menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, [but] hath restored the pledge to his dettour: he that hath spoyled none by violence, *[but hath] giuē his bread to the hungry, & hath couered ꝑ naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen forth vpon *vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, [but] hath withdrawen his hande from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, & hath kept my iudgements to deale truly, he is iust, he shall surely liue, sayth the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, ꝑ is [a] thiefe, [or] a shedder of blood, if he do any one of these things,

11 Though he do not all these things, but either hath eaten vpō the mountains, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 [Or] hath oppressed the poore and needie, [or] hath spoyled by violence, [or] hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eies vnto the idols, [or] hath committed abomination,

13 [Or] hath giuen forth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shal not liue: seeing he hath done al these abominations, c hee shall die the death, [and] his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which hee hath done, and feareth, neither doth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpō the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eies to the idols of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholde the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, [but] hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 [Neither] hath withdrawen his hand from the afflicted, nor receyued vsurie nor increase, [but] hath executed my iudgements, [and] hath walked in my statutes, he shal not die in the iniquitie of his father, [but] he shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed & spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, lo, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

a The people murmured at the chastisings of the Lord, and therefore vsed this prouerbe, meaning that their fathers had sinned, and their children were punished for their transgressions, read Ierem. 31.29.

b If he hath not eaten of the flesh that hath bene offered vp to idoles, to honor them therby. Leui. 18. 20.

*Hebr. come neere. Leuit. 20. 18.

Isa. 58. 7. mat. 25. 35.

Exod. 22. 25. leuit. 25. 37. deut. 23. 19. psal. 15. 5.

Or, a cruell man.

c He sheweth how the sonne is punished for his fathers fault: that is, If he be witched as his father was, and doth not repent, he shal be punished as his father was, or els not.

19 Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father?
because the sonne hath executed iudge-ment and iustice, [and] hath kept all my statutes, & done them, he shal surely liue.

Deut.24.16. 2.king.14.6. 2.chro.25.4.

20 *The same soule that sinneth, shal die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, [but] the righteousnes of the righteous shall bee vpon him, and the wickednes of the wi-ked shalbe vpon himselfe.

d He ioyneth the obseruation of the commandements with repentance: for none can repent in deede except he labour to keepe the law. ‖ Or, not laid to his charge.

21 But if the wicked will returne frō all his sinnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my d statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, [and] shall not die.

e That is, in the fruites of his faith, which declare that God doth accept him.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be [mentioned] vnto him, [but] in his e righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue.

f He speaketh this to commend Gods mercy to poore sinners, who rather is readie to pardon, then to punish as his long suffering declareth, Chap. 33.11. Albeit God in his eternal counsell appointed the death & damnation of the reprobate, yet the end of his counsell was not their death onely, but chiefly his own glorie. And also because he doth not approue sinne, therefore it is here layd that he would haue them to turne away from it that they might liue. ‖ Or, rather that he may returne from his waies and liue.

23 f Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God: ‖ [or] shall he not liue, if he returne from his waies?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, [and] do according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his g righteousnes that he hath done, shall not bee mentioned: [but] in his transgression y he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

g That is, the iust reward of his righteousnes.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lorde is not h equall: heare nowe, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? [or] are not your wayes vnequal?

h That is, Iustice.

26 [For] when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, he shal euen die for the same, he shal [euen] die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Againe when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, hee shal saue his soule aliue.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely liue [and] shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel are not my wayes equal? [or] are not your wayes vnequal?

i That is, the false opinion that the hypocrites haue of their righteousnesse.

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne [therefore] and cause [others] to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shal not be your destruction.

k He sheweth that man cannot forsake his wickednes till his heart be changed, which is onely the worke of God.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed and make i you a newe heart and a newe spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dyeth, sayeth the Lord God: cause therefore [one another] to returne, and liue ye.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captiuitie of the Kings of Iudah signified by the lions whelps, & by the lion. 10 The prosperitie of the city of Ierusalem that is past, and the miserie thereof that is present.

THou also, take vp a lamentation for the a princes of Israel, a That is, Iehoahaz & Iehoiakim Iosiahs sonnes, who for their pride and crueltie are compared vnto lions.

2 And say, Wherefore lay thy b mother [as] a lyoneesse among the lyons: she nourished her yong ones among the lyons whelpes,

b To wit, Iehoiahz mother, or Ierusalem.

3 And shee brought vp one of her whelpes [and] it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the pray, [and] it deuou-red men.

4 The c nations also heard of him, [and] he was taken in their nets, & they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

c By Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, 2.King. 23.33

5 Nowe when she sawe, that she had wayted and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her d whelpes, and made him a lyon.

d Which was Iehoiakim.

6 Which went among the lions, [and] became a lyon, and learned to catch the pray, [and] he deuoured e men.

e He speaketh of the Prophets, and them that feared God, and rauished their wiues.

7 And he knewe their widowes, & he destroyed their cities, and the lande was wasted, and all that was therein by the noyse of his roaring.

8 Then the f nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and layde their nettes for him: so he was taken in their pit.

f Nebuchadnezzar with his great armie which was gathered of diuers nations.

9 And they put him in prison [and] in chaines and brought him to the King of Babel, [and] they put him in holds, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

g He speaketh this in the reproch of this wicked king, in whose blood, that is, in the race of his predecessors Ierusalem should haue bene blessed according to Gods promise, and flourished as a fruitfull vine.

10 Thy g mother [is] like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought foorth fruite and branches by the abundant waters,

11 And shee had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted amōg the branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked vp in wrath:
she was cast downe to the ground, and
the

the [b] East Winde dried vp her fruit: [her braunches] were broken, and withered: [as for] the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

13 And now she is planted in the wildernes in a drie and thirstie ground.

14. And fire is gone out [i] of a rod of her braunches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod [to be] a scepter to rule: this is a lamētation and shalbe for a lamentation.

h Meaning, that the Caldeans should destroy them as the East winde doth the fruit of the vine.

i Destruction is come by Zedekiah who was the occasion of this rebellion.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he will answere them when they pray, because of their vnkindnes. 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the forest that should be burne, is signified the burning of Jerusalem.

a Of the captiuitie of Jeconiah.

AND in the [a] seuenth yere, in the fift [moneth,] the tenth day [of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lorde, and sate before me.

2 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, & say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge [them?] cause [b] them to vnderstande the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, In the day when I chose Israel, and lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen vnto them in the lande of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, & said, I am the Lorde your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the lād of Egypt, into a lande that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke & hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eies, [c] and defile not your selues with the idols of Egypt: [for] I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not heare mee: [for] none cast away the abominations of their eies, neither did they forsake the idols of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpō them, [and] to accomplish my wrath against them in the middes of the land of Egypt.

b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.

c I sware that I would be their God. Which maner of othe was obserued from all antiquitie, where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of trueth and the defender therof, and also the iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they conceiued any thing which they knew to be trueth.

d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, Exod. 23.13. Psal. 16.4.

e Which thing declareth the wickednes of mans heart which iudge Gods seruice by their eies & outward sences.

9 But I had respect to my [f] Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the lande of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the lād of Egypt, and brought thē into the Wildernesse.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, *which if a man do, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue them also my *Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me & them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in ỹ wildernes: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, & my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignatiō vpō them *in the wildernes to consume them,

14. But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the [g] heathen in whose sight I brought thē out.

15 Yet neuertheles, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernes that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all landes, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my [h] Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheless, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wildernes.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgemēts and do them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene mee & you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do thē, which if a man do, he shall liue in thē, [but] they polluted my Sabbaths:

f God had cure this respect to his glorie, that he would not haue his name euil spoken off amōg the Gētiles for the punishment that his people deserued, in confidence wherof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32.12. Nom. 14.13. Leuit. 18.5. rom. 10.5. gal. 3.12. Exod. 20.8. and 31.13. deut. 5.12.

Nom. 14.28. 29. & 26.65.

g Who might thereby take an occasiō to blaspheme my name and to accuse me of lacke of ability, or els that I had sought a meanes to destroy thē more cōmodiously.

h That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gaue them selues to serue me according to their own fantasies, i Whereby the holy ghost cōfuteth thē that say that they will followe ỹ religiō and example of their fathers, & not measure their doings by Gods worde, whether they be approuable thereby or no.

then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, [&] to accomplish my wrath against thē in the wildernes.

22 Neuertheles I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name that it should not be polluted before ỹ heathē, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after [k] their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I [l] gaue them also statutes that were not good, & iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their own [m] gifts in that they caused to passe [by the fire] al that [first] openeth ỹ wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had [before] grieuously transgressed against me.

28 [n] For When I had brought them into the lande, for the which I lifted vp mine hande to giue it to them, then they saw euery hie hil, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offring of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offrings.

29 Then I sayd vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof was called [o] Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted [p] after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For When you offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with al your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, [p] I will not answere you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that be done that commeth vnto your mind: for ye say, We will bee as the heathen, and as the families of the countreis, and serue wood, and [q] stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lorde God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hād, and with a stretched out arme, & in [my] wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreis, wherein yee are scattered, with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme and in [my] wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the wildernes of the people, and there will I pleade with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernes of the lande of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bonde of the couenant.

38 And I will [r] chuse out from amōg you the rebelles, and them that transgresse against me: I will bring them out of the lande where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, & you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, [s] Go you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that yee will not obey me, & pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, [euen] in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serue mee: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreis, wherin ye haue bene scattered, that I may bee sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shal know, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the lande of Israel, into the lande, for the which I lifted vp mine hande to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remēber your wayes, and al your workes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, & ye [u] shall iudge your selues worthie to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shal know, ỹ I am ỹ Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my names sake, [&] not after your wicked wayes, k Meaning, that they let their belief vpon them.

l Because they would not obey my lawes, I gaue them vp to themselues, that they should obey their owne fantasies, as verf. 39. Rom. 1. 21, 24.

m I condemned those things, & counted them as abominable which they thought had bene excellent, and to haue declared most zeale, Luke 16 15. for that which God required as most excellent, that graue they to their idoles.

n Not onely in the wildernes, when I brought them out of Egypt, but since I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompe mans heart is to idolatrie, seeing that by no admonitions he can be drawen backe.

o Which signifieth an hie place, declaring that they vanted themselues of their idolatrie, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had cōmanded the expresselie, ỹ they should haue no altar lifted vp on hie places, Deut. 20, 26.

ỹ Ebr. in the way.

p He sheweth that the ingratitude of the people deserueth, that God should cut them off, and that they should not haue the comfort of his worde.

q He declareth that man of nature is wholy enemy vnto God and to his own saluation, and therefore God calleth him to ỹ right way, partly by chastising, but chiefly by his mercie in forgiuing his rebellion, & wickednes.

r I will bring you among strange nations as into a wilderne, and there will visite you, and so call you to repentance, and then bring the godly home againe, Zac. 6. 5. 9.

s Signifying, that he wil not burne ỹ corne with the chaffe, but chuse out the wicked to punish them when he will spare his.

t This is spoken to the hypocrites.

u Your owne consciences shal conuict you after that you haue felt my mercies.

wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop [thy word] towarde the South, and prophesie toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, and the dry wood: the continual flame shal not be quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shalbe burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shall see, that I the Lorde haue kindled it, [and] it shall not be quenched. Then sayde I, Ah Lorde God, they say of me, Doth not he speake parables?

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threatneth the sword, and destruction to Ierusalē. 25 He theweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 Hee is commanded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THe worde of the Lorde came to me againe, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop [thy word] toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I [come] against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee [both] the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off frō thee [both] the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sworde goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North,

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord haue drawne my sword out of his sheath, [and] it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, [as] in the paine of [thy] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they saye vnto thee, wherefore mournest thou? then answere, because of the bruit: for it commeth, and euery heart shal melt, and all hands shal be weake, and all mindes shal faint, and all knees shall fall away [as] water: behold, it commeth, and shalbe done, saith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, and saye, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sworde, a sworde both sharpe, and fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, [and] it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shal we reioyce? [for] it contemneth the rodde of my sonne, [as] all [other] trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is fourbished, that he may giue it into the hande of the slayer.

12 Crie, and howle, sonne of man: for this shal come to my people, [and] it shal come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrours of the sworde shalbe vpon my people: smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For [it is] a trial, and what shall this be, if [the sword] cōtemne euen the rod? It shalbe [no more,] saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and smite hand to hand, and let the sworde be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, [returne] the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make [their] heart to faint, and to multiplie [their] ruines. Ah it is made bright, [and] it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: goe to the right hand, [or] get thy selfe to the left hande, whither soeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine handes together, and will cause my wrath to reast. I the Lorde haue said it.

18 ¶ The worde of the Lorde came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sworde of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one lande, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the sworde may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong [citie.]

21 And the king of Babel stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two waies, consulting by diuination, [and] made his arrowes bright: he consulted with idoles, [and] looked in the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalē to appoint captaines, to open [their] mouth in the slaughter, to lift vp [their] voyce with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, [and] to builde a fortresse.

x For Iudah stoode South from Babylon.

y Both strong and weake in Ierusalem.

z The people laide, that the prophet spake darkely: therefore he desireth the Lorde to giue them a plaine declaration hereof.

a Speake sensibly, that all may vnderstande.

b That is, such which seeme to haue an outward shewe of righteousnesse, by obseruation of the ceremonies of the lawe.

c Meaning, though all the land.

d As though thou were in extreme anguish.

e Because of the great noyse of the armie of the Caldeans.

f And so cause a feare.

g Meaning, the scepter: the wing, that it will not spare the King, who should be as the sonne of God, and in his place.

h That is, the rest of the people.

i To wit, vnto the armie of the Caldeans.

k Reade Iere. 37.19.

l Ezekiel moued with compassion, thus complaineth, fearing the destruction of the kingdome, which God had confirmed to Dauid and his posteritie by promes: which promes God performed, although here it seemed to mans eye that it should vtterly perish.

m That is, encourage the sworde.

n Meaning, for thy selfe: for thou shalt see Gods plague on all parts of this countrey.

o This was spoke, because that when Nebuchadnezzar came against Iudah, his purpose was also to go against Ammonites but deuiting in the way, which enterprise to vndertake first, he consulted vp his soothsayers, and so went against Iudah.

p That is, to the tribe of Iudah that kept themselues in Ierusalem.

q To know whether he should goe against the Ammonites or them of Ierusalem.

r He vsed coniuring and sorcerie.

23 And it shalbe vnto them [f] as a false diuinatiō in their sight for ỹ othes made vnto them: but hee will call to remembrance [their] iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Because yee haue made your iniquitie to bee remembred, in discouering your rebellion, that in all your woorkes your sinnes might appeare: because, [I say,] that yee are come to remembrance, ye shalbe taken with the hand.

25 And thou [u] prince of Israel polluted, [and] wicked, whose daye is come, when iniquitie [shall haue] an ende, 26 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil take awaye the [x] diademe, & take off the crowne: this shalbe no more the same: I wil exalt the humble, and wil abase him that is hie.

27 I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more vntill he [y] come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou, sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lorde God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawen forth, [and] fourbished to the slaughter, to cōsume, because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see [z] vanitie vnto thee, and prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slayne, whose day is come whē their iniquitie [shall haue] an ende.

30 Shal I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, [euen] in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, [and] skilfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to bee deuoured: thy blood shall be in the middes of the land, [and] thou shalt be no more remēbred: for I the Lord haue spoke it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reproued for cruelties. 23 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and Priests, and of their vnsatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloodie citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie shedderh blood in ỹ midst of it, that her [b] time may come, & maketh idoles [c] against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, & hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which ỹ hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to drawe neere, & art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, & a mocking to all countryes.

5 Those that be neere, & those that be farre frō thee, shall mocke thee, [which art] vile in [d] name [and] sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was [readie] to his power, to shedde blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father & mother: in the midst of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widowe.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, & hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carie tales to shed blood: in thee [are they] that eate vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

10 *In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in [her] floures.

11 And euery one * hath committed abominatiō with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, [euen] his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the encreale, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, & hast forgotten me, saith the Lorde God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue [f] smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast bled, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine handes [g] be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreyes, and will cause thy [h] filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of ỹ heathē, & thou shalt know, that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, ỹ house of Israel is vnto

[f] Because there was a league betweene the Iewes, and the Babylonians, they of Ierusalem shal thinke nothing lesse then that this thing shoulde come to passe.

[t] That is, Nebuchad-nezzar will remember the rebellion of Zedekiah, & so come vpon thē.

[u] Meaning, Zedekiah, who practised with ỹ Egyptians to make himselfe hie, and able to resist the Babylonians.

[x] Some refer this to Ioiachin attire: for Iehoyadeh the Priest went to captiuitie with the king.

[y] That is, vnto the comming of Messiah: for though the Iewes had some signe of gouernement afterward vnder the Persians, Grekes & Romanes, yet this restitution was not till Christs comming, and at length shoulde be accomplished, as was promised, Gen. 49.10.

[z] Thou ỹ the Iewes & Ammonites would not beleeue, ỹ thou, or wit, the sword, shouldst come vpon thē, and saue that the Prophets, which threatned, spake lies, yet thou shalt as surely come as though thou wearest alreadie vpon their neckes.

[a] Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit vnto thee against Ierusalē, that murthereth ỹ Prophets, & them that are good?

[b] That is, the time of her destruction.

[c] To her own vndoing.

[d] Whose very name all men hate.

[e] He meaneth hereby that there was no kinde of wickednes, which was not committed in Ierusalem, and therefore the plagues of God shoulde speedily come vpon her. Leuit. 20.11, 18.

Ierem. 5.8.

[f] In token of my wrath and vengeance.

[g] That is, able to defende thy selfe?

[h] I will thus take away the occasion of thy wickednes.

[i] Thou shalt be no more the inheritance of the Lorde, but forsaken.

unto me as [k] drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, & lead in the middes of the fornace: they are [euen] the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lorde God, Because yee are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I wil gather you in the middes of Jerusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, & yron, and lead, & tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you [there] and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, & blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shalbe melted in the middes thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the middes of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in the middes thereof, and ye shal knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of mã, say vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vncleane, [m] [and] not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 [There is] a cõspiracie of her Prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening ỹ pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches & precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the middes thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene ỹ holy & prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, & haue hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in [n] the middes therof [are] like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, [and] to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her [p] Prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered [morter,] seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, whē the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling & robbing, and haue vexed the poore & the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should [q] make vp the hedge, and stande in the gap before mee for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

31 Therfore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpõ their heads, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Jerusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe worde of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, [p] daughters of one [a] mother.

3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their brasttes pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginitie.

4 And the names of [c] them [were] Aholah, the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus [were] their names. Samaria [is] Aholah, and Jerusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah plaied ỹ harlot [d] when she was mine, and shee was set on fire with her louers, [to wit,] with the Assyrians [her neighbours,]

6 which were clothed with blewe silke, [both] captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, [and] horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, [euen] with all them that were the chosen mẽ of Asshur, and with all on whom she doted, [and] defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left shee her fornications, [learned] of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginitie, & powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherfore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, [euen] into ỹ hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, & slew her with the swoorde, & shee had an [euill] name among women: for [f] they had executed iudgement vpõ her.

11 And whē her sister Aholibah sawe this, she marred her selfe with mordinate loue, more then shee, and with her fornications more then her sister with [her] fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians [her] neighbours, [both] captaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant k Which before was most precious.

l Meaning hereby, that the godly should be tried and the wicked destroyed.

m Thou art like a barren land which the Lord plagueth with drought.

n The false prophets haue conspired together to make their doctrine more probable.

o They haue neglected my seruice. Mich. 3.11. Zephan. 3.3.

p They which should haue reproued them, flattered them in their vices & couered their doings with lies, Chap. 13. 10.

q Which would shew himselfe zealous in my cause by resisting vice, Isa. 59.16. & 63.5. and also pray vnto me to withholde my plagues, Psal. 106.23.

a Meaning, Israel and Judah, which came both out of one familie.

b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria which was the royall citie of Israel: and Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is ment Jerusalē where Gods temple was.

d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters and forsooke God, & put their trust in ỹ Assyrians.

e The holy Ghost vseth these termes which serue to chastise and to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie to be abhorred that men hereby any should abide to beare the name thereof mentioned.

f Spareing the Assyrians.

pleasant yong men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, [and] that they were both after one sort,

14 And that she encreased her fornications: for when the sawe men g painted vpon the wal, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermillion,

15 And girded with girdels vpō their loines, and with died attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, ꝑ land of their nativitie)

16 As one, I say, as shee sawe them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, & disclosed her shame: then mine heart forlooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she encreased her whoredome more, & called to remembrance ꝑ dayes of her youth, wherein shee had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are [as] the members of asses, & whose issue is [like] the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrāce the wickednes of thy youth, whē thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therfore the pappes of thy youth [are thus.]

22 Therfore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I wil bring them against thee on euery side,

23 [To wit,] the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, h Pekod, and Shoah, and Koa, [and] all the Assyrians with them: they were al pleasant yong men, captaines & princes: all they were valiāt and renoumed, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shal come against thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, [which] shall set against thee, buckler & shielde, and helmet round about: and ‡I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their ‖iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shal cut off thy i nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the swoorde: they shall carie away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shalbe deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also stripe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednes to cease from thee and thy fornicatiō out of the lande of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will deliuer thee into the hande of them, whom thou hatest: [euē] into the handes of them from whome thine heart is departed.

29 And they shal handle thee despitefully, & shall take away all thy k labour, and shal leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications l shall bee discouered, both thy wickednes, and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, [and] because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her m cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt bee laughed to scorne & had in derisiō, because it cōtaineth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with n drunkennes and sorowe, [euen] with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out [to the dregs,] & thou shalt breake the sheardes thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes & thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of mā, wilt thou iudge Aholah & Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood [is] in their handes, and with their idoles haue they committed aduiterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe [by the fire] to be their o meat.

38 Moreouer thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie g This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse ꝑ rage of idolaters, & therefore the holy ghost here compareth thē to those which in their raging loue and filthy lustes dote vpō the images and paintings of them after whome they lust.

h These were the names of certaine princes & captaines vnder Nebuchad-nezzar.

‡Eb. I wil giue iudgement before them.

‖Or, lawes.

i They shal destroy thy princes and priests with the rest of thy people.

k All thy treasures & riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

l All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue idoles.

m I will execute the same iudgements & vengeance against thee, and that with greater seueritie.

n Speaning, ꝑ the afflictions should bee so great that they should cause them to lose their senses, & reason.

o That is, to be sacrificed to their idoles, read Chap. 16, 20.

tuarie in the same day, and haue pro-phaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and lo, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house.

40 And how much more [is it] that p They sent into other countreies to haue such as should teach the fer-uice of their idoles.
they sent for men to come from p farre vnto whome a messenger was sent, and lo, they came: for whome thou didest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And satest q vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense & mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, [was] with her: & with the men to make the cõpany great were brought r Which should teach the ma-ner of worshipping their gods.
men of s Saba frõ the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, & beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shall thee & her fornications come to an end.

44 And they wẽt in vnto her as they go to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah & Aholibah the wicked womẽ.

45 And the righteous men they shal
s That is, worthie death, read Chap. 16. 38.
iudge them, after p maner of t harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood [is] in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lorde
God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle,

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shal slay their sõnes, and their daughters, & burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednes to c Meaning, all other cities & countries.
cease out of p land, that al womẽ may be taught not to do after your wickednes.

49 And they shall lay your wickednes vpon you, & ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Jerusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

a Of Jeconiahs captiuitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25. 1.

AGaine in the a ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day [of the] b moneth came p word of the Lorde vnto me, saying, b Called Tebeth, which conteineth part of December & part of January.

2 Sonne of man, write the name of the day, [euen] of this same day: [for] in p which moneth & day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Jerusalem the King of Babel set himselfe against Jerusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto p rebellious house, & say vnto thẽ, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a c pot, prepare it, & also powre water into it.

4 Gather the d pieces thereof into it, [euẽ] euery good piece, [as] p thigh & the shoulder, [& fill it with the chief bones.

5 Take one of p best sheepe, & ‖ burne also the e bones vnder it, [& make it boile well, & seethe the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, wo to the bloodie citie, [euen] to the pot, f whose skomme is therein, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out g piece by piece: let no h lot fall vp-on it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: she set it vpon an high i rocke, [and] powred it not vpon the ground to couer
it with dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: [euen] I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke, p it should not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, k wo to the bloodie citie, for I will make ‖ the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: l kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, & let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it emptie vpon the coles thereof, that ‖ the brasse of it may bee hot, and may burne, & that the filthines of it may be molten in it, [and] that the skomme of it may be consumed.

12 l She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skomme wẽt not out of her: [therefore] her skomme [shalbe consumed] with fire.

13 [Thou remainest] in thy filthines [&] wickednes: because I would m haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthines till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shal come to passe, & I will do it: I will not go backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, & according to thy workes shal n they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the o pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shalthy teares

c Whereby was ment Jerusalem.
d That is, the citizens, & the chiefe men thereof.
‖ Or, heape.
e Meaning, of the innocents, whome they had slaine, who were the cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.
f Whose iniquities, & wicked citizens there yet remaine.
g Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by litle and litle.
h Spare none eftare nor condition.
i The citie shewed her cruelties to all the world, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it. Nah. 3. 1. habak. 2. 12.
‖ Or, an heape of woode.
k Meaning, that the citie should be vtterly destroyed, and that hee would giue the enemies an appetite therevnto.
‖ Or, bottome.
l The citie hath flattered her selfe in vaine.
m I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not,
n That is, the Babylonians.
o Meaning, his wife in whom he delited, as verf. 18.

teares run downe.

17 Cease frō sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and bynde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, [&] couer not thy lippes, and eat not the bread of men.

p For in mourning they went bare headed & bare footed, & also couered their lippes.
q That is, which the neighbours sent to them to mourne.
r Meaning, the morning following.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane to warde vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will pollute my Sanctuarie, [euen] the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eies, and your hearts desire, & your sonnes, and your daughters whome ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

s By sending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7, 22.
t Wherein you boast and delite.

22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tyre [shalbe] vpon your heads, and your shooes vpō your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but yee shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shal do: and when this commeth, yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from thē their power, the ioye of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the * desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters,

* Ebr. lifting vp of their soules.

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee [to tell thee] that which he hath heard with [his] eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth bee opened to him which is escaped, & thou shalt speake, and bee no more domme, & thou shalt be a signe vnto them, & they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

THe word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, & prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lorde God, Because thou saidest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the lande of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, a Because ye reioyced when the enemie deuoured my citie and Temple.

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke.

b That is, to the Babylonians.
c They shall chase thee away and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites & full of edifices. 2. Sam. 12, 27

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the handes, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, & will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, & I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreies, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lorde God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, [euen] of the cities of his cities, [I say,] in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-iesimoth, Baal-meon, and Kariathaim.

e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

10 [I will call] the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred amōg the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, because that Edom hath done [euill] by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate frō Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sworde.

14 And I will execute my vengeāce vpon Edom by the hande of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine mine indignation, and they shall knowe my bengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, because the Philistims haue executed bengeance, and reuenged thē selues with a despiteful heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will stretch out mine hande vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the [f] Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great bengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I shall laye my vengeance vpon them.

f Which were certaine garrisons of Philistimes, whereby they oft times molested the Iewes. Of the Cherethims Dauid also had a gard, 2.Sam.8.18.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He prophecieth that Tyrus shalbe ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchantes for the destruction of Tyrus.

a Either of the captiuitie of Iechoniah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yeere, in the first [day] of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath sayde against Ierusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: [for] seeing thee is desolate, I shalbe [c] replenished, b That is, the famous citie Ierusalem, whereunto all people resorted.

c By riches and fame shall increase thus the wicked reioyce at their fall by whom they may haue any profit or aduantage.

3 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as ỹ sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroye the walles of Tyrus & breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the toppe of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt bee for the spreading of nettes in ỹ middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shal be a spoyle to the nations.

d The townes that belonged vnto her.

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the fielde, shall be slayne by the sworde, and they shall knowe that I am ỹ Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of kings from the North, with horses and with charets, & with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 Hee shall slay with the sworde thy daughters in the field, & he shal make a fort against thee, & cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, & with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shal shake at the noyse of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, & of the charets, whē he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall he treade downe all thy streetes: he shal slay thy people by the sworde, & the [e] pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the grounde.

e For Tyrus was much built by arte, and by labour of men was wonne out of the sea. Some referre this vnto the images of the noble men, which they had erected by thy their glorie and renoume. Iere.7.34.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, & spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroye thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the midst of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to ceale, and the sound of thine harpes shalbe no more heard.

14 I will laye thee like the toppe of a rocke: [f] thou shalt bee for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I ỹ Lord haue spoken it, saith ỹ Lord God.

f I will make thee so bare that thou shalt haue nothing to couer thee.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fal: & at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slayne and murthered in the middes of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the [g] sea shal come downe frō their thrones: they shal lay awaye their robes, and put off their broydered garmentes, and shall clothe thē selues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the grounde, & bee astonished at [euery] moment, and be amased at thee.

g The gouernours & rulers of other countreis that dwel by the sea: whereby he signifieth that her destruction should be so horrible, that the worde shoulde heare thereof and be afraide.

17 And they shal take vp a lamētatiō for thee, and saye to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, ỹ wast inhabited [h] of the sea [men,] the renowned citie which was strong in the sea, [both] she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

h Meaning, marchantes, which by their traffique vpon enrich her wonderfully and increase her power.

18 Now shal ỹ yles be astonished in the day of thy fal: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shalbe troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, Whē I shal make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, & when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, & great waters shall couer thee,

20 Whē I shal cast thee downe with them that descende into the pit, with the people [i] of olde time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, [I saye,] which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shewe my glory in the land of the [k] liuing, i Which were dead long ago.

k Meaning, in Iudea, when it shalbe destroyed. [Or, make thee a terrour,

21 I will || bring thee to nothing, and thou thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and authority thereof in times past.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus,
3 And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the marte of the people for many yles, Thus saith the Lorde God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie.
4 Thy borders are in the middes of the sea, and thy buylders haue made thee of perfite beautie.
5 They haue made all thy shippe boardes of firre trees of Shenir: they haue brought Ceders from Lebanon, to make maistes for thee.
6 Of the okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy banks of yuorie, brought out of the yles of Chittim.
7 Fine linen with broydered worke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy sayle, blewe silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering.
8 The inhabitantes of Zidon, and Arnad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy pilots.
9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers, all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy marchandise.
10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: they men of warre they hanged the shielde and helmet in thee: they set forth thy beautie.
11 The men of Arnad with thine armie were vpon the walles rounde about, and the Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles rounde about: they haue made thy beautie perfite.
12 They of Tarshish were thy marchants for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tynne, and lead, which they brought to thy faires.
13 They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchātes, concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchandise.
14 They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.
15 The men of Dedan were thy marchantes: and the marchandise of many yles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present hornes, teeth, and peacockes.
16 They of Aram were thy marchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with emerauds, purple, and broyded worke, and fine linen, and coral, and pearle.
17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy marchandise wheate of Minnith, and Pannag, and hony and oyle, and balme.
18 They of Damascus were thy marchāts in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.
19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise.
20 They of Dedan were thy marchants in precious clothes for charets.
21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy marchants.
22 The marchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchāts: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.
23 They of Haran and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy marchants.
24 These were thy marchants in all sorts of things, in raimēt of blew silke, and of broydred worke, and in coffers for rich apparell, which were bound with coardes: chaines also were among thy marchandise.
25 The shippes of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the middes of the sea.
26 Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the middes of the sea.
27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy marchandise, thy mariners and pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise and all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the sea in the day of thy ruine.
28 The suburbes shall shake at the sound

a Which serueth all the world with thy marchandise.
‡Ebr. heart.
b This mountaine was called Hermon, but the Amorites called it Shenir, Deut. 3.9.
c Which is taken for Greece and Italie.
‖Or, shipmasters.
d Meaning, that they built the walles of the citie, which is here ment by the ship: and of these were the builders of Salomons Temple, 1. King. 5, 18.
e That is, they of Cappadocia, or Pygmeis and dwarfes, which were so called, because that out of the bie towers they seemed little.
f Of Greeia, Italie and Cappadocia.
g By selling slaues.
h Which are taken for a people of Asia minor.
i Meaning, vnicornes hornes, and Elephants teeth.
‖Or, workes.
‖Or, carbuncle
‖Or, silke.
k Where the best wheate growed.
‖Or, turpētine, or, triacle.
‖Or, were marchants whose marchandise passed through thine hands.
‖Or, rowers.
l That is, Nebuchad-nezzar.
m That is, the cities neere about thee, as was Zidon, Aruad and others.

sound of the cry of thy pilotes.

29 And all that handle ỹ oze, the mariners [and] al the pilotes of the sea shal come downe from their shippes, [and] shall stand vpon the land,

30 And shall cause their voyce to bee heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallowe themselues in the ashes.

31 They shal plucke off their heare for thee and gird thē with a sackecloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorowe of heart [and] bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, [saying,] What [citie] is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea?

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people [&] thou didest enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in ỹ depths of the waters, thy marchandise & all thy multitude, which was in the middes of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the yles shal bee astonished at thee, & all their kings shalbe sore afraid [and] troubled in their countenance.

n Whereby is meant a long time: for it was prophecied to be destroyed but fewentie yeeres, as Isa. 23. 15.

36 The marchantes among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt be n any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God against the king of Tyrus for his pryde. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith ỹ Lorde God, Because thine heart is exalted, & thou hast saide, a I am a god, I sit in the seate of God in the middes of the sea, yet thou art but a man & not God, and b though thou didest think in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, a I am safe that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heauen. ‡ Ebr. Though thou set thine heart as the heart of God.

3 Behold, thou art wiser then b Daniel: there is no secret, ỹ they can hide from thee.

b Thus bee theaketh by derision: for Daniel had declared notable tignes of his wisedome in Babylon, whē Ezekiel wrote this.

4 With thy wisedome and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotte thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisedome [and] by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, & thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith ỹ Lord God, Because ỹ diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

7 Behold, therefore I wil bring strāgers vpon thee, [euen] the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swordes against the beautie of thy wisdome, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the middes of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say [thē] before him, that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, & no God, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die ỹ death of the c vncircumcised by the handes of strangers: for I haue spoke it, saith the Lord God.

c Like the rest of the heathen and infidels, which are Gods enemies.

11 ¶ Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, & say vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde God, Thou sealest vp the summe, [and] art full of d wisedome and perfit in beautie.

d He derideth the vaine opinion and confidence that the Tyrians had in their riches, strength and pleasures. Or, iasper.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garde of God: euery precious stone [was] thy garment, the rubie, the topaze & the ‖ diamonde, the chrysolite, the onix, & the iasper, the saphir, ‖ emeraude, and the carbuncle and golde: the worke manship of thy tymbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the daye that thou wast created.

Or, carbuncle

14 Thou art e the anoynted Cherub, that coūereth, and I haue set thee [f in honour:] thou wast vpō the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the g stones of fire.

e He meaneth the royall state of Tyrus, which for the excellencie and glorie thereof he compareth to the Cherubims which couered ỹ Arke: & by this word anoynted he signifieth the same.

f Or, in thee

15 Thou wast perfit in the waies frō the day that thou wast h created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

g To wit, among my people Israel, which shined as precious stones.

16 By the multitude of thy marchandise, they haue filled ỹ mids of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the i mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub from the midst of the stones of fire.

h Which was when I first called thee to this dignitie.

i Thou shalt haue no part among my people.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, [and] thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the grounde: I will laye thee before kinges that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy k sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, [and] by ỹ iniquitie of thy marchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middes of thee, which shall deuoure thee:

k That is, the honour, wherunto I called them.

thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that knowe thee among ỳ people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be ‖ a terrour, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

‖ Or, brought to nothing.

20 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it,

22 And say, Thus saith ỳ Lord God, Beholde, I [come] against thee, O Zidon, and I will be [a] glorified in the middes of thee: and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgementes in her, and shall bee sanctified in her.

[a] By executing my iudgements against thy wickednes.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streetes, ỹ the slayne shal fall in ỳ middes of her: [m] ỳ enemie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

[m] That is, Nebuchadnezzar.

24 And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto ỳ house of Israel, nor [any] grieuous thorne of all that are rounde about them, and despised them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel frō the people where they are scattered, and shall be [n] sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iaakob.

[n] He sheweth for what cause god will assemble his church, and preserue it still, though he destroy his enemies: to wit, that they should praise him, and giue thanks for his great mercies.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shal build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shal dwel safely, whē I haue executed iudgemēts vpon al round about them that despise them, and they shal know that I am ỳ Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

He prophesieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourtie yeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour, which he tooke against Tyrus.

[a] To wit, of the captiuitie of Ieconiah and ỳ reigne of Zedekiah. Of the order of these prophecies and howe ỳ former sometime standeth after ỳ latter, reade Iere. 27.1.

IN the [a] tenth yeere, [and] in the tenth moneth in ỳ twelfth [day] of the moneth, the word of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, & prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and saye, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I [come] against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] dragon, that lyeth in the middes of his riuers, which hath saide, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

[b] He cōpareth Pharaoh to a dragon which hideth himselfe in the riuer Nilus, as Isai. 51.9.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, & I will drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

[c] I will sende enemies against thee, which shall pluck thee, and thy people which trust in thee, out of thy sure places.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernesse, [both] thee & all the fish of thy riuers: ỹ shalt fal vpon the open field: thou shalt not bee brought together, nor gathered: [for] I haue giuen thee for meat to the beastes of the fielde, & to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitantes of Egypt shal know that I am the Lord, because they haue bene a staffe of [d] reede to the house of Israel.

[d] Read. 2. Kin. 18, 21. Isa. 36, 6.

7 When they tooke hold of thee with their hande, thou didest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest & madest al their loynes to ‖ stande [e] vpright.

‖ Or, shake.

[e] When they felt their hurt, they woulde stay no more vpon thee, but stood vpō their feete and put their trust in others.

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Behold, I will bring a sworde vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee,

9 And ỳ land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it,

10 Behold, therefore I [come] vpon thee, & vpō thy riuers, & I will make the lande of Egypt vtterly waste & desolate from the towre of Seueneh, euen vnto the borders of the [f] blacke Moores.

[f] Thus God cannot suffer ỳ man shoulde arrogate any thing to him selfe, or put his trust in any thing saue in him alone.

‡ Ebr. Cush, or Ethiopia.

11 No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shal passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countreis, that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeres: & I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreis.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, [g] At the ende of fourtie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered, Icrem. 46. 26.

[g] Meaning, that they shuld not haue full dominion, but be vnder ỳ Persians, Grecians and Romans, and the cause is, ỳ the Israelites should no more put their trust in them, but learne to depende on God.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shalbe there a ‖ small kingdome.

‖ Or, base.

15 It shalbe ỳ smallest of ỳ kingdoms, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue ỳ nations: for I will diminish thē, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And

16 And it shalbe no more the confidence of ỹ house of Israel, to bring [their] [h] iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know, that I am the Lord God.

h Lest I should by this meanes punish their sinnes.

17 ¶ In the [i] seuen and twentieth yere also in the first [moneth, and] in the first [day] of the moneth came the woꝛde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

i Counting from the captiuitie of Jeconiah.

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel caused his armie to serue a great [k] seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had hee no wages, noꝛ his armie foꝛ Tyrus, foꝛ the seruice that he serued against it.

k He tooke great paines at the siege of Tyrus and his armie was soꝛe handled.

19 Therefoꝛe thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the lande of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shalbe the wages foꝛ his armie.

l Signifying that Nebuchad-nezzar had moꝛe paines then profit by the taking of Tyrus.

20 I haue giuen him the lande of Egypt foꝛ his laboꝛ, that he serued ‖ against it, because they wꝛought ‖ foꝛ me, sayeth the Lord God.

‖ Or, in it. ‖ Or, euill against me.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

THe woꝛde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Houle [and crie,] Woe [be] vnto this day.

3 Foꝛ the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, [and] it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, & feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shal take away her multitude, & [when] her fundations shalbe broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia, and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shal fal with them by the sword.

a By Phut and Lud are meant Aphrica and Lybia.

6 Thus saith ỹ Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shal fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towꝛe of [b] Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, sayth the Lord God.

b Which was a strong citie of Egypt, Chap. 29. 10.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall bee in the middes of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, [and when] all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shal there messengers goe foorth from me in shippes, to make the careleſſe Moꝛes afraide, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: foꝛ lo, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel.

11 Foꝛ hee and his people with him, [euen] the terrible nations shall bee brought to destroy the lande: and they shall drawe their swoꝛdes against Egypt, and fill the lande with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers drye, and sell the lande into the handes of the wicked, & I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the handes of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of ‖ Noph, and there shal be no moꝛe a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will sende a feare in the land of Egypt.

‖ Or, Memphis or Alkaira.

14 And I will make Pathꝛos desolate, and will set fire in ‖ Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

‖ Or, Tanis.

15 And I wil powꝛe my wrath vpon ‖ Sin, [which is] the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy ỹ multitude of ‖ No.

‖ Or, Pelusium.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shal haue great soꝛowe, & No shalbe destroied, & Noph shal haue soꝛows daily.

‖ Or, Alexandria.

17 The yong men of ‖ Auen, and of ‖ Phibeseth shall fall by the swoꝛde: and these [cities] shal go into captiuitie.

‖ Or, Heliopolis. ‖ Or, Pubastum

18 At Tehaphnehes ỹ day [c] shall restraine [his light,] when I shall breake there the [d] barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall go into captiuitie.

c Meaning, that there shall be great soꝛow and affliction.

d That is, the strength and foꝛce.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the [e] eleuenth yeere, in the first [moneth, &] in the seuenth [day] of the moneth, ỹ woꝛd of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

e Of the captiuitie of Jeconiah, oꝛ of Zedekiahs reigne

21 Sonne of man, [f] I haue broke the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: & lo, it shal not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roꝛlle to binde it, & [so] f Foꝛ Nebuchad-nezzar destroyed Pharaoh Necho at Carchemish, Jere. 46. 2.

make it strong, to holde the sworde.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will breake his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sworde to fall out of his hand.

g His force and power.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sworde in his hande, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shal fall downe, and they shal knowe, that I am the Lorde, when I shal put my sworde into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

h Whereby we see that tyrātes haue no power of themselues, neither can do any more harme then God appointeth, and when he will, they must cease.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shal know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

a Of Zedekiahs reigne, or of Jeconiahs captivitie.

AND in the a eleuenth yere, in the third moneth, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnes?

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the King of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame.

3 Beholde, Asshur was like a ceder in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp verie hie, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto al the trees of the field.

c Many other nations were vnder their dominion.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the fielde, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the fielde bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnes, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

8 The ceders in the garden d of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chesnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height,

‖ Or, thou wast lift vp.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the e mightiest among the heathen: hee shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednes.

e That is, of Nebuchadnezzar, who afterward was f monarch and only ruler of the worlde.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountains, and in all the valleis his branches are fallen, and his boughes are f broken by all the riuers of the lande: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, and haue forsaken him.

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and al the beasts of the field shalbe vpon his branches, 14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall bee exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their toppe among the thick boughes, neither shal their leaues stād vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the middes of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mount so hie (meaning his great abundance and pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered with sackecloth.

15 Thus saith the Lorde God, in the day when he went downe to hel, I caused them to mourne, and I g couered for deepe for him, and did restreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were staied: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the fielde fainted.

h To cause this destruction of the King of Assyria, to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of such a tyrant.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descende into the pitte, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall h bee comforted in the nether partes of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hel with him him vnto them that bee slayne with the swoꝛde, and his armie, [and] they that dwelt vnder his shadowe in the middes of the heathen.

i Speaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was.

18 To whome i art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt bee cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the middes of the k vncircumcised, with them that be slayne by the swoꝛd: this is Pharaoh and al his multitude, saith the Lord God.

k Read Chap. 28,10.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 He prophecieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

a Which was the first yere of the generall captuity vnder Zedekiah.

AND in the a twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, [and] in the first [day] of the moneth, the woꝛd of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation foꝛ Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a b lyon of the nations? art as a ‖ dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers c and troubledst the waters with thy feete, & stampedst in their riuers.

b Thus the scriptures compare tyrants to cruell & huge beastes which deuour all that be weaker then they, and such as they may ouercome. ‖ Or, whale.

c Thou preparedst great armies. Chap. 12.13. and 17,20.

3 Thus sayth the Lord God, * I will therefore spreade my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, & they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the lande, [and] I will cast thee vpon the open fielde, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, & I will fill all p beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I will laye thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleyes d with thine heyght.

d With heapes of the carkases of thine armie.

6 I will also water with thy blood the lande wherein thou e swimmest, [euen] to the mountaines, and the riuers shalbe full of thee.

e As Nilus ouerfloweth Egypt, so will I make the blood of thine host to ouerflowe it.

7 And when I shall f put thee out, I will couer the heauē, & make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.

f The woꝛde signifieth to be put out as a candle is put out. Isa.13.10.ioel. 2.31.& 3.15. matth.24.29.

8 All p lights of heauen will I make darke foꝛ thee, and bring g darkenes vpō thy land, saith the Lord God.

g By this maner of speache is meant the great soꝛowe that shalbe for the slaughter of the king and his people.

9 I will also trouble p hearts of many people, when I shal bring thy destruction among the nations, [and] vpon the countreis which thou hast not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amased at thee, and their kings shall be astonished w feare foꝛ thee, when I shal make my swoꝛde to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afrayde at euery moment: euery man foꝛ his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The swoꝛde of the King of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swoꝛdes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shalbe terrible nations, and they shal destroy the h pompe of Egypt, and al the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

h This came to passe in lesse then foure yeeres after this prophesie.

13 I will destroy also all the beastes therof frō the great waterssides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, noꝛ p hooues of beast trouble thē.

14 Then will I make i their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to run like oyle, saith the Lord God.

i To wit, of the Caldeans thine enemies, which shall quietly enioy all thy commodities.

15 When I shall make the lande of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be layde waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwell therein, then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament foꝛ Egypt, and foꝛ all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere also in the fiftenth [day] of the moneth, came the woꝛde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament foꝛ the multitude of Egypt, and k cast them downe, [euen] them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

k That is, pyncheie, that they shalbe cast downe: thus the Lord giueth his Prophets power both to plant and to destroy by his woꝛde, read Jer.1.10.

19 Whome doest thou passe l in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

l Haue not other kingdomes more beautifull then thou, perished?

20 They shall fall in the middes of them that are slaine by the swoꝛd: m she is deliuered to the swoꝛde: drawe her downe, and all her multitude.

That is, Egypt.

21 The most mightie [and] strong shall speake to n him out of the middes of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe, [and] sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the swoꝛde.

n To make the matter more sensible, he bringeth in Pharaoh, whome the reade thould meete and marualle at him, reade Isa. 14.9.

22 Allshur is there and al his companie: their graues are about him: al they are slaine [and] fallen by the swoꝛde.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are rounde about his graue: al they are slaine [and] fallen by the swoꝛde, which caused feare [to be] in the lande of the liuing.

o Meaning, the Persians,

24 There [is] oElam and al his multitude rounde about his graue: all they are slayne [and] fallen by the swoorde, which are gone doowne with the vncircumcised into the nether partes of the earth, which caused thē selues to bee feared in the lande of the pliuing, yet haue they boorne their shame with them that are gone doowne to the pit.

p Whoome in this life all the world feared.

25 They haue made his bedde in the middes of the slayne with all his multitude: their graues [are] rounde about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the swoorde: though they haue caused their feare in the lande of the liuing, yet haue they boorne their shame with them that go doowne to the pit: they are laide in the middes of them, that be slayne.

q That is, the Cappadocians and Iealians, or Spaniards, as Iosephus writeth.

26 There [is] qMeshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues [are] rounde about them: all these vncircumcised were slayne by the swoorde, though they caused their feare [to be] in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant rof the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone doowne to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layde their swoordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall bee vpon their bones: because [they were] the feare of the mightie in the land of the liuing.

r Which dyed not by cruell death, but by the course of nature, and are honorably buried with their coate armour and signes of honour.

28 Yea, thou shalt bee broken in the middes of the vncircumcised, & lye with them that are slayne by the swoord.

29 There [is] Edom, his kings, & all his princes, which with their strength are layed by thē that were slayne by the swoorde: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, & with them that go doowne to the pit.

s The Kings of Babylon.

30 There [bee] all the princes of the sNorth, with all the Zidonians, which are gone doowne with the slayne, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slayne by the swoorde, and beare their shame with them that go doowne to the pit.

t As the wicked reioyce when they see others partakers of their miseries.

31 Pharaoh shal see them, and he shal be tcōforted ouer al his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie [shalbe] slaine by the swoord, saith the Lord God.

u I will make the Egyptians afrayde of me, as they caused others to feare them.

32 For I haue caused my ufeare [to be] in the land of the liuing: and he shall be laide in the middes of the vncircumcised with thē, that are slayne by þ swoord, [euen] Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strēgtheneth them that despaire, and boldeneth them with the promises of mercie. 30 The woord of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

AGaine the woorde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, when I bring the swoorde vpon a lande, if the people of the lande take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their a watchman,

‖ Or, of their coastes.

a He sheweth that the people ought to haue continually gouernours and teachers which may haue a care ouer thē, and to warne them euer of the dangers which are at hand.

3 If when he seeth the swoorde come vpon the lande, he blowe the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the swoord come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and woulde not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the swoord come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the swoorde come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his b iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

b Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishment though the watchman be negligent, but if the watchman blowe the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he shall receiue double punishment. Chap. 3.17.

7 *So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the woorde at my cmouth, and admonish them from me.

c Which teacheth that he that receiueth not his charge at the Lordes mouth, is a spye, and not a true watchman.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I drequire at thine hande.

d The watchman must answere for the blood of all that perish though his negligence.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, If our transgressiōs and our sinnes [be] vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, c how should we then liue?

c Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies and murmure.

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lorde God, f I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

f Reade Chap. 18.23.

12 Therefore

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The g righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednes of the wicked [shal cause] him to fall therein, in the day ỽ he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue for [his righteousnesse] in ỽ day that he sinneth.

13 When I shal say vnto ỽ righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnes shall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe when I shal say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and h right.

15 [To wit,] if the wicked restore the pledge, [and] giue againe that he had robbed, [and] walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, [and] not die.

16 None of his sinnes that he hath committed, shall bee mentioned vnto him: [because] he hath done that, which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, *The way of the Lord is not equal: but their owne way is vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of i our captiuitie, in the tenth [moneth, and] in the fifth [day] of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came vnto me, and saide, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the k hande of the Lord had bene vpon me in ỽ euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, vntill he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my mouth, I was no more domme.

23 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, and saide,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the lande of Israel, talke and say, m Abraham was but one, and he possessed the lande: but we are many, [therefore] the lande shall be giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eate with the n blood, and lift vp your eyes to warde your idoles, and sheade blood: should ye then possesse the lande?

26 Ye leane vpon your o swordes: ye worke abomination, and ye defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the lande?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sworde: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: ℣ they that be in the fortes ℣ in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the lande desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shal cease: and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shal passe through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layde the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations, ỽ they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that p talke of thee by the walles and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the worde that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people [vseth] to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make q iestes, [and] their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a ||iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well: for they heare thy wordes, but they doe them not.

33 And when this commeth to passe (for lo, it will come) then shal they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepherds that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiseth the true shepherd Christ, and with him peace.

AND the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the shepherdes of Israel, prophecie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto ỽ shepherds, * woe [be] vnto the r shepherds of Israel, that feede them selues: should not the shepherds feede the flockes?

3 Ye eate the s fat, and ye clothe you with g Read of this righteousnesse, Chap. 18, 22, 24.

h Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocrisie, which pretende to forsake wickednes, and yet declare not them selues such by their fruites, that is, in obeying Gods commaundements and by godly life. Chap. 18. 25.

i When the Prophet was led away captiue with Jeconiah.

k It was indued with the Spirit of prophecie, Chap. 3, 2.

l Whereby is signified, that the ministers of God can not speake till God giue the courage and open their mouthes, chap. 24. 27. and 29. 21. Eph. 6. 19.

m Thus the wicked thinke them selues more worthy to enioy Gods promes then the Saints of God, to whom they were made: and would binde God to be subiect to them, though they would not be bound to him.

n Contrary to the Lawe, Leuit. 17. 14.

o As they that are readie still to shed blood.

p In derision.

q This declareth that we ought to heare Gods worde with such zeale and affection that we should in all points obey it, els we abuse the worde to our owne condemnation, and make of his ministers as though they were iestes to serue mens foolish fantasies.

[Or, pleasant, and loue song.

r Ezech. 33. 2. a By the shepherds he meaneth the King, ỽ magistrates, Priests and Prophets.

b Ye seeke to enrich your selues by your commodities, and to spoile their riches and substance.

with the wool: ye kil them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.

c He describeth the office and duetie of a good pastor, who ought to loue and succour his flocke and not to be cruel towarde them.

4 The c weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bounde þ the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue ye sought þ which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherde: and when they were dispersed, they were d deuoured of all þ beastes of the fielde.

d For lacke of good gouernement and doctrine they perished.

6 My sheepe wandred through al the mountaines, & vpon euery hie hil: yea, my flocke was scattred through all þ earth, & none did seeke or search [after them.]

7 Therefore ye shepherdes, heare the worde of the Lorde.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the fielde, hauing no shepherd, neither did my shepherdes seeke my sheepe, but the shepherdes fedde themselues, and fed not my sheepe,

9 Therefore, heare ye the worde of the Lord, O ye shepherdes.

10 Thus saith the Lorde God, Behold, I [come] against the shepherds, & will require my sheepe at their hands, & cause thē to cease from feeding þ sheepe: neither shall the shepherdes feede them selues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from e their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

e By destroying the couetous hirelings and restoring true shepherds: where of we haue a signe so oft as God sendeth true preachers, who both by doctrine and life, labour to feede his sheepe in the pleasant pastures of his worde.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepeherde searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer thē out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in f the cloudie and darke day.

f In the day of their affliction and miserie: and this promise is to comfort the Church in all dangers.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, and will bring them to their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, & in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede thē in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde be: there shal they lie in a good folde and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuē away, and will bind vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I wil destroy þ fat & the g strong, [&] I will feede them with h iudgement.

g Meaning, such as lift vp them selues about their brethen, & thinke they haue no needs to be gouerned by me.

h That is, by putting difference betwene the good and the bad, and so giue to either as they deserue.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus sayeth the Lord God, behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, [betweene] the rams and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a smal thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good i pasture, but ye must tread down with your feete the residue of your pasture: & to haue dronk of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feete:

i By good pasture and deepe waters is ment the pure worde of God, and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupte it.

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden wt your feete, & drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God vnto them, Beholde, I, [euen] I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with houlder, and pusht all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therfore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shal no more be spoyled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepherd ouer them, and he shall feede them, [euen] my seruant k Dauid, he shal feede them, and he shall be their shepherde.

k Meaning of Christ, of whome Dauid was a figure, Jere. 30.9. Ezek. 34.5.

24 And I þ Lord will be their God, & my seruant Dauid [shalbe] þ prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall l dwell safely in the wildernes, and sleepe in the woods.

l This declareth, that vnder Christ the flock should be truely deliuered from sin, and hell, and so be safely preserued in the Church where they should neuer perish.

26 And I will set thē, [as] a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, & there shall be raine of blessing.

m The fruits of Gods graces shall appeare in great abundance in his Church.

27 And the m tree of the fielde shall yeeld her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruit, & they shalbe safe in their land, & shal know be that I am the Lord, whē I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shal the beasts of the land deuoure thē, but they shal dwel safely and none shall make them afraid.

n That is, the rodde that shall come out of the roote of Ishai, Isa. 11.1

29 And I will raise vp for them a n plant of renoume, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they understand, that I the Lorde their God am with them, & that they, [euen] the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lorde God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, [and] I am your God, saith the Lorde God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lorde.

MOreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount [a] Seir, & prophecie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I [come] against thee, and I will stretch out mine hande against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, & thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when [their] [b] iniquitie had an ende,

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, & blood shal pursue thee: except thou hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, & cut off from it him that passeth out & him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleyes & in all thy riuers shal they fall, that are slaine with the sworde.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shal not [d] returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast saide, [e] These two nations, and these two countreyes shall be mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lorde was [f] there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lorde God, I will euen doe according to thy wrath, & according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: & I will make my selfe knowen among [g] thē when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt knowe, that I the Lorde haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoke against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, and haue multiplyed your wordes against me: I haue heard [them.]

14 Thus saith the Lorde God, So shall all the worlde reioyce [when] I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholy, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deserrings. 26 God renueth our hearres, that we may walke in his commandements.

AND thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the [a] mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lorde. Chap.6.2.

2 Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Because the [a] enemie hath said against you, Aha, euen the [b] hie places of the worlde are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lorde God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lippes and [c] tongues [of men,] and vnto the reproche of the people,

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines & to the hils, to the riuers, & to the valleys, and to the waste, [and] desolate places, & to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are rounde about.

5 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which [d] haue taken my lande for their possession, with the ioy of all [their] heart, [and] with dispitefull mindes to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen,

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hād, surely the a Where the Idumeans dwelt.

b When by their punishment I called thē from their iniquitie.

c Except thou repent thy former crueltie.

d To wit, to their former estate.

e Meaning, Israel and Iudah.

f And so by fighting against Gods people, they thoulde goe about to put him out of his owne possession.

g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

h Shewing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that he hath a care ouer them and so praise his name: and also that the wicked rage as though there were no God, till they feele his hande to their destruction.

a That is, the Idumean.

b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the worlde.

c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the worlde.

d They appointed with themselues to haue it, and therefore came with Nebuchad-nezzar against Ierusalem for this purpose.

e Because you haue bene a laughing stock vnto them.

f By making a solemne othe reade Chap. 20,5.

the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall s shoot forth your branches, and bring foorth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are readie to come.

g God declareth his mercies and goodnesse towarde his Church, who still preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

9 For behold, I [come] vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and solden.

10 And I will multiplie the men vpon you, [euen] all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shalbe inhabited, and the desolate places shalbe builded.

11 And I will multiplie vpon you mã and beast, and they shal encrease, & bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, & I will bestow benefites vpon you more then h at the first, & ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whome all these temporal deliuerances did direct them.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon i you, [euen] my people Israel, and they shall possesse ‖ you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth depriue them [of men.]

i That is, vpon the mountaines of Jerusalem. ‖ Or, thee.

13 Thus saith the Lorde God, Because they say vnto you, Thou [k lande] deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the lande, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee ℓ shame of ℓ heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare ℓ reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fal any more, saith ℓ Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreouer the Word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shedde in the lande, and for their idoles, [wherewith] they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, & they were dispersed through the countreis: [for] according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

Isa. 52.5. rom. 2.24. 1 And therefore would not suffer my name to be had in contempt, as the heathen would haue reproched me, if I had suffred my Church to perish.

20 *And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they sayd of t m, These are the people of the Lorde, and are gone out of his lande.

21 But I fauoured mine holy ‖ Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they wẽt.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lorde God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine m holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen whither ye went.

m This excludeth from man all dignitie, & meane to deserue any thing by, seing that God referreth the whole to himselfe, and that onely for the glorie of his holy name. ‖ Or, your.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathe, among whome ye haue polluted it, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shal be sanctified in you before ‖ their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreyes, and I will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane n Water vpon you, & ye shalbe cleane: [yea,] from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I clense you.

n That is, his Spirit wherewith he reformeth the heart and regenerateth his. Jsa. 44.3. Jere. 32.39. cha. 11.19.

26 *A newe heart also will I giue you, and a newe spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your bodie, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my Spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the lande, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shal be my people and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthines, and I will call for ° corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

o Vnder the abundance of temporall benefites he comprehendeth the spirituall graces.

30 For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the fielde, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shal ye remẽber your owne wicked wayes, & your deedes that were not good, & shall iudge your selues worthie to haue bene p destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

p Ye shall come to true repentance, & thinke your selues vnworthie to be of the nomber of Gods creatures for your ingratitude against him.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, saith the Lorde God: [therefore,] O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lorde God, what time as I shall haue cleẽsed you from all your iniquities, I will cause [you] to dwell in the cities, & the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate lande shall be tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they sayde, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, [and] were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left rounde about you, shall 9 knowe that I the Lorde build the ruinous places, [and] plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

9 He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the sople or plentifulnesse of the earth that any countrey is rich, and abundant, but onely to Gods mercies, as his plagues, and curses declare whē he maketh it barren.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I wil encrease them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Jerusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flocks of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophecieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lorde was vpon me, and caried me out in the Spirit of the Lorde, and set me downe in the mids of the ‖ field, which was full of a bones.

‖ Or, valley.

a He sheweth by a greater miracle, that God hath power, & also will deliuer his people from their captiuitie, in as much as he is able to giue life to the dead bones, and bodies, and raise them vp againe.

2 And hee ledde me rounde about by them, and beholde, there [were] very many in the open fielde, and loe, [they were] very drie.

3 And he sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Againe he sayd vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye drie bones, heare the worde of the Lorde.

5 Thus sayth the Lorde God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied, as I was commaunded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and beholde, [there was] a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

b Signifying all parts, whereas ỹ Israelites were scattered: that is the faithfull shall be brought to the same vnitie of spirit, and doctrine, whersoeuer they are scattered through the worlde.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh growe vpon them, and aboue, the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then sayd he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the wind: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from ỹ foure b winds, O breath, and breathe vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophecied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Beholde, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, [and] we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde, c when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres, c That is, when I haue brought you out of those places, and townes where you are captiues.

14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then ye shall knowe that I the Lorde haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a [piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take d another [piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, & to all the house of Israel his companions.

d Which signifieth ỹ ioyning together of the two houses of Israel, and Iudah.

17 And thou shalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answere them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will take the tree e of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, & will put them with him, [euen] with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

e That is, the house of Israel.

20 And the [pieces] of wood, whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one King shall be King to them all: and they shalbe no more two peoples, neither be deuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

John.10.16.

23 Neither shall they be polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I wil saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and wil cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

Isa.40.11.ier. 23.5. chap.34. 23.dan.9.24.

24 And Dauid my * seruant [shalbe] King ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the e land, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwel therein, [euen] they, and their sonnes, & their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid [shalbe] their prince for euer.

e Meaning, that ẏ elect by Christ shall dwell in the heauenly Ierusalem, which is ment by the land of Canaan.

26 Moreouer, I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I wil place them, and multiplie them, and will set my Sanctuarie among them for euermore.

Psal.109.4. & 116.2.

27 My tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall knowe, that I the Lorde doe sanctifie Israel, When my Sanctuarie shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 He prophecieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God, 21 Their destruction.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against a Gog [& against] the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophecie against him, a Which was a people that came of Magog the sonne of Iaphet, Gen.10.2. Magog also here signifieth a certaine crabbed crew, so that by these two contreys, which had the gouernement of Grecia and Italie, hee meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Reuc. 20.8.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I [come] against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hookes in thy chawes, and I wil bring thee forth, and all thine hoste [both] horses, and horsemen, all clothed with all sortes of [armour, euen] a great multitude with bucklers, and shields, all b handling swordes.

b He sheweth that the enemies shoulde bende their liues against the Church, but it shoulde be to their owne destruction.

5 They of c Paras, of Cush, and Phut with them, [euen] all they [that beare] shield and helmet.

c The Persians, Ethiopians, and men of Aphrica.

6 d Gomer and all his bands, [and] the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, [and] much people with thee.

d Gomer was Iaphets sonne & Togarmah the sonne of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabite Asia minor.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and c make thee ready, [both] thou, & all thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their sauegarde.

c Signifying, that al the people of ẏ worlde shoulde assemble themselues against the Church and Christ their head.

8 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: [for] in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sworde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet [they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

[Or it, meaning, the land of Israel.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, [and] shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, [both] thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall [many] thinges come into thy minde, & thou shalt thinke f euill thoughtes.

f That is, to molest and destroy ẏ church.

11 And thou shalt say, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled townes: g I will go to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, g Meaning, Israel which had nowe bene destroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring here by the simplicitie of the godly, who seeke not so much to fortifie them selues by outward force, as to depende on the prouidence and goodnesse of God.

12 [Thinking] to spoyle the praye, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are [now] inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattel and goods and dwell in the middes of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the marchants of Tarshish with all the lions thereof shall say vnto thee, h Art thou come to spoyle the praye? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to carie away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, [and] to spoyle a great praye?

h One enemie shall enuy another because euery one shall thinke to haue the spoyle of the Church.

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophetie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lorde God, In that day when my people of Israel i dwelleth safe, shalt thou not knowe it?

i Shalt not thou spie thine occasions to come against my Church, when they suspect nothing?

15 And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou & much people with thee: all [shall] ride vpon horses, [euen] [euen] a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloude to couer the land: thou shalt be in the [k] latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land that the heathen may knowe me, When I [l] shalbe sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lorde God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in olde time, [m] by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes [and] yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation [and] in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the field and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, and the [n] staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him [o] throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a large raine, & haile-stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be *magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

Chap.36.23. and 37.28.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 He beweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shalbe deuoured of birds and beastes. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus saieth the Lorde God, beholde, [I come] against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee [a] and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou [b] shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: [for] I will giue thee vnto the birds [and] to euery fethered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith ỹ Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the [c] yles, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to polute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am ỹ Lord, the holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, [d] it is come, and it is done, saith the Lorde God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall [e] go forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, & bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues [in their] hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut downe [any] out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, & they shall rob those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoyled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog [f] a place there for burial in Israel, [euen] the valley whereby men go toward the East part of the Sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their [g] noses, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ‖ Hamon-Gog.

12 [h] And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shalbe glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to go continually through ỹ [i] land with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, and cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the comming of Christ vnto the end of the world.

l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintenining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap.36.23, and 37.28.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bene aduertised afore time, to teach them to indure all things with more patience when they knowe that God hath so ordained.

n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shalbe so great and the enemies destruction shalbe so terrible.

o Against the people of Gog and Magog.

a Or, destroy thee with fire plagues, as Chap.38.22.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods worde the enemie shalbe destroyed wheresoeuer he assayleth his Church.

c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsell and can not be changed.

e After this destruction the Church shall haue great peace and tranquillitie, and burne all their weapons because they shall no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.

g For ỹ stinke of the carkeises.

Or, of the multitude of Gog.

h Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.

Eee.ii. 15 And

15 And the trauailers that passe thorowe the land, if [any] see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie [shall be] ‖Hamonah: thus shall they clense the land.

‖Or, multitude.

17 And thou sonne of man, Thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the fielde, Assemble your selues, & come: k gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eat flesh, and drinke blood.

k Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

18 Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, & drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambs, and of the goates, [and] of bullockes, [euen] of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eate fat till you be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and charets, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glorie among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layde vpon them.

22 So ṗ house of Israel shall know, that I am the Lorde their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall know, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for l their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sworde.

l The heathen shall knowe that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakenes of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

24 According to their vncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Now will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, & all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am *sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

Chap. 36. 23.

28 Then shall they knowe, that I am the Lorde their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the fiue & twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie in the a beginning of the yeere, in the tenth [day] of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lorde was vpon me, and brought me thither.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sortes: for their feastes they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: So that this is to be vnderstand of September.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by ‖a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon [was] as the building of a citie, towarde the South.

‖Or, visions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, and beholde, there [was] a b man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linen thread in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, ṗ came to measure out this building.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shewe thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, [I saw] a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖post of the gate, [which was] one reede broad, and ‖the other post of the gate, [which was] one reede broad.

‖Or, threshold.

‖Or, vpperposte.

7 And [euery] chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers [were] fiue cubites:

cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porche of ꝑ gate within [was] one reede.

8 He measured also the porche of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, & the ‖ postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porche of the gate [was] inward.

‖ Or, pennises.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, [were] three on this side, and three on that side: they three [were] of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, [and] the height of the gate thirtene cubites.

The description of the figure which beginneth, vers. 5.

Le parüis de dedans: Or, the inner court.

Vers. 5. The wall that compasseth about the Temple and the courtes, as appeareth in the second and in the great figure.
A. B. The thickenes of the wall was five cubites: for so long the reede was,
A. C. The height of the wall, which was also five cubites: this wall conteined two thousand cubites, that is, on the East side, 500.
C. H. And on the North side, 500.
H. I. As much on the South side.
C. K. And 500. on the West side.
I. K. This wall did separate the Temple frō the cittie, Cha. 42. 20.
Vers. 6. This gate in the great figure is marked with D. vnto the which appertaine seuen steppes. E. Thence they goe into the porche where are five chambers F. Which porch was closed with a wall G.
Vers. 7. E.F.G. The length. The breadth E.O.G. The space of five cubites betweene the chambers, and so much space was on this side, and beyond the chambers G. From the threshold inward to the porch was five cubites A. B.
B.C. The porch.
Vers. 9. C.D. The vpper postes. H.I. The breadth of the alley of the porch. B.C. The length of the porch, which was inward.
Vers. 11. L.M. The breadth of the gate, and the height. A.N.

Vers. 12. The space before the chambers, as a litle galerie O.

Vers. 13. The breadth of the whole porche from the vtmost chamber to the gate 25. cubits P. Q.

In the 14. vers. he speaketh of the vpper postes, or pennises which in all were 60. cubites: for euery chamber had fire, and the threshold, and lintel of the doore, either 12. K. figures.

Vers. 15. A. D. The fiftie cubites.

Vers. 17. The outward court R. so called, because it was the outward court in respect of the Temple as appeareth in the great figure N. but it is the inner court in respect of the porche, which hath bene described. S. The thirtie chambers, fifteene on a side.

12 The space also before the chambers [was] one cubite [on this side,] and the space [was] one cubite on that side, and the chambers [were] five cubites on this side and five cubites on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roufe of a chamber to the toppe of the [gate: the breadth] was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also postes of threescore cubites, and the posts of the court, [and] of the gate [had one measure] rounde about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porche of the gate within [were] fiftie cubites.

16 And [there were] narowe windowes in the chambers, & in their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes [went] rounde about within: and vpon the posts [were] palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought he mee into the outwarde court, and loe, [there were] chambers, and a pauement made for the court rounde about [and] thirtie chambers [were] vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement [was] by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, [and] the pauement [was] beneath.

The two litle gates 6. which are by the great gate T.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of ꝑ lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eastwarde and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward ꝑ North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof [were,] three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof [was] fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, [were] after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it [had] seuen steps and the arches thereof [were] before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court [stood] ouer against the gate toward the North, and towarde the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites.

24 After that he brought me toward the South, and loe, [there was] a gate towarde the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And [there were] windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about,

Vers. 19. The lower gate A. which had seuen steps, and the gate within eight I. betweene A. T. were 100. cubites, and had as much from South to North V.X.

Vers. 20. This must be considered in the great figure. The outwarde court in respect of the Temple M.R. The North side. The porche S. The court without T. The length of the porch with the chambers, as in the East side V.X.

The breadth 25. cubits Y.Z.

Vers. 23. The gate of the inner court B. ouer against the gate of the outward court R. and toward the East. c. An hundreth cubites R.B.

Vers. 24. The South gate in the great figure d. The outwarde court e.

like those windowes: the height [was] fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steps to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof [were] before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the poste thereof.

Verſ.27. The inner court gate, f An hundreth cubites. cf which was the length of a court, and his chambers.

27 ¶ And [there was] a gate in the inner court towarde the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundreth cubites.

Verſ.28. The inner court g. The eight steps are hid with the building, but they are like them of the East gate Q. for all the courtes were of one measure, quantitie and fa-ction.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and [there were] windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, [it was] fiftie cubites long and fiue and twentie cubites broade.

30 And the arches round about [were] fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof [were] towarde the vtter court, and palme trees [were] vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it [had] eight steppes.

Verſ.32. The inner court on the East side N. And so in all he maketh fiue courtes, two on the East side, two on the North, and two on the South side. Looke in the great figure.

32 ¶ Againe he brought me into the inner court towarde the East, and hee measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and [there were] windowes therein, and in the arches thereof, rounde about, [it was] fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broade.

34 And the arches thereof [were] towarde the vtter court, and palme trees [were] vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it [had] eight steppes.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, & [there were] windowes therein round about: the height [was] fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof [were] towarde the vtter court, and palme trees [were] vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it [had] eight steppes.

38 And [euery] chamber, and the entrie thereof [was] vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offring.

Verſ.38. He speaketh of fiue chambers, which were in the porche of the inner court on the North side i. The entrie of ꝑ chambers, that is, the vowes, were vnder the vpper postes or pentises, which hanged ouer the chambers, as also did ouer the gate. Looke in the great figure.

39 And in the porch of the gate [stoode] two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slewe the burnt offring, and the sinne offring, and the trespasse offring.

40 And at the side beyonde the steps, at the entrie of the North gate [stoode] two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate [were] two tables.

Verſ. 39. In the porch of the inner court were foure tables K. and as many in the outward court S. a cubite, and an halfe long and as broad, and one cubite bigg.

41 Foure tables [were] on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, [euen] eight tables whereupon they slewe [their sacrifice.]

42 And the foure tables [were] of hewen stone for the burnt offring, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they layde the instruments wherewith they slewe the burnt offring and the sacrifice.

The figure of the Temple.

43 And within [were] borders an hande broad, fastened round about, and vpō the tables [lay] the flesh of ꝑ offring.

Verſ.44. The chambers in the inner porch on the North side for the singers L. but the perspective hindereth the light, therefore beholde them which are in the East court for they are all alike: likewise on the South side. The Prophet was now 44 And without ꝑ inner gate [were] the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect [was] toward the South, [and] one [was] at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And he said vnto me. This chamber whose prospect is toward ꝑ South, in the East court, where hee sawe the altar measured, and describeth one rowe of chambers, which was for ꝑ Priestes. Verſ.45. He speaketh of the two rowes of chambers, which were in the inner court N. wherevpō they on the North side were for ꝑ Priestes that sacrificed O. and they on the South side for them that kept the Temple N. Which chambers were East and by South, as the other O. were East and by North. These must be seene in the great figure.

[ts]

[is] for the Priestes that haue charge to keepe the house.

Vers.47. The altar. p.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, [is] for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

Vers.48. He entred by the gate Q. to come into the porche of the Temple R. The which Temple is here described more at large, because the things here mentioned might the better be vnderstand.

47 So he measured ꝑ court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubits broad, [euen] foure square: likewise the altar [that was] before the house.

Vers.48. By the postes of the porche he meaneth the wall which was fiue cubites thicke on either side of the alley of porch 1.2. The two litle gates in the side of the porche 3.4. which were to goe to the 48 And he brought me to the porche of the house, and measured the postes of the porche, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate [was] three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porche [was] twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and [he brought me] by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and [there were] pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

Pyrelles chambers that were by the Temple, A.B. Vers. 49. The length of the porch twentie cubites 5. 6. And the breadth eleuen. 7.8. The steps whereby the Prophet came into the porch of the Temple. 9. 7. The two pillars 10.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

Vers. 1. The vpper postes or pentises, meaning the toppes of the chambers on the sides of the Temple A.B. The second chamber G. goeth out more then the first R. and the third A. more then the second.

AFterward, he brought me to the Temple, and measured the postes, fiue cubites broad on the one side, and fiue cubites broade on the other side, [which was] the breadth of the Tabernacle.

Vers. 2. The breadth of the entrie or gate 10. cubites C.D. Fiue cubites from the Temple wall to the gate on either side E.C. D.F. the length of fourtie cubites from the Temple gate to the most holy place 8.1. The breadth of the Temple 20. cubites. E.F. & G.P. He speaketh not here of the height: therefore it is made of 30. cubites according to Salomons. Vers.3. The Angel went into the most holy place. The poll of the entrie that is the thyelholde, or thickenes of the wall H. I. The gate 6. cubites K.L. The breadth on either side the gate 7. cubites M.K. & L.N. which make in all 20. cubites. Vers.4. The length 20. cubites G.O. for it was square. Vers.5. The first chamber was 4. cubites Q.R. The seconde 5, S.T. and the thirde 6. A.B. There were three heighres or stages of chambers R.S.A. The turning staire can not be shewed in the figure, but may easely be conceiued.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie [were] fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went he in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fiue cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he sayde vnto mee, This is the most holy place.

5 After, he measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of [euery] chamber foure cubites round about the house, on euery side.

6 And the chambers [were] chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote [high], & they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was rounde about the house, that [the postes] might be fastened [therein], and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large and went rounde mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house [was] mounting vpward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpwarde: so they went vp from ꝑ lowest [chamber] to the hiest by the middes.

8 I sawe also the house hie rounde about: the foundations of the chambers [were] a full reede of sixe great cubites.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, [was] fiue cubites, and that which remained, [was] the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenesse of twentie cubites rounde about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers [were] toward the place that remained, one doore towarde the North, and an other doore toward the South, and the breadth of ꝑ place that remained, [was] fiue cubites round about.

12 Nowe the building that was before the separate place towarde the west corner, [was] seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundreth cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof [were] an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house & of the separate place toward the East, [was] an hundreth cubites.

15 And he measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with [ceder] wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

Vers.8. The foundations of fire cubites, meaning the the chamber was so, and nether from thence seemeth so likewise by a perpendicular line or plomet B.Z.

Vers. 9. The chamber without was the hie chamber, and from that chamber the wall was but 5. cubits thicke B.X.Y. for downeward it was fiue. Q. 6.

Vers.10. The chambers on the one side, were distant from them on the other side 20. cubites, which was the breadth of the Temple.

Vers.11. The doores of the chambers on the North side, opened toward the North. V. and they on the Southside towarde the South R. for there was an alley of 5. cubites round about the Temple V.Z. and was so closed with a wall, 11.

Vers.12. The building, or the great place compassed with a wall of 5. cubites thicke, and was farther of the Temple then the alley, or separate place *, and this is more plainely set forth in the great figure.

Vers.13. He declareth that whatsoeuer was of stone worke from the bottome to the top was couered with wood on the East, South, and North side.

17 And from aboue the dooze vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was [ſieled accozding] to the meaſure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, ſo that a palme tree [was] betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and [euery] Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man [was] toward the palme tree on the one ſide, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other ſide: [thus] was it made throughout all the houſe round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the dooze [were] Cherubims & palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The poſtes of the Temple were ſquared, [and] thus to looke vnto [was] the ſimilitude [&] fozme of the ſanctuarie.

Verſ. 22. The altar V. which was three cubites high Y.X. and two cubites long Y.Z.

22 The altar of wood [was] three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the cozners thereof and the length thereof & the ſides thereof [were] of wood. And he ſaide vnto me, This is the table that ſhall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doozes.

24 And the doozes had two wickets, [euen] two turning wickets, two wickets foz one dooze, and two wickets foz another dooze.

25 And vpon the doozes of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and [there were] thicke plankes vpon the fozefront of the porch without.

26 And [there were] narrowe windowes and palme trees on the one ſide, and on the other ſide, by the ſides of the porch, and [vpon] the ſides of the houſe, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple foz the Prieſtes, and the holy things.

Verſ. 1. Having deſcribed the length and breadth of the Temple, he commeth to the outwarde court on the Fozthſide T. This appeareth in the great figure. Hee brought me into the chamber: that is, the rowe of chambers, which were toward the ſeparate place Weſtwarde t.

THen brought he mee into the vtter court by ꝑ way toward the Nozth, and hee brought mee into the chamber that was ouer against the ſeparate place, and which was before the building towarde the Nozth.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubites, [was] the Nozth dooze, and [it was] fiftie cubites broade.

3 Ouer against the twentie [cubites] which were foz the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was foz the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers [was] a gallerie of ten cubites wide, [and] within [was] a way of one cubite, and their doozes toward the Nozth.

Verſ. 4. This gallerie appeareth in ꝑ great figure by this number 12.

5 Nowe the chambers aboue were narower: foz thoſe chambers [ſeemed] to eate vp theſe, [to wit,] the lower, and thoſe that were in the middes of the building.

Verſ. 5. Theſe chambers were contrarie facioned to them of the Temple.

6 Foz they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefoze there was a difference from them beneath and from the middemoſt, [euen] from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, towarde the vtter court on the fozefront of the chambers, [was] fiftie cubites long.

8 Foz the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, [was] fiftie cubites: and lo, before the Temple [were] an hundreth cubites.

Verſ. 8. So that the wall foz the chambers of the outward court and the wall of the inner, was either fiftie cubites, and the whole court an hundreth.

9 And vnder theſe chambers [was] the entrie, on the Eaſtſide, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

Verſ. 9. Vnder theſe chambers were entries, oz doozes to paſſe from one place to another, which are noted euer by z. in the great figure.

10 The chambers [were] in the thickeneſſe of the wall of the court towarde the Eaſt, ouer against the ſeparate place, and ouer against the building.

Verſ. 10. 11. The chambers p. of the Eaſt court M. were like to the chambers of the Nozth court.

11 And the way before them [was] after the maner of the chambers, which were towarde the Nozth, as long as they, [and] as broade as they: and all their entries were like, both accoding to their facions, and accoding to their doozes.

12 And accoding to the doozes of the chambers that were towarde ꝑ South, [was] a dooze in the cozner of the way, [euen] the way directly before the wall toward the Eaſt, as one entreth.

13 Then ſaid he vnto me, The Nozth chambers [and] the South chambers which are before the ſeparate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Prieſtes that approche vnto the Lozde, ſhall eate the moſt holy things: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the meate offring, and the ſinne offring, and the treſpaſſe offring: foz the place [is] holy.

Verſ. 13. Which chambers were in the Eaſt gate towarde the Nozth and South z. and toward the ſeparate place oz backe building 4. which chambers are called holy, becauſe they were by the Temple.

14 When the Prieſtes enter therein, they ſhall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they ſhal lay their garments wherein they miniſter: foz they are holy, [and] ſhal put on other garments, and ſo ſhall approche to thoſe things, which are foz the people.

Verſ. 2. Hee meaneth that the Nozth wag an hundreth cubites long x.y. and in breadth fiftie b.X.

15 Nowe

15 Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me foorth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundreth reedes, [euen] with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured [also] the North side, fiue hundreth reedes, [euen] with the measuring reede round about.

‖Or, winde.

18 And he measured the South ‖ side fiue hundreth reedes with ꝑ measuring reede.

19 He turned about [also] to the west side, [&] measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth [reedes] long, and fiue hundreth broade to make a separation betweene ꝑ Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 Hee seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 Hee is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward he brought me to the gate, [euen] the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie.

3 And the vision which I saw [was] *like the vision, [euen] as the vision that I saw [a] when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions [were] like the vision that I sawe by the river Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

Chap.9.3.

a When I prophesied the destruction of the citie by the Caldeans.

4 And the [b] glory of the Lorde came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

b Which was departed afore, Chap.10.4. and 11.22.

5 So ꝑ Spirit tooke me vp & brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stoode a man by me, c By their idolatries.

7 Which said vnto me, Sonne of mã, [this] place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more [c] defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of [d] their Kings [in] their high places.

d He alludeth to Ammon and Manasseh, who were buried in their gardens neere the Temple and there had erected vp monuments to their Idoles.

8 Albeit they set their thresholdes by my thresholdes, and their postes by my postes (for there [was but] a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holie name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Nowe [therefore] let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shewe this house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednesse, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shewe them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, and the whole facion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole facion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the * description of ꝑ house, [It shalbe] vpon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof rounde about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

*Ebr. lawe.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubits, the cubite [is] a cubite, and an hand breadth, euen the bottome [shalbe] a cubite, & the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof rounde about [shalbe] a spanne: and this [shalbe] the height of the altar.

Verse.13. The middes of bottome A. which was a cubite bie B. C. and a cubite hyoade. B. D.

The figure of the Altar.

14 And from the bottome [which toucheth] the grounde to the lower piece [shalbe] two cubits, and the breadth one

Verse.14. The lower piece which standeth on the bottome and is the middlemost piece and vnder the hyest, is two cubites D.E. The breadth one cubite E.F. From the little piece which was the seconde to the hyest foure cubites F. G.

cubite,

cubite, ‡ from the little piece to the great piece [shalbe] foure cubits, ‡ the breadth one cubite.

Ver.15. Foure cubites, meaning the vpper part of the altar. F. G.

15 So the altar [shalbe] foure cubits, and from the altar vpwarde [shalbe] foure hornes.

Ver.16. Length and breadth G. H. I. K. which note also the 4. hornes of the altar.

16 And the altar [shalbe] twelue [cubits] long, and twelue broade, ‡ foure square in the foure corners thereof.

Ver.17. The frame whereupon the vpper piece stood, is 14. cubites: for on euery side it is longer by a cubite then the vppermost E. L. I. M.

17 And the frame [shalbe] fourteene [cubits] long, and fourteene broade in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it [shalbe] halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof [shalbe] a cubite about, and the steppes thereof [shalbe] turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer ᵖ burnt offring thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, [and] to the Leuites, that be of the seede of Zadok, which approche vnto me, to minister vnto me, saith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offring.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou clense it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offring, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goate without blemish for a sinne offring, and they shall clense the altar, as they did clense it with ᵖ bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an ende of clensing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shal offer them for a burnt offring vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goate for a sinne offring: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of ᵖ flocke, without blemish.

‡Ebr. fill his hand.

26 Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and clense it, and ‡ consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, ᵖ Priests shall make your burnt offrings vpon the altar, and your peace offrings, and I will accept you, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

Ver.1. The East gate D. in the great figure.

Then he brought me towarde the gate of the outwarde Sanctuarie, which turneth toward ᵖ East, ‡ it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shalbe [a] shut, [and] shall not be opened, and no man shal enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

a Meaning, from the common people, but not from the Priests, nor the prince, reade Chap. 46.8.9.

3 [It appertaineth] to the Prince: the Prince him selfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lorde: he shall enter by the way of the porche of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he me toward the North gate before the house: and when I looked, beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lorde, and I fell vpon my face.

‡Ebr. set thine heart.

5 And the Lord said vnto me, Sonne of man, ‡ marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of ᵖ house with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, [euen] to the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lorde God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of all your abominations, b For they had brought idolaters which were of other countreys, to teach them their idolatrie, Chap. 23.40.

7 Seeing, that ye haue brought into my Sanctuarie [b] strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuarie, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, [euen] fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations.

c Ye haue not offred vnto me according to my Lawe.

8 For ye haue not kept the [c] ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set [other] to take the charge of my Sanctuarie.

d The Leuites which had committed idolatrie were put from their dignitie and could not be receiued into the Priestes office, although they had beene of the house of Aaron, but must serue in the inferior offices, as to watch and to keepe the doores, reade 2. King. 23.9.

9 Thus saith the Lorde God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the [d] Leuites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idoles, but they shal beare their iniquitie.

11 And

This figure, mentioned in the notes of the 40.41.42.44.46. and 47. Chapters, is here placed as in the middes, after the other figures, because it doeth, as it were, conteine them.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the house: they shall slay the burnt offring and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shal beare their iniquitie, 13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to do the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the house, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shalbe done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that [c] kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fatte and the blood, sayth the Lorde God.

[c] Which obserued the law of God, and fell not to idolatrie.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, & they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shalbe clothed with linen garments, and no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linen bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not gird themselues in þ sweating [places.]

19 But when they goe forth into the vtter court, [euen] to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and laye them in the holie chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also [f] shaue their heads, nor suffer their lockes to growe long, [but] round their heads.

[f] As did the infidels and heathen.

21 *Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into þ inner court.

Leuit.10.9.

22 Neither shall they take for their *wiues a widowe, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maydens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

Leuit.21.13, 14.

23 And they shall teach my people [the difference] betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: & they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

Leuit. 21.1, 2,11.

25 *And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselues, except at [their] father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: [in these] may they [g] be defiled.

[g] They may be at their buriall, which was a defiling.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes.

27 And when he goeth into þ Sanctuarie vnto the inner courte to minister in the Sanctuarie, he shall offer his sinne offring, sayth the Lord God.

28 *And the [priesthood] shalbe their inheritãce, [yea,] I am their inheritãce: therefore shall ye giue them no possession in Israel, [for] I am their possession.

Deut.18.1. nomb.18.20,

29 They shall eate the meate offring, and the sinne offring, and the trespas offring, and euery dedicate thing in Israel shalbe theirs.

30 *And all the first of all þ first borne, and euery oblation, [euen] all of euery sort of your oblations shalbe the Priests. Ye shal also giue vnto the Priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house.

Exod.13.2. and 22.29. and 34.19. nomb. 3.13.

31 The Priests shall not eate of any thing, that is *dead, or torne, whether it be foule or beast.

Exod.22.31. leuit.22.8.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of hymnes are there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the Prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruites, &c.

MOreouer whē ye shall deuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an [a] holy portion of the land, fiue and twentie thousande reedes long, and ten thousand broade: this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about.

[a] Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for þ Priests, for the citie and for the prince.

2 Of this there shalbe for the Sanctuarie fiue hundreth [in length] with fiue hundreth [in breadth,] all square round about, and fiftie cubites round about for the suburbes thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shalbe the Sanctuarie, [and] the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priestes, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serue the Lord: and it shalbe a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in þ fiue & twentie thousand of length, & the ten thousād of breadth shall the Leuites þ minister in þ house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint þ possession of the citie, fiue thousand broade, and fiue and twentie thousand long ouer against the the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shalbe for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, [euen] before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the west corner westwarde, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length [shall be] by one of the portions from the west border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and [the rest] of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lorde God, Let it [b] suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saieth the Lord God.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true [c] Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall: a Bath shall conteine the tenth part of an Homer, & an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall be after the Homer.

12 *And the shekel [shall be] twentie gerahs, [and] twentie shekels, and [d] fiue and twentie shekels and fiftene shekels shall be your Maneh.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barly.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, [euen] of the Bath of oyle, [ye shall offer] the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths [are] an Homer: for ten Baths [fill] an Homer)

15 And one lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offring, & for a burnt offring and for peace offrings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall [giue] this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to giue burnt offrings, and meate offrings, and drinke offrings in the solemne feasts and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, [and] in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel: hee shall prepare the sinne offring, and the meate offring, and the burnt offring, and the peace offrings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first [moneth], in the first [day] of the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and clense the Sanctuarie. [c] Which was Nisan, conteining part of March & part of Appil.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offring, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure [|] corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court. |Or, court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth [day] of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

21 *In the first [moneth] in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, [and] ye shall eate vnleauened bread. Exod.12.18. leuit.23.5.

22 And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for himselfe, & for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offring.

23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast hee shall make a burnt offring to the Lorde, [euen] of seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offring.

24 And he shall prepare a meate offring of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an [f] Hin of oyle for an Ephah. [f] Reade Exod. 29.40.

25 In the seuenth [moneth], in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offring, according to the burnt offring, and according to the meate offring, and according to the oyle.

b The Hebrue phrase theweth that the heads must be first reformed afore any good order can be established among the people.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantitie, saue that Ephah conteined in dric things, & which Bath did in licour. Leuit.5.11. 1.King.5.11. Exod.30.13. leuit.27.25. nom.3.47.

d That is, threescore shekels make a weight called Pina: for he tooketh these three parts to a Pina.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe moones.
8 Thyrough which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus saith the Lorde God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth towarde the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, & in the day of the newe moone it shall be opened. Vers.1. The inner court gate whereunto they went vp by eight steps, as appeareth in the great figure.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offring, and his peace offrings, and he shal worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the lande shall worshipp at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones.

4 And the burnt offring that ꝑ prince shall offer vnto the Lorde on the Sabbath day, [shalbe] sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offring [shalbe] an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offring for the lambes [a] gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe moone [it shalbe] a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambs and a ramme: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offring, [euen] an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he shal think good.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shal go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

Vers. 9 He that entreth in by the North gate R. shall goe out by the South gate D. and contrary, and in going forward they worshipped in the midst M.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lorde in the solemne feastes, he that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall go forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall go forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the midst of them: he shall go in when they go in, and when they go forth, they shall go forth [together.]

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities the meat offring shalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, & an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offring or peace offrings freely vnto the Lord, one shal then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offring and his peace offrings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offring vnto the Lorde of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offring for it euery morning, the first part of an Ephah, & the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine floure: [this] meate offring shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto ꝑ Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meat offring and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offring.

16 ¶ Thus saith ꝑ Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, [and it shall be their possession by inheritance.]

c Which was at the Jubie, Leui. 25.9.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the [c] yere of libertie: after, it shal returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45.8. Vers. 19. He describeth the Priests chambers, which were at the side of the Temple toward the North: and so commeth to a place, which was on the West side S. which vers. 21. is called the vtter court, in respect of the inner court, as also where the people were, was the vtter court in respect of this inner.

18 Moreouer ꝑ prince shall not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: [but] he shall cause his sonnes to inherite of his owne possession, that my people be not scattred euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the west side of them.

20 Then sayde he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seethe the trespasse offring & the sinne offring, where they shall bake the meat offring, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

c That ꝑ people should not haue to do with those thinges which apperteine to the Lord, & thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and caused me to go by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court there [was] a court.

Vers. 21. The litle court in euery corner, was fourtie cubites long, 7, 8. and thirtie hyoad, 8, 9. and 7, 9.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courtes ioyned of fourtie [cubites] long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

Vers. 23. About the walles of these litle courtes, which were as kitchins, were litle chambers for the cookes, 10.

23 And there [went] a wall about them, [euen] about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder ꝑ walles round about.

24 Then said he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seeth the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The diuision of ꝑ waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coasts of the land of Iyames, & the diuision thereof by tribes.

Vers. 1. The doore of the Temple Rann from vnder the threshold issued out waters.

AFterwarde hee brought me vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, [a] waters issued out from vnder ꝑ threshold waters, which came out of the Southside, and ranne toward the East. Looke in the great figure 11. a Whereby are meant the Spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdome of Christ, of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house [stoode] towarde the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

of

2 Then brought he me out towarde the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastwarde: and behold, there came foorth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went foorth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought mee through the waters: the waters [were] to the ancles.

4 Againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters [were] to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, & brought me through: the waters [were] to ṕ loynes.

5 Afterwarde he measured a thousand, [and it was] a [b] riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, [and] the waters did flowe, [as] a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer [were] very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall go into [one] [d] sea: they shall runne into [another] sea, and the [e] waters shall be wholsome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, whereseoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholsome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the [f] fishers shall stande vpon it, [and] from En-gedi euen vnto [g] En-eglaim, they shall spread out their nets: [for] their fish shall be according to their kindes, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholsome: they shall be made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shal growe all ‖ fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruite thereof fayle: it shall bring forth newe fruite according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuarie: and the fruite thereof shall be meate, and ṕ leafe thereof shalbe for ‖ medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saieth the Lorde God, This shall be the border, whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Joseph shall haue [two] portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hande to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fal vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border [k] of the land towarde the North side, from the mayne sea toward Hethlon as men go to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, [ṕ] Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall be Hazar, Enan, [and] the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so [shalbe] the North part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, & from the land of Israel by Jorden, [and] from the border vnto the East sea: and so [shalbe] ṕ East part.

19 And the Southside [shall be] toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of [Meriboth in] Kadesh, [and] the riuer to the mayne sea: so [shall be] the South part toward Teman.

20 The west part also [shall be] the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the west part.

21 So shall ye deuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall deuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, & to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shal be vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, [l] they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lottes of the tribes. 9 The partes of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie and of the Prince are rehearsed.

a Signifying that the graces of God should neuer decrease but euer abound in his Church.
b Meaning the multitude of them that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.
c Meaning that the multitude of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full thereof, which is here meant by the Persian sea or Genezareth, and the sea called Mediterranean, Zech.14.8.
d The waters which of nature are salt and vnwholsome, shalbe made sweete, and comfortable.
e Signifying that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance, the ministers shall by their preaching winne many.
f Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.
g They shall be here of all sortes, and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are dyed.
h That is, the wicked and reprobate.
i Or, tree formeate.
k By the land of promise he signifieth the spirituall land whereof this was a figure.
l Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iewe nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.
* Gen.48.22.
* Gen.12.7.& 13.15.& 15.18.& 26.4. deut.34.4.
‖ Or, for bruses and sores.

NOwe these are the names of the [a] tribes. From the North side, to ỳ coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, [and] the border of Damascus Northwarde the coast of Hamath, euen [from] the East side to the West shall be a [portion] for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a [portion] for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a [portion] for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a [portion] for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side a [portion] for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a [portion] for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a [portion] for Judah.

8 And by the border of Judah from the East part vnto the West part [b] shall be the offring which they shall offer of fiue & twentie thousand [reedes] broad, and of length as one of ỳ [other] partes, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shall be in the midst of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, [shall be] of fiue & twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, [euen] for the Priests shall be this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twenty thousand [long,] and toward the West, ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, & the Sanctuarie of the Lorde shall be in the midst thereof.

11 [It shall be] for the Priests that are sanctified of ỳ sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray. Chap. 44. 15.

12 Therefore [this] oblation of ỳ land that is offred, shalbe theirs, [as] a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests the Leuites [shall haue] fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length [shall be] fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruites of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shall be in the middes thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbes of the citie shall be toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth & fiftie, and toward the East two hundreth and fiftie, & towarde the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion [shalbe] ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shalbe ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the encrease thereof shalbe for foode vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, [shall be] of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation [shall be] fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

21 And the residue [shall be] for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, & Westward ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against [shall be] for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie [shall be] in the middes thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the midst shalbe the princes: betweene the border [c] of Judah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes [shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part a The tribes after that they entred into the land vnder Iosua, diuided the land somewhat otherwise then is here set forth by this vision.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be diuided into three partes: for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

d Euery way it shalbe fiue and twentie thousand.

c So that Judah was on the North side of the Princes and Leuites portions, and Beniamin on ỳ South side.

part Beniamin [shalbe a portion.]

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the west side Simeon [a portion.]

25 And by ẏ border of Simeon from the East part vnto the west part, Issha-char [a portion.]

26 And by the border of Isshachar from the East side vnto the west, Zebu-lun [a portion.]

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the west part, Gad [a portion.]

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Temath, the bor-der shalbe euen from [g] Tamar [vnto] the waters of Meribath [in] Kadesh, [and] to the [h] riuer, [that runneth] into the maine sea.

29 This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie [shall be] after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reu-ben, one gate of Judah, [and] one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benia-min, [and] one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hun-dreth and foure thousand measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, [and] one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the west side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand, [with] their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, [and] one gate of Naphtali.

35 [It was] roumde about eighteene thousande [measures,] and the name of the citie from that day [shall be,] [‡] The Lord is there.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.

g Which was Jericho the citie of palme trees.

h Meaning, Nilus that runneth into the sea called Mediterra-neum.

‡ Ebr. Iehouah shammah.

Daniel.

The Argvment.

THE great prouidence of God, and his singular mercie towarde his Church are most liuely here set foorth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whome he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the worlde, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certeine nomber of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices shoulde cease, because hee shoulde be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christes office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, hee will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Jehoiakim King of Judah. 4 The King chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They haue the Kings opinarie appointed. 8 But they ab-staine from it.

a Reade, 2. King. 24. 1. and 2. Chro. 36. 5.

IN the [a] thirde yeere of the reigne of Jehoiakim King of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babel vnto Jerusa-lem, and besieged it.

b Which was a plaine by Ba-bylon, where was the Tem-ple of their great god, and is here taken for Baby-lon.

2 And the Lorde gaue Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the lande of [b] Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

c Who was as master of the wardes.

d He calleth them Eu-nuches whome the King nou-rished and brought vp to be rulers of other countries afterwarde.

3 And the King spake vnto [c] Ashpe-naz the master of his [d] Eunuches, that he should bring certeine of the children of Israel, of the [e] Kings seede, and of the princes:

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostag-es, and that he might shewe himselfe victo-rious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fa-uour rather him then the

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well [f] fauoured, and instruct in all wisdome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, & such as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whome they might teach the [g] lear-ning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their lande: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, seeing other vnto to procure hurt to these noble men. f The King required three things, that they shoulde be of noble birth, that they shoulde be witte and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better ser-uice: this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberal-itie: yet in this he is worthie prayse, that hee esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrie facions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godlye: in all pointes he refused the abuse of things and superstition, in so much that he would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

5 And the king appointed them por-

part Beniamin [shalbe a portion.]

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the west side Simeon [a portion.]

25 And by ẏ border of Simeon from the East part vnto the west part, Issha-char [a portion.]

26 And by the border of Isshachar from the East side vnto the west, Zebu-lun [a portion.]

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the west part, Gad [a portion.]

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Temath, the bor-der shalbe euen from [g] Tamar [vnto] the waters of Meribath [in] Kadesh, [and] to the [h] riuer, [that runneth] into the maine sea.

29 This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie [shall be] after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reu-ben, one gate of Judah, [and] one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benia-min, [and] one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hun-dreth and foure thousand measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, [and] one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the west side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand, [with] their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, [and] one gate of Naphtali.

35 [It was] roumde about eighteene thousande [measures,] and the name of the citie from that day [shall be,] [‡] The Lord is there.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.

g Which was Jericho the citie of palme trees.

h Meaning, Nilus that runneth into the sea called Mediterra-neum.

‡ Ebr. Iehouah shammah.

Daniel.

The Argvment.

THE great prouidence of God, and his singular mercie towarde his Church are most liuely here set foorth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whome he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the worlde, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certeine nomber of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices shoulde cease, because hee shoulde be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christes office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, hee will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Jehoiakim King of Judah. 4 The King chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They haue the Kings opinarie appointed. 8 But they ab-staine from it.

a Reade, 2. King. 24. 1. and 2. Chro. 36. 5.

IN the [a] thirde yeere of the reigne of Jehoiakim King of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babel vnto Jerusa-lem, and besieged it.

b Which was a plaine by Ba-bylon, where was the Tem-ple of their great god, and is here taken for Baby-lon.

2 And the Lorde gaue Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the lande of [b] Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

c Who was as master of the wardes.

d He calleth them Eu-nuches whome the King nou-rished and brought vp to be rulers of other countries afterwarde.

3 And the King spake vnto [c] Ashpe-naz the master of his [d] Eunuches, that he should bring certeine of the children of Israel, of the [e] Kings seede, and of the princes:

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostag-es, and that he might shewe himselfe victo-rious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fa-uour rather him then the

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well [f] fauoured, and instruct in all wisdome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, & such as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whome they might teach the [g] lear-ning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their lande: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, seeing other vnto to procure hurt to these noble men. f The King required three things, that they shoulde be of noble birth, that they shoulde be witte and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better ser-uice: this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberal-itie: yet in this he is worthie prayse, that hee esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrie facions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godlye: in all pointes he refused the abuse of things and superstition, in so much that he would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

5 And the king appointed them poruision euery day of a [a] portion of ỳ kings meat, and of the wine, which he dranke, to nourishing them [i] three yere, that at the ende thereof, they might stand [k] before the King.

6 Nowe among these were [certaine] of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mithael and Azariah.

7 Unto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches [l] gaue [other] names: for he called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, & Mithael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee woulde not [m] defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Nowe God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches said vnto Daniel, [n] I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therfore if he see your faces woorse liking then the [other] children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then sayde Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mithael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy seruants, I beseech thee, [o] ten dayes, and let them giue vs [p] pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So hee consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of ten dayes, their [q] countenances appeared fayrer, and in [‡] better liking then all ỳ childrens, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning: and wisdome: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all [r] visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was [s] expired, that ỳ king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mithael, and Azariah: therefore stoode they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisedome, [and] vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better then all the inchaters [and] astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto [u] the first yere of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The King commaundeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine because they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the King and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

AND in the [a] second yere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar [b] dreamed dreames wherewith his spirite was [c] troubled, and his [d] sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers, and the [e] Caldeans for to shew the king his dreames: so they came and stoode before the king.

3 And the King saide vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the [f] Aramites language, O king, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shewe the interpretation.

5 [And] the king answered and saide to the Caldeās, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstand the dreame with ỳ interpretation thereof, ye [g] shalbe drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.

h That by their good intertainment they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.
i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of ỳ Caldeans, and also their tongue.
k As well to serue at the table, as in other offices.
l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrāce of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.
m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward he did eate) but because the king shoulde not entise him by this sweete poison, to forget his religion and accustomed sobrietie, and that in his meate and drinke hee might haply remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, & at length called him to be a Prophet.
n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrarie to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he reprehendeth them, which are of no religion: for neither hee woulde condemne theirs nor maintaine his owne.
o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to discerne it: and thus he spake, being mooued by the Spirit of God.
p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate beanie meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby bene wonne to ỳe King and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed.
q This bare feeding and that allo of Moses when he fled from the courte of Egypt, declareth that we must liue in such sobrietie, as God doth call us vnto, seeing he will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth.
‡ Ebr. fatter in flesh.
r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall arees which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.
s So that he onely was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Numb. 12. 6.
t Of the three yeres aboue mentioned, vers. 5.
u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as the cōmon wealth stoode.
a The father and the sonne were both called by this name: so that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.
b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame.
c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame that he had not had the like.
d He was so heauie with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him.
e For all these astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour, as though all the wisenome and knowledge of the countrie depended vpon them, and that all other countries were voyde of the same.
f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, g This is a iust reward of their arrogancie (which banted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they shoulde be prooued fooles, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me giftes and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and saide, Let the king shewe [h] his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 [Then] the king answered, and said, I know certeinly that ye [‡] would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell mee the dreame, that I may knowe, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 [Then] the Caldeans answered before the king, [‡] said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor prince nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ℭ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they [i] sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the kings [‖] chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 [Yea,] he answered and said vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leasure and that he would shewe the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ℭ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mithael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseeche the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and saide, *The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his,

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkenes, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed me nowe the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 ℭ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had [n] ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and sayde thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, [but] bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and saide thus vnto him, I haue founde a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Beltechazzar, Art thou able to shewe me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demaunded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, [nor] the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reuealeth secretes, and sheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what shall be in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things, which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughtes came into thy [minde,] what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reuealeth secrets telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As [p] for me, this secret is not shewed me for any wisdome that I haue, more h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their bragges, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, & therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but meere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthie to die.

‡ Ebr. redeeme the time.

i Which declareth, that God would not haue his seruant ioyned in the companie of these sorcerers & astrologers, whose artes were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the King did it vpon a rage, and no zeale.

‖ Or, the captaine of the garde.

Psal. 113.2. and 115.18.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisedome nor knowledge, but very darke blindenes, and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth only of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whome thou madest thy promes, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpete it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as Dan. 13, and the rest at Daniels offer were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, & not considering, if there science were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason, and art is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the King with a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the hie mysteries that should be reuealed.

p Because he had saide that God only must reueile the significatis of this dreame, § King might haue asked, why Daniel did enterpisse to enterpret it, and therefore he sheweth, that he was but Gods minister, and had no giftes, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glorie.

then any other liuing, but onely to shew the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughtes of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and beholde, there [was] a great image: this great image whose glorie was so excellent, stoode before thee, and the forme thereof [was] terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] gold, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, [and] his feete [were] part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the sommer floures, & the winde caried them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a King of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glorie.

38 And in all [places] where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art this head of golde.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, [r] inferiour to thee, [of siluer,] and another [s] third kingdome [shalbe] of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shalbe strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, [so] shall it breake in [u] pieces, and bruise [all.]

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shalbe [x] deuided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, [and] earth.

42 And [as] [y] the toes of the feete [were] part of yron, and part of clay, [so] shall the kingdome bee partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay, & earth, they shal mingle themselues with [z] the seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron can not be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which [a] shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the [b] stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and the golde: [so] the great God hath shewed the King, What shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame [is] true, and the interpretation thereof [is] sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [c] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meate offerings, and sweete odours vnto him.

47 [Also] the king answered vnto Daniel, and saide, [I know] of a trueth that your [d] God is a God of gods, & the Lord of Kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great [e] giftes. Hee made him gouernour ouer the whole prounce of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, [and] aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [f] made request to the King, and her set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prounce of Babel: but Daniel [tarie] in the [g] gate of the King.

[q] By gold, siluer, brasse and yron, are ment the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Romane kingdome, which should successiuely rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not ende with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should be at the ende of this fourth monarchie.

[r] Daniel learneth out the kingdome of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a monarchie and generall empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome, the golden head, breause in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruel.

[s] Meaning, the Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, & riches, but were woorse touching ambitio, cruelnes, and all kinde of vice: shewing, that the world should grow woorse, & woorse, till it was reformed by Christ.

[t] That is, of the Macedonians shalbe of brasse, not alluding to the hardnes thereof, but to the vilenes in respect of siluer.

[u] That is, the Romane empire shall subdue all these other forenamed, which after Alexander were deuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

[x] They shall haue cruell warres and continuall discordes among themselues.

[y] They shall by marriages, and affinities thinke to make themselues strong: yet shal they neuer be ioyned in hearres.

[z] His purpose is to shew that all the kingdomes of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

[a] Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small, and without beautie to mans iudgement, but shoulde at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verf. 35. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shall be eternall: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternall, Rom. 8. 10.

[b] Though this humbling of the King seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

[c] This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exo. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.

[d] Not that the Prophet was desirous of giftes or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuitie, and also be receiued them, least he should offend this cruel King, which willingly gaue them.

[e] Hee did not this for their priuate profite, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release and ease by this benefite.

[f] Meaning, that either he was a singer, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the light of the miracle.

Nebuchad-

2 Vnder pretence of religion, and holines in making an image to his idole Bel, he sought his owne ambition and vaine glory: and this declareth that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but, that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are ouercome with the greatnes of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteene yeeres after ẏ dreame, and as may appeare, the king feared least the Iewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his comon wealth, and therefore hee went to lying all to one kind of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnes, then Gods glory. b Shewing, that the idole is not knowne for an idole so long as he is vsed of the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are receiued, and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approue their religion, if the kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit. d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude and the cruelnie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednes, allowed them: and here the King required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by litle and litle learne to forget their true religion, NEbuchad-nezzar the king made a an image of golde, whose height [was] threescore cubits, [and] ẏ breadth thereof sixe cubits: he set it vp in ẏ plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the b dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the c king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and al the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloude, Be it knowen to you, O people, d nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote firie fornace.

7 Therefore assone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fel downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of ẏ Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 [For] they spake and sayd to ẏ king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare ẏ sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe, and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the middes of an hote firie fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, c Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in [his] anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 [And] Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, what disorder: Will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp?

15 f Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe, & worship the image, which I haue made: for if ye worship it not, ye shalbe cast immediatly into the middes of an hote firie fornace: for Who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to ẏ king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, We g are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serue, is h able to deliuer vs from the hote firie fornace, and he will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowen to thee, O king, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded ẏ they should heate the fornace at once seuen i times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, [and] to cast them into the hote firie fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their e It seemeth, that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking of these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of executing this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying that he would receiue them to grace, if they would nowe at the length obey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue bowed in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

h They grein on two points, first on the power, and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glorie, and the testifying of his true religion, with their blood, and so make open confession that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatrie. i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shewe themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience and constancie to abide the cruelte of their punishment: for either he deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

coates,

coates, their hosen, & their clokes, with their [other] garments, and cast into the middes of the hote firie fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandement was strait, that the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slewe those men ‖ brought forth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego.

23 And these three men Shadrach, Meshach & Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote firie fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar ‖ king was astonied and rose vp in haste, [and] spake, and saide vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? who answered and said vnto ‖ king, It is true, O king.

25 [And] he answered, and saide, Lo, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, & they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the [k] sonne of God.

26 Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote firie fornace, [and] spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, the seruants of the hie God, go forth & come [hither:] so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego [l] came forth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes & dukes, and the kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an heare of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smel of fire came vpon them.

28 [Wherefore] Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, [m] Blessed [be] the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation & language, which speake any [n] blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shall be drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a ‖ stakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king ‖ promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the ‖ prounce of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar king vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the ○ world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! [p] his kingdome [is] an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion [is] from generation to generation.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth howe of a proud King he should become as a beast. 31 After, he confesseth the power of God and is restored to his former dignitie.

[1] Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a [b] dreame, which made me afraide, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but [c] they could not shewe me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name [was] [d] Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, [saying,]

6 O Belteshazzar, [e] chiefe of the enchanters, because I knowe, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus [were] the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I sawe a [f] tree in the middes of the earth and the height thereof [was] great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the endes of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof [were] faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of god, because of their excellencie: therefore the King called this Angel, who God sent to comfort his in these great torments, ‖ sonne of God.

l This commeneth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time was appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth.

m Hee was moued by the greatnes of the miracle to prayse God, but his heart was not conuerted. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefely be adiopned, without the which there can be no faith.

n If this heathen King moued by Gods Spirit, would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but made a law, and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that profesle religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, least according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended.

p Read, Chap. 3. 44.

a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which he sawe of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it ment: and here he onely expounderh the dreame.

c In that that he sent aboade to others, whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessitie, and then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile soule, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be nombred among the sorcerers and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods worde.

f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a king, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinds of men, and whole state is profitable for mankinde.

10 I sawe

10 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a [g] watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen,

11 And cryed aloude, and saide thus, Hewe downe ꝑ tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse [binde it] among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion [be] with the beasts among the grasse of the fielde.

13 [h] Let his heart be changed from mans [nature,] and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 [i] The sentence [is] according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of ꝑ holy ones: the demande [was answered,] to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that ꝑ most high hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom so euer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, [that] I king Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirite of the holie gods [is] in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name [was] Belteshazzar) helde his [k] peace by the space of one houre, & his thoughts troubled him, [and] the king spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither ꝑ dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and saide, My lorde, the dreame [be] to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues [were] faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the fielde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnes is growe, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Where as the king sawe a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, & said, Hewe downe ꝑ tree and destroy it, yet leaue ꝑ stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron & brasse [bind it] among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the fielde, [l] till seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This [is] ꝑ interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of ꝑ most high, which is come vpon my lord the king,

22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the fielde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the [m] oxen, and they shal wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shal passe ouer thee, til thou know, that [n] the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom so euer he will.

23 Where as they said, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable vnto thee, and [o] breake off thy sinnes by righteousnes, and thine iniquities by mercie toward ꝑ poore: so, let there be an [p] healing of thine errour.

25 All thele things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue [q] moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 [And] the king spake and said, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by ꝑ might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the word [was] in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, [saying,] O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shal driue thee from men, and thy dwelling [shalbe] with ꝑ beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whom so euer he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, & did eate grasse

[g] Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer readie to doe Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knewe that it should not be cut downe by man but by God.

[h] Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar should not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

[i] God hath decreed this iudgement, & the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God.

[k] Hee was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he sawe ouerthrow against the King: and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they shoulde be lubiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

[l] Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interpret seuen monethes, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth hee ment of yeres, in that his shape of some was changed into a beast, but that he was eyther stricken mad, and so auoyded mans companie, or was cast out for his tyrannie, and so wandered among the beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.

[m] Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.

[n] Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shewe by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

[o] Suffer the errours of thy former life to be reuelled.

[p] After that Daniel had declared this vision: and this his pryde declareth that it is not in man to conuert to God except his spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

[q] Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer readie to doe Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knewe that it should not be cut downe by man but by God.

grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his heares were growē as egles [feathers,] and his nayles like birdes [clawes.]

31 And at the end of [these] [r] dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, & mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thankes vnto the most high, and I praysed and honoured him [s] liueth for euer, *whose power [is] an euerlasting power, and his kingdome [is] from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of [t] earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his [u] will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, what doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and [I] returned [to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours [x] and my princes sought vnto me, & I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Nowe [therefore] I Nebuchad-nezzar [y] prayse, and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pryde, he is able to abase.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon feeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

KIng [a] Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine [b] before the thousand.

2 [And] Belshazzar ‖ whiles he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his [c] father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King & his princes, his wiues, and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine and praysed the [d] gods of gold, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer [e] against the candlestick vpon the plaister of the wall of the Kings palace, and the King sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the Kings countenance was changed, & his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioyntes of his loynes were loosed, and his [f] knees smote one against the other.

7 [Wherefore] the King cried loude, that they should bring [g] the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and said to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and [shall haue] a chaine of gold about his necke, and shalbe the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all [h] Kings wise men, but they coulde neither reade [i] writing, nor shew the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 [Now] the [k] Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his princes, came into the banket house, [and] the Queene spake, and saide, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, nor let thy countenāce be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdome like the wisdome of the goddes, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father the King, [I say,] thy father, made chiefe of the [l] enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, [and] soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding ([for] he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtes) were found in him, [euen] in Daniel, whom the King named Beltheshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, [and] the King spake and said vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father [m] King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now

r When the terme of these seuen yeeres was accomplished. Chap. 7. 14. micah. 4. 7. luke 1. 33.
s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of all iustice, & a most perfite lawe whereby hee gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, so that none ought to murmure, or aske a reason of his doings, but onely to stand content therewith and giue him the glory.
t By whom it seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.
u He doeth not onely prayse God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault that God may only haue the glory and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

a Daniel recyteth this historie of King Belshazzar Sunnemerodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgements against the wicked, for the deliuerance of his Church, and howe the prophetie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuentie yeeres.
b The kings of the East partes then vsed to sit alone commonly, and disdayned that any shoulde sit in their companie: and nowe to shewe his power, and howe litle he set by his enemie, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banket, and vsed excesse in their companie, which is ment here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute, and negligent when their destruction is at hand. ‖ Or, ouercome with wine. c Meaning, his grandfather.

d In contempt of the true God, they praysed their idoles, not that they thought, that the golde or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and power in them to do them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.
e That it might the better be seene, f So he that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.
g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who drawe them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.
i Read Chap. 4. 6 And this declareth, that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he was not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

14. Now I haue heard of thee, þ k the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, & that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdome is found in thee.

15 Nowe therefore wisemen, and astrologians haue beene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof: but they coulde not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, þ thou couldst shew interpretations, & dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation therof, thou shalt bee clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of gold about thy necke, & shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, & said before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, thou, The most high God gaue vnto l Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie and honour and glorie.

19 And for the maiestie that hee gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whome hee would: hee smote whō he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed frō his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuē from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his bodie was wet with the dew of the heauen, till he knew, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, & that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belthazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, 23 But hast lift vp thy selfe against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praysed the gods of siluer and gold, of braſſe, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hande thy breath is and al thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 m Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, n MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath nombred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art wayed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is deuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belthazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belthazzar the King of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius o of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yere olde.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer þ gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commandement of the King. 23 Hee is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome a an hundreth & twentie gouernours, which shoulde bee ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whō Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should ‖ haue no domage.

3 Nowe this Daniel b was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours c sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for he was so faythfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then saide these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Lawe of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayd thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, and k For the idolaters thought that the Angels hau power as God, and therefore hee them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie, and vnderstanding came of them.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude towarde God, who could not be moued to giue him the glorie, considering his wonderfull worke towarde his grandfather, and so sheweth, that he doeth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently wayted for thine amendment.

n This worde is twise written for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, & that a miserable end shal come on all that raise themselues against him.

‖ Or, wanting.

o Cyrus his sonne in lawe gaue him this title of honour although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

a Read Ester Chap. 1. 1.

‖ Or, not be troubled.

b This heathē King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such faults there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shal aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O king, he shalbe cast into the den of lyons.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius [d] sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his [e] windowes being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praysed his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then these men assembled, & found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the King touching the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euerie man that shall make request to any god or man within thirtie daies, saue to thee, O King, shall bee cast into the denne of lyons? The King answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Judah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: & he laboured til the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and sayd vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians [is,] that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth, may be [f] altered.

16 ¶ Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: [now] the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, [euen] he wil deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and laid vpon the mouth of the den, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instrumẽts of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the King arose earely in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lyons.

20 And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and sayde to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whome thou allway seruest) [g] able to deliuer thee from the lyons?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for [h] my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done [i] no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and cõmanded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he [k] beleeued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were [l] cast into the den of lyons, [euen] they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the maistrie of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the den.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations & languag that dwell in all the worlde: Peace bee multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare [m] before the God of Daniel: for he is the [n] liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion [shall be] euerlasting.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen & in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

d Herein is condemned the wickednes of the King, who would be set by as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

e Because he would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Jerusalem, when he prayed: both to stir vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people when they should pray towarde that Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor bee afraid for these lawes to any thing that was contrarie to gods glorie.

f This the wicked maintaine euill lawes by confidence, and authoritie, which is oft times eyther lightnes, or stubbornes, when as the innocents thereby perish: and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h My iust cause and righteines in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked cõmandement to obey God, and so did no iniurie to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God shoulde bee dishonoured.

k Because he cõmitted himselfe wholy vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured, that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherin we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11.33.

l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which do against their cõsciense make cruel lawes to destroy the children of god, and also admonisheth princes how to punish such, whē their wickednes is come to light: though not in euery point, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

m This worketh not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for che he wold haue destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, and not onely gouen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured accopting to his wyde: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, wherunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the only fountaine of life, and quickeneth al things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, & there [were] visions in his head, vpon his bedde: a then hee wrote the dreame, [and] declared the summe of the matter.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continual quietnes after these seuentie yeeres, as Jeremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore incouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered and reueiled, by whom they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

2 Daniel spake and sayde, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon b the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came vp frō the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, & had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp frō the earth, and set vpon [his] feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And beholde, another beast [which was] the seconde, was like a d beare and stood vpon the one side: and he had three ribbes in his e mouth betweene his teeth, & they said thus vnto him, Arise [&] deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I beheld, and lo, there [was] another like a f leopard, which had vpon his backe g foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and h dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I sawe in the visions by night, & beholde, the i fourth beast [was] fearefull and terrible and verie strong. It had great k mpzon teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces and stamped l the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had o ten hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, behold, there came vp among them another little p horne, before whom there were q three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne [were] r eyes like the eies of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the s thrones were set vp, & the t Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the heare of his head like the pure wool: his throne [was like] the firie flame, [&] his wheeles [as] burning fire.

10 A firie streame issued, & came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and ten thousande u thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the x bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, y because of the voice of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his bodie destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As z concerning the other beastes, they had take away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 CAs I beheld, in visions by night, behold, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approched vnto p Ancient of dayes, & they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion [is] an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 CI Daniel was d troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my bodie, and the b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the worlde in all seizures of the world and at sundrie times.

c Meaning the Assyrian and Caldean empire, which was most strong & fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here ment by mans heart.

d Meaning the Persians, which were barbarous and cruell.

e They were small in the beginning and were put by in their mountaines and had no hute.

f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by thes meanes punished the ingratitude of the worlde.

h Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedonie.

i That is, his foure chefe captaines, which had the empire among them after his death, Seleucus has Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Callander, and after him Antipater was King of Macedonie, and Ptolomeus had Egypt.

k Ie was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that he gate all these countreys: for his armie conteined, but thirtie thousande men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundreth thousand, when he was so beautie with sleepe that his eyes were scarce open, as the Stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

l That is, the Romane empire which was as a monster & could not be cōpared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.

m Signifying the tyrannie and greedines of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreys, they would giue it to other Kinges and rulers, that at all times when they woulde, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete.

o That is, sundrie and diuers pzouinces, which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King.

p Which is ment of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, for who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Pahomet came not of the Romane empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement therefore this can not be applied vnto them. and also in this prophesie the Prophets purpole is chiefly to cōfort the Iewes vnto the verie tuitiō of Christ. Some take it for the whole bodie of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine pozion of the ten hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the liberatie of chusing the deputies to send into the pzouinces, and tooke the gouernement of certaine countreis to himselfe.

r Thes Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certaine humanitie and gentlenes, & were content that others as the Consuls and Senate should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the profite, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselues accordīg as did other Senatours: pet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here ment by the pzoude mouth.

s Meaning, the places where God & his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should begin at the first cōming of Christ.

t That is, God which was before all times, & is here described as mans nature is able to cōpzehend some portion of his glozy.

u That is an infinite nūber of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement.

x This is ment of the first cōming of Christ, when as & wil of God was plainly reueiled by his Gospel.

y Meaning, that he was astonied, when he saw thes Emperours in such dignitie, & pride, and so suddenly destroied at the cōming of Christ, whē this fourth Monarchy was subiect to men of other nations.

z As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time & God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so that this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promises.

a Which is ment of Christ, who han not yet taken vpō him mans nature, neither was the time of Daniel according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, & that in the clouds: that is, being separate from the cōmon sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie.

b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, & his diuine maiestie appeared, & all power was giue vnto him in respect of that that he was our Pediatour.

c This is ment of the beginning of Christs kingdome when God the father gaue vnto him al dominion, as to the Pediator, to the intent that he should gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought the to eternal life.

d Thzough the strangenes of the vision-visions of mine head made me afrayd.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of the that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth,

18 And they shal take the [f] kingdome of the Saints of the most high, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would [knowe] the truth of the fourth beast, which was so [h] vnlyke to all the others, verie fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: [which] deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the [i] residue vnder his feete.

20 Also [to knowe] of the ten hornes that were in his heade, and of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose [k] looke was more stoute then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Until [m] the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was giuē to the Saints of the most high: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he sayde, The fourth beast shall bee the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall bee vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shal deuoure the whole earth, and shal treade it downe & breake it in pieces.

24 And the tenne hornes out of this kingdome are [ten kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first, and he shal subdue [n] three kings,

25 And shall speake wordes agaynst [o] the most high, and shall consume the Saintes of the most high, & thinke that hee may [p] change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hande, vntill a [q] time, and times and the deuiding of time.

26 But the [r] iudgement shal sit, & they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the [s] kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of ỹ most high, whose kingdome [is] an euerlasting kingdome and all [t] powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many [u] cogitations [which] troubled me, & my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.
f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13, and in him all the faithful, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrannes should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were destroyed by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.
g That is, of the most high things, because god hath chosen them out of this worlde, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.
h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane empire by Consules: the Romanes chunged their gouernours perpetually, and the other Monarchies retayned them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.
i Read verse 7.
k This is ment of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning, the Romane Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospell gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteyned a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Read the exposition hereof verse 8. o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods word, and send throughout all their dominion to destroy all that did professe it. p These Emperours shal not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.
q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is ment by the time and times, but at length he will allwage these troubles and hasten the times for his elects sake, Matt. 24. 22. which is here ment by the deuiding of time.
r God by his power shal restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe.
s Hereby wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospell enioy the beginning thereof, which is ment by these wordes vnder the heauen: and therefore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faythfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their heade.
t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule.
u Though hee had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet hee was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a tamme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the thirde yeere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, [euen] vnto me Daniel, [a] after that [which] appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in [b] palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince [c] of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuer a ram, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was hier then another, and the hiest came vp last.

4 I saw the ram pushing against the west, and against the North, & against the South: so that no [d] beastes might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he lifted, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, [e] a goat came from the west ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat [had an] horne that appeared a After the general vision, he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Grecians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.
c Which replenished the kingdomes of the Persians, and Medes, which were ioyned together.
d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grewe greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in lawe.
e That is, no Kings or nations.
f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great speede and expedition.
g Though hee came in the name of all Grecia, yet hee bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is ment by this horne.

betweene

betwene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ram that had the two hornes, whom I had seene stãding by the riuer, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ram, and being moued against him, he [h] smote the ram, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ram out of his power.

8 Therfore the goat waxed exceeding great, and whē he was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [k] appeared towarde the foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth [l] a litle horne, which waxed very great towarde the [m] South, and towarde the [n] East, and toward the [o] pleasant [land.]

10 Yea, it grew vp vnto the [p] hoste of heauen, and it cast downe [some] of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And extolled himselfe agaynst the [q] prince of the hoste, frō whom the [r] dayly [sacrifice] was takē away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.

12 And [s] a time [shalbe giuen him] ouer the dayly [sacrifice] for the iniquitie: and it shall [t] cast downe the trueth to the grounde, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the [u] Saints speaking, and one of the Saintes spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long [shall endure] the vision of the dayly [sacrifice,] & the iniquitie of the [x] desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the [y] armie vnder foote?

14 And [z] he answered mee, Vnto the [a] euening [and] the morning, two thousand and three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie be cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stoode before me [b] like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene [the bankes] of Vlai, which called and said, Gabriel, [c] make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stoode: and when he came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for [d] in the last time [shalbe] the vision.

18 Nowe as hee was speaking vnto mee, I being a sleepe [fell] on my face to the ground: but he touched mee, and set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I wil shewe thee what shalbe in the last [e] wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed [it shall come.]

20 The ram which thou sawest hauing two hornes, [are] the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And [f] goat [is] the king of Grecia, and [g] great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broke, and foure stoode vp for it, [are] foure kingdomes, which shal stand vp [h] of that nation, but not [i] in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of [k] fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp,

24 And his power shalbe mightie but not [l] in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, & practise, and shall destroy the [m] mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his [n] policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hande, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by [o] peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stand vp against the [p] prince of princes, but hee shall bee broken downe [q] without hand.

26 And the vision of the [r] euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it [shalbe] after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was striken & sicke [s] certaine [dayes: but whē I rose vp, I did] kings busines, & I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

a Alexander ouercame Darius in two battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.

b That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yeere there were fifteene diuers successours before this Monarchy was deuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolomeus Egypt.

c Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a feruile and flattering nature, & also there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therfore is here called the litle horne, because neither vpon conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why hee should obtaine this kingdome.

d That is, toward Egypt.

e Whereby he meaneth Ptolomais.

f That is, Iudea.

g Antiochus raged against the elect of God, & trod his precious starres vnder feete, which are so called, because they are separated frō the world.

h That is, God who gouerneth & maintaineth his Church.

i He laboured to abolish al religion, & therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a litle corner frō al the rest of the world to haue his name there truly called vpon.

k He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and pet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whō he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

l This horne shal abolish for a time the true doctrine & so corrupt gods seruice.

m Meaning, & he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whō he calleth a certaine one or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

n That, is the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

o That is, Iudea.

p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, & trod his precious starres vnder feete, which are so called, because they are separated frō the world.

q That is, God who gouerneth & maintaineth his Church.

r He laboured to abolish al religion, & therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a litle corner frō al the rest of the world to haue his name there truly called vpon.

s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and pet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whō he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

t This horne shal abolish for a time the true doctrine & so corrupt gods seruice.

u Meaning, & he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whō he calleth a certaine one or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

x That, is the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

y That is, which suppresseth Gods religiō and his people.

z Christ answered me for the cōfort of the Church.

a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make fiue yeeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the olde fathers howe he would be God manifested in flesh.

c This power to commande the Angel, declared that he was God.

d The effect of this vision shal not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shewe against the Church.

f That is, out of Grecia.

g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also craftie: that he could not be perceiued.

i That is, not like Alexanders strength.

k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.

l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to passe.

m That is, vnder pretence of peace, as it were in sport.

n Meaning, against God.

o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church.

p Reade Dan. 9. verse 24.

q For feare and astonishment.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expouded vnto him the vision of the seuentie weeks. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalē. 26 The death of Christ.

visions of mine head made me afrayd.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of the that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth,

18 And they shal take the f kingdome of the Saints of the most high, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so g vnlyke to all the others, verie fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the h residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to knowe of the ten hornes that were in his heade, and of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose i looke was more stoute then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them,

22 Until k the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was giuē to the Saints of the most high: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he sayde, The fourth beast shall bee the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall bee vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shal deuoure the whole earth, and shal treade it downe & breake it in pieces.

24 And the tenne hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first, and he shal subdue l three kings,

25 And shall speake wordes agaynst m the most high, and shall consume the Saintes of the most high, & thinke that hee may n change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hande, vntill a o time, and times and the deuiding of time.

26 But the p iudgement shal sit, & they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the q kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most high, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all r powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many s cogitations which troubled me, & my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the thirde yeere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto me Daniel, a after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in the b palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince c of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuer a ram, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was d hier then another, and the hiest came vp last.

4 I saw the ram pushing against the west, and against the North, & against the South: so that no e beastes might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he lusted, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, f a goat came from the west ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an g horne that appeared

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithful, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.

g That is, of the most high things, because god hath chosen them out of this worlde, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane empire by Consuls: the Romanes chaunged their gouernours yerely, and the other Monarchies retayned them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.

i Read verse 7.

k This is ment of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning, the Romane Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospell gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteyned a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God.

n Read the exposition hereof verse 8.

o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods word, and send throughout all their dominion to destroy all that did professe it. p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is ment by the time and times, but at length he will allwaye these troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matt. 24. 22. which is here ment by the deuiding of time.

r God by his power shal restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe.

s The wholy wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospell enioy the beginning thereof, which is ment by these wordes vnder the heauen: and therefore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faythfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their heade.

t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule.

u Though hee had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet hee was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

a After the general vision, he commeth to certaine perticular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which repeateth the kingdome of the Persians, and Medes, which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grewe greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in lawe.

e That is, no Kings or nations.

f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great speede and expedition.

g Though hee came in the name of all Grecia, yet hee bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, to that the strength was attributed to him, which is ment by this horne.

betweene

betwene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ram that had the two hornes, whom I had seene stãding by the riuer, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ram, and being moued against him, he [h] smote the ram, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ram out of his power.

8 Therfore the goat wared exceeding great, and whē he was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [k] appeared towarde the foure winds of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth [l] a litle horne, which wared very great towarde the [m] South, and towarde the [n] East, and toward the [o] pleasant [land.]

10 Yea, it grew vp vnto the [p] hoste of heauen, and it cast downe [some] of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And extolled himselfe agaynst the [q] prince of the hoste, frō whom the [r] dayly [sacrifice] was takē away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.

12 And [s] a time [shalbe giuen him] ouer the dayly [sacrifice] for the iniquitie: and it shall [t] cast downe the trueth to the grounde, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the [u] Saints speaking, and one of the Saintes spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long [shall endure] the vision of the dayly [sacrifice,] & the iniquitie of the [x] desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the [y] armie vnder foote?

14 And [z] he answered mee, Vnto the [a] euening [and] the morning, two thousand and three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie be clensed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stoode before me [b] like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene [the bankes] of Vlai, which called and said, Gabriel, [c] make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stoode: and when he came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for [d] in the last time [shalbe] the vision.

18 Nowe as hee was speaking vnto mee, I being a sleepe [fell] on my face to the ground: but he touched mee, and set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I wil shewe thee what shalbe in the last [e] wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed [it shall come.]

20 The ram which thou sawest hauing two hornes, [are] the Kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And [f] goat [is] the king of Grecia, and [g] great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.

22 And that that is broke, and foure stoode vp for it, [are] foure kingdomes, which shal stand vp [h] of that nation, but not [i] in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of [k] fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

24 And his power shalbe mightie, but not [l] in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, & practise, and shall destroy the [m] mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his [n] policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hande, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by [o] peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stand vp against the [p] prince of princes, but hee shall bee broken downe [q] without hand.

26 And the vision of the [r] euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it [shalbe] after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was striken & sicke [s] certaine dayes: but whē I rose vp, I did [t] kings busines, & I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expounded vnto him the vision of the fiftie weeks. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Jerusalē. 26 The death of Christ.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundrie batels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fiftene yeere there were fiftene diuers successours before this Monarchy was deuided to these foure, whereof Casſander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolomeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, & also there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therfore is here called the litle horne, because neither vpincer, by conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why hee should obtaine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby he meaneth Jrcolomais.

o That is, Judea.

p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, & trod his precious starres vnder feete, which are so called, because they are separated frō the world.

q That is, God who gouerneth & mainteineth his Church.

r He laboured to abolish al religion, & therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a litle corner frō al the rest of the world to haue his name there truly called vpon.

s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whō he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

t This horne shal abolish for a time the true doctrine & so corrupt gods seruice.

u Meaning, by he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whō he calleth a certaine one or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

x That, is the Jewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

y That is, which suppressed Gods religiō and his people.

z Christ answered me for the cōfort of the Church.

a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make fiue yeeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the olde fathers howe he would be God manifested in flesh.

c This power to commande the Angel, declared that he was God.

d The effect of this vision shal not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shewe against the Church.

f That is, one of Grecia.

g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also crafty: that he could not be perceiued.

i That is, not like Alexanders strength.

k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Jewes.

l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to passe.

m That is, vnder pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.

n Meaning, against God.

o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church.

2. Mac. 9. 9.

p Reade verse 14.

q For feare and astonishment.

visions of mine head made me afrayd.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of the e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.
that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth,

18 And they shal take the f kingdome of the Saints of the most high, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.
f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13, and in him all the faithful, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restoyed by Christ: and this was to comfort them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so g vnlyke to all the others, verie fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the h residue vnder his feete.
g That is, of the most high things, because god hath chosen them out of this worlde, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.
h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane empire by Consuls: the Romanes changed their gouernours perely, and the other Monarchies retayned them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.

20 Also of the ten hornes that were in his heade, and of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose i looke was more stoute then his fellowes.
i Read verse 7.

21 I beheld, and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them,

22 Until k the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was giuē to the Saints of the most high: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome.
k This is ment of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.

23 Then he sayde, The fourth beast shall bee the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall bee vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shal deuoure the whole earth, and shal treade it downe & breake it in pieces.

24 And the tenne hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first, and he shal subdue l three Kings,
l Meaning, the Romane Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

25 And shall speake wordes agaynst m the most high, and shall consume the Saintes of the most high, & thinke that hee may n change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hande, vntill a q time, and times and the deuiding of time.
m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospell gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteyned a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God.
n Read the exposition hereof verse 8.

26 But the o iudgement shal sit, & they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.
o That is, the Iudgement shall be giuen vnto the holy people of p most high, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all q powers shall serue and obey him.
p That is, Christ.

27 And the r kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of p most high, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all q powers shall serue and obey him.
q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is ment by the time and times, but at length he will allwage these troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matt. 24. 22. which is here ment by the deuiding of time.
r God by his power shal restoye things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many s cogitations which troubled me, & my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.
s He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospell enioy the beginning thereof, which is ment by these wordes vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faythfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their heade.
t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule.
u Though hee had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet hee was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the thirde yeere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto me Daniel, a after that which appeared vnto me at the first.
a After the general vision, he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Sparedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in b palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince c of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.
b That is, of Persia.
c Which prefigured the kingdome of the Persians, and Medes, which were ioyned together.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuer a d ram, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was hier then another, and the hiest came vp last.
d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grewe greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in lawe.

4 I saw the ram pushing against the west, and against the North, & against the South: so that no e beastes might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he lifted, and became great.
e That is, no Kings or nations.

5 And as I considered, behold, f a goat came from the west ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an g horne that appeared
f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great speede and expedition.
g Though hee came in the name of all Grecia, yet hee bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is ment by this horne.

betweene

betwene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ram that had the two hornes, whom I had seene stãding by the riuer, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ram, and being moued against him, he [h] smote the ram, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ram out of his power.

8 Therfore the goat wared exceeding great, and whē he was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [k] appeared towarde the foure winds of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth [l] a litle horne, which wared very great towarde the [m] South, and towarde the [n] East, and toward the [o] pleasant [land.]

10 Yea, it grew vp vnto the [p] hoste of heauen, and it cast downe [some] of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And exalted himselfe agaynst the [q] prince of the hoste, frō whom the [r] dayly [sacrifice] was takē away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.

12 And [s] a time [halbe giuen him] ouer the dayly [sacrifice] for the iniquitie: and it shall [t] cast downe the trueth to the grounde, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the [u] Saints speaking, and one of the Saintes spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long [shall endure] the vision of the dayly [sacrifice,] & the iniquitie of the [x] desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the [y] armie vnder foote?

14 And [z] he answered mee, Vnto the [a] euening [and] the morning, two thousand and three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie be clensed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stoode before me [b] like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene [the bankes] of Vlai, which called and said, Gabriel, [c] make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stoode: and when he came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for [d] in the last time [shalbe] the vision.

18 Nowe as hee was speaking vnto mee, I being a sleepe [fell] on my face to the ground: but he touched mee, and set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I wil shewe thee what shalbe in the last [e] wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed [it shall come.]

20 The ram which thou sawest hauing two hornes, [are] the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And [f] goat [is] the king of Grecia, and [g] great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broke, and foure stoode vp for it, [are] foure kingdomes, which shal stand vp [h] of that nation, but not [i] in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of [k] fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

24 And his power shalbe mightie, but not [l] in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, & practise, and shall destroy the [m] mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his [n] policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hande, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by [o] peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stand vp against the [p] prince of princes, but hee shall bee broken downe [q] without hand.

26 And the vision of the euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it [shalbe] after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was striken & sicke [r] certaine [daies: but whē I rose vp, I did] the kings busines, & I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoūded vnto him the vision of the seuentie weeks. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Jerusalē. 26 The death of Christ.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundrie battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yeere there were fifteene diuers successours before this Monarchy was deuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolomeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, & also there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therfore is here called the litle horne, because neither prince-ly conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why hee should obtaine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby he meaneth Ptolomais.

o That is, Judea.

p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, & trod his precious starres vnder feete, which are so called, because they are separated frō the world.

q That is, God who gouerneth & mainteineth his Church.

r He laboured to abolish al religion, & therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a litle corner frō al the rest of the world to haue his name there truly called vpon.

s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whō he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

t This horne shal abolish for a time the true doctrine & so corrupt gods seruice.

u Meaning, & he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whō he calleth a certaine one or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

x That, is the Jewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

y That is, which suppressed Gods religiō and his people.

z Christ answered me for the cōfort of the Church.

a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make sixe yeeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the olde fathers howe he would be God manifested in flesh.

c This power to commande the Angel, declared that he was God.

d The effect of this vision shal not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shewe against the Church.

f That is, one of Grecia.

g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also craftie: that he could not be deceiued.

i That is, not like Alexanders strength.

k With the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Jewes.

l Wherfore he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to passe.

m That is, vnder pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.

n Meaning, against God.

o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church.

p Reade Dan. 9. verse 14.

q For feare and astonishment.

IN the firſt yeere of Darius the ſonne of a Ahaſhueroſh, of the ſeede of the Medes, which was made king ouer the b realme of the Caldeans,

2 Euen in the firſt yere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderſtood by c bookes the nomber of the yeres, whereof the Lord had ſpoke vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplith ſeuenty yeres in the deſolation of Jeruſalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto ‡ Lord God, and d ſought by prayer and ſupplications with faſting and ſackcloth and aſhes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lorde my God, and made my confeſſion, ſaying, Oh Lorde God, [which art] e great and fearefull, and keepeſt couenant and mercie towarde them which loue f thee, and towarde them that keepe thy commandements,

5 We haue ſinned, & haue committed iniquitie & haue done wickedly, yea, We haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For We would not obey thy ſeruãts the Prophets, which ſpake in thy name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, ‡ righteouſnes [belongeth] vnto thee, and vnto ‡ open ſhame, as [appeareth] this day vnto euery man of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem: yea, vnto all Iſrael, [both] neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou haſt driuen them, becauſe of their offences, that they haue committed agaynſt thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs [apperteyneth] open ſhame, to our h kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, becauſe We haue ſinned agaynſt thee.

9 [Yet] compaſſion and forgiuenes [is] in the Lord our God, albeit We haue rebelled againſt him.

10 For We haue not obeyed the i voice of the Lorde our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had layde before vs by the miniſterie of his ſeruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Iſrael haue tranſgreſſed thy law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the k curſe is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the law of Moſes the ſeruant of God, becauſe We haue ſinned againſt him.

12 And he hath cõfirmed his words, which he ſpake againſt vs, and againſt our iudges that ‖ iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Jeruſalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moſes: yet made We not our prayer before ‡ Lorde our God, that We might turne from our iniquities & vnderſtand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord ‡ made readie the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for We would not heare his voyce.

15 *And nowe, O Lorde our God, that haſt brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt with a mighthie hande, and haſt gotten thee renoume, as [appeareth] this day, We haue ſinned, Wee haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy l righteouſnes, I beſeech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from thy citie Jeruſalem thine holy mountaine: for becauſe of our ſinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jeruſalem and thy people [are] a reproch to all [that are] about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, and his ſupplications, and cauſe thy face to ‖ ſhine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lieth waſte for the m Lordes ſake.

18 O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our deſolations, and the citie wherupon thy Name is called: for Wee doe not preſent our ſupplicatiõs before thee for our owne n righteouſnes, but for thy great tender merries.

19 O Lord, heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord o conſider, and do it: deferre not, for thine owne ſake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was ſpeaking and praying, and confeſſing my ſinne, and the ſinne of my people Iſrael, and did preſent my ſupplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God,

21 Yea, While I was ſpeaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whome I had ſeene before in the viſion, came flying, and touched me about the time of the a Who was alſo called Aſtyages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warres in other cõtreis, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was king in effect.
c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet hee dayly increaſed in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He theaketh not of that ordinarie prayer, which he vſed in his houſe thrife a day, but of a rare and behement prayer, leaſt their ſinnes ſhould cauſe God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophecied by Jeremiah.
e That is, hath all power in thy ſelfe to execute thy terrible iudgements againſt obſtinate ſinners, as thou art riche in mercie to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee.
‡ Ebr. him.
f He theweth that whenſoeuer God puniſheth, he doeth it for iuſt cauſe: and thus the godly neuer accuſe him of rigour as the wicked do, but acknowledge that in themſelues there is iuſt cauſe, why he ſhould ſo intreat them.
‡ Eb. confuſion of face.
g He worth not excuſe the Kings becauſe of their authoritie, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occaſions of theſe great plagues.
h He theweth that they rebel agaynſt God, which ſerue him not according to his commandement and worde.
i As Deut. 27, 15.
k Or the curſe confirmed by an othe.
l That is, according to all thy mercifull promiſes and the perſwaſion thereof.
‖ Or, gouerned vs.
‡ Ebr. watched vpon the euill.
Exod. 14. 28. baruc. 2, 11.
‖ Shewe thy ſelfe fauorable.
m That is, for thy Chriſts ſake in whome thou wilt accept all our prayers.
n Declaring, that the godly flee onely vnto gods mercies, and renounce their owne workes when they ſeeke for remiſſion of their ſinnes.
o Thus hee could not content himſelfe with any behemencie of woydes: for he was ſo led with a feruent zeale conſidering Gods promes, made to the citie in reſpect of his Church, & for the aduãcement of Gods glorie.
* Chap. 8. 16.

the euening oblation.

22 And he informed [me,] and talked with me, & saide, O Daniel, I am nowe come forth to giue thee knowledge [&] vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shewe [thee,] for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie [r] Weekes are determined vpō [q] thy people, & vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the [s] sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquity, & to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoynt the most holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from [t] the going forth of the commandemēt to bring againe [the people,] and to builde Jerusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, [shall be] seuen [u] Weekes, and [u] threescore and two weekes, [and] the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in a [z] troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two [x] weeks, shal Messiah be slaine, and shal [y] haue nothing, and the people of [z] the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the ende thereof [shalbe] with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battel it shalbe destroyed by desolations.

27 And he [a] shal confirme the couenāt with many for one weeke: & in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to [b] cease, [c] and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the cōsummatiō determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

p He alludeth to Jeremiahs prophesie, who prophesied that their captiuitie should be seuentie yeres: but now Gods mercy houlde seuen folde exceed his iudgement, which should be foure hundred and ninetie yeres, euen to the cōming of Christ, and so then it should be continue for euer.

q Meaning Daniels nation, ouer whom he was careful.

r To shew mercie & to put him out of remembrance.

s That is, from the time þ Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.

t These weeks make 49. yere, wherof 46. are referred to the time of þ buylding of þ temple, & 3. to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting frō the first yere of Darius who gaue þ second commandement for the building of the Semple, are 62. weekes, which make 434. yeres, which compehende the time from the building of the Semple vnto the baptisme of Christ. z Ebr. in streights of time. x In this last weeke of the seuentie shall Christ come and preach and suffer death. y De shall seeme to haue no beautie nor to be of any estimation, as Isai. 53.2. z Meaning, Titus, Uespasians sonne, who shoulde come and destroy both the Semple and the people without all hope of recouery.

a By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promes, first, to the Jewes, and after to the Gentiles. b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection. c Meaning that Jerusalem and the Sanctuarie should be vtterly destroyed for their rebellion against God and their idolatrie: or, as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a mā clothed in linen, 11 Which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

a He noteth this third yere, because at this time the buildīg of the Semple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

IN the [a] thirde yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Beltesha-zar) and the worde [was] true, but the time appointed [was] [b] long, and he vnderstoode the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time, I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure & twentieth day of the [c] first moneth, as I [d] was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, & looked, and beholde, there [was] a man [e] clothed in linen, whose loines were girded with fine golde of [*] Uphaz.

6 His bodie also [was] like þ Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightening, & his eyes as lampes of fire, & his armes & his feete [were] like in colour to polished brasse, & the voyce of his words [was] like þ voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid them selues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for [f] my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I reteined no power.

9 Yet heard I þ voyce of his words: and when I heard the voyce of his words, I slept on my face: and my face [was] towarde the grounde.

10 And beholde, an hande [g] touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees & vpon the palmes of mine handes, 11 And he saide vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstande the wordes that I speake vnto thee, & stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I nowe sent. And when he had saide this worde vnto me, I stoode trembling.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou biddest set thine heart to vnderstande, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

13 But the [a] prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode me one and twentie dayes: but lo, [i] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the Kings of Persia.

14 Nowe I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in þ latter b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promes.

c Called Abib, which contenneth part of March and part of Aprill.

d Being caryed by the spirit of prophesie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophesie that followeth. Jerem. 10.9.

f The word also so signifieth comelines, or beautie, so that for feare he was like a dead man for desolatiō.

g Which declareth that when we are stricken down with the miserie of God, we can not rise, except he also lift vp vs with his hande, which is his power.

h Meaning, Cambyses who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not onely let the buylding of the Semple, but would haue further raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore haue I stayed for the yoke of the Church.

i Though God could by one Angell destroy all the worlde, yet to assure his children of his loue, he sendeth sondry double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Jesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the comming of Christ for the comfort of his Church.

l This was the same Angell that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was ouercome with feare and sorowe, when I saw the vision.

n He declareth hereby that God would be mercifull vnto the people of Israel.

o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doeth not immediately lift them vp at once (for nowe the Angel had touched him twise) but by litle and litle.

p Meaning that he would not onely him selfe hyde the rage of Cambyses, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia.

dayes: for yet the k vision [is] for [many] dayes.

15 And when hee spake these wordes vnto me, I let my face toward ẏ ground, and held me my tongue.

16 And behold, l one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, & spake, and sayde vnto him that stoode before me, O my Lorde, m by the vision my sorowes are returned vpō me, and I haue retayned no strength.

17 For howe can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lorde [being] such one? for as for mee, straightwaye there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Thē there came againe, & touched me, one like the appearance of a man, & he strengthened me, 19 And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: n peace [be] vnto thee: be strōg and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I o was strengthened, and saide, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Thē said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with ẏ prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the p prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: q and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

A Prophesie of the kingdomes, which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius, when he ouercame the Caldeans.

b Whereof Cambyses that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third, Darius the sonne of Hystaspis, & the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God and stood against them.

ALso I, in the first yere of Darius of the Medes, [euen] I a stoode to incourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee ṗ trueth. Behold, there shall stande vp yet b three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer then they all: & by his strength, [and] by his riches he shall stirre vp c all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a d mightie king shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stande vp, e his kingdoome shall be broken, f and shall be deuided towarde the g foure windes of heauen: and not to his h posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shalbe pluckt vp, euen [or be] for others besides k those.

5 And the l King of the South shalbe mightie, & one of m his princes, and shal preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion [shall be] a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the Kings n daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shal not reteine the power of the o arme, neither shall p he continue, nor his q arme: but she shall be deliuered [to death,] and they that brought her, and he r that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her s rootes shall one stande vp in his steade, ẇhich shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them [as he list,] and shall preuaile,

8 And shall also cary captiues into Egypt their gods with their molte ymages, [and] with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue t mo yeres then the King of the North.

9 So the King of the South shall come into [his] kingdome, and shall returne into his owne lande.

10 Wherefore his u sonnes shalbe stirred vp, & shall assemble a mightie great armie: and [one] ẏ shall come, and ouerflowe, and passe through: then shal z he returne, & be stirred vp at his fortresse.

11 And the King of the South shall be angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, [euen] with the King of the North: for he shall set forth a great a multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hande.

12 Then the multitude shalbe pround, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for he f For his twelue chiefe princes first deuided his kingdome among the seleucues.

g After this his Monarchie was deuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdō of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition & cruelticm causing his posterity to be murthered, partly of the fathers chefe friends, & partly one of another.

i None of these foure shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

k That is, his posteritie hauing no part thereof.

l To wit, Ptolemeus King of Egypt.

m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mightie: for he shoulde haue both Asia and Syria.

n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus shall be giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice & her yong sonne after her husbandes death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus, nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby vnderstande her nurce, which brought her vp: for that all they that were occasion of this marriage were destroyed.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus should succede in the kingdome being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus King of Syria.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned fiue and fourtie yeeres.

x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the sonnes of Calinicus shal make warre against Ptolemeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus.

y For his elder brother Seleucus died, so was slaine whiles the warres were preparing.

z That is, Philopater when he shall see Antiochus to take great dominions frō him in Syria, & also readie to inuade Egypt.

a For Antiochus had fiue thousand horsemen and three score thousand footemē, shall shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not [still] preuaile.

13 For the King of the North [b] shall returne, & shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall [c] manie stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy [d] people shall exalt themselues to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and ꝑ armes of the South shall [e] not resist, neither his chosen people, neither [shall] there [be] any strength to withstande.

16 But he that shal come, shal do vnto him as he list, & none shal stād against him: & he shal stād in the [f] pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed.

17 Against he shall [g] set his face to enter wᵗ the power of his whole kingdom, and his cofederates with him: thus shal he do, & he shall giue him the [h] daughter of women, to destroy [i] her: but [k] she shal not stād [on his side,] neither be for him.

18 After this shall hee turne his face vnto the [l] yles, and shall take many, but a prince [m] shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon [n] him selfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of [o] his own land: but he shalbe ouerthrowen & fal, & be no more [p] found.

20 [q] Then shall stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shall raise tares: but after fewe dayes he shalbe destroyed, neither in [r] wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stande vp a [s] vile person, to whome they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obteine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the [t] armes shall bee ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shalbe broken: and also the prince of the [u] couenant.

23 And after [x] the league [made] with him, he shal worke deceitfully: for he shal come vp, & ouercome wᵗ a [y] small people.

24 Hee shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers [z] haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: hee shall deuide among thē the pray & the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and hee shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a [a] time.

25 Also he shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the King of the South with a great armie, and the king of the South shalbe stirred vp to battell with a verie great and mightie armie: but hee shall not [b] stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie [c] shall ouerflowe: and many shal fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these kinges hearts [shalbe] to do [d] mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auaile: for [e] yet the ende [shall be] at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shal be against the holy couenant: so shall he do and returne to his own land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships [h] of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be sorie and returne, & freat against the holy couenāt: so shal he do, he shall euen returne [i] and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes [k] shall stande on his part, and they shal pollute the Sanctuarie [l] of strength, and shall take away the daily [sacrifice,] & they shal set vp the b After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heire.

c For not only Antiochus came against him, but also Philip king of Macedonia, & these two brought great power with them.

d For vnder Onias which falsely alledged that place of Isa.19.19. certaine of the Iewes retyred with him into Egypt to fulfil this prophecie: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsell of God.

e The Egyptians were not able to resist Seopas Antiochus captaine.

f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrie, wherein he abominieth the before that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsel, but shall loue her husbande, as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the Sea called Mediterraneum: for the Iewes called all countreis yles which were deuided from them by sea.

m For where as Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For fear of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie hee would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countreimen slewe him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battell, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t He sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the young sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shalbe ouerthowne.

u Meaning Ptolomeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this children cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduite.

x For after the battell Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and whē he suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning in Egypt.

a He will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b He shalbe ouercome with treason.

c Signifying his princes and the chief about him.

d Declaring that his soulditers shal hault out & venture their life to slay and to be slaine for ꝑ safegarde of their prince.

e The vncle & ꝑ nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shal imagin mischief one against another.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in ꝑ counsel of men to hyng things to passe but in ꝑ prouidence of God who ruleth ꝑ kings by a secret hyside, that they can not do what they list themselues.

g Which he shall take of ꝑ Iewes in spoyling Ierusalem and the Temple, & this is told them before to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence.

h That is, the Romane power shal come against him: for ꝑ. Popilius the ambaſſadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing hee obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage he came against the people of God the seconde time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first hee was called against the Iewes by Iason the high priest, & this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus.

l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

abomi-abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly [m] breake the couenaunt, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do knowe their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: [o] yet they shal fall by swoord, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoyle many dayes.

34 Nowe when they shall fall, they shalbe holpen with a [p] litle helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them [q] fainedly.

35 And some of them [r] of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there [is] a time appointed.

36 And the [s] King shall do what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, [that is] God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, & shall prosper, till the wrath [t] be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the [u] God of his fathers, nor the desires [x] of women, nor care for any God: for he shal magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the [y] god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shall hee honour with [z] golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he doe in [a] the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: hee shall increase [his] glorie, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall deuide the lande for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the king of the [b] South push at him, and the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde with charets, and with horsemen, and with many shippes, and he shall enter into the countreis, and shall ouerflowe and passe through.

41 He shall enter also into the [c] pleasant lande, and many [countreis] shall be ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hande, [euen] Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretche forth his hands also vpon the countreis, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shal haue power ouer the treasures of gold and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East & the North shall [d] trouble him: therefore he shall go forth [e] with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And hee shall plant [f] tabernacles of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious [and] holy mountaine, yet hee shall come to his ende, and none shall helpe him.

[m] Meaning such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse: for they sold their soules, and betraied their brethren for gaine. [n] They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their exaple, & counsile many in the true religion. [o] Whereby he exhorteth the godly to constancie although they should perish a thousand times, although their miseries indure neuer so long. [p] As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet will he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still feeme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of [q] Mathabees whereof hebere prophesieth. [r] That is, there shalbe euen of this small number many hypocrites. [s] To wit, of them that feare God and will lose their life for the defence of true religio, signifying also that [t] Church must continually be tried and purged and ought to looke for one perfection after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey. [u] Because the Angels purpole is to shewe the whole course of the perfecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he notwe speaketh of the monarchie of the Romanes, which hee noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion and contemned the true God. [x] So long the tyrantes shall preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time. [y] That is, that obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and preferre themselues to their gods. [z] Signifying, that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26. [a] That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it. [b] Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enriche their citie with the most precious iewels of all the worlde, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches. [c] The Angel foreworneth the Iewes that when they should see the Romanes inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, foraſmuch as he warned thē of it so long afore, and therefore he would stil preserue them. [d] Hearing that Craſſus was slaine and Antonius discomfited. [e] For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost. [f] The Romanes after this reigned quietly throwe all countries, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelties God shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

AND at that [a] time shall Michael stand vp, [p] great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shalbe a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shalbe found written in the booke.

2 And many [b] of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame & perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be [c] wise, shall shine, as the brightnes of the firmament: and they that [d] turne many to righteousnes, [shall shine] as [p] starres, for euer & euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke [f] till the end of the time: many shal runne to and fro, and knowledge shalbe increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and beholde, there stoode other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the [g] riuer,

[a] The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shalbe in great affliction [p] trouble as Christes comming, and next that God will sende his Angel to deliuer it, whome here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by [p] preaching of the Gospel. [b] Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here numbreth, because the faithful should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure comfort. [c] Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion. [d] He chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods worde, and next, all the faithfull which instruct the ignoyant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God. [e] Though the most part despise this prophecie, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure. [f] Till the time [p] God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shal runne to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine nowe by the light of the Gospel, [g] Which was Tygris.

and

and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And [one] said vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when[shalbe] the ende of these wonders?

h Which was as it were a double othe, & did the more confirme the thing.

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his h right hand, and his left hand vnto heauē, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that [it shall tarrie] for i a time, two times & an halfe: and when hee shall haue accomplished k to scatter the power of the holie people, all these things shall be finished.

i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a thorough time: signifying that their troubles should haue an ende.

k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then said I, O my Lorde, What shalbe the end of these things?

9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Manie shall bee purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall do wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the l dayly [sacrifice] shall bee taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there m [shalbe] a thousande, two hundreth & ninetie dayes.

l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Lawe.

m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christes seconde comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, 12 Blessed [is he] that wayteth and commeth to the thousande, three hundreth and n fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But go o thou thy way till the ende [be]: for thou shalt rest and stande vp in thy lot, at the ende of the dayes.

though it be deferred. n In this number hee adderh a moneth to the former number, signifying þ it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

Hosea.

The Argvment.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtile counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in steade of his true seruice commanded by his worde worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grewe euer worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore nowe when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah & Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne thē of their ingratitude: and where as they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednes, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetenes of Gods promises, hee setteth before them the two principall parts of the Lawe, which are the promes of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whome onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the seconde, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Lawe conteine these two poyntes, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THe worde of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes a of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, [and] Hezekiah b Kings of Iudah, & in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.

b So that it may bee gathered by the reigne of these foure Kings, that he preached aboue threescore yeere.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Go, take vnto thee a wife c of fornicatiōs, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, [departing] from the Lord.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play þ harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he sawe this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder

3 So he went, and tooke d Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name e Iezreel: for yet a litle, & I will visite the blood of Iezreel vpō the house this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, & of the people her children. d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figges, declaring, that they were all corrupt like rotten figges. e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastardes, and therefore should be called Iezreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Iezreel, which was the chiefe citie of the tenne tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shedde so much blood, 2. King. 10, 8, 11.

and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And [one] said vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when[shalbe] the ende of these wonders?

h Which was as it were a double othe, & did the more confirme the thing.

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his h right hand, and his left hand vnto heauē, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that [it shall tarrie] for i a time, two times & an halfe: and when hee shall haue accomplished k to scatter the power of the holie people, all these things shall be finished.

i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a thorough time: signifying that their troubles should haue an ende.

k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then said I, O my Lorde, What shalbe the end of these things?

9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Manie shall bee purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall do wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the l dayly [sacrifice] shall bee taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there m [shalbe] a thousande, two hundreth & ninetie dayes.

l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Lawe.

m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christes seconde comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, 12 Blessed [is he] that wayteth and commeth to the thousande, three hundreth and n fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But go o thou thy way till the ende [be]: for thou shalt rest and stande vp in thy lot, at the ende of the dayes.

though it be deferred. n In this number hee adderh a moneth to the former number, signifying þ it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

Hosea.

The Argvment.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtile counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in steade of his true seruice commanded by his worde worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grewe euer worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore nowe when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah & Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne thē of their ingratitude: and where as they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednes, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetenes of Gods promises, hee setteth before them the two principall parts of the Lawe, which are the promes of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whome onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the seconde, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Lawe conteine these two poyntes, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THe worde of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes a of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, [and] Hezekiah b Kings of Iudah, & in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.

b So that it may bee gathered by the reigne of these foure Kings, that he preached aboue threescore yeere.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Go, take vnto thee a wife c of fornicatiōs, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, [departing] from the Lord.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play þ harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he sawe this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder

3 So he went, and tooke d Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name e Iezreel: for yet a litle, & I will visite the blood of Iezreel vpō the house this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, & of the people her children. d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figges, declaring, that they were all corrupt like rotten figges. e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastardes, and therefore should be called Iezreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Iezreel, which was the chiefe citie of the tenne tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shedde so much blood, 2. King. 10, 8, 11.

of Iehu, & will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Iezreel.

6 She conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, & [God] said vnto him, Call her name [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vtterly take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will [k] saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sword nor by battel, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when she had weaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued, and bare a sonne.

9 Then said [God,] Call his name [l] Lo-ammi: for yee are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the nomber of the [m] children of Israel shalbe as the sande of the sea, which can not bee measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall bee said vnto them, [Ye are] the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be [n] gathered together, & appointe themselues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great [is] the [o] day of Iezreel.

f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Iezreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his own ambition, and not for the glorie of God, as the end declared: for he built vp that idolatrie, which he had destroyed.

g When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their pollicie & force.

h That is, not obteining mercie: whereby he signifieth that Gods fauour was departed from them.

i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.

k For after their captiuitie he restored the miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezr. 1.1.

l That is, not my people.

m Because they thought that God could not haue bene true in his promes except he had preserued them, he declareth, that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promes, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9.26.

n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

o The calamitie and destruction of Israel shalbe so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your [a] brethren, Ammi, & to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Plead with your [b] mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries [c] from betweene her breasts.

3 [d] Least I strip her naked, & set her as in the day that she was borne, & make her as a wilderneslie, and leaue her like a drie land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they bee the [e] children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my [f] louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore beholde, I will stoppe [h] thy way with thornes, & make an hedge, that she shall not finde her paths.

7 Though shee followe after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not finde [them:] then shall she say, [i] I will go & returne to my first husbande: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now she did not knowe that [k] I gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and golde, [which] they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, and take away [l] my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe [lent,] to couer her shame.

10 And now will I discouer her [m] lewdnes in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast daies, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feastes.

12 And I will destroy her vines and her figge trees, whereof shee hath saide, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: & I will make them as a forest, & the wilde beasts shal eate them.

13 And I will visite vpon her the dayes [n] of Baalim, wherein shee burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her [o] earings and her iewels, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will [p] allure her, and bring her into the wildernes, & speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley [q] of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lorde, thou shalt call me [r] Ishi, & shalt call me a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you incourage one another to imbrace the same, considering ye are my people on whome I will haue mercie.

b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, & their idolatries that he forsook them. Isa. 50.1

c Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.25.

d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell & bowyie and certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would vtterly destroy them.

e Whe I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4.

f That is, bastards and begotten in aduiltery.

g Meaning, the idoles which they serued and by whome they thought they had welth and abundance.

h I will punish thee that thou maiest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and hying thee into such streightnes, that thou shalt haue no libertie to play the wantes.

i This he practiseth at the faithfull, when they are truely conuerted, and also to shewth the vse and profite of Gods rods.

k This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honour, when they attribute his benefites to their idols.

l Signifying that God will take away his benefites when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them.

m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions whereby shee worshipped her idoles.

n I will punish her for her idolatrie.

o By shewing how harlots trimme them selues to please others, he declareth howe the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on their holy dayes.

p By my benefites in offering her grace and mercie, cut q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernes, as Iosh. 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life.

r Shee shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.

no more t Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall bee no more remembred by their u names.

18 And in that day will I make a couenant for them, with the x wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, & the sword and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marie thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marie thee vnto me in righteousnesse, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion.

20 I will euen marie thee vnto me in y faithfulnesse, and thou shalt know the Lorde.

21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lord, I will [euen] heare z the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare þ corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shal heare Jzreel.

23 And I will sow her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercy vpon her, that was not pitied, & I will say to them which were not my people, *Thou art my people. And they shall say, [Thou art] my God.

Rom.9.25. 1.pet.2.10.

CHAP. III.

1 The Jewes shall be call off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterwarde they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said þ Lord to me, a Goe yet, [and] loue a woman (beloued of [her] husbande, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord towarde the childrē of Jsrael: yet they looked to other gods, and b loued the wine bottels.

2 So c I bought her to me for fiftene [pieces] of siluer, & for an homer of barley and an halfe [homer] of barly.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with d me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none [other] man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Jsrael shall remaine many dayes without a king, and without a e prince, & without an offring, and without an image, and without an Ephod and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Jsrael conuert, and seeke the Lorde their God, and f Dauid their King, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psalme 72.17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Jsrael.

Heare the worde of the Lord, ye children of Jsrael: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the lande, because there [is] no trueth, nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, & lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring they breake out, and b blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the lande mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therin, shall be cut off, with the beastes of the fielde, & with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shalbe taken away.

4 Yet c let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people [are] as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in þ d day, and the prophet shal fal with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy e mother.

6 My people are destroied for lacke of knowledge: because f thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing g thou hast forgotten the Lawe of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were h increased, so they sinned against me: therfore will I chaunge their glory into shame.

8 i They eate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall bee like people, like k priest: for I will visite their wayes vpō them, and reward them their deedes.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue ynough: they shall l commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to the Lord.

11 m Whoredome, and Wine, and new Wine take away [their] heart.

12 My n people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the e spirit of fornications hath caused [them] to erre, & they haue gone a Whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles.

u By idolatrie shal once come into their mouth, but they shall serue me purely according to my worde.

x Meaning, that he will so bleste thē that all creatures shall fauour them.

y With a couenant that neuer shalbe broken.

z Then shall the heauen desire raine for þ earth which shall hyng forth for the vse of man.

a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the same when she gaue her selfe to idoles.

b That is, gaue them selues wholy to pleasures, & could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennesse.

c Yet I loued her and payde a small portion for her, least she perceiued the greatnes of my loue, thoulde haue abused me and not bene vnder duetie.

for fifteene peeces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slaue, Exod.21.32.

d I will try thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no.

e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ.

f That is, they should neither haue policie nor religion, & their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, houlde be destroyed.

g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement seat of God, against whome they chiefly offended, Jla.7. 13. Jerh.12. 10. Ezech.6. 1,2.

b In euery place appereth a liberte to moste hainous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another.

c As though he would say, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophetes and Priestes whole office is to chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye shall perish altogether the one, because he would not obey, and the other because he would not admonish.

e That is, the Synagogue wherin thou boastest.

f That is, the Priests shalbe cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut. 33.3. Malac. 2.7.

g Meaning, the whole bodie of the people, which were wearie with hearing the word of God.

h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.

i To wit, the Priests seeke to eat the peoples offrings, and flatter them in their sinnes.

k Signifying, that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.

l Shewing, that their wickednes shall be punished on all sortes: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shalbe deceiued of their hope.

m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like brute beastes.

n Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which nowe for their sinnes they were not: for they fought helpe of stockes and stickes.

o They are carried away with a rage.

p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lusts, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1. 28.

q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to powe owne damnation.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne by their example to returne in time.

s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not haue his people should reioyce thither.

t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.

u God will so disperse them that they shall not remaine in any certaine place.

x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them.

y To carry them suddenly away.

mountaines, and burne incense vpō the hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadowe thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be p harlots, and your spouses shalbe whores.

14 I will not q visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they them selues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shal fall.

15 Though r, Israel, play the harlot, [yet] let not Iudah sinne: come not yee vnto s Gilgal, neither go ye vp to t Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heyfer. Nowe the Lord will feede them as a u lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim [is] ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue [to say] with shame, x Bring ye.

19 The wind hath y bound them vp in her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priestes and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

HEare ye Priestes, heare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, & giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement [is] towarde you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spred vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to b slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know d Ephraim, & Israel is not hid frō me: for nowe, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, [&] Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication [is] in the middes of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the e pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, & with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not find him: [for] he hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue trāsgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten f straunge children: nowe shall g a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blowe yee the trumpet in Gibeah, [and] the chaunne in Ramah: cry out at Beth-auen, after thee, O h Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to i knowe the trueth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that k remoue the bounde: therefore [will I] powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, [and] broke in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the l commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, & to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim sawe his sickenes, & Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto m Asshur, and sent vnto King n Jareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wounde.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lion, & as a lions whelpe to o house of Iudah: I, [euen] I will spoyle, & go away: I will take away, & none shal rescue it.

15 I will go, [&] returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, & seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

COme, and let vs a returne to the Lord: for he hath spoiled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and hee will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will b he reuiue vs, [and] in the thirde day hee will rayse vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, & indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and hee shall come vnto vs as the rayne, [and] as the latter rayne vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shal I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, howe shall I intreate thee: for your goodnes [is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I d cut downe by the prophets: I haue slaine them by the a The Priests and Princes catchen the poore people in their snares as the foulers did the birdes, in these two high mountaines.

b Notwithstanding they seemed to be gruen altogether to holines, & to sacrifices, which here be calleth slaughter in contempt.

c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their King Jeroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions, f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed.

i By ? succesle they shal know that I haue surely determined this.

k They haue turned vpside downe all politicall order, and all maner of religion.

l To wit, after King Jeroboams commandement, & did not rather follow God.

m In stead of seeking for remedie at Gods hand, n Who was King of the Assyrians.

o The whole state of the Priestes.

p Be shewed ? people howe they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.

q Though he correct vs frō time to time, yet his helpe will not be far off, if we returne to him.

r You seeme to haue a certaine holines and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, & as a morning cloude.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendement, c By doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.

f He theweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they shoulde ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbor with outwarde sacrifice.
g That is, like light & weake persons.
h Which was ꝑ place where the Priestes dwelt, & which shoulde haue bene best instructed in my worde.
i That is, doeth immitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

wordes of my mouth, & thy c iudgements [were as] the light that goeth forth.

6 For I delired f mercy, and not sacrifice, & the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.

7 But they like s men haue transgressed ꝑ couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 h Gilead [is] a citie of thē that worke iniquitie, [and is] polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues waite for a man, [so] the company of Priestes murther in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene vilenie in the house of Israel: there [is] the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a i plant for thee, Whiles I woulde returne the captiuitie of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

a Meaning, that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret & open.
b They esteme their wicked king Ieroboā aboue God, and seeke but howe to flatter and please him.
c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and rayled.
d They vsed al riot and excesse in their feastes and solemnities, whereby their king was ouercome with surfet, and brought into diseases, and dilired in flatteries.
e By their ocasion God hath depriued them of all good rulers.
f That is, he counterfaieth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side and rawe on the other, that is, neither throughly hot nor throughly cold, but partly a Iewe, and partly a Gentile.

WHen I Woulde haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, & the Wickednes of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: & a the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they cōsider not in their hearts, [that] I remember al their wickednes: nowe their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the b king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lyes.

4 They are all aduulterers, [and] as a hote c ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, [and] frō kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 [This is] the day d of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made readie their heart lyke an ouen Whiles they lye in waite: their baker sleepeth all ꝑ night: in ꝑ morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hot as an ouen, and haue e deuoured their iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath f murt him selfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Straungers haue deuoured his strength, & he knoweth it not: yea, g gray heares are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, & they do not returne to ꝑ Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without h heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asshur.

12 [But] when they shall goe, I Will spread my net vpon them, [and] drawe them downe as the foules of the heauē: I will chastise thē as their i congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from mee: destruction [shall bee] vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue k redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lyes against me.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto mee with their heartes, l when they houled vpon their beds: m they assemble themselues for corne & wine, [and] they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bounde, [and] strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, [but] not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sworde, for the rage n of their tongues: this shalbe their derision in the land of Egypt.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.
h That is, without all iudgement, as they that can not tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.
i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.
k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.
l When they were in affliction, and cryed out for payne, they sought not vnto me for helpe.
m They onely seeke their owne commoditie & welth, and passe not for me their God.
n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me & my seruants, Psal. 73.9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

SEt ꝑ trumpet to thy a mouth: hee shall come [as an egle] against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Lawe.

2 Israel shal b cry vnto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemie shal pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a c King, but not by mee: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: howe long will they be without d innocencie!

6 e For it came euen from Israel: the Woorke man made it, therefore it is not a God encouragerth ꝑ Prophet to ignifie the speedie cōming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.

b They shall crie like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deedes declare.
c That is, Ieroboam, by whome they fought their owne liberrie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vnright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by them selues, and of their fathers in the wilderneſſe.

God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be [broken] in pieces.

7 For they haue f sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlewinde: it hath no stalke: but the budde shall bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, nowe shal they be among ꝑ Gentiles as a vessell wherein [is] no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: [they are as] a g wilde asse alone by him selfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, nowe will I gather them, and they shal forowe a litle, for the h burden of the king, [and] the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars [shalbe] to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my law: [but] they were counted as a i strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offringes, and eate it: [but] the k Lord accepteth them not: nowe will he remember their iniquitie, & visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

f Shewing that their religion hath but a shewe, and in it selfe is but vanitie.

g They neuer cease but run to and fro to seeke helpe.

h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes ꝑ Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.

i Thus ꝑ idolaters count the worde of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions.

k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he him selfe hath not appointed.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

REioyce not, O Israel for ioye as [other] people: for thou hast gone a whoring fro thy God: thou hast loued l a reward vpon euery corne flooze.

2 m The flooze, & the wine presse shall not feede them, and the newe wine shall fayle in her.

3 They shal not dwel in ꝑ Lords land, but Ephraim shall returne to Egypt, and they shall eat vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer n wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices bee pleasant vnto him: [but they shalbe] vnto thē as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall be polluted: for their bread o for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will yee doe p then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For lo, they are gone from q destruction: [but] Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall bury them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant [places] of their siluer, [and] the thorne [shalbe] in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shall knowe it: r the Prophet [is] a foole: the spirituall man [is] mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therfore the hatred is great.

8 The watchmā of Ephraim [should be] with my God: [but] the Prophet [is] the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, [and] hatred in the house of his God.

9 They s are deepely set: they are corrupt as in ꝑ dayes of Gibeah: [therfore] he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like t grapes in the wildernes: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in ꝑ figge tree at her first time: [but] they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and [their] abominations were according to u their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shal flee away like a bird: from the birth v and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, [is as a tree] w in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring foorth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lorde, giue them: what wilt thou giue thē? giue thē a x baren wombe and dry breastes.

15 All their wickednes [is] in y Gilgal: for there doe I hate thē: for the wickednes of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their bodie.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: & they shall wander among the nations.

g Though they thinke to escape by fleing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

h Then they shall knowe that they were deluded by the who challenged to themselues to be their prophets and spirituall men.

i The Prophets ductie is to bring me to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

k This people is so rooted in their wickednes, that Gibe, ah which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt. Iudg. 19.22.

l Meaning, that he so cherished them and deliuered in thē.

m They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idoles.

n Signifying, ꝑ God would destroy their children by these sundrie meanes, and so consume them by little and litle.

o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus to preserue them from the colde ayre of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but nowe I will giue him to the slaughter.

p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.

q The chiefe cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

a For though al other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward, and to haue thy barns filled, Iere. 44. 17. as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore then to be entertained of her owne husband.

c These outward thinges that thou seekest, shalbe taken from thee.

d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shalbe reiected as things polluted.

e The meate offring which they offer for ꝑ themselues.

f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shalbe the most grieuous poynt of your captiuitie, when you shall see your selues cut off from God.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles, 14 His destruction for the same.

ISrael [is] a emptie vine, [yet] hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, [and] according to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the b goodnesse of their lande they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is c deuided: now shall they bee founde faultie: hee shall breake downe their altars: hee shall destroy their images.

3 For nowe they shal say, We haue no d King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King do to vs?

4. They haue spoken words, [wearing] falsly in making e a couenãt: thus f iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall g feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the h Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto king Jareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroied, as the fome vpon the water.

8 The hie places also of i Auen shalbe destroyed, [euen] the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountains, *Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast k sinned from the daies of Gibeah: there they l stoode: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not m touch them.

10 It is my desire n that I should chastice them, & the people shalbe gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two o furrowes.

11 And Ephraim [is as] an heifer vsed to delite p in threshing: but I will passe by her q faire neeke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, [&] Iaakob shall breake his cloddes.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnes: reape after the measure of mercie: breake vp your fallow ground: for [it is] time to seeke the Lord, till hee come and rayne righteousnesse vpon you.

13 [But] you haue plowed wickednes: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eate the fruite of lies: because thou didest trust in thine owne wayes, [and] in the multitude of thy strong men,

14. Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people and all thy munitions shalbe destroied, as r Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefites of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel a [was] a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, [but] they b went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, [as one] should beare thẽ in his armes: but they knewe not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cordes c of a man, [euen] with bands of loue, and I was to them, as hee that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layd the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into d land of Egypt: but Asshur shall be his e king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sworde shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against mee: though f they called them to the most hie, [yet] none at all would exalt [him.]

8 g How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? [howe] shall I deliuer thee, Israel? howe shall I make thee, as h Admah? [howe] shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: i my repẽtings are rolled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, & I will not k enter into the citie.

a Whereof though the grapes were gathered, yet euen as it gathered newe strength, it increased newe wickednes, so that the correction which should haue brought them to obedience, did but better their stubburnnesse.

b As they were rich and had abundance.

c To wit from God.

d The day that come that God shall take away their King, and then they shall feele the fruite of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17. 6, 7.

e In promising to be faithfull toward God.

f Thus their integritie and fidelitie which they pretended, was nothing but bitternes and griefe.

g When the calfe shalbe caried away.

h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous priests, which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices, and cried with a loude voyce: which superstition Elias derided, 1 Kin. 18. 27. reade 2 King. 23. 5.

i This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4. 15. Ier. 2. 19. Luke 23. 30. reuel. 6. 16. and. 9. 6.

k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale coulde not bee good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deedes were as wicked as theirs. l To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remayned in that stubburnnesse from that time. m The Israelites were not mooued by their example to cease from their sinnes. n Because they are so desperate, I will delight to bestroy them. o That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together. p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and payne. q I will lay my yoke vpon her fat necke. r Reade Iere. 4. 4.

a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt and did not prouoke my wyath by their malice and ingratitude.

b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the prophets called them to repentance.

c That is, friendly and not as beastes or slaues.

d Seeing they contemne all this kindnes, they shalbe led captiue into Assyria.

e To wit, the Prophets.

f God conferreth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe, how to punish them.

g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deu. 29. 23.

h Speaking, that his loue wherewith he shewed it selfe touch the, made him bewoune doute and assurance what to do and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his shall ouercome his iudgements, as he declareth in the next verse.

i To consume thee, but will cause thee to perdue and to receiue thee to mercy: and this is ment of the small number who shall walke after the Lord.

10 They shal walke after the Lord: he shal roare like a lion: whē he shal roare, then the children of the west shall feare.

11 [k]They shal feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue out of the lande of Asshur, and I wil place them in their houses, sayth the Lord.

12 Ephraim cōpasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth [l]with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

k The Egyptians & Assyrians shall be afrayde when the Lord maintayneth his people.

l Gouerneth their state according to Gods worde, and doth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

He admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

EPhraim is fedde [a]with the wind, and foloweth after the East wind: he encreaseth dayly lies and destruction, & they do make a couenant with Asshur, and [b]oyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with [c]Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes will he recompence him.

3 He tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had [d]power with God,

4 And had [e]power ouer the Angel, & preuailed: he wept and praied vnto him: [f]he found him in Beth-el, and there hee spake with vs.

5 Yea the Lorde God of hostes, the Lord [is] himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 [He is] Canaan: [g]ballāces of deceit [are] in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstāding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in al my labours: they shal find none iniquitie in me, [h]that were wickednes.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet wil I make thee to dwel in the tabernacles, as in the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by [i]the Prophets, & I haue multiplied visions, & vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k]iniquitie in Gilead: surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, & their altars [are] as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 [l]And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept [sheepe.]

a That is, flattereth himselfe with vaine confidence.

b Speaning, presents to get friendship.

c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

d Seeing that God dio thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

e Read Gen. 32.31.

f God found Iaakob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el, Gen. 28.12, and so spake with him there, that the fruite of that preach appereyned to the whole body of the people, where of we are.

g As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites, then godly Abrahā or Iaakob.

h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, & like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reproue their doings.

i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefites, I wil bring thee again to dwell in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now celebrate.

13 And by a [m]Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he preserued.

14 [But] Ephraim prouoked him to wrath most bitterly: therefore shall his bloud bee powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

m Speaning, Poles, where by appeareth, the whatsoeure they haue, is cōmeth of Gods free goodnes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And cause of their destructiō.

WHen Ephraim spake, there [was] a trēbling: he [b]exalted himself in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, [c]and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more & more, & haue made them molte images of their siluer, [& idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmē: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a [d]man, Let them kisse the calues.

3 Therefore they shalbe as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the flooze, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e]from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there [is] no Sauiour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wildernes, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will bee vnto them as a very lyon, [and] as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the hall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lyon: the wilde beaste shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one [f]hath destroied thee, but in me [is] thine helpe.

10 [g]I am: where is thy King, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou saidest, Giue me a King, and princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, & I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim [is] [h]bounde vp: his sinne [is] hid.

13 The sorowes of a trauailing Woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the [i]time, [euen] at the breaking forth of the children.

a Be shewed the excellencie, and authoritie that this tribe had aboue all the rest.

b He made a king of his tribe.

c The Ephraimites are not farre from destruction and haue lost their authoritie.

d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abahā, and he sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kisse and worship these calues which were their idoles.

e He calleth them to repentance and reproueth their ingratitude.

f The destruction is certain, and my benefites towarde thee declare it cōmeth not of me: therefore thine own malice, idolatrie & vaine confidece in men must needes be the cause thereof.

g I am all one Iames. 1.17.

h It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Ierem. 17.1.

i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger wherein he is, and not tarry to be stifeled.

14 I

14 I wil redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O [k] death, I will bee thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: [l] repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he grewe vp among [his] brethren, an East winde shall come, [euen] the winde of the Lorde shall come vp from the wildernesse, and drie vp his veyne, and his fountaine shall bee dried vp: he shal spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliuer his but euen in death will he giue them life.
l Because they will not turne to me, I will not chaunge my purpole.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth prayse and thankes.

SAmaria shall be desolate: for the hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the swoorde: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript.

a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoyd all these plagues, willing them to declare by wordes their obedience and repentance.
b He sheweth them howe they ought to confesse their sinnes.
c Declaring that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithfull can offer, euen thankes and prayse, Heb. 13. 15.

2 O Israel, [a] returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the Lorde, and say vnto him, [b] Take away all iniquitie, and receiue [vs] graciously: so will we render the calues of our [c] lippes.

4 Asshur shall [d] not saue vs, neyther will we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our hands, [Ye are] our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 [e] I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall growe as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as [the trees] of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spreade, and his beautie shall be as the olive tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They [f] dwell vnder his [g] shadowe, shall returne: they shall reuiue [as] the corne, [h] flourish as the vine: the sent thereof [shalbe] as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim [shall say,] what haue I to doe any more with idoles? [i] I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruite found.

10 Who is [k] wise, and he shall vnderstand these things: [and] prudent, and he shall knowe them: for the wayes of the Lorde [are] righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shal fall therein.

d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pryde.
e He declareth howe readie God is to receiue them that doe repent.
f Whosoeuer ioyne them selues to this people, shalbe blessed.
g God sheweth how plyable he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe as a protector and fauourable vnto them, as a most sure fruite and profit.
h Signifying that the true wisedome and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

Ioel.

The Argvment.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh the of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, becaufe they grewe daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart becaufe they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will sende his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life, and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer, and fasting for the miserie that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lorde that came to Ioel the sonne of Bethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O [a] Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitants of the lande, whether [b] such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children [shewe] to their children, and their children to another generatiõ.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the reliqoue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, & the residue of the canker worme hath caterpiller eaten.

a Signifying, the Princes, the Priestes, and the gouernours.
b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had nowe plagued the fruites of the ground for the space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.

5 Awake ye [c] drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 For a [d] nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, & without nomber, whose teeth [are like] the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the iawes of a great lyon.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth of the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackecloth for the [e] husbande of her youth.

9 The meate offring, and the drinke

c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse & drunkennesse was taken away.
d This was another plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them. e Mourne grieuously as a woman, which hath lost her husbande, to whom she hath bene married in her youth.

14 I wil redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O [k] death, I will bee thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: [l] repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he grewe vp among [his] brethren, an East winde shall come, [euen] the winde of the Lorde shall come vp from the wildernesse, and drie vp his veyne, and his fountaine shall bee dried vp: he shal spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliuer his but euen in death will he giue them life.
l Because they will not turne to me, I will not chaunge my purpole.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth prayse and thankes.

SAmaria shall be desolate: for the hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the swoorde: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript.

a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoyd all these plagues, willing them to declare by wordes their obedience and repentance.
b He sheweth them howe they ought to confesse their sinnes.
c Declaring that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithfull can offer, euen thankes and prayse, Heb. 13. 15.

2 O Israel, [a] returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the Lorde, and say vnto him, [b] Take away all iniquitie, and receiue [vs] graciously: so will we render the calues of our [c] lippes.

4 Asshur shall [d] not saue vs, neyther will we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our hands, [Ye are] our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 [e] I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall growe as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as [the trees] of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spreade, and his beautie shall be as the olive tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They [f] dwell vnder his [g] shadowe, shall returne: they shall reuiue [as] the corne, [h] flourish as the vine: the sent thereof [shalbe] as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim [shall say,] what haue I to doe any more with idoles? [i] I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruite found.

10 Who is [k] wise, and he shall vnderstand these things: [and] prudent, and he shall knowe them: for the wayes of the Lorde [are] righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shal fall therein.

d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pryde.
e He declareth howe readie God is to receiue them that doe repent.
f Whosoeuer ioyne them selues to this people, shalbe blessed.
g God sheweth how plyable he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe as a protector and fauourable vnto them, as a most sure fruite and profit.
h Signifying that the true wisedome and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

Ioel.

The Argvment.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh the of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, becaufe they grewe daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart becaufe they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will sende his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life, and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer, and fasting for the miserie that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lorde that came to Ioel the sonne of Bethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O [a] Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitants of the lande, whether [b] such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children [shewe] to their children, and their children to another generatiõ.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the reliqoue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, & the residue of the canker worme hath caterpiller eaten.

a Signifying, the Princes, the Priestes, and the gouernours.
b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had nowe plagued the fruites of the ground for the space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.

5 Awake ye [c] drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 For a [d] nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, & without nomber, whose teeth [are like] the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the iawes of a great lyon.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth of the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackecloth for the [e] husbande of her youth.

9 The meate offring, and the drinke

c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse & drunkennesse was taken away.
d This was another plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them. e Mourne grieuously as a woman, which hath lost her husbande, to whom she hath bene married in her youth.

offring is f cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priestes the Lords ministers mourne.

f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, in so much as Gods seruice was left off.

10 The fielde is wasted: the lande mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the newe wine is dried vp, [and] the oyle is decayed.

g All comfort and substance for nourishmēt is taken away.

11 Be yee ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for ꝓ wheate, and for the barly, because the harueste of the fielde is perished.

12 The vine is dryed vp, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, [euen] all the trees of the fielde are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 h Girde your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, [and] lie all night in sackecloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offring is taken away from the house of your God.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoyde Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored is vnfeined repentance,

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, [and] all the inhabitantes of the lande into the house of the Lorde your God, and crye vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the i day of the Lorde is at hande, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almightie.

i We see by these great plagues that vtter destruction is at hand.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes: [and] ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their cloddes: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 Howe did the beasts mourne: the herdes of cattel pine away, because they haue no pasture, ɛ the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderneſſe, and the flame hath burnte vp all the trees of the fielde.

20 The beasts of the fielde cryed also vnto thee: for ꝓ riuers of waters are dryed vp, ɛ the k fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderneſſe.

k That is, drought.

CHAP. II.

Hee prophesieth of the comming and cruelties of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to mone them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLowe the trumpet in Zion, ɛ shout in mine holy Mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for ꝓ day of the Lord is come: for it [is] at hand.

a He sheweth ꝓ great vngrēments of God which are at hand, ɛ recepe they repent.

2 A b day of darkenes, and of blackenesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spredde vpon the mountaines, [so is] there a c great people, and a mightie: there was none like it frō the beginning, neither shalbe any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations.

b Of afflictiō and trouble.

c Meaning, the Assyrians.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land [is] as the garden of d Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderneſſe, so that nothing shall escape him.

d The enemie destroyeth our plentiful countrie, wherefoeuer he commeth.

4 The beholding of him [is] like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.

5 Like the noyse of charets in the tops of the mountaines shal they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, [and] as a mightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people treble: all faces e shall gather blackenesse.

e They shall be pale and blacke for feare, as Nahum 2, 10.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and go vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall go forwarde in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one f thrust another, [but] euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fal vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

f For none shalbe able to resist them.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the citie: they shall run vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, [and] enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

10 The earth shall trēble before him, the heauens shall shake, the g sunne and the moone shalbe darke, and the starres shall withdrawe their shining, g Reade Ieremie 2, 31. & Isa. 13, 10. Ezek. 32, 7. chap. 3, 15. mat. 24, 29.

11 And the Lorde shall h vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for [he is] strong ꝓ doeth his word: for the day of the Lorde is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

h The Lord shall sturre vp the Assyrians to execute his iudgements. Ierem. 30, 7. amos 5, 18. zeph. 1, 15.

12 Therefore also nowe the Lorde saith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13 And i rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lorde your God, for he is gratious, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

i Ꝓ title your affections and serue God with purenesse of heart and not with ceremonies.

14 Who knoweth, [if] he will k returne and repēt and leaue a blessing behind him, [euē] a meat offring, ɛ a drink offring vnto the Lorde your God?

k He speaketh this to stir vp their slouthfulnesse, ɛ not that he doubted of Gods mercies, if they did repent. Ꝓ our God repenteth, reade Ierem. 18, 8.

15 Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assemblie.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congrecongregation, gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breastes: let the bridegrome goe fooorth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lorde weepe betweene the porche and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lorde, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen shoulde rule ouer them. * Wherefore shoulde they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lorde be [m] iealous ouer his lande and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lorde will answere and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will sende you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen,

20 But I will remoue farre off from you the [n] Northren [armie,] and I will drive him into a lande, barren and desolate with his face toward the [o] East sea, and his ende to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascende, because he hath exalted himselfe to doe [this.]

21 Feare not, O lande, [but] be glad, and reioyce: for the Lorde will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of [p] fielde: for the pastures of the wildernesse are greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the fig tree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lorde your God: for he hath giuen you the raine of [p] righteousnesse, * he will cause to come downe for you the raine, [euen] the [first] raine, and the latter raine in [p] first [moneth].

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheate, and the presses shall abounde with wine and oyle.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpiller and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

26 So you shal eate and be satisfied & praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath delt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also knowe, that I am in the middes of Israel, and that I am the Lorde your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterwarde will I powre [q] out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes & your daughters shall prophecie: your old men shal dreame dreames, [and] your yong men shall see visions, 29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maides in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will shewe [r] wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The [r] sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lorde come.

32 But whosoeuer shall call [u] on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion, and in Jerusalem shall be deliuerance, as the Lorde hath said, & in the [x] remnant, whom the Lord shal call.

what terrible things shoulde come, to the intent that they shoulde not looke for continuall quietnesse in this worlde, and yet in all these troubles he serue them. t The order of nature shall seeme to be changed for the afflictions that shall be in the worlde, Isa. 13.10. Ezek. 32.7. Mat. 24.29. u Gods iudgements are for the destruction of the infidels, and to moue the godly to call vpon the name of God, who will giue them saluation. x Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10.13.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

FOr beholde, in [a] those dayes and in that time, whē I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Judah and Jerusalem,

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring thē downe into [b] the valley of Jehoshaphat, and will pleade with thē there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, & parted my lande,

3 And they haue cast lottes for my people, and haue giuen the childe for the harlot, and solde the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and [d] what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon and all the coastes of Palestina? will ye render me [c] a recompence? and if ye recompence me, swiftly [and] speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head:

5 For ye haue take my siluer and my golde, and haue caryed into your temples my goodly [and] pleasant things.

6 The children also of Judah and the children of Jerusalem haue you sold vnto the Grecians, that ye might sende them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue solde them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head,

8 And I will sell your sonnes and to him selfe. c Haue I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

yours

1 That as all shall haue sinned, so all may shewe tooth fignes of their repentance, that men seeing the chastisement, which are not free from Gods wrath, might be the more likely touched with the consideration of their owne sinnes. Psal. 79.10.

m If they repent, he sheweth that God will preserue and defende them with a most ardent affection.

n That is, the Assyrians your enemies. o Called the salt sea, or Persian sea: meaning, that though his army were so great, that it filled all from this sea to the sea called Mediterraneum, yet he woulde scatter them.

p That is, such as should come by iust measure, and as was wont to be sent when God was reconciled with them. Leuit. 26.4. deut. 11.14.

q That is, in greater abundance & more generally then in time past: and this was fulfilled vnder Christ, when as Gods graces, and his spirit vnder the Gospell was abundantly giuen to the Church, Isa. 44.3. actes 2.17. ioh. 7.38,39.

r As they had visions, and dreames in olde time, so shal they nowe haue clearer reuelations.

s He warneth the faithfull what terrible things shoulde come, to the intent that they shoulde not looke for continuall quietnesse in this worlde, and yet in all these troubles he woulde preserue them. t The order of nature shall seeme to be changed for the afflictions that shall be in the worlde, Isa. 13.10. Ezek. 32.7. chap. 2.15. mat. 24.29. u Gods iudgements are for the destruction of the infidels, and to moue the godly to call vpon the name of God, who will giue them saluation. x Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10.13.

a When I shall deliuer my Church, which standeth of the Iewes, and of the Gentiles.

b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victorie of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20.26. also be hath respect to this worde Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

c That which is enemie gate for a sale of my people, he shewed vpō his hartlesse & drinke.

d He taketh the cause of his Church in hande against the enemy, as though the iniurie were done pour daughters vnto the hande of the children of Iudah, and they [f] ſhall ſell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lorde hath ſpoken it.

f For afterwarde God ſolde them by Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, & thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre drawe neere [and] come vp.

10 [g] Breake your plowſhares into ſwordes, and your ſieths into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

g When I ſhall execute my iudgements againſt mine enemies, I will cauſe euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another, for my Churches ſake.

11 Aſſemble your ſelues, and come all ye heathen and gather your ſelues together rounde about: there ſhal the Lord caſt downe thy mightie men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to iudge all the heathen rounde about.

13 Put in your [h] ſieths, for the haruеſt is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepreſſe is full: yea, the winepreſſes run ouer, for their wickednеſſe is great.

h Thus he ſhall encourage the enemies when their wickednеſſe is full ripe to deſtroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

14 O multitude, O multitude, [come] into the valley of threſhing: for the day of the Lord [is] neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The ſunne and moone ſhalbe darkened, and the ſtarres ſhall withdrawe their light.

16 The Lorde alſo ſhall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the heauens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lorde will be the hope [i] of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

i God aſſureth his againſt all troubles, that when he deſtroyeth his enemies, his children ſhalbe deliuered.

17 So ſhall ye knowe that I am the Lorde your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then ſhall Ieruſalem be holy, and there ſhal no ſtrangers goe [k] through her any more.

k The ſtrangers ſhall no more deſtroy his Church: which if they do, it is the people which by their ſinnes make ſ heauy for the enemie.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines [l] droppe downe newe wine, and the hilles ſhall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah ſhall runne with waters, and a fountaine ſhal come forth of the houſe of the Lorde, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim.

l He himſelfe to his Church abundance of graces, reade Eſech. 47.1. which ſhoulde water & comfort the moſt baren places, Amos. 9.13.

19 [m] Egypt ſhall be waſte, and Edom ſhalbe a deſolate wildernes, for the iniuries of [n] the children of Iudah, becauſe they haue ſhed innocent blood in their lande.

m The malicious enemies ſhall haue no parte of this grace.

n He had ſuffered his Church hitherto to lye in their filthineſſe, but nowe he promiſeth to cleanſe them and to make them pure vnto him.

20 But Iudah ſhall dwell for euer, and Ieruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will [o] cleanſe their blood, that I haue not cleanſed, and the Lorde will dwell in Zion.

o Or, auenge.

Amos.

The Argvment.

AMong many other Prophets that God raiſed vp to admoniſh the Iſraelites of his plagues for their wickednеſſe and idolatrie, he ſtirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or ſhepherd of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and conſtancie to reproue all eſtates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them, that if God ſpare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſinnes will puniſh them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lorde by vnfeined repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Meſſiah, by whome they ſhould haue perfite deliuerance and ſaluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The woorde of the Lorde againſt Damaſcus, 6 The Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THe woordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen [a] at Tecoa, which he ſawe vpon Iſrael, in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the dayes of [b] Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioaſh king of Iſrael, two yeere before the [c] earthquake.

a Which was a towne fiue miles from Ieruſalem in Iuden, but he prophecied in Iſrael.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Iſrael did moſt floriſh.

c Which, as Joſephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vſurped the Prieſts office, and therefore was ſmitten vp the Leprоſie.

2 And he ſayde, The Lorde ſhall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſhepherdes ſhall periſh, and the toppe of [d] Carmel ſhall withet.

d Whatſoeuer is fruitfull and pleaſant in Iſrael ſhall ſhortly periſh.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, For [e] three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they haue [f] threſhed Gilead with threſhing inſtruments of yron.

e He ſheweth firſt that all the people rounde about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifolde ſinnes: which are ment by three and foure which make ſeuen, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhoulde the more deepely conſider Gods iudgements towarde them.

f If the Syrians ſhall not be ſpared for committing this cruеltie againſt one citie, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhoulde eſcape puniſhment which harly committed ſo many and grieuous ſinnes againſt God and man.

4 Therefore will I ſende a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall deuoure the [g] palaces of Ben-hadad.

g The antiquitie of their buildings ſhall not auoyde my iudgements, reade Jerem. 49.27.

5 I will breake alſo the barres of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: & him that holdeth the ſcepter out of Beth-eden, and the people

pour daughters vnto the hande of the children of Iudah, and they [f] ſhall ſell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lorde hath ſpoken it.

f For afterwarde God ſolde them by Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, & thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre drawe neere [and] come vp.

10 [g] Breake your plowſhares into ſwordes, and your ſieths into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

g When I ſhall execute my iudgements againſt mine enemies, I will cauſe euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another, for my Churches ſake.

11 Aſſemble your ſelues, and come all ye heathen and gather your ſelues together rounde about: there ſhal the Lord caſt downe thy mightie men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to iudge all the heathen rounde about.

13 Put in your [h] ſieths, for the haruеſt is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepreſſe is full: yea, the winepreſſes run ouer, for their wickednеſſe is great.

h Thus he ſhall encourage the enemies when their wickednеſſe is full ripe to deſtroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

14 O multitude, O multitude, [come] into the valley of threſhing: for the day of the Lord [is] neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The ſunne and moone ſhalbe darkened, and the ſtarres ſhall withdrawe their light.

16 The Lorde alſo ſhall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the heauens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lorde will be the hope [i] of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

i God aſſureth his againſt all troubles, that when he deſtroyeth his enemies, his children ſhalbe deliuered.

17 So ſhall ye knowe that I am the Lorde your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then ſhall Ieruſalem be holy, and there ſhal no ſtrangers goe [k] through her any more.

k The ſtrangers ſhall no more deſtroy his Church: which if they do, it is the people which by their ſinnes make ſ heauy for the enemie.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines [l] droppe downe newe wine, and the hilles ſhall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah ſhall runne with waters, and a fountaine ſhal come forth of the houſe of the Lorde, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim.

l He himſelfe to his Church abundance of graces, reade Eſech. 47.1. which ſhoulde water & comfort the moſt baren places, Amos. 9.13.

19 [m] Egypt ſhall be waſte, and Edom ſhalbe a deſolate wildernes, for the iniuries of [n] the children of Iudah, becauſe they haue ſhed innocent blood in their lande.

m The malicious enemies ſhall haue no parte of this grace.

n He had ſuffered his Church hitherto to lye in their filthineſſe, but nowe he promiſeth to cleanſe them and to make them pure vnto him.

20 But Iudah ſhall dwell for euer, and Ieruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will [o] cleanſe their blood, that I haue not cleanſed, and the Lorde will dwell in Zion.

o Or, auenge.

Amos.

The Argvment.

AMong many other Prophets that God raiſed vp to admoniſh the Iſraelites of his plagues for their wickednеſſe and idolatrie, he ſtirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or ſhepherd of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and conſtancie to reproue all eſtates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them, that if God ſpare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſinnes will puniſh them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lorde by vnfeined repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Meſſiah, by whome they ſhould haue perfite deliuerance and ſaluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The woorde of the Lorde againſt Damaſcus, 6 The Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THe woordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen [a] at Tecoa, which he ſawe vpon Iſrael, in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the dayes of [b] Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioaſh king of Iſrael, two yeere before the [c] earthquake.

a Which was a towne fiue miles from Ieruſalem in Iuden, but he prophecied in Iſrael.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Iſrael did moſt floriſh.

c Which, as Joſephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vſurped the Prieſts office, and therefore was ſmitten vp the Leprоſie.

2 And he ſayde, The Lorde ſhall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſhepherdes ſhall periſh, and the toppe of [d] Carmel ſhall withet.

d Whatſoeuer is fruitfull and pleaſant in Iſrael ſhall ſhortly periſh.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, For [e] three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they haue [f] threſhed Gilead with threſhing inſtruments of yron.

e He ſheweth firſt that all the people rounde about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifolde ſinnes: which are ment by three and foure which make ſeuen, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhoulde the more deepely conſider Gods iudgements towarde them.

f If the Syrians ſhall not be ſpared for committing this cruеltie againſt one citie, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhoulde eſcape puniſhment which harly committed ſo many and grieuous ſinnes againſt God and man.

4 Therefore will I ſende a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall deuoure the [g] palaces of Ben-hadad.

g The antiquitie of their buildings ſhall not auoyde my iudgements, reade Jerem. 49.27.

5 I will breake alſo the barres of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: & him that holdeth the ſcepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto h Kir, saith the Lorde.

h Tiglath Pileser led the Syrians captiue, & brought them to Cyrene, which he called heere Kir.

6 Thus sayeth the Lorde, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they i caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

i They ioyned them selues with the Edomites their enemies, which carped them away captiues, 7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, & the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, & for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the k brotherly couenant.

k For Elau (of whome came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue ammonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred, ‡Ebr. corrupt his compassions.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, & it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did ‡ cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him l alway.

l He was a continuall enemie vnto him.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they m haue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

m He noteth the great cruelties of the Ammonites that spared not the wome, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot who was of the houshold of Abraham.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shal deuoure the palaces therof, with shouting in the day of battell, [and] with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lorde.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iuda, and Israel.

THus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the a bones of the King of Edom into lime.

a For the Moabites were so cruel against the king of Edom y they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge them selues of the dead.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, [and] with the sounde of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the middes thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith p the Lorde.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, b I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lorde, and haue not kept his commaundements, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so far knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of y Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

5 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lorde, For three transgressions of c Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer and the poore for d shooes.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bodies more then mes liues.

e Either they haue spoyled him & thrown him to the grounde, they gape for his life.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the e dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to dishonour mine holy Name.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, & being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednesse.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes laide to pledge f by euery altar: and they g drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

g They spoile others, and offer thereof vnto God, thinking y he will dispence with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

9 Yet destroyed I the h Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

h The destruction of their enemies and his mercie towarde them should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue towarde him.

10 Also I brought you vp from the lande of Egypt, and ledde you fourtie yeeres thorowe the Wildernesse, to possesse the lande of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and i of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

i Ye contemned my benefits, and abused my graces and craftely went about to stoppe the mouthes of my prophets.

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and comanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

k You haue wearyed me with your sinnes, Isa. 1.14.

13 Beholde, I am k pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the l swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

l None shall be deliuered by any meanes,

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

He reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will punish them.

HEare this worde that the Lorde pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole family which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You [a] onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be [b] agreed?

4 Will a [c] lyon roare in the forest, whe he hath no pray? or will a lyons whelpe crye out of his denne, if he haue taken nothing?

5 [d] Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the [e] snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or [f] shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afrayde? or shall there [g] be euill in a citie, and the Lorde hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will do nothing, but he [h] reueileth his secrete vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: Who will not be afrayde? the Lord God hath spoken: Who can but [i] prophecie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at [k] Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: to behold the great tumultes in the midst thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof.

10 For they knowe not to doe right, saith the Lorde: they store vp violence, and robberie [l] in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, An aduersarie [shall come] euen round about the countrey, and shal bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepherd taketh [m] out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an eare: so shal the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in [n] Damascus, [as in] a couch.

13 Heare, & testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lorde God, the God of hostes.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Bethel, and the homes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the Winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, saith the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this worde, ye [a] kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, [and] destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, [b] Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holinesse, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that he will take you away with [c] thornes, and your posteritie with fish hookes.

3 And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery [kow] forward: & ye shal cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lorde.

4 Come to [d] Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, [and] your tithes after three [e] yeeres.

5 And offer a thankesgiuing [f] of leauen, publish [and] proclaime the free offrings: for this [g] liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you [h] cleannesse of teeth in al your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lorde.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there [were] yet three [i] moneths to the harueste, & I caused it to raine vpon one citie, & haue not caused it to raine vpon an other citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two [or] three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were [k] not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lorde.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyardes, and your figge trees, and your olive trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lorde.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of [l] Egypt: your young a I haue only chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me.

b Hereby the Prophet sufficiently that he speaketh not of him selfe, but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.
c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?
d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?
e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?
f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraide?
g Doth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isa. 45.7.
h God declareth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.
i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit moued them so to speake as they did.
k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians to be witnesses of oppression.
l The fruite of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses.
m When the lyon hath taciate his hunger, the shepherd findeth a legge or a tippe of an eare to shewe that the sheepe hath bene worried.
n Where they thought to haue had a sure holdeand, to haue bene in safetie.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefites, forgate God, and therfore he calleth them by the name of beasts and not of men.
b They encourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them, so that they may haue posite by it.
c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.
d He speaketh this in contempt of them which reioyced to these places, thinking that their great deuotion & good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. e Reade Deu. 14.28.
f As Leuit. 7.13.
g You onely delight in these outwarde ceremonies and haue none other respect.
h That is, lacke of bread and meate.
i I stayed the raine till the fruites of the earth were destroyed with mought, & yet you would not confider it to returne to me by repentance.

k They could not find water inough, where they had heard say it had rayned.
l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exodus 9.10.

men

men haue I flame with the ſworde, and haue taken away your horſes: and I haue made the ſtinke of your tentes to come vp euen into your noſtrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lorde.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a [m] fire brand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

12 Therefore, thus will I doe vnto thee, O Iſrael: and becauſe I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to [n] meete thy God, O Iſrael.

13 For loe, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man What is his thought: Which maketh the morning darkeneſſe, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lorde God of hoſtes [is] his Name.

m You were almoſt all conſumed, & a few of you wonderfully preſerued, 2. King. 14.26.

n Turne to him by repentance.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Iſrael.

HEare ye this worde, which I lift vp vpon you, [euen] a lamentation of the houſe of Iſrael.

2 The [a] virgin Iſrael is fallen, [and] ſhall no more riſe: ſhe is left vpon her land, [&] there [is] none to raiſe her vp.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thouſand, ſhall leaue an [b] hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, ſhall leaue ten to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 For thus ſaith the Lorde vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Seeke ye me, and ye ſhall liue.

5 But ſeeke not Beth-el, nor enter into [c] Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal ſhall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el ſhall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lorde, and ye ſhall liue, leaſt he breake out like fire in the houſe of Ioſeph and deuoure it, and there [be] none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne [d] iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteouſnes in the earth.

8 He [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the ſhadow of death into the morning, & he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the ſea, & powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord [is] his Name.

9 He ſtrengtheneth the deſtroyer againſt the mightie: and the deſtroyer ſhall come againſt the fortreſſe.

a He ſo calleth them becauſe they ſo boaſted of them ſelues, or becauſe they were giuen to wantonnes & daintineſſe.

b Meaning, that the tenth part ſhoulde ſcarſely be ſaued.

c In theſe places they worſhipped newe idoles, which afore time ſerued for the true honor of God: therefore he ſaith that theſe ſhall not ſaue them.

d In ſtead of iudgement and equitie they execute crueltie and oppreſſion.

e He deſcribeth the power of God, Iob. 9.9.

10 They haue hated him, [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that ſpeaketh vprightly.

11 Foraſmuch then as your treading [is] vpon the poore, and [g] ye take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houſes of hewen ſtone, but ye ſhall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleaſant vineyardes, but ye ſhall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifolde tranſgreſſions, and your mightie ſinnes: they afflict the iuſt, they take rewardes, and they oppreſſe the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore [h] the prudent ſhall keepe ſilence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lorde God of hoſtes ſhall be with you, as you haue ſpoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and eſtabliſh iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lorde God of hoſtes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioſeph.

16 Therefore [i] the Lord God of hoſtes, the Lorde ſaith thus, Mourning [ſhall be] in all ſtreetes: and they ſhall ſay in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they ſhall call the [k] huſbandman to lamentation, and ſuch as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines [ſhall be] lamentation: for I will paſſe through thee, ſaith the Lorde.

18 [l] Woe vnto you, that [m] deſire the day of the Lord: What haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord [is] darknes and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the houſe, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a ſerpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lorde be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it?

21 I hate [and] abhorre your feaſt dayes, and I will not ſmell in your ſolemne aſſemblies.

22 Though ye offer mee burnt offrings and meate offrings, I will not accept them: neither will I regarde the peace offrings of your fat beaſts.

23 Take thou away from mee the multitude of thy ſongs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy violes)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as [n] waters, and righteouſneſſe as a mightie riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me ſacrifices

f They hate the Prophets, which reproue the in the open aſſemblies.

g Ye take both his money and alſo his foode wherewith he ſhould liue.

h God will ſo plague them, that they ſhall not ſuffer the godly once to open their mouthes to admoniſh the of their faults.

i So that all degrees ſhall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

k Thus hee ſpeaketh becauſe the wicked and hypocrites ſayde they were content to abide Gods iudgements, where as the godly tremble and feare, Ierc. 30. 7. Ioel. 2. 2, 11. Zeph. 1. 15.

l Becauſe ye haue contempt myerue ſeruice and remaine obſtinate in your vices, Iſa. 1. 11. Ierc. 6. 10.

m Doe your duetie to God and to your neighbour, and ſo ye ſhall feele his grace plentifully, if you ſhewe your abundant affections according to Gods worde.

and offrings in the wildernesse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne [n] Sicuth your King, & Chiun your images, [and] the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lorde, whose Name [is] the God of hostes.

n That Idole which you esteemed as your king, and caried about, as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinitie.

CHAP. VI.

Against the Princes of Israel liuing in pleasures.

a The prophet threatneth the welthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing auaile the that were there borne, why should you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?

c Iif God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Nasson, Syria, and of the Philistims, & hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse, then yours yet are, thinke you to be better or to escape?

d Ye that continue still in your wickednes and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hande but geue your selues to all idlenes, wantonnes and ryote.

e As he caused diuerse kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glorie, to these did contende to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lustes. f They pitied not their brethren, whereof nowe many were slaine and caried away captiue.

g Some reade, the tope of them that stretch them selues, shall departe.

h Reade Iere. 51.14. i That is, the riches and pompe. k The destruction shall be so great that none shall almost be left to burie the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carie out the burnt ashes with more ease. l That is, to some neighbour, that dwelleth round about.

[a] WOe to them that are at ease in Zion & trust in the mountaine of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Go you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence go you to Hamath ỹ great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border,

3 Ye that put farre away the [d] euill day, and approch to the seate of iniquitie:

4 They lye vpon beddes of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beds, and eate the lambs of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to them selues instruments of musike like [e] Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and anoint themselues with the chiefe oyntments, but no man is [f] sory for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore nowe shall they go captiue with the first that goe captiue, and [g] the sorow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand.

8 [h] The Lorde God hath sworne by him selfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre [i] the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall dye.

10 And his vncle [k] shall take him vp & burne him to carie out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by the [l] sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None.

11 Then shall he say, [m] Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

12 For beholde, the Lorde commaundeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts.

13 Shall horses [n] runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe [there] with oxen? for ye haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousnes into [o] Wormewood.

14 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: ye say, Haue not we gotten vs [p] hornes by our owne strength?

14 But beholde, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of [q] Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

m They shall be so astonished at this destruction, that they shall bouth no more of the name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumme when they heare Gods name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate.

n He compareth them to baren rockes where upon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefits can haue no place among them.

o Reade Chap. 5.7. p That is, power and glorie. q From one corner of the countrey to another.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counsell.

[a] THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and behold, he formed [a] grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter grouth: and lo, [it was] in the latter grouth [b] after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayde, O Lorde God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

3 [So] the Lorde [c] repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 [Thus also] hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and beholde, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, [d] and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

5 Then sayd I, O Lorde God, ceasse, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

6 [So] the Lorde repented for this. This also shal not be, saith ỹ Lord God.

7 [Thus again] hee shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line, with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayde, A line. Then said the Lord, Beholde, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Isaak shalbe desolate, a To deuoure the land: and he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, whē the kings sheepe were shorne.

c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubbernesse of this people.

e Signifying that this should be the last measuring of the people, & that he would defer his iudgement no longer, desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the swoord.

10 [c] Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Jeroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

11 For thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the swoorde, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also [g] Amaziah sayde vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, go, flee thou away into the land of Judah, and there eate [thy] bread and prophecie there.

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappell, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and sayd to Amaziah, I was no [h] Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wilde figges.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord sayd vnto me, Goe, prophecie vnto my people Israel.

16 Nowe therefore heare thou the worde of the Lorde. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Jshak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, [i] Thy wife shalbe an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the swoorde, and thy land shall be deuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

f That is, when Amos had prophecied that the king should be destroyed: for this wicked Priest wrote for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for loue towarde the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, where as none other could take place.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the King, he assayed by an other practise: that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reproue their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profite.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinarie vocation, that God had giuen him a charge which he must needes execute.

i Thus God vsed to approue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues and iudgements against them, which were malicious enemies, Jere. 28. 12. and 29. 21, 25. as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Jsrael. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the worde of God.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of sommer fruite.

2 And he sayd, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of sommer [a] fruite. Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Jsrael, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies [shall be] in euery place: they shall cast them forth with [b] silence.

a Which signified the ripenes of their sinnes: therefore is Gods iudgements.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.

4 Heare this, Oye that [c] swallow vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the [d] newe moneth be gone, that we may sel corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make [e] the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weightes by deceit?

6 That we may bye the poore for siluer, and the needie for [f] shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Jaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholy as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and [g] drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lorde God, I will cause the [h] sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackecloth vpon all loines, and baldnes vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, [i] the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the Word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they runne to and fro to seeke the [k] Worde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the fayre virgins and the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne [l] of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and [m] the manner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

c By staying the sale of foode and merchandise things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickly that little that they haue and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.

d When the dearth was once come, they were so gredy of gaine that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

e That is, the measure small, and the price great.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall be drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

g In the midst of their prosperitie, I will sende great affliction.

h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods worde which is the food thereof.

i For the idolaters vsed vse to sweare by their idoles: whiely here be called their sinne, as the Papists vse oth vpon their saints. k That is, the manner of worshipping and the seruice or religion there vsed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple. 2 And against Jsrael. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Sawe the Lorde standing vpon the [a] altar, and he sayd, Smite the lintel of [b] the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, [euen] the [b] heads a Which was at Jerusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Jsrael. b Both the chiefe of them and also the common people.

desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the swoord.

10 [c] Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Jeroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

11 For thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the swoorde, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also [g] Amaziah sayde vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, go, flee thou away into the land of Judah, and there eate [thy] bread and prophecie there.

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappell, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and sayd to Amaziah, I was no [h] Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wilde figges.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord sayd vnto me, Goe, prophecie vnto my people Israel.

16 Nowe therefore heare thou the worde of the Lorde. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Jshak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, [i] Thy wife shalbe an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the swoorde, and thy land shall be deuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

f That is, when Amos had prophecied that the king should be destroyed: for this wicked Priest wrote for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for loue towarde the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, where as none other could take place.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the King, he assayed by an other practise: that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reproue their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profite.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinarie vocation, that God had giuen him a charge which he must needes execute.

i Thus God vsed to approue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues and iudgements against them, which were malicious enemies, Jere. 28. 12. and 29. 21, 25. as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Jsrael. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the worde of God.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of sommer fruite.

2 And he sayd, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of sommer [a] fruite. Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Jsrael, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies [shall be] in euery place: they shall cast them forth with [b] silence.

a Which signified the ripenes of their sinnes: therefore is Gods iudgements.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.

4 Heare this, Oye that [c] swallow vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the [d] newe moneth be gone, that we may sel corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make [e] the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weightes by deceit?

6 That we may bye the poore for siluer, and the needie for [f] shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Jaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholy as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and [g] drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lorde God, I will cause the [h] sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackecloth vpon all loines, and baldnes vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, [i] the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the Word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they runne to and fro to seeke the [k] Worde of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the fayre virgins and the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne [l] of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and [m] the manner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

c By staying the sale of foode and merchandise things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickly that little that they haue and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.

d When the dearth was once come, they were so gredy of gaine that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

e That is, the measure small, and the price great.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall be drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

g In the midst of their prosperitie, I will sende great affliction.

h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods worde which is the food thereof.

i For the idolaters vsed vse to sweare by their idoles: whiely here be called their sinne, as the Papists vse oth vpon their saints. k That is, the manner of worshipping and the seruice or religion there vsed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple. 2 And against Jsrael. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Sawe the Lorde standing vpon the [a] altar, and he sayd, Smite the lintel of [b] the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, [euen] the [b] heads

a Which was at Jerusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Jsrael. b Both the chiefe of them and also the common people.

of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sworde: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselues in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I commaund the [c] serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they go into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I commaund the sworde, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lorde God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein, shal mourne, and it shall rise vp wholy like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 Hee buildeth his [d] spheres in the heauen, and hath laid the fundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord [is] his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lorde? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from [f] Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God [are] vpon the sinfull kingdome, & I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheles I will not vtterly [g] destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.

9 For lo, I will commaund and I will sifte the house of Israel among all nations, like as [corne is] sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the [h] least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 [But] all the sinners of my people shall dye by the sworde, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde,

12 That they may possesse the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, saith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that the plowman shall [l] touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall [m] drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

14 [n] And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shal no more be pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord thy God.

c He sheweth that God will declare himself enemie vnto them in all places, & that his elements and all creatures shalbe enemies to destroy them.
d He declareth by the wonderfull power of God by the making of the heauens and the elements that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.
e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or Blackmoyes? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.
f Read Jere. 47.4.
g Though he destroy ỳ rebellious multitude, yet he will euer referue ỳ remnant his Church to call vpõ his Name.
h Meaning, ỳ none of his shoulo perish in his wrath.
i I will sende the Messiah promised & reuiued by him ỳ spirituall Israel, Act. 15.16.
k Meaning, that ỳ very enemies, as were the Edomites & others, shuld be ioyned with the Iewes in one society and body, whereof Christ should be the head.
l Signifying that there shall be great plenty of all things, so that when one kinde of fruite is rype, another should followe and euery one in course, Leuit. 26.5.
m Reade Joel 3.18.
n The accomplishment hereof is vnder Christ, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer be pulled, after they are once grafted therein.

Obadiah.

The Argument.

THe Idumeans, which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundrie kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were nowe in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, for as much as God had nowe determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to sende them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which hee had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lorde God against Edom, [a] We haue heard a rumour from the Lorde, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and [b] let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The [c] pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation art but an handfull in comparison of others, and art set vp among the hilles as separate from the rest of the worlde, a God hath certainely reuelled to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroye the Edomites, whereof the rumour is nowe published, Jeremi. 49.14.

b Thus the heathen encourage them selues to rise against Edom.
c Which deceiueth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sworde: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselues in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I commaund the [c] serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they go into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I commaund the sworde, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lorde God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein, shal mourne, and it shall rise vp wholy like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 Hee buildeth his [d] spheres in the heauen, and hath laid the fundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord [is] his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lorde? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from [f] Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God [are] vpon the sinfull kingdome, & I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheles I will not vtterly [g] destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.

9 For lo, I will commaund and I will sifte the house of Israel among all nations, like as [corne is] sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the [h] least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 [But] all the sinners of my people shall dye by the sworde, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde,

12 That they may possesse the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, saith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that the plowman shall [l] touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall [m] drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

14 [n] And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shal no more be pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord thy God.

c He sheweth that God will declare himself enemie vnto them in all places, & that his elements and all creatures shalbe enemies to destroy them.
d He declareth by the wonderfull power of God by the making of the heauens and the elements that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.
e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or Blackmoyes? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.
f Read Jere. 47.4.
g Though he destroy ỳ rebellious multitude, yet he will euer referue ỳ remnant his Church to call vpõ his Name.
h Meaning, ỳ none of his shoulo perish in his wrath.
i I will sende the Messiah promised & reuiued by him ỳ spirituall Israel, Act. 15.16.
k Meaning, that ỳ very enemies, as were the Edomites & others, shuld be ioyned with the Iewes in one society and body, whereof Christ should be the head.
l Signifying that there shall be great plenty of all things, so that when one kinde of fruite is rype, another should followe and euery one in course, Leuit. 26.5.
m Reade Joel 3.18.
n The accomplishment hereof is vnder Christ, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer be pulled, after they are once grafted therein.

Obadiah.

The Argument.

THe Idumeans, which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundrie kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were nowe in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, for as much as God had nowe determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to sende them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which hee had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lorde God against Edom, [a] We haue heard a rumour from the Lorde, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and [b] let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The [c] pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation art but an handfull in comparison of others, and art set vp among the hilles as separate from the rest of the worlde,

a God hath certainely reuelled to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroye the Edomites, whereof the rumour is nowe published, Jeremi. 49.14.
b Thus the heathen encourage them selues to rise against Edom.
c Which deceiueth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet

[is]hie,that ſaith in his heart,who ſhall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy ſelfe as the egle, & make thy neſt among the ſtarres, thence will I bring thee downe, ſaith the Lord.

d God will ſo deſtroy them that he will leaue none, though thieues when they come,take but till they haue ynough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue ſome behinde them, Iere.49.9.

5 d Came thieues to thee or robbers by night: howe waſt thou brought to ſilence? would they not haue ſtollen, till they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue [ſome] grapes?

6 How are the things of Eſau ſought vp,[and] his treaſures ſearched?

e They in whome thou diddeſt truſt, for to haue helpe & friendſhip of them, ſhalbe thine enemies and deſtroy thee.

7 All the men of thy cõfederacie e haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, [and] preuailed againſt thee: [they that eat] thy f bread, haue layed a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderſtanding in him.

f That is, thy familiar friendes and gueſtes haue by ſecret practiſes deſtroyed ther.

8 Shall not I in that day, ſaith the Lorde, euen deſtroy the wiſe men out of Edom, and vnderſtanding from the mount of Eſau?

g He ſheweth the cauſe why the Edomites were ſo ſharpely punished: to wit, becauſe they were enemies to his Church whom now he comforteth by puniſhing their enemies.

9 And thy ſtrong men, O Teman, ſhalbe afraide, becauſe euery one of the mount of Eſau ſhalbe cut off by ſlaughter.

10 For thy crueltie againſt thy g brother Iaakob, ſhame ſhall couer thee, and thou ſhalt be cut off for euer.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came againſt Ieruſalem, thou ioyneddeſt with him, and haddeſt part of the ſpoyle, and ſo diddeſt reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, 11 When thou ſtoodeſt h on the other ſide, in the day that the ſtrangers caried away his ſubſtance, and ſtrangers entred into his gates, and caſt lots vpon Ieruſalem, euen thou waſt as one of them.

12 But thou ſhouldeſt not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made i a ſtranger, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their deſtruction: thou ſhouldeſt not haue ſpoken proudely in the day of affliction.

13 Thou ſhouldeſt not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their deſtruction, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their deſtruction, nor haue layed handes on their ſubſtance in the day of their deſtruction.

k When he will ſummon all the heathen, and ſend them to deſtroy thee.

14 Neither ſhouldeſt thou haue ſtand in the croſſe wayes to cut off them, that ſhould eſcape, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue ſhut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

15 For the day k of the Lord [is] neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou haſt done, it ſhall be done to thee: thy reward ſhall returne vpon thine head.

m The Edomites ſhalbe vtterly deſtroyed, and yet in deſpite of all the enemies I will reſerue my Church and reſtore it.

16 For as ye haue l drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, [ſo] ſhall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they ſhall drinke and ſwallow vp, and they ſhall be m as though they had not bene.

n God attributeth this power,to conſume his enemies, to his Church: which power is onely proper to himſelfe, as Iſa. 10.17. Deut. 4.24. Hebr. 12, 29.

17 But vpon mount Zion ſhalbe deliuerance, and it ſhall be holy, and the houſe of Iaakob ſhall poſſeſſe their poſſeſſions, o He deſcribeth how the Church ſhalbe enlarged and haue great poſſeſſions, but this chiefly is accompliſhed vnder Chriſt when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

18 And the houſe of Iaakob ſhall be n a fire, and the houſe of Ioſeph a flame, and the houſe of Eſau [as] ſtubble, and they ſhall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there ſhall be no remnant of the houſe of Eſau: for the Lorde hath ſpoken it.

19 And they ſhall poſſeſſe the South ſide of the o mount of Eſau, and p plaine of the Philiſtims: and they ſhall poſſeſſe the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Beniamin [ſhall haue] Gilead.

p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, Fraunce, and by Sepharad Spaine.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoſte of the children of Iſrael, which were among the p Canaanites, [ſhall poſſeſſe] vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ieruſalem, which is in Sepharad, ſhall poſſeſſe the cities of the South.

q Meaning, that God will raiſe vp in his Church ſuch as ſhall rule and gouerne

21 And they q that ſhall ſaue, ſhall come vp to Mount Zion to iudge the mount of Eſau, and the kingdome ſhalbe the Lords.

where as thou ſhouldeſt haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

i When the Lord depriued them of their former dignitie and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

for the defence of the ſame, and deſtruction of his enemies vnder Meſſiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

Ionah.

The Argvment.

WHen Ionah had long prophecied in Iſrael and had litle profited, God gaue him expreſſe charge to go and denounce his iudgements againſt Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Aſſyrians, becauſe hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, ſhould conuert by the mightie power of his worde, and that within three dayes preaching, that Iſrael might ſee how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the ſpace of ſo many yeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for ſo many Prophets and ſo diligent preaching. He prophecied vnder Ioaſh, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14.25.

[is]hie,that ſaith in his heart,who ſhall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy ſelfe as the egle, & make thy neſt among the ſtarres, thence will I bring thee downe, ſaith the Lord.

d God will ſo deſtroy them that he will leaue none, though thieues when they come,take but till they haue ynough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue ſome behinde them, Iere.49.9.

5 d Came thieues to thee or robbers by night: howe waſt thou brought to ſilence? would they not haue ſtollen, till they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue [ſome] grapes?

6 How are the things of Eſau ſought vp,[and] his treaſures ſearched?

e They in whome thou diddeſt truſt, for to haue helpe & friendſhip of them, ſhalbe thine enemies and deſtroy thee.

7 All the men of thy cõfederacie e haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, [and] preuailed againſt thee: [they that eat] thy f bread, haue layed a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderſtanding in him.

f That is, thy familiar friendes and gueſtes haue by ſecret practiſes deſtroyed ther.

8 Shall not I in that day, ſaith the Lorde, euen deſtroy the wiſe men out of Edom, and vnderſtanding from the mount of Eſau?

g He ſheweth the cauſe why the Edomites were ſo ſharpely punished: to wit, becauſe they were enemies to his Church whom now he comforteth by puniſhing their enemies.

9 And thy ſtrong men, O Teman, ſhalbe afraide, becauſe euery one of the mount of Eſau ſhalbe cut off by ſlaughter.

10 For thy crueltie againſt thy g brother Iaakob, ſhame ſhall couer thee, and thou ſhalt be cut off for euer.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came againſt Ieruſalem, thou ioyneddeſt with him, and haddeſt part of the ſpoyle, and ſo diddeſt reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, 11 When thou ſtoodeſt h on the other ſide, in the day that the ſtrangers caried away his ſubſtance, and ſtrangers entred into his gates, and caſt lots vpon Ieruſalem, euen thou waſt as one of them.

12 But thou ſhouldeſt not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made i a ſtranger, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their deſtruction: thou ſhouldeſt not haue ſpoken proudely in the day of affliction.

13 Thou ſhouldeſt not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their deſtruction, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their deſtruction, nor haue layed handes on their ſubſtance in the day of their deſtruction.

k When he will ſummon all the heathen, and ſend them to deſtroy thee.

14 Neither ſhouldeſt thou haue ſtand in the croſſe wayes to cut off them, that ſhould eſcape, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue ſhut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

15 For the day k of the Lord [is] neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou haſt done, it ſhall be done to thee: thy reward ſhall returne vpon thine head.

m The Edomites ſhalbe vtterly deſtroyed, and yet in deſpite of all the enemies I will reſerue my Church and reſtore it.

16 For as ye haue l drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, [ſo] ſhall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they ſhall drinke and ſwallow vp, and they ſhall be m as though they had not bene.

n God attributeth this power,to conſume his enemies, to his Church: which power is onely proper to himſelfe, as Iſa. 10.17. Deut. 4.24. Hebr. 12, 29.

17 But vpon mount Zion ſhalbe deliuerance, and it ſhall be holy, and the houſe of Iaakob ſhall poſſeſſe their poſſeſſions,

o He deſcribeth how the Church ſhalbe enlarged and haue great poſſeſſions, but this chiefly is accompliſhed vnder Chriſt when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

18 And the houſe of Iaakob ſhall be n a fire, and the houſe of Ioſeph a flame, and the houſe of Eſau [as] ſtubble, and they ſhall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there ſhall be no remnant of the houſe of Eſau: for the Lorde hath ſpoken it.

19 And they ſhall poſſeſſe the South ſide of the o mount of Eſau, and p plaine of the Philiſtims: and they ſhall poſſeſſe the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Beniamin [ſhall haue] Gilead.

p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, Fraunce, and by Sepharad Spaine.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoſte of the children of Iſrael, which were among the p Canaanites, [ſhall poſſeſſe] vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ieruſalem, which is in Sepharad, ſhall poſſeſſe the cities of the South.

q Meaning, that God will raiſe vp in his Church ſuch as ſhall rule and gouerne

21 And they q that ſhall ſaue, ſhall come vp to Mount Zion to iudge the mount of Eſau, and the kingdome ſhalbe the Lords.

where as thou ſhouldeſt haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

i When the Lord depriued them of their former dignitie and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

for the defence of the ſame, and deſtruction of his enemies vnder Meſſiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

Ionah.

The Argvment.

WHen Ionah had long prophecied in Iſrael and had litle profited, God gaue him expreſſe charge to go and denounce his iudgements againſt Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Aſſyrians, becauſe hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, ſhould conuert by the mightie power of his worde, and that within three dayes preaching, that Iſrael might ſee how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the ſpace of ſo many yeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for ſo many Prophets and ſo diligent preaching. He prophecied vnder Ioaſh, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14.25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preache. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THe worde of the Lorde came [a] also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, [and] goe to [b] Nineueh, that great [c] citie, & crie against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

3 But Ionah rose vp to [d] flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to [e] Iapho: and hee founde a shippe going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the [f] presence of the Lorde.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the shippe was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afrayde, and cryed euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the shippe, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe [g] into the sides of the shippe, and he lay downe, and was fast a sleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and saide vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy [h] God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they saide euery one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast [i] lottes, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then saide they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill [is] vpon vs: what is thine occupation? and whence commest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lorde God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the drie land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraide, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lorde, because he had told them)

11 Then saide they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he saide vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest [is] vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the lande, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried vnto the Lord, and said, [k] We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men [l] feared the Lorde exceedingly, and offred a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Nowe the Lorde had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the [m] bellie of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophecied in Iudea, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1.1.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as authors write, it contained in circuite about fiftie mile: and had a thousand and fiue hundred towers, and at this time there were an hundred and twentie thousande children therein, Chap. 4.11.

d Whereby he declared his weakenes, that would not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that he should nothing at all profite there, seeing he had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4.2.

e Which was the hauen and poyte to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

f From that vocation wherunto God had called him, and wherein hee would haue assisted him.

g As one that would haue cast off this care, and solicitude by seeking rest and quietnesse.

h As they had called on their idoles, which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seeke, they cannot tell to whome.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremitie, and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to slea mans bloud, whereas they knowe no manifest signe of wickednes.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God, by whome they saue themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare, and not of a pure heart and affection, neither accepting to Gods woyde.

m Thus the Lorde would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was enioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes bellie. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God [a] out of the fishes bellie,

2 And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lorde, and hee heard mee: out of the bellie [b] of hell cryed I, [and] thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou haddest cast mee into the bottome in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am [c] cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto [d] soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my [e] life from the pit, O Lord my God.

a Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith wrought out vnto the Lorde, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

b For he was nowe in the fishes bellie as in a graue or place of darkenesse.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how hee laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gate the victorie.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the bellie of the fish, & all these dangers, as it were rayling me from death to life,

7 When my soule faynted within mee, I remembred the Lorde: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

c They that deyende vpon any thing saue on God alone.

8 They that waite vpon lying c vanities, forsake their owne c mercie.

f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnes which they should els receiue of God.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation [is] of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fishe, and it cast out Jonah vpō the drie land.

CHAP. III.

1 Jonah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto a Jonah the second time, saying, a This is a great declaration of Gods mercie that he receiueth him againe and sendeth him forth as his Prophet which had before shewed so great vnkindnesse.

2 Arise, go vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preache vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Jonah arose and went to Nineueh according to the worde of the Lorde: nowe Nineueh was a b great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

b Read Chap. 1,2.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the citie a dayes c iourney, and he cryed, and saide, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

5 So the people of Nineueh d beleeued God and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackecloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

d For that they hearde a Prophet sent from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

6 For worde came vnto the King of Nineueh, and hee rose from his throne, and layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackecloth, and sate in ashes.

e Not that the vnmine beasts had sinned, or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

7 And hee proclaimed e & said through Nineueh, (by the counsell of the King and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor e beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede nor drinke water.

f He willed, that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie.

8 But let man and beast put on sackecloth, and f crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednes that is in their handes.

g For partly by the threatnings of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conscience he douted whether God would shewe them mercie.

9 g Who can tell [if] God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their h workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and i God repented of the euill that hee had saide that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

h That is, the fruites of their repentance, which did procede of faith, which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeased a Jonah exceedingly, and he was angrie.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false Prophet, and so the name of God, which he preached, should be blasphemed.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lorde, and saide, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindenesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

b Read Chap. 1,3.

3 Therefore nowe, O Lord, take, I beseeche thee, my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

c Thus he prayed of griefe fearing lest Gods name by this forgiuenes might be blasphemed as though he sent his Prophets for-nought to denounce his iudgements in vaine.

4 Then saide the Lorde, Doest thou well to be d angrie?

d Wilt thou be iudge when I doe things for my glorie, and when I do not?

5 So Jonah went out of the citie and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadowe e till hee might see what should be done in the citie.

e For he doubted as yet whether God would shewe them mercie or no: and therefore after fourtie dayes he departed out of the citie, looking what issue God would sende.

6 And the Lorde God prepared a f gourde, and made it to come vp ouer Jonah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourde.

f Which was a further meanes, to cōuer him from the heate of the sunne, as he remained in his boothe.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next daye, and it smote the gourde, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne bet vpon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, it is better for me to die, then to liue.

g This declareth the great inconuenience where-into Gods seruants do fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and do not in all things willingly submit themselues to God.

9 And God saide vnto Jonah, Doest thou well to be angrie for the gourde? And he said, I do well to be g angrie vnto the death.

h Thus God mercifully reasoneth him, which would pitie himselfe and this gourde, and yet would refraine God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people.

10 Then saide the Lorde, Thou hast had pitie on the gourde for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, i Meaning that they were children, & infants.

11 And should h not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are fiue score thousand persons, that i cannot discerne betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and [also] much cattell?

Micah.

The Argvment.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirtie yeeres: at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifolde wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this ende he noteth the wickednes of the people, the cruelties of the princes, and gouernours, and the permission of the false Prophets, and the deliting in them. Then he setteth foorth the comming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab, and all his false prophets, as 1. King. 22. 8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah & Israel because of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lorde, that came vnto Micah the [a] Morasthite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, [&] Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which hee sawe concerning Samaria & Ierusalem.

2 Heare, [b] all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnesse against you, [euen] the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come [c] downe, and treade vpon the hie places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as ware before the fire, [and] as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednes of Iaakob [is] all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iaakob? Is not [d] Samaria? and which are the hie [e] places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, [and] for the planting of a vineyarde, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shall be broken, and all the [f] gifts thereof shalbe burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hyre of an harlot, & they shal returne [g] to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I wil mourne & howle: I will go without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: [the enemie] is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at [h] Gath, neither weepe ye: for the houle of [i] Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at [k] Shaphir, go together naked with shame: the that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come foorth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: [the enemie] shall [l] receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the [m] gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the [beasts] [n] of price: she [o] is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth [p] Gath: the houses of Achzib [shalbe] as a lie to [q] the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an [r] heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, he shall come vnto Adullam, [s] the glorie of Israel.

16 Make thee bald: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldenesse as the egle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

a Borne in Mareshah a citie of Iudah, b Because of the malice, and obstinacie of the people whome he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoneth them to Gods iudgements taking all creatures, and God himselfe to witnesse, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shalbe reuenged. c Meaning thereby that God will come to vengement against the strong cities and holdes. d Samaria, which should haue bene an example to all Israel of true religion and iustice, was the pryde and newes of all idolatrie and corruption, and boasted themselues of their father Iaakob. e That is, the idolatrie and infection. f Which they gathered by euill practises, and thought that their idols had enriched them therewith for their seruice vnto them. g The gaine that came by their idoles, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

h Lest the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction. i Which was a citie neere to Ierusalem, Iosh. 18. 23. there called Ophrah, and signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themselues in the dust for their owne citie. k These were cities whereby the enemie should passe as he came to Iudah. l He shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, & so you shal pay for his tarrying. m For Nebuchadnezzar had shut vp Ierusalem, that they could not send to succour them. n To flee away: for Sancherib layd siege first to that citie, and remained therein when he sent his captaines, and armie against Ierusalem. o Thou first receiuedst the idolatrie of Ieroboam, and so didst infect Ierusalem. p Thou shalt hyde the Philistims thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem. q Dee prophecieth against his owne citie, and because it signified an heritage, he saieth that God would send an heire to possesse it. r For so they thought themselues for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 The threatnings against the wanton and deintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preache.

WO vnto them, that imagine iniquitie, & worke wickednes vpon their beds: [a] when the morning is light they practise it because their hand [t] hath power.

2 And they couet fieldes, & take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, [euen] man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, whereout ye shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not goe [so] proudely a Alone as they rise, they execute their wicked deuises of the night, and according to their power hurt others. t Ebr. is in power.

proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, [b] we be vtterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: howe hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? hee hath deuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a corde by lot in [c] the Congregation of the Lord.

6 [d] They that prophesied, Prophesie ye not. [e] They shall not prophesie to them, neyther shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is [f] Spirit of the Lord shortned? [g] are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him [g] that walketh vprightly?

8 But he that was [h] yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, [as] against an enemie: they spoyle the [i] beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, [k] from their children haue ye taken away [k] my glory continually.

10 Arise [l] depart, for this is not [your] rest: because it is polluted, it shal destroy [you,] euen with a sore destruction.

11 If a man [m] walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, [saying,] [n] I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen be the Prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather [o] thee wholy, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, [euen] as the flocke in the middes of their fold: [the cities] shalbe ful of brute of the men.

13 The [p] breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, [q] passe by the gate, and go out by it, and their king shall go before them, and the Lord [shalbe] [q] vpon their heads.

b Thus the Iewes lament and say that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are deuided among the enemies.

c Ye shal haue no more landes to deuide, as you had in times past, and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.

d Thus the people warne the Prophets [e] they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.

e God sayth, that they shall not prophesie, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.

f Are these your workes according to his Lawe?

g Do not the godly find my wordes comfortable?

h That is, afore time.

i The poore can haue no commoditie by them, but they spoyle them, as though they were enemies.

k That is, their substance and liuing, which is gods blessing, and as it were, part of his glorie.

l Ierusalem shall not be your safegard: but the cause of your destruction.

m That is, shewe himselfe n To be wel weyed what Prophets they belitte in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.

o To destroy thee.

p The enemie shall breake their gates, and walles, and leade them into Caldea.

q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophets.

AND I sayde, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, [r] ye princes of the house of Israel: shoulde not ye knowe [s] iudgement:

2 [But] they hate the good, and loue the euil: they plucke off their skins from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the [b] flesh of my people, and flaye off their skinne from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then [c] shall they crie vnto [t] Lord, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus sayth the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, [d] bite them with their teeth, [e] crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore [c] night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenes [shalbe] vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall go downe ouer the Prophets, and [t] day shalbe darke ouer them.

7 Then shal the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer [f] their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full [g] of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heades of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with [h] blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priests thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they [i] leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lorde among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be [k] plowed [as] a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of [t] forest.

a That thing which is iust & lawful, both to gouerne my people aright, and also to discharge your owne office.

b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernors not only of couetousnesse, theft and murther, but compareth them to woulues, lions, and most cruell beasts.

c That is, why I shall suffer their wickednes: for though I beare the godly before they crie, Isa. 65.24. yet I will not heare their thogh they crie, Isa. 1.15. Ezek. 8. 18, Iam. 2.13.

d They deuoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall go wel: but if one refraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to make breache.

e As you haue vsed to walke in darkenes, & and to prophecie lies, so God shall reward you [f] grosse blindnesse, and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shal go blind men creepe as in the night.

f When God shall discouer them to the worlde, they shalbe afrayd to speake: for all shall know that they were but false prophets, and did belie [t] word of God.

g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by [t] spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against al [t] wicked, shewing how God both gaue him gifts, habilitie, and knowledge to discerne betweene good & euil, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them.

h They builde them houses by iniberie, which he calleth blood and iniquitie.

i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie.

k Reade Ierem. 26, 18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

BVt in the [a] last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the house of [t] Lorde shalbe prepared in the top of a With Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed,

the

the mountaines, and it shall be exalted aboue the [b] hilles, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the moun-taine of the Lorde, and to the house of the God of Iaakob, and he will [c] teache vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Law shall go forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ie-rusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and [d] rebuke mightie nations a farre off, [e] they shall breake their swords into mattocks, and their speares into [e] sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they [f] learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his fig tree, and none shall make them afraide: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke [g] euery one in the name of his god, and wee will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, sayth the Lorde, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, [h] a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shal reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from hence forth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O [i] towre of the flocke, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shal it come, euen [k] the first dominion, [and] kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou crie out with lamentation? [is] there no king in thee?
is thy counseller perished? for sorowe hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorowe and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou go forth of the citie, and dwell in the fielde, & shalt go into Babel, [but] there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned and our eye shall looke vp-on Zion.

12 But they [m] know not the thoughts of the Lorde: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and threth, [n] O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Bethleem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter [a] of garisons: he hath layed siege against vs:
they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art [b] litle to be among the thousands of Iudah, [yet] out of thee shall hee come forth vnto me, that shalbe the ruler in Israel: whose [c] goings forth [haue bin] from the beginning [and] from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that [d] she which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall [e] stand, and feede in the strength of the Lorde, [and] in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the endes of the world.

5 And he [f] shalbe [our] peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when he shall treade in our palaces, then shall we rayse against him seuen shepherds, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy [g] Asshur with the sworde, and [p] land of Nimrod with their swordes: thus shall he [h] deli-uer [vs] from Asshur, whē he commeth into our land, and when he shall treade within our borders.

7 And the [i] remnant of Iaakob shall be among many people, as a dewe from the Lorde, [and] as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor b Reade Isai 2,2.

c He sheweth that there is no true church but where as the people are taught by Gods pure worde.

d By his corrections and threatnings he will bring the people into subiection which are in the vtmost corners of the worlde.

e They shall abstaine from all euill doing, and exercise themselues in godlines and in well doing to others.

f Reade Isai 2,4.

g He sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all the worlde shoulde giue themselues to their superstition & idolatry.

h I will cause that Israel which is nowe as one lame and halting, and so almost destroyed, shall liue againe and growe into a great people.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, where p Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid & Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.

l In p meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations when they saw themselues neither to haue king nor counsell. m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the haggges & threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church this victorie so oft as he ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shalbe at the last comming of Christ.

a He forewarneth them of the dangers that shal come, before they enioy these comforts, shewing that Ierusalem as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others, the Lord would nowe cause other garisons to vexe her, and that her rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

b For so the Iewes deuided their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and because Bethleem was not able to make a thousand, hee calleth it litle, but yet God will rayse vp his captaine and gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefite, as Psalm. 2,6.

c He sheweth that the comming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d The comparesth p Iewes to women with childe, who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue comfortable deliuerance, Iohn 16,21. e That is, Christs kingdome shalbe stable and euerlasting, and his people, as well the Gentiles as the Iewes shall dwell in safetie. f This Messiah shalbe a sufficient sauegarde for vs, and though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet shall God stirre vp many which shalbe able to deliuer vs. g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shal destroy al p enemies thereof, which are ment here by the Assyrians & Babylonians which were p chiefe at p time. h By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemie commeth into our land. i This remnant of Church which God shall deliuer, shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doth the grasse of the fielde, and not on the hope of man.

hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shall be among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beastes of the forest, [and] as the lyons whelpe among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, sayth the Lord, that I will cut off thine [k] horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in [my] wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

k I will destroy all things wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee.

l Je shalbe so terrible that the like hath not beene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkinde. 6 What maner of sacrifices do please God.

HEarken ye nowe what the Lord sayth, Aryse thou, [and] contend [before] the [a] mountaines, & let the hilles heare thy voyce.

a He taketh the hie mountaines and hard rockes to witnes against the obstinacie of his people.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, [b] Lords quarell, and ye mightie fundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and hee will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.

b Ihaue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefites vpon thee.

4 Surely I [b] brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from [c] Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the [d] righteousnes of the Lord.

c That is, remember my benefites from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

6 Wherewith [e] shall I come before the Lord, [and] bowe my selfe before the hie God? Shal I come before him with burnt offrings, [and] with calues of a yeere olde?

d That is, the trueth of his promes and his manifolde benefites toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie alike bolde to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices but will not change their liues.

7 Will [f] Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my [g] firstborne for my transgression, [euen] the fruite of my body, for the sinne of my soule?

f There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoyde his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections and to giue themselues willingly to serue God as hee commandeth.

g The Prophet in fewe words calleth them to the obseruation of the second table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to do this.

8 Hee hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: is surely to do iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce cryeth vnto the [h] citie, and the man of wisedome shall see thy name: heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

h Speaning, that when god breaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his mightie, and consider not the mortall man that hangeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednes in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men [i] thereof are full of crueltie, and [k] inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue [is] deceitfull in their mouth.

i That is, of Jerusalem.

k Thou shalt be consumed with inwarde griefe & cuils.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, [and] in making [thee] desolate, because of thy sinnes.

l Speaning, that God will not spare them, that they shall be destroyed with the rest.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and [k] thy calling downe [shalbe] in the middes of thee, and thou [l] shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sworde.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the olines, but thou shalt not anoynt thee with oyle, and [make] sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the [m] statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproche of my people.

m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisdome and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12.47.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small nomber of the righteous. 4 The wickednes of those times. 14 The prosperitie of ꝙ Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruites are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to cruelties and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill and to stroke the doings one of another.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednes nor iniurie.

d These men agree among themselues & conspire with one consent to do euill.

e They that are of most estimation and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

f Meaning, of the Prophets & gouernours.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate euils is to flee vnto God for succour.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.

i To wit, whē God shew himselfe a deliuerer of this Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shal come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holdes, riuers, seas nor mountaines shall be able to let them.

m After this grace appeare, see sheweth howe grieuously the hypocrites themselues shalbe punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroade as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them as in time past.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people as he had bene

WO is me, for I am as a the sommer gatherings, [and] as the grapes of the vintage: there [is] no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there [is] none righteous among men: b they all lye in wayte for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euil of [their] hands, the prince asked, and the iudge [iudgeth] for a rewarde: therefore the c great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them [is] as e a bryer, and the most righteous of them [is sharper] then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen [and] thy visitation cometh: then shalbe their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For g sonne reuileth the father: the daughter ryseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in lawe, [and] a mans enemies [are] the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore h I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wayte for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, b O mine enemie: though I fall, I shal arise: whē I shal sit in darkenes, the Lord [shalbe] a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntil he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: [then] will he bring me forth to the light, [and] I shall see his righteousnes.

10 Then she that is mine enemie, shal looke vpon it, and shame shal couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall beholde her: nowe shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 [This is] i the day, that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall come farre away k the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Asshur, and [from] the strong cities, and from p strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and [from] mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therein, [and] for the fruites of m their inuentions.

14 n Feede thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwel solitarie in the wood) [as] in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Basshan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 o According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p laye their hand vpon their mouth: q their eares shalbe deafe.

17 They shall licke the dust like a serpent: they shal moue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraide of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and r passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! he reteyneth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 He will turne againe, [and] haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their s sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe [thy] u trueth to Iaakob, [and] mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

afore time. p They shalbe as dumme men, & dare hang no more. q They shalbe astonished, & afraid to heare men speake, lest they should be heare of their destruction. r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare. s Meaning, of his elect. t The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect þ trueth of his mercifull promises, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to al that should apprehende the promes by faith.

Nahum.

The Argument.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and readie to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certeine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to encrease their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruites are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to cruelties and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill and to stroke the doings one of another.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednes nor iniurie.

d These men agree among themselues & conspire with one consent to do euill.

e They that are of most estimation and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

f Meaning, of the Prophets & gouernours.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate euils is to flee vnto God for succour.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.

i To wit, whē God shew himselfe a deliuerer of this Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shal come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holdes, riuers, seas nor mountaines shall be able to let them.

m After this grace appeare, see sheweth howe grieuously the hypocrites themselues shalbe punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroade as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them as in time past.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people as he had bene

WO is me, for I am as a the sommer gatherings, [and] as the grapes of the vintage: there [is] no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there [is] none righteous among men: b they all lye in wayte for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euil of [their] hands, the prince asked, and the iudge [iudgeth] for a rewarde: therefore the c great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them [is] as e a bryer, and the most righteous of them [is sharper] then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen [and] thy visitation cometh: then shalbe their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For g sonne reuileth the father: the daughter ryseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in lawe, [and] a mans enemies [are] the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore h I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wayte for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, b O mine enemie: though I fall, I shal arise: whē I shal sit in darkenes, the Lord [shalbe] a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntil he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: [then] will he bring me forth to the light, [and] I shall see his righteousnes.

10 Then she that is mine enemie, shal looke vpon it, and shame shal couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall beholde her: nowe shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 [This is] i the day, that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall come farre away k the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Asshur, and [from] the strong cities, and from p strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and [from] mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therein, [and] for the fruites of m their inuentions.

14 n Feede thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwel solitarie in the wood) [as] in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Basshan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 o According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p laye their hand vpon their mouth: q their eares shalbe deafe.

17 They shall licke the dust like a serpent: they shal moue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraide of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and r passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! he reteyneth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 He will turne againe, [and] haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their s sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe [thy] u trueth to Iaakob, [and] mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

afore time. p They shalbe as dumme men, & dare hang no more. q They shalbe astonished, & afraid to heare men speake, lest they should be heare of their destruction. r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare. s Meaning, of his elect. t The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect þ trueth of his mercifull promises, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to al that should apprehende the promes by faith.

Nahum.

The Argument.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and readie to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certeine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to encrease their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophesied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THE [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkushite.

2 God [is] [d] iealous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: and the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, & he reserueth [wrath] for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord [is] slowe to anger, but [he is] great in power, and will not surely cleare [the wicked: the Lord hath] his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes [are] the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and he dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenes of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good [h] [&] as a strong holde in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer [as with a flood], he will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darkenes shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe ye [k] imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shal not rise vp the second time.

10 For [l] he shal come as [vnto] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennes: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, [euen] a wicked counseller.

12 Thus saith the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke frō thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graue, and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 *Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth [p] peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feastes, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a. Read. Isa. 13.1.
b The vision or reuelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninenites.
c That is, born in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.
d Meaning, of his glory.
e With his be is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer allaugeth toward the reprobate, though for a time he defer it.
f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercie an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.
g If all creatures be at Gods commandement and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?
h Least the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them.
i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenes, and neuer recouer their strength againe.
k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore he would so destroye them at once, that hee should not neede to returne the second time.
l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any foyce, so they shall be nothing able to resist him.
m Which may be vnderstand either of Sancherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.
n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shal passe by, he wil destroy them: notwithstanding he commaundeth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians.
o Meaning Sancherib, who should be haue no more children, but be slayne in the house of his gods, p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sancherib.

CHAP. II.

He describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Syrians.

THE [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make [thy] loynes strong: increase [thy] strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glorie of Iaakob, as the glorie of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mightie men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in scarlet: the charets [shall be as] in the fire [and] flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the [f] streets: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lamps: they shall shoot like the lightning.

5 [g] He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they go: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab [the Queene] shall be led away captiue, and her maydes shall leade [her] as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is [h] of old like a poole a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readines to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet perceth the enterprises of the Assyrians which prepared to resist him.

b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will nowe punish the enemies by whome he scourged them (read Isa. 10.12.
c Signifying that the Israelites were vtterly destroied.
d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they them selues houlde not so soone shed blood one of another to discourage them.
e Meaning, their spearers should shake & crash together.
f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shal faple them.
g The Assyrians wil flatter themselues, & say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, & is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the banks cannot coitch, but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them.

of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, [shall they crye:] but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the golde: for there is none end of the store, [and] glorie of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] She is emptie and voyde & waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, & sorowe is in all loynes, and the faces [k] of them all gather blacknesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lions, and the pasture of the lions whelpes: where the lion, [and] the lioneſſe walked, [and] the lions whelpe, and none made them afraide.

12 The lion did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and wored for his lionesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his dennes with spoyle.

13 Beholde, I [come] vnto thee, saith the Lorde of hostes, and I will burne her charets in the [m] smoke, & the sworde shall deuoure thy yong lions, and I wil cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy [n] messengers shall no more be heard.

Some reade of thy gumme teeth wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruſe the bones of the poore.

h God commaudeth the enemies to spoyle Nineueh, and reproueth them infinite riches & treasures.

i That is, Nineueh, and the men thereof shalbe after this sort.

k Read Ioel 2.6.

l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruel like the lyons, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues, and children.

m That is, as soone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.

n Signifying the heraldes, which were accustomed to proclaime warre.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

Bloodie citie, it is all full of lies, [and] robberie: [a] the pray departeth not:

2 The noyse of a whip, [b] and the noyse of the mooning of the wheeles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sworde, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies [are] many: there is none ende of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses,

4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her whoredome, & the nations through her witchcraftes.

5 Beholde, I [come] vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and wil discouer thy skirts vpon thy face, and will shewe the nations thy filthines, & the kingdomes thy shame.

6 And I wil cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gasing stocke.

7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shal flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroied, Who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then [d] No, [which] was [full of people] that lay in the riuers, and [had] the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, [and] her wall [was] from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt [were] her strength, and there [was] none end: Put and Lubim were [her] helpers.

10 Yet was she caried away, [and] went into captiuitie: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lottes for her noble men, and all her mightie men were bound in chaines.

11 Also thou shalt be dronken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe because of the enemie.

12 All thy strong cities [shall be like] figge trees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy people within thee [are] women: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, [and] the fire shall deuoure thy barres.

14 Drawe thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: goe into the clay, & temper the mortar: make strong bricke.

15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the [e] locusts, [though] thou be multiplied like the locusts, [and] multiplied like the grashopper.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy marchants aboue the starres of heauen: the locust spoyleth and flyeth away.

17 Thy princes [are] as the grashoppers, and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: [but] when the sunne ariseth, they flee away and their place is not knowen where they are.

18 Thy [f] shepherds doe sleepe, O king of Asshur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the brute of thee, shall clappe the hands ouer thee: for vpon [g] whome hath not thy malice passed continually?

a Ie neuer ceaseth to spoyle and robbe, b He sheweth how & Caldeans shall haste, and howe outragious their horses shall be in beating the ground when they come against the Assyrians.

c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and subtiltie inticeth young men, and bringeth them to destruction.

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was now destroied.

[Or, thine.

e Signifying, that Gods iudgements should suddenly destroy the Assyrians, as these vermine are with raine or change of weather.

f Thy princes and counsellers.

g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

Habakkuk.

The Argvment.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which indure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none ende. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubburnnes and rebellion against the Lorde. And least the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, & sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in stead hereof reigneth crueltie, theft, contention and strife.

THe burden, which Habakkuk the Prophete did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, & thou wilt not heare! [euen] crye out vnto thee [a] for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doest thou shewe me iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorow: for spoyling & violence [are] before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

b To suppresse him if any should shewe himselfe zealous of Gods cause.

c Because the iudges which should redresse this excesse, are as euil as the rest.

4 Therefore the Lawe is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth [b] compasse about the righteous: therefore [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.

d As in times past you would not beleeue Gods worde, so shall ye not nowe beleeue the strange plagues which are at hand.

5 Behold among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, [&] marualle: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: [d] ye will not beleeue it though it be tolde you.

6 For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shal go vpon the breadth of the land to possesse [e] dwelling places, [that are] not theirs.

e They are terrible and fearefull: their iudgement and their dignitie shal proceede of themselues.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: [e] their iudgement and their dignitie shal proceede of themselues.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the *euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the egle hasting to meate.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruites.

g They shalbe so many in nomber.

h They shall cast vp mounts against it.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victorie and become proude and insolent, attributing the praise thereof to their idoles.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces [shalbe] an [f] Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, [g] as the sand.

10 And they shal mocke [h] Kings, and the princes [shall be] a scorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather [h] dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they [i] take a courage, and transgresse & doe wickedly, [imputing] this their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of olde, O Lorde my God, mine holy one? We shall [k] not die. O Lorde, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 [Thou art] of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not beholde wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressours, [and] holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, and also that their sinnes requested such a sharpe rod.

14 And makest men as the [l] fishes of the sea, [and] as the creeping thinges, that haue no ruler ouer them.

l So that the great deuourer the small and the Caldeans destroy all the worlde.

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their [m] net, & burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion [is] fat and their meate plenteous.

m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselues, and glorie in their owne force, power, and wit.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their nette and not spare continually to slay [n] the nations?

n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

2 A vision, 5 Against pride, couetousnes, drunkennes and idolatrie.

I Will stand vpon my [a] wateh, and set me vpon the towre, and will looke and see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

a I will renounce mine owne iudgement and onely depende on God to be instructed what I shal answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

2 And the Lord answered me, & said, Write the vision, & make it plaine vpon tables, that he may run [b] that readeth it.

b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.

3 For the vision [is] yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] last it shall speake, and not lye: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, [and] shall not stay.

c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hastie affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed.

4 Beholde, [d] he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his fayth, d To trust in himselfe or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom.1.17. galat.3.11. heb.10.38.

5 Yea, in deede the proude man [is as] e He compareth the proude and couetous man to a dyuinarde that is without reason and sense, whome God will punith and make him a laughing stock to all ꝑ world: and this he speaketh by the comyng of the godly, ens against the Caldeans.

f Signifying, that all the world shall with the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression and couetousnes, they heape but vpon them selues more heaue burdens: for the more they get, the more are they encombred.

g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his own house, when as hee thinketh to enrich it by cruelties and oppression.

i The stones of ꝑ house shall crie, & say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere & say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come, and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glorie shal appeare though all the world.

m He reproocheth thus the King of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnes & cruelties, so he prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, & so in the end brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glorie of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.

o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, & the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like cruelties shalbe executed against them.

c he that transgresseth by Wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shal not all these take vp a parable against him, and a taunting prouerbe against him, & say, Ho, he that increaseth [that which is] not his: d how long? and he that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall e they not rise vp suddenly, that shal bite thee? and awake, that shal stirre thee? and thou shalt be their praye?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, & for the wrong done [in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou h hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the i stone shall crye out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, & erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Beholde, is it not of the k Lorde of hostes that the people shall labour in the very fire? & the people shall euen weare them selues for very banitie.

14 For the earth shall l be filled with the knowledge of the glorie of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour m drinke: thou poynest thine heate, and makest [him] drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame n for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lordes right hand shalbe turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing [shalbe] for thy glorie.

17 For the o cruelties of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong [done] in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the p image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lyes, though hee that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saieth to the wood, Awake, [&] to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: q beholde, it is laide ouer with golde and siluer, and there [is] no breath in it.

20 But the Lord [is] in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them: for they were but blocks or stones, reade Iere. 10.8.

q If chou wile consider what it is, and howe that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

CHAP. III.

1 A prayer for the faythfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk ꝑ Prophet for the a ignorances.

2 b O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, [and] was afrayd: O Lord, reuiue thy c worke in ꝑ midst of the people, in ꝑ midst of the yeeres make it knowne: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from d Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glorie coureth the heauens, and the earth is full of his prayse,

4 And [his] brightnes was as the light: e he had homes [comming] out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forth before his feet.

6 He stoode and measured the earth: he beheld and dissolued the nations and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, [and] the ancient hilles did bowe: his f wayes [are] euerlasting.

7 g For [his] iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, [and] the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lorde angrie against the h riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou didest ride ꝑpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy k bowe was manifestly reueiled, [and] the i othes of the tribes [were] a sure worde, Selah. thou m didest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afrayd when they heard Gods threatnings, and prayed.

c That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish, before it come to ripe age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the Lawe was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.

e Whereby is ment a power that was ioyned with his brightnesse, which was ꝑceiued of the worlde, but was reueiled in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31.16.

f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when he would deliuer his Church.

g The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy iudgement, to ꝑ comfort of the Church, Iudg. 3.10. and also of the Ninimites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7.22.

h Meaning, that God was not angrie ꝑ the waters, but that by this meanes he would destroy his enemies & deliuer his Church.

i And to diuert the all ꝑ elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For he had not only made a couenant ꝑ Abraham, but renued it with his posterite.

m Read Nū. 20, 11.

n He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their handes.

o As appeareth, Iosh. 10. 12.

p According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not go forward.

q Signifying that there is no saluation, but by Christ.

r From the toppe to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their awne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

n passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hie.

11 The o sunne [and] moone stood still in [their] habitation: p at ỹ light of thine arrowes they went, [and] at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger, [and] didest threshe the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, [euen] for saluation with thine q Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discouered it the foundations vnto the r necke, Selah.

14 Thou didest [r] strike thorowe with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter me: their reioycing [was] as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou didest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [s] heard, my bellie trembled: my lippes shooke at the voyce: rottennes entred into my bones, & I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in u the day of trouble: [for] when he commeth vp x vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruite [be] in the vines: the labour of the oliue shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeelde no meate: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the folde, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy y in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God [is] my strength: he will make my feete like hindes [feete,] and hee will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. z To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

s He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraide of Gods iudgements.

u He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

y He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioye of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musike shall haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

Zephaniah.

The Argument.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians & others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promes of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatrie.

THe worde of the Lorde, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Iosiah, the sonne of * Amon king of Iudah.

2 I wil surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the a foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, & ruines [shalbe] to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretche out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, [and] the name of the b Chemarims with the Priestes,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house toppes, and them that worship and sweare by the Lorde, and sweare by c Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lorde God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lorde hath prepared a sacrifice, [and] hath sanctified his ghestes.

8 And it shalbe in ỹ day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with d strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that e dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith ỹ Lord, there

2. King. 22. 1. 2. King. 21. 19.

a Not that God was angrie with these dumme creatures, but because man was so wicked for whose cause they were created, God maketh them to take part of the punishment with him.

b Which were an order of superstitious priests appointed to minister in the seruice of Baal, and were as his peculiar chaplens, reade 2. King. 23. 5. Hosea, 10. 5.

c He alludeth to their idole Molech, which was forbidden, Leuit. 20. 2. yet they called him their king and made him as a god: therefore he here noteth them that will both say they worship God, and yet will sweare by idoles, & serue them: which halting is here condemned, as Ezek. 20. 39. 2. King. 17. 33. 1. king. 18. 21.

d Meaning, the courtiers, which vse to imitate the strange apparell of other nations to winne their fauour thereby, and to appeare glorious in the eyes of all other, reade Ezek. 23. 14.

e He meaneth the seruants of the rulers which inuade other mens houses, and reioyce and leape for ioy when they can get any praye to please their master withall.

n He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their handes.

o As appeareth, Iosh. 10. 12.

p According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not go forward.

q Signifying that there is no saluation, but by Christ.

r From the toppe to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their awne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

n passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hie.

11 The o sunne [and] moone stood still in [their] habitation: p at ỹ light of thine arrowes they went, [and] at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger, [and] didest threshe the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, [euen] for saluation with thine q Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discouered it the foundations vnto the r necke, Selah.

14 Thou didest [r] strike thorowe with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter me: their reioycing [was] as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou didest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [s] heard, my bellie trembled: my lippes shooke at the voyce: rottennes entred into my bones, & I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in u the day of trouble: [for] when he commeth vp x vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruite [be] in the vines: the labour of the oliue shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeelde no meate: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the folde, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy y in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God [is] my strength: he will make my feete like hindes [feete,] and hee will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. z To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

s He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraide of Gods iudgements.

u He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

y He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioye of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musike shall haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

Zephaniah.

The Argument.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians & others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promes of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatrie.

THe worde of the Lorde, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Iosiah, the sonne of * Amon king of Iudah.

2 I wil surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the a foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, & ruines [shalbe] to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretche out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, [and] the name of the b Chemarims with the Priestes,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house toppes, and them that worship and sweare by the Lorde, and sweare by c Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lorde God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lorde hath prepared a sacrifice, [and] hath sanctified his ghestes.

8 And it shalbe in ỹ day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with d strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that e dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith ỹ Lord, there

2. King. 22. 1. 2. King. 21. 19.

a Not that God was angrie with these dumme creatures, but because man was so wicked for whose cause they were created, God maketh them to take part of the punishment with him.

b Which were an order of superstitious priests appointed to minister in the seruice of Baal, and were as his peculiar chaplens, reade 2. King. 23. 5. Hosea, 10. 5.

c He alludeth to their idole Molech, which was forbidden, Leuit. 20. 2. yet they called him their king and made him as a god: therefore he here noteth them that will both say they worship God, and yet will sweare by idoles, & serue them: which halting is here condemned, as Ezek. 20. 39. 2. King. 17. 33. 1. king. 18. 21.

d Meaning, the courtiers, which vse to imitate the strange apparell of other nations to winne their fauour thereby, and to appeare glorious in the eyes of all other, reade Ezek. 23. 14.

e He meaneth the seruants of the rulers which inuade other mens houses, and reioyce and leape for ioy when they can get any praye to please their master withall.

f Signifying that all the coyners of the citie of Jeruſalem ſhould be full of trouble.
g This is ment of the ſtreete of the marchants, which was lower then the reſt of the place about it.
h So that nothing ſhall eſcape me.
i By their proſperitie they are hardened in their wickednes. Deut.28.30. amos 5.11.

k They that truſted in their owne ſtrength and contemned the Prophets of God. Iere.30.7. ioel.2.11. amos 5.18.

Ezek.7.19.

Chap.3.8.

[ſhalbe] a noyſe, [and] crie from the [f] fiſh gate, & an howling from [g] ſecond [gate,] and a great deſtruction from the hilles.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of [g] the lowe place: for the companie of the marchants is deſtroyed: all they that beare ſiluer, are cut off.

12 And at that time wil I ſearch Jeruſalem with [h] lights, and viſite the men that are froſen [i] in their dregges, and ſay in their heartes, The Lord will neither do good nor do euill.

13 Therefore their goods ſhalbe ſpoyled, & their houſes waſte: [k] they ſhall alſo builde houſes, but not inhabite [them,] and they ſhall plant vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lorde [is] neere: it [is] neere, and haſteth greatly, [euen] the voyce of the day of the Lord: [k] the ſtrong man ſhall crie there bitterly.

15 * That day [is] a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heaunes, a day of deſtruction and deſolation, a day of obſcuritie and darkenes, a day of cloudes and blackenes, 16 A day of the trumpet and alarme againſt the ſtrong cities, and againſt the hie towres.

17 And I will bring diſtreſſe vpon men, that they ſhall walke like blinde me, becauſe they haue ſinned againſt the Lorde, & their blood ſhalbe powred out as duſt, and their fleſh as the dongue.

18 * Neither their ſiluer nor their gold ſhall be able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole lande ſhall be deuoured by the fire of his ielouſie: for he ſhall make euen a ſpeedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

He mooueth to returne to God, 5 Propheſying deſtruction againſt the Philiſtims, Moabites and others.

a He exhorteth them to repentance, and willeth them to deſcende into themſelues and gather themſelues together, leaſt they be ſcattered like chaffe.

b That is, which haue liued vprightly and godly according as he preſcribeth by his word.

c He comforteth the faithfull in that, that God would change his punithments from them vnto the Philiſtims their enemies and other nations.

Ather [a] your ſelues, euen gather you, O nation not worthie to be loued,

2 Before the decree come forth, [and ye be] as chaffe that paſſeth in a day, [and] before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, [&] before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lorde all the meeke of the earth, which [b] haue wrought his iudgement: ſeeke righteouſnes, ſeeke lowlines, if ſo be that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For [c] Azzah ſhalbe forſaken, and Aſhkelon deſolate: they ſhall driue out Aſhdod at the noone day, and Ekron ſhalbe rooted vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the ſea [d] coaſt: the nation of the Cherethims, the worde of the Lorde [is] againſt you: O Canaan, the lande of the Philiſtims, I will euen deſtroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the ſea coaſt ſhalbe dwellings [and] cottages for ſhepheards & ſheepefoldes.

7 And [that] coaſt ſhalbe for the [e] remnant of the houſe of Judah, to feede thereupon: in the houſes of Aſhkelon ſhall they lodge toward night: for the Lorde their God ſhall viſite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproche of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbrayded my people, and [f] magnified themſelues againſt their borders.

9 Therefore, as I liue, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, ſurely Moab ſhal be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, [euen] the breeding of nettels and ſalt pittes, and a perpetual deſolation: the reſidue of my folke ſhall ſpoyle them, and the remnant of my people ſhall poſſeſſe them.

10 This ſhall they haue for their pride, becauſe they haue reproched, and magnified themſelues againſt the Lorde of hoſtes people.

11 The Lorde [will be] terrible vnto them: [g] for he will conſume all the gods of the earth, and euery man ſhall worſhip him from his place, [euen] all the yles of the heathen.

12 Ye Mozians alſo ſhalbe ſlaine by my ſword with them.

13 And he will ſtretche out his hande againſt the North, and deſtroy Aſſhur, and will make Nineueh deſolate, [and] waſte like a wildernes.

14 And flockes ſhall lie in the middes of her, and all the beaſtes of the nations, and the [h] pelicane, and the ‖ owle ſhall abide in the vpper poſtes of it: the voyce [of birdes] ſhall ſing in the windowes, [and] deſolations ſhalbe vpon [i] poſtes: for the cedars are vncouered.

15 This is the [i] reioycing citie that dwelt careleſſe, that ſaid in her heart, I am, and there [is] none beſides me: how is ſhe made waſte, and the lodging of the beaſtes! euery one that paſſeth by her, ſhall hiſſe and wagge his hand.

d That is, Galilea: by theſe nations here meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Iewes and in ſteade of friendſhip were their enemies: therefore he calleth them Canaanites whome the Lord appointed to be ſlaine.
e He ſheweth why God would deſtroy their enemies, becauſe their country might be a reſting place for his Church.
f Theſe nations preſumed to take from the Iewes that country which the Lord had giuen them.

g When he ſhall deſtroy his people and deſtroy their enemies and idoles, his glorie ſhall ſhine throughout all the world.

h Reade Iſa. 34.11. ‖ Or, hedgehog.

i Meaning, Nineueh, which reioycing ſo much of her ſtrength and proſperitie, ſhould be thus made waſte & Gods people deliuered.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

4 Against the gouernours of Ierusalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the reſtoue of Israel.

WO to her that is filthie and polluted, to the ꝓ robbing a citie.
2 She heard not the voyce: she receiued not correction: the trusted not in the Lorde: she drewe not neere to her God.
3 Her princes within her [are] as roaring *lions: her iudges [are] as *wolues in the euening, [which] b leaue not the bones till the morow.
4 Her prophets are light, [and] wicked persons: her prieſtes haue polluted the Sanctuarie: they haue wreſted the Lawe.
5 The c iuſt Lorde [is] in the middes thereof: he will do none iniquitie: euery morning doth he bring his iudgement to light, he fayleth not: but the wicked will not learne to be aſhamed.
6 I haue d cut off the nations: their towres are deſolate: I haue made their ſtreetes waſte, that none ſhall paſſe by: their cities are deſtroyed without man [and] without inhabitant.
7 I ſayde, Surely thou wilt feare mee: thou wilt receiue inſtruction: ſo their dwelling ſhould not be deſtroyed howſoeuer I viſited them, but e they roſe earely [and] corrupted all their workes.
8 Therefore f waite ye vpon me, ſaith the Lord, vntill the day that I riſe vp to the praye: for my iudgement is to gather the nations, and that I will aſſemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, [euen] all my fierce wrath: for all the earth ſhalbe deuoured with the fire of my ielouſie.
9 Surely g then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lorde, to ſerue him h with one conſent.
10 From beyond ꝓ riuers of Ethiopia, the i daughter of my diſperſed, praying vnto me, ſhall bring me an offring.
11 In that day ſhalt thou not be aſhamed for k all thy workes, wherein thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt me: for then I will take away out of the middes of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou ſhalt no more be proude of mine holy Mountaine.
12 Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they ſhall truſt in the Name of the Lord.
13 The remnant of Iſrael ſhall doe none iniquitie, nor ſpeake lies: neither ſhall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth: for they ſhalbe fed, ‡ lie downe, and none ſhall make them afraide.
14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Iſrael: be glad ‡ reioyce with all [thine] heart, O daughter Ieruſalem.
15 The Lorde hath taken away thy l iudgements: he hath caſt out thine m enemie: the king of Iſrael, [euen] the Lord [is] in the middes of n thee: thou ſhalt ſee no more euill.
16 In that day it ſhalbe ſaid to Ieruſalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine handes be faint.
17 The Lord thy God in the middes of thee [is] mightie: he will ſaue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himſelfe in o his loue: he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.
18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, [‡] them that bare the reproche for p it.
19 Beholde, at that time I will bruſe all that afflict thee, and I will q ſaue her that halteth, and gather her that was caſt out, and I will get them praiſe and fame in all the r landes of their ſhame.
20 At ſ that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name and a praiſe among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, ſaith the Lord.

a That is, Ieruſalem. Eze. 22. 25, 27. micah 3. 11. Habak. 1. 8.
b They are ſo greedie that they eate vp bones and all.
c The wicked thus boaſted that God was euer among them, but the Prophet anſwereth that that cannot excuſe their wickednes: for God will not beare with their ſinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and ſent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but he proſited nothing.
d By the deſtruction of other nations he ſhewed that the Iewes ſhould haue learned to feare God.
e They were moſt earneſt and readie to do wickedly.
f Seeing ye will not repent, you ſhall looke for my vengeance as well as other nations.
g I. caſt any ſhould thinke then that Gods glorie ſhould haue periſhed when Iudah was deſtroyed. he ſhewed that he will publiſh his grace though all the world. ‡ Ebr. with one ſhoulder, as Hoſe. 6. 9.
h That is, the Iewes ſhall come as well as the Gentiles: which is to be vnderſtand vnder the time of the Goſpel.
i For they ſhal haue full remiſſion of their ſinnes: and the hypocrites which boaſted of the Temple, which was alſo thy pride in time paſt, ſhall be taken from thee.
k That is, the puniſhment for thy ſinne.
l As the Aſſyrians, Caldeans, Egyptians, and other nations.
m To defende thee, as by thy ſinnes thou haſt put him away and left thy ſelfe naked, as Exo. 32. 25.
n Signifying, that God delighteth to ſhew his loue and great affection towarde his Church.
o That is, them that were bad in hatred and reuiled for the Church and becauſe of their religion.
p I will deliuer the Church which now is afflicted, as Micah 4. 6.
q As among the Aſſyrians and Caldeans which did mocke them and put them to ſhame.

Haggai.

The Argvment.

WHen the time of the ſeuentie yeeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God rayſed vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the ſpiritual Temple and Church of God, whoſe perfection and excellencie ſtoode in Chriſt. And becauſe that all were giuen to their owne pleaſures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God ſent then among them, was a iuſt reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promes of greater felicitie, for aſmuch as the Lorde will finiſh the worke that hee hath begonne, and ſende Chriſt whome hee had promiſed, and by whome they ſhould attaine to perfite ioy and glorie.

CHAP. III.

4 Against the gouernours of Ierusalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the reſtoue of Israel.

WO to her that is filthie and polluted, to the ꝓ robbing a citie.
2 She heard not the voyce: she receiued not correction: the trusted not in the Lorde: she drewe not neere to her God.
3 Her princes within her [are] as roaring *lions: her iudges [are] as *wolues in the euening, [which] b leaue not the bones till the morow.
4 Her prophets are light, [and] wicked persons: her prieſtes haue polluted the Sanctuarie: they haue wreſted the Lawe.
5 The c iuſt Lorde [is] in the middes thereof: he will do none iniquitie: euery morning doth he bring his iudgement to light, he fayleth not: but the wicked will not learne to be aſhamed.
6 I haue d cut off the nations: their towres are deſolate: I haue made their ſtreetes waſte, that none ſhall paſſe by: their cities are deſtroyed without man [and] without inhabitant.
7 I ſayde, Surely thou wilt feare mee: thou wilt receiue inſtruction: ſo their dwelling ſhould not be deſtroyed howſoeuer I viſited them, but e they roſe earely [and] corrupted all their workes.
8 Therefore f waite ye vpon me, ſaith the Lord, vntill the day that I riſe vp to the praye: for my iudgement is to gather the nations, and that I will aſſemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, [euen] all my fierce wrath: for all the earth ſhalbe deuoured with the fire of my ielouſie.
9 Surely g then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lorde, to ſerue him h with one conſent.
10 From beyond ꝓ riuers of Ethiopia, the i daughter of my diſperſed, praying vnto me, ſhall bring me an offring.
11 In that day ſhalt thou not be aſhamed for k all thy workes, wherein thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt me: for then I will take away out of the middes of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou ſhalt no more be proude of mine holy Mountaine.
12 Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they ſhall truſt in the Name of the Lord.
13 The remnant of Iſrael ſhall doe none iniquitie, nor ſpeake lies: neither ſhall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth: for they ſhalbe fed, ‡ lie downe, and none ſhall make them afraide.
14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Iſrael: be glad ‡ reioyce with all [thine] heart, O daughter Ieruſalem.
15 The Lorde hath taken away thy l iudgements: he hath caſt out thine m enemie: the king of Iſrael, [euen] the Lord [is] in the middes of n thee: thou ſhalt ſee no more euill.
16 In that day it ſhalbe ſaid to Ieruſalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine handes be faint.
17 The Lord thy God in the middes of thee [is] mightie: he will ſaue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himſelfe in o his loue: he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.
18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, [‡] them that bare the reproche for p it.
19 Beholde, at that time I will bruſe all that afflict thee, and I will q ſaue her that halteth, and gather her that was caſt out, and I will get them praiſe and fame in all the r landes of their ſhame.
20 At ſ that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name and a praiſe among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, ſaith the Lord.

a That is, Ieruſalem. Eze. 22. 25, 27. micah 3. 11. Habak. 1. 8.
b They are ſo greedie that they eate vp bones and all.
c The wicked thus boaſted that God was euer among them, but the Prophet anſwereth that that cannot excuſe their wickednes: for God will not beare with their ſinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and ſent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but he proſited nothing.
d By the deſtruction of other nations he ſhewed that the Iewes ſhould haue learned to feare God.
e They were moſt earneſt and readie to do wickedly.
f Seeing ye will not repent, you ſhall looke for my vengeance as well as other nations.
g I. caſt any ſhould thinke then that Gods glorie ſhould haue periſhed when Iudah was deſtroyed. he ſhewed that he will publiſh his grace though all the world. ‡ Ebr. with one ſhoulder, as Hoſe. 6. 9.
h That is, the Iewes ſhall come as well as the Gentiles: which is to be vnderſtand vnder the time of the Goſpel.
i For they ſhal haue full remiſſion of their ſinnes: and the hypocrites which boaſted of the Temple, which was alſo thy pride in time paſt, ſhall be taken from thee.
k That is, the puniſhment for thy ſinne.
l As the Aſſyrians, Caldeans, Egyptians, and other nations.
m To defende thee, as by thy ſinnes thou haſt put him away and left thy ſelfe naked, as Exo. 32. 25.
n Signifying, that God delighteth to ſhew his loue and great affection towarde his Church.
o That is, them that were bad in hatred and reuiled for the Church and becauſe of their religion.
p I will deliuer the Church which now is afflicted, as Micah 4. 6.
q As among the Aſſyrians and Caldeans which did mocke them and put them to ſhame.

Haggai.

The Argvment.

WHen the time of the ſeuentie yeeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God rayſed vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the ſpiritual Temple and Church of God, whoſe perfection and excellencie ſtoode in Chriſt. And becauſe that all were giuen to their owne pleaſures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God ſent then among them, was a iuſt reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promes of greater felicitie, for aſmuch as the Lorde will finiſh the worke that hee hath begonne, and ſende Chriſt whome hee had promiſed, and by whome they ſhould attaine to perfite ioy and glorie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to builde the Temple againe.

IN the seconde yeere of king [a] Darius, in the first moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto [b] Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, [c] that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lorde by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your [d] sieled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your heartes.

6 [e] Ye haue sowne much, and bring in litle: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Go [f] vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and [g] I will be fauourable in it, and I will [h] be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe [i] vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine house that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, [j] vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon [all] that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattel, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, [k] Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the [l] voyce of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai [m] Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp [1] the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

a Who was the sonne of Cyaxaris, and the third king of the Persians, as some thinke.
b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had neede to be stirred vp and admonished of their duties, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very colde in his cause?
c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie, and priuate profit to religion, being content with small beginnings.
d Shewing that they sought not only their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.
e Confirmeth the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and because ye seeke not him first of all.
f Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.
g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promises, 1. King. 8. 21, 29.
h That is, my glorie shalbe set forth by you.
i And so lying it to nothing.
k This declared that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exo. 14. 31. Iudg. 7. 20. Act. 15. 28.
l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his worde or his messengers before God reforme their heartes and giue them new spirites, Iohn 6. 44.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glorie of the seconde Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius, 2 In the seuenth [moneth], in the one and twentieth [day] of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake nowe to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that sawe this [a] house in her first glorie, and howe do you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lorde, and [b] do it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes,

6 [According] to the word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes, [c] Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the drie land:

8 And I will moouе all nations, and [d] the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glorie, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The [e] siluer [is] mine, and the golde [is] mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glorie of this last house shalbe

a For the people, according as Ia. 32. 11. and Ezr. 41. 1. hath prophecied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets ment the spiritual Temple the Church of Christ.
b That is, go forwarde in building the Temple.
c He exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ by whome all things should be renued.
d Meaning, Christ whome all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches and such like.
e Therefore when his time commeth, he can make all the treasures of the worlde to serue his purpose: but the glorie of this second Temple doeth not stand in materiall things, neither can be built.

greater greater then the first, sayth the Lorde of hostes: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, sayth the Lord of hostes.

II ¶ In the foure and twentieth [day] of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Aske nowe the Priests [concerning] the Law, and say,

13 If one beare [g] holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touche the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and saide, No.

14 Then saide Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shalbe vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and saide, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, sayth the Lord: and so [are] all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this [h] day, and afore, [euen] afore a stone was laide vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lorde:

17 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie [measures,] there were but ten: When one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie [vessels] out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you [turned] not to me, sayth the Lorde.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth [moneth], euen] from the day that the fundation of the Lords Temple was layde: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought foorth: from this day will I blesse [you.]

21 And againe the Word of the Lorde came vnto Haggai in the foure [m] twentieth [day] of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [n] will shake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the [o] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sworde of his brother.

24 In that day, sayth the Lorde of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lorde, and will make thee as a [p] signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord of hostes.

f Meaning all spirituall blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4.7.

g That is, the flesh of the sanctified: whereby he signifieth that the thing, which of it selfe is good, cannot make an other thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly.

h Consider howe God did plague you with famine afore you began to builde the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begunne.

k From the time they began to builde the Temple, be promiseth that God wold blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they shoulde haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueft came, and then they shoulde see Gods blessings.

m I will make a change and renue all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby he sheweth that there shalbe no let or hinderance when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.

o Signifying that his dignitie shoulde be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

p He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they shoulde not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.

q Let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people, & that he hath wrought in you by his spirit & mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ier. 31.18. Iam. 5.21. Isa. 21.8. & 31.6. & 45.22.

Zechariah.

The Argvment.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull shoulde haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednes, and coldnes to set foorth Gods glorie, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euer mixeth the promes of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all shoulde be sanctified to the Lorde.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee exhorteth the people to returne to the Lorde, and to eschue the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Jerusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius, came the worde of the Lorde vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore saye thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, [d] Turne ye vnto me, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2. Chro. 24.20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitours, as of Ioiada or Berechiah and Iddo.

c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they shoulde not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.

d Let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people, & that he hath wrought in you by his spirit & mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ier. 31.18. Iam. 5.21. Isa. 21.8. & 31.6. & 45.22.

greater then the first, sayth the Lorde of hostes: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, sayth the Lord of hostes.

II ¶ In the foure and twentieth [day] of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Aske nowe the Priests [concerning] the Law, and say,

13 If one beare [g] holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touche the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and saide, No.

14 Then saide Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shalbe vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and saide, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, sayth the Lord: and so [are] all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this [h] day, and afore, [euen] afore a stone was laide vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lorde:

17 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie [measures,] there were but ten: When one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie [vessels] out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you [turned] not to me, sayth the Lorde.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth [moneth], euen] from the day that the fundation of the Lords Temple was layde: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought foorth: from this day will I blesse [you.]

21 And againe the Word of the Lorde came vnto Haggai in the foure [m] twentieth [day] of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [n] will shake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the [o] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sworde of his brother.

24 In that day, sayth the Lorde of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lorde, and will make thee as a [p] signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord of hostes.

f Meaning all spirituall blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4.7.

g That is, the flesh of the sanctified: whereby he signifieth that the thing, which of it selfe is good, cannot make an other thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly.

h Consider howe God did plague you with famine afore you began to builde the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begunne.

k From the time they began to builde the Temple, be promiseth that God wold blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they shoulde haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueft came, and then they shoulde see Gods blessings.

m I will make a change and renue all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby he sheweth that there shalbe no let or hinderance when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.

o Signifying that his dignitie shoulde be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

p He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they shoulde not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.

q Let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people, & that he hath wrought in you by his spirit & mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ier. 31.18. Iam. 5.21. Isa. 21.8. & 31.6. & 45.22.

Zechariah.

The Argvment.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull shoulde haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednes, and coldnes to set foorth Gods glorie, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euer mixeth the promes of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all shoulde be sanctified to the Lorde.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee exhorteth the people to returne to the Lorde, and to eschue the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Jerusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius, came the worde of the Lorde vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore saye thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, [d] Turne ye vnto me, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2. Chro. 24.20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitours, as of Ioiada or Berechiah and Iddo.

c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they shoulde not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.

d Let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people, & that he hath wrought in you by his spirit & mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ier. 31.18. Iam. 5.21. Isa. 21.8. & 31.6. & 45.22.

Ierem.3.12. ezek.18.30. hos.14.2. ioel 2.12.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former * Prophets haue cryed, saying, thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, sayth the Lord.

c Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought stil to be before your eyes: & though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2. Pet. 1.15.

5 Your fathers, where c are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of your fathers? and d they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath he dealt with vs.

d Seeing ye saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not ye feare the threatnings conteyned in the same and declared by my Prophets? e As men attonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth [h] Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lorde vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, h Which conteineth part of Ianuarie and part of Februarie.

8 I [i] sawe by night, and beholde [k] a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stoode among the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there [l] red horses speckeled and white.

i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church, but as yet it houlde not appeare to mans eyes, which is here ment by the night, by the bottome, and by the mirre trees, which are blacke and giue a darke shadowe: yet he comparesh God to a king, who hath his posts and messengers abroade, by whom he still worketh his purpose and bringeth his matters to passe.

k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsemen. l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels by whome God sometime punisheth and sometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his workes in diuers sortes. m That is, Christ the mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled when all the countreis about them were at rest.

I am [n] ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angrie against the careles heathen: for I was angrie but [o] a litle, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shalbe builded in it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and a line [p] shalbe stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, My cities shall yet [q] be broken with plentie: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

n Though for a time God deferre his helpe and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them still most dearely, as a most mercifull father his children, & an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.

o In destroying the reprobate I shewed my selfe but a litle angrie towarde my Church, but the enemie would haue destroyed them alto, and considered not the ende of my chastisements.

p To measure out the buildings.

q The abundance shalbe so great that the places of store shall not be able to conteine these blessings that God will send, but shall euen breake for fulnes.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and beholde, [r] foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lorde shewed me foure [s] carpenters.

21 Then saide I, what come these to do? and he answered, and saide, These are ỹ hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to scatter it.

r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.

s These carpenters or smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrowe the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in peeces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and beholde, a [a] man with a measuring line in his hand.

a That is, the Angell who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angell, but in respect of his eternall essence, is God and so called.

2 Then saide I, whither goest thou? And he saide vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meete him, b Meaning himselfe Zechariah.

4 And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this [b] yong man, and say, [c] Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for ỹ multitude of men & cattell therein.

c Signifying the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which houlde be extended by the Gospell through all the worlde, and houlde need no materiall walles, nor trust in any worldly strength, but houlde be safely preserued, and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

5 For I, sayth the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of [d] fire round about, and will d To defende my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approche neere.

c In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glorie.
f He calleth to them, which partly for feare and partly for their owne ease, remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefites of God promised in his Church.
g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to reloye you.
h By sterling from Babylon and comming to the Church.
i Seeing that God hath begun to shewe his grace among you by deliuering you, be continueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth me his Angel, and his Chyld to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.
k Ye are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psalm. 17.8.
l Vpon the heathen your enemies.
m They shall be your seruants as you haue bene theirs.
n This must necessarily be vnderstand of Chyld, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediator, to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

be the glorie in the middes of her.

6 Ho, ho, [come] fo[e]th, and flee from the land of the North, sayth the Lorde: for I haue scattered you into the foure windes of the heauen, sayth the Lord.

7 Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes, After [this] glorie hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand vpon them: and they shall be a spoyle to those that serued them, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me.

10 Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for lo, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, sayth the Lord.

11 And many nations shalbe ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lorde of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shal inherite Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Jerusalem againe.

13 Let al flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Chyld and of his kingdome.

a Be prayed to Chyld the Mediator for the state of the Church.
b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephes. 6.12.
c That is, Chyld hereketh to God as the Mediatour of his Church that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preserver of his Church.
d Meaning, that Jehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuitie, and now Satan fought to afflict and trouble him when hee was doing his office.
e In respect of the glorious garmens, and precious stones that the Priestes did weare before the captiuities: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Chyld shall make the full restitution of his Church.

And he shewed mee Jehoshua the hie Priest, a standing before the Angel of the Lorde, and b Satan stoode at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the c Lorde laide vnto Satan, The Lorde reproue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Jerusalem, reproue thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Jehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stoode before the Angell.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stoode before him, saying, Take away the e filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Beholde, I haue f caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of rayment.

f He sheweth of what apparell he speaketh, which is that our filthie sinnes are taken away, and we are clad with gods mercies, which is ment of the spirituall restitution.

5 And I saide, Let them g set a fayre diademe vpon his head. So they set a fayre diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, & the Angel of the Lord stoode by.

g The Prophet prayeth that beside the rayment, the Priest might also haue eye for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthode might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Chyld, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that eare content themselues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obedience it.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Jehoshua, saying,

7 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also h iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my i courtes, and I will giue thee place among k these that stand by.

h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church as thy predecessours haue had.
i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church.
k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithfull: signifying that all the godly should willingly receiue him.

8 Heare nowe, O Jehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they l are monstrous persons: but beholde, I will bring forth the m Branch my seruant.

l Because they followe my woyne, they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8.18.
m That is, Chyld, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11.1. Iere. 23.5. and 33.14,15.

9 For loe the n stone that I haue layde before Jehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: beholde, I will o cut out the grauing thereof, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and I will take p away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

n He sheweth that in Chyld is the perfection, and obedience of the whole number of the faithfull: signifying that all the godly should willingly receiue him.
o Because they will not be reformed by the Prophet, he threateneth the perfection, and obedience of Chyld.
p Meaning, that the sinnes of the whole land should be taken away by the sacrifice of Chyld, which was figured by the sacrifices of the Law.

10 In that day, sayth the Lorde of hostes, shal ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figge tree.

q Ye shall then liue in peace and quietnes, that is, in the kingdome of Chyld, Isa. 2.2. micah. 4.4. hag. 2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlesticke, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe, a Which was euer in the middes of the Temple, signifying that the graces of gods spirite should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.

2 And said vnto me, what seest thou? And I sayd, I haue looked, and behold, a a candlesticke all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen b pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.

3 And two olive trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel þ talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the worde of þ Lord vnto c Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by d an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, sayth the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O c great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? [thou shalt be] a plaine, and e he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, [crying,] Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue layde the fundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the h small things? but they shal reioyce, and shall see the stone of i tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: k these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which go thorowe the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and saide vnto him, what are these two olive trees vpon the right & vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and saide vnto him, What be these two olive branches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde?

13 And he answered me, and saide, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two l olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his bodie and members.

d He sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though hee vse not mans helpe thereunto.

e He comforteth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who repaired Christ, whom the enemies daily labour to set in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in baine.

f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shal lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that her would continue his grace and fauour towarde the Temple.

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my father for the building, and preseruation of my spiritual Temple. h Signifying that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple. i Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which repesented Christ, should go forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his foy a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.

k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world, can go about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God wil continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying þ curse of thieues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THen I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes & looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

2 And hee saide vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying a booke: the length thereof [is] twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that b stealeth, shall be cut off [as well on] this c side, as on that: and euery one that d sweareth, shal be cut off [as well on] this side, as on that.

4 I wil bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shal enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in þ middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and said vnto me, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, what is it? And he said, This is an e Ephah that goeth forth. He said moreouer, This is the f sight of the, throughout all the earth.

7 And beholde, there was lift vp a g talent of lead: and this is a h woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is i wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: & behold, there came out two k women, and the wind [was] in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, whither do these beare the Ephah?

11 And he said vnto me, l To builde it an house in the land of Shinar, & it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his worde, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had sufficiently light both on them, and their fathers: but nowe if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

b That is, he sheweth any iniurie toward his neighbour.

c Meaning, wheresoeuer he be in the worlde.

d He þ transgresseth the first table, and feruently not God aright, but abuseth Gods Name.

e Which was a measure in dyie things conteining about tenne pottels.

f That is, all the wickednes of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it or open it at his pleasure.

g To store the measure.

h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.

i Signifying that Satan shoulde not haue such power against the Iewes to keepe them, as a measure as in a prison.

k Which declared that God woulde execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes. l To remoue the iniquitie and affections that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure monarchies.

AGaine, I turned, and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure a charets out from betweene a By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute & declare his will.

b By the hylen mountaines he meaneth the eternall counsell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath before all eternitie decreed what shal come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the worlde can alter.

c Which signifieth great cruelties and persecutions that the Church had endured vnder diuerse enemies.

d Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians.

e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to liberty.

f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh & Babylo, and other their enemies.

g Meaning all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsel he ceaseth to appeare though all the world.

h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreys there about.

i That is, they of diuers colours, which alke leaue to b two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charet [were] red horses, and in the second charet d blacke horses,

3 And in the third charet e white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of f diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angel that talked with mee, what are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angell answered, and sayd vnto me, These are the g foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth towarde the h South countrey.

7 And the i reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe through the worlde, and he saide, Go passe through the worlde. So they went throwe out the world.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that go toward the North countrey, haue pacified my k spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, [euen] of Heldai, and of Tobiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go vnto the house l of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer and gold, & make crownes, and set [them] vpon the m head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and saith, Beholde the man whose name is the n Branch, and he shall grow o vp out of his place, and he shal p build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the q glorie, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shalbe between r them both.

14 And the crownes shalbe to s Helem, and to Tobiah, and to Iedaiah, and to t Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a u memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are x farre off, shall come & build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will y obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

lenge their filthinesse, which looked that all things should be restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes as tokens, Act. 1.6.

k That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospell

l Type

r The two offices of the kingdome, and priesthoode shal be so ioyned together, that they shall be no more bullets Who was also called Heldai.

t He also was called Iosiah.

u That they may acknow-x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospell shall helpe toward the building of this spirituall Temple.

y Type have bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

a Which conteined part of Nouember, & part of December.

AND in the fourth yere of king Darius, the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth [day] of the ninth moneth, euen in a Chillen,

2 For b they had sent vnto the house of God Sharezer, and Regemmelech and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 [And] to speake vnto the Priestes, which were in the house of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophetes, saying, Should I c weepe in the fift moneth, & d separate my selfe as I haue done these so many e yeeres?

b That is, they had remained yet in Calden, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feasts were celebrated vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth & the Temple was destroyed, and the other, when Gedaliah was slain, Jer. 41.2.

c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting.

d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast.

e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroied.

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the lande, and to the f Priestes, and say, when ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? g do I [approue it?]

f For there were both of the people, & of the Priests, which doubted accomplishing this con-

6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eat for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not [heare] the wordes, which the Lord hath cried by the minsterie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, & in prosperitie, & the cities therof round about her, whe the South & the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying, trouersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and resolued of it, as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserued toward God because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, & trusted therin, it is here reproued.

h Did ye not eat and drinke for your owne commoditie & necessitie? and so likewise ye did abstaine accoyding to your owne fantasies, & not after the prescript of my law.

i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, & by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.

signifie that Sarah hath no power to hurt or afflict til God giue it him, Job. 1.12.

k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceaseth, and you were deliuered.

l To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, and doubted of the restauration of the kingdome and of the priesthood, and hurt others by their example

m Because this could not bee attributed to any one accoyding to the Lawe, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest & King.

n Meaning Christ, of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.

o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man.

p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but one by Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, & not materiall, Hag. 2.10.

q Wher of Iehoshua had but a shadowe.

9 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſtes, ſaying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and ſhew merey and compaſſion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppreſſe not the widowe, nor the fatherles, the ſtráger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill againſt his brother in your heart.

11 But they refuſed to hearken, & [l] pulled away the ſhoulder, and ſtopped their eares, that they ſhould not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamát ſtone, leſt they ſhould heare the law and the wordes which the Lord of hoſtes ſent in his [m] ſpirit by the miniſterie of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hoſtes.

13 Therefore it is come to paſſe, that as he cryed, and they would not heare, ſo they cryed, and I would not heare, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

14 But I ſcattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was deſolate [n] after them, that no man paſſed through nor returned: for they laid the pleaſant land [o] waſte.

k He ſheweth, that they did not fall with a ſincere heart, but for an hypocriſie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, becauſe that they lacked theſe offices of charitie, which ſhould haue declared that they were godly. Matt. 23.23.

l An vnwilling to heare the Lords burden, which was ſweete & eaſie, but would heare their owne, which was beaute and grieuous to the fleſh, thinking to merite thereby: which ſimilitude is taken of oxen, which ſhrinke at the yoke. Ezech. 9.29.

m Which declareth, that they rebelled not onely againſt the Prophets, but againſt the ſpirit of God that ſpake in them.

n That is, after they were caried captiue.

o By their ſinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Of the returne of the people vnto Ieruſalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the word of the Lord of hoſtes came to me, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes, I was [a] ielous for Zion with great ielouſie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwel in the middes of Ieruſalem: and Ieruſalem ſhall bee called a [b] citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lorde of hoſtes, the holie Mountaine.

4 Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes, There ſhall yet olde [c] men and olde women dwell in the ſtreetes of Ieruſalem, and euery man with his ſtaffe in his hand for verie age.

5 And the ſtreets of the citie ſhall bee full of boyes and girles, playing in the ſtreets thereof.

6 Thus ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, Though it be [d] vnpoſſible in the eyes of [e] remnant of this people in theſe dayes, ſhould it therefore bee vnpoſſible in my ſight, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes?

a I loued my citie with a ſingular loue, ſo that I could not abide that any ſhould do her any iniurie.

b Becauſe ſhe ſhalbe faithfull and loyall toward me her husband.

c Though their enemies did greatly miſuſe & trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and ſo preſerue them ſo long as nature would ſuffer them to liue, and increaſe their children in great abundance.

d He ſheweth wherein our faith ſtandeth, that is, to beleeue that God can perfourme that which he hath promiſed though it ſeeme neuer ſo vnpoſſible to man, Rom. 4.20. Gen. 18.14.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the Eaſt countrey, and and from the weſt countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they ſhall [f] dwell in the middes of Ieruſalem, and they ſhall be my people, and I will bee their God in trueth and in righteouſneſſe.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Let your [g] handes be ſtrong, ye that heare in theſe dayes theſe words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the Houſe of the Lord of hoſts was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before theſe dayes there was no hire for [h] man nor any hire for beaſt, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in becauſe of the affliction: for I ſet all men, euery one againſt his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not [intreat] the reſidue of this people as afore time, ſayeth the Lord of hoſtes.

12 For the ſeed [ſhalbe] proſperous: the vine ſhall giue her fruite, and the ground ſhall giue her increaſe, and the heauens ſhall giue their dewe, and I will cauſe the remnant of this people to poſſeſſe all theſe things.

13 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that as ye were a curſe among the heathen, O houſe of Iudah, and houſe of Iſrael, ſo will I deliuer you, and ye ſhall be a bleſſing: feare not, [but] let your handes be ſtrong.

14 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, As I thought to punith [i] you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, ſayth the Lord of hoſts, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in theſe dayes to do well vnto Ieruſalem and to the houſe of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 Theſe are the things that ye ſhall do. Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts againſt his neighbour, and loue no falſe othe: for all theſe are the things that I hate, ſaith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hoſts came vnto me, ſaying,

19 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, The faſt of the fourth [moneth,] and the faſt of the fift, and the faſt of the ſeuenth, and the faſt of the [k] tenth, ſhalbe to the houſe of Iudah ioy and gladneſſe, and proſperous

e So that their returne ſhall not be in vaine: for, God will accompliſh his promiſe, and their poſſeſſion ſhall be ſure and ſtable.

f Let neither reſpect of your priuate commodities, nither counſell of others, nor feare of enemies diſcourage you in ꝓ going forward with the building of the Temple, but be conſtant and obey the Prophets, which incourage you thereunto.

g For God curſed your workes, ſo that neither man nor beaſt had profite of their labours.

h Read Ezek. 18.20.

i Which declareth, that man cannot returne to God till he change mans heart by his ſpirit, and ſo begin to do well, which is to pardon his ſinnes and to giue him his graces.

k Which faſt was appointed when the citie was beſieged, & was the firſt faſt of theſe foure: and here the Prophet ſheweth, that if the Iewes will repent, & turne wholy to God, they ſhall haue no more occaſion to faſt, or to ſhew ſignes of heauines: for God will ſend them toy and gladnes.

rous he feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one [citie,] shall go to another, saying, *Up, let vs go and pray before the Lorde, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will go also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lorde of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, [euen] take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, Wee will goe with you: for wee haue heard, that God is with you.

l He declareth the great zeale of God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church & to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ. Isa.2.2. micah. 4.1.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lord in the land of a Hadrach: and Damascus [shall be] his rest: when the eyes of man, euen [of] all the tribes of Israel [shalbe] toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also that bordereth thereby: Tyrus [also] and Zidon, though they be very wise.

3 For Tyrus did buylde her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, & he will smite her power in the Sea, and she shalbe deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall bee ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not bee inhabited.

6 And the straunger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betwene his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, & he shalbe as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron [shalbe] as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now I haue seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King commeth vnto thee: he is iust and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the fole of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and hee shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion [shall be] from sea vnto sea, and from the Riuer to the end of the land.

11 Thou also [shalt be saued] through the bloud of the couenant. I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein [is] no water.

12 Turne you to the strong holde, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day do I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bow for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, & I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lorde shall be seene ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lorde of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shal drinke [& make a noyse as through wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and as the homes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shalbe as the stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.
b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.
c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.
d That is, by Damascus: meaning that Damath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod & plague.
e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they decepued all other by their craft & subtiltie, which they cloked with this name of wisdome.
f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the sea, that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.
g Meaning, that all should be destroyed saue a very fewe, that should remaine as strangers.
h He promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them.
i As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.
k He sheweth that Gods power onely shall bee sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaryes, bee they neuer so cruell or assemble their power neuer so often.
l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries & afflictions wherewith they haue bene afflicted by their enemies.
m That is, he hath righteousnes and saluation in himselfe for the vse and cõmoditie of his Church.
n Tilbeth declareth that they should not looke for such a King as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is ment of Christ, as Matth.21.5.
o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his worde.
p That is, frõ the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: & by these places which the Iewes knewe, he ment an infinite spare and compasse ouer the whole worlde.
q That is from Euphrates.
r Meaning Ierusalem.
s The Church which is saued by the bloud of Christ where of the bloud of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, & left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them.
t God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great.
u That is, into the holy land where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you.
v Meaning, the faithful, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euerie side, and yet liuen in hope that God would restore them to libertie.
x That is, double benefites, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie.
y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians.
z He promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemyes and haue abundance, and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the alter when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.
a The faythfull shall be preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the verie enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glorie shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great, when hee met Iadi the hie priest.

17 For how great is his goodnes! and howe great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men chearefull, and new wine the maydes.

CHAP. X.

2 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lorde promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoyde this plague he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.

ASke yon of the a Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: [so] shall the Lorde make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, [&] to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely b the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore c they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles & sorcerers who euer deceyued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visit the d goates: but the Lorde of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautiful horse in the battell.

d Meaning, the cruel gouernours which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34. 16, 17.

4 Out e of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, [and] out of him euery f appointer of tribute also.

e He will be mercifull to his Church and therefore them as a king or Prince doth his best hope which shalbe for his owne wife in the warre.

f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceede, who shalbe as a corner to vphold the building, and as a nayle to fasten it together.

5 And they shalbe as the mightie men, which treade downe [their enemies] in the myre of the streetes in the battel, and they shal fight, because the Lorde [is] with them, and the riders on horses shal be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, & I will preserue the house g of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pity them: & they shalbe as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

g Ouer their enemyes.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shal see it, and be glad: [and] their heart shal reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will h hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

h That is, which shoulde bee gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

9 And I will k sowe them among the people, and they shall remember i Whereby he declareth the power of God who needeth no great preparation when he will deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse hee can call them from all places sodenly.

k Though they shall yet be scattered and seeme to be lost, yet it shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shal come to the knowledge of my name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospell, among whom it was first preached.

mee in farre countreys: and they shall liue with their children and l turne againe.

l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, & gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them vnto the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and [place] shall not be found for them.

11 And he m shall go into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the wawes in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall drie vp: and the pride of Asshur shalbe cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, where as the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shal walke in his name, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithful is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous bilion against Ierusalem and Iudah.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong, by reason of this mountain, that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall shewe it selfe readie to receiue them.

b Shewing how it the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.

OPen thy doores, O a Lebanon, & the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Houle, b fyrre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: houle yee, O okes of Bashan, for the defenced forrest is cut downe.

c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, & weaker places could not thinke to holde out.

3 There [is] the voyce of the houling of the shepherds: for their d glorie is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

d That is, the renowme of Iudah & Israel should perish.

4 Thus sayeth the Lorde my God,
Feede the sheepe of the e slaughter.

e Which being now deliuered out of the lyons mouth.

5 They that possesse them, slay them, & sinne not: and they that sell them, say, g Blessed [be] the Lorde: for I am rich, and their owne shepheardes spare them not.

f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, yo yet thinking that they doe euill. g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the name of God in their mouthes, though in their lyfe and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the hoyle of their brethren.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lorde:
but lo, h I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his i King: and they shall smite the land, [and] out of their hands I will not deliuer [them.]

h I will cause one to destroy another.

i Their gouernours shall execute cruelties ouer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flock, and I tooke vnto me l two staues: the one I called k That is, the small remnant, whome he thought worthie to shewe mercie vnto. l God sheweth his great benefits towarde his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautifull ryder of gouernment, neither continue in the bandes of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bandes, Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed.

Beautie

Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 [m] Three shepherds also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed [n] them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then sayd I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: [e] that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eat, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, [euē] Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the [o] poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knewe that it was the worde of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue [me] [p] my wages: and if no, leaue of: so they weighed for my wages thirtie [pieces] of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the [q] potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie [pieces] of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, [euē] the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhoode betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet [r] the instruments of a foolish shepherde.

16 For lo, I will raise vp a shepherde in the lande, which shal not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that [s] standeth vp: but he shal eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepherd that leaueth the flocke: the sword [shalbe] vpō his [t] arme, and vpon his right eie. His arme shalbe cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

m Whereby he sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue.

n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefites of God.

o He sheweth that the least part euer pitie by Gods iudgements.

p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednes, which did not onely forget his benefites, but esteemed them as things of nought.

q Shewing that it was too litle to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a few tyles for to couer the Temple.

r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kind of regiment, and outward shewe of gouernment: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should bee wolues, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepherds.

s And is in health and sound.

t By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doth wisedome & iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home, when God called them.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon [a] Israel, saith the Lorde, which [b] stred the heauens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a [b] cup of poison vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be, in the siege against Ierusalem.

b Ierusalem shalbe defended against all her enemies: so shal God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: al that lift it vp, shalbe torne, though al the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, & will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their heartes, The [c] inhabitantes of Ierusalem [shalbe] my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hande, and on the left: and Ierusalem shalbe inhabited againe in her owne place, [euen] in Ierusalem.

7 The Lorde also shall preserue the [d] tents of Iudah, [as] afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid that not boast, nor [e] glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shalbe as Dauid: and the house of Dauid [shalbe] as Gods [house, and] as the Angell of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of [f] grace and of compassion, and they shal looke vpon me, whom they haue [g] pearced, and they shall lament for [h] him, as one mourneth for [his] only [sonne,] and be sory for him as one is sory for [his] first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the [h] mourning of [i] Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the [k] land shall bewaile euery familie apart, the family of the [m] house of Dauid apart, & their wiues apart: the c Euery captaine, that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke þ the small power of Ierusalē shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.

d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fieldes, and lye open to their enemies, shalbe no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their kings (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

e They shall haue þ feeling of my grace by faith, & knowe that I haue cōpassion on the.

f That is, whome they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, and grieued my Spirit, Iob. 19. 37. where it is referred to Christes body, which here is referred to the spirit of God.

g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whome before they had so grieuously offended by their ingratitude.

h They shall lament and repēt exceedingly for their offences against God, i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2. Chro. 35. 22.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes shal remaine.

l Signifying that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe shall lament.

m Vnder these certaine families he conteineth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes pierced Christ.

family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, & their wiues apart: the family of [n] Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that [o] remaine, euery family apart, and their wiues apart.

n Called also Simeon.

o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

IN that day there [a] shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannes.

a He sheweth what shalbe the fruit of their repentace, to wit, remission of sinnes by the bloud of Christ, which shall be a continual running fountain, & purge them from all vncleannes.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the [b] names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more bee remembred: and I will cause the [c] prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

b He promiseth that God will also purge the from all superstition and that their religion shall be pure.

c Meaning, the false prophets & teachers, who are the coyners of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

3 And when any shall yet [d] prophecie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, [e] shall thrust him through, when he prophecieth.

d That is, who they shall prophecie lies, and make God, who is the author of truth, a close thereunto.

e He sheweth what seate the godly shal haue vnder Christ kingdome of Christ, Deut. 13. 6, 9.

4 And in that day shall the Prophets [f] be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophecied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceyue.

f God will make them ashamed of their errors and lies & bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare prophets apparel to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

5 But he shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husband man: for man taught me to be an heardman frō my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these [g] woundes in thine handes? Then he shall answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

g They shall confesse their former ignorance, & be content to labour for their liuing

7 ¶ Arise, O sworde, vpon my [h] shepheard, & vpō the mā, [that is] my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, & the sheepe shalbe scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpō [i] litle ones.

h Hereby he sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should bee an horrible dissipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should bee as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelists applyeth this to Christ, because he was the heade of all pastours, Matth. 26, 31.

8 And in all the land, saith the Lord, [k] two partes therein shalbe cut off, [and] die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorowbe the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trie them as golde is tried: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord [is] my God.

k Christ saith, Many are called, but few are chosen, Matth. 22, 14.

CHAP. XIIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

BEholde, the day of the Lord commeth, & thy spoyle shall be [a] deuided in the middes of thee.

a De armeth the godly against þ great tentations, that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might knowe that they were warned of the same.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shalbe take, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off frō the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when [b] he fought in the day of battell.

b As your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red Sea and at other times.

4 And his feete shal stand in that day vpon the [c] mount of olines, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of olines shall cleaue in the midst thereof: toward the East and toward the west there [shalbe] a very great [d] valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

c By this manner of speach the Prophet sheweth Gods power, & care ouer his church and how he will ay it were by miracle saue it.

d So that out of all the partes of the worlde they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mollaine: and chis her meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

5 And ye shall flee vnto the [e] valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from [f] earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lorde [g] my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.

e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide themselues among the mountaines.

f Read Amos 1.1.

6 And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shalbe a day (it is knowen to the Lord) [h] neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shalbe light.

g Because they did not credite the Prophets words, he turneth to God and comforteth himself in that that he knewe that these things should come, and saith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing

h Signifying that there should be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords handes, yet at length (which is heere ment by the euening) God would sende comfort.

8 And in that day shal there [i] waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermost sea, [and] shalbe, both in sommer and winter.

i That is, the spirituall graces of God, which shoulde euer continue in most abundance.

9 And the Lord shalbe king ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one [k] Lord, and his Name shalbe one.

k All idolatrie and superstition shalbe abolished, and there shalbe one God, one faith & one religion.

10 All the lande shalbe turned [l] as a l This newe Ierusalem shalbe seene through all the worlde, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth and greatnes.

playne from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: frō Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel, vnto the Kinges wine presses.

11 And men shal dwell in it, and there shalbe no more destruction, but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.

12 And this shalbe the plague, wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpō their feete, and their eyes shal consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day [m] a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euery one shall take [n] the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shal fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shalbe gathered round about, with [o] golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shall bee the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse and of all the beastes that bee in these tents as this [p] plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall go from yere to yere to worshippe the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of tabernacles.

17 And who so wil not come vp of [al] the families of the earth vnto Ierusalē to worshipp the King the Lord of hosts, euen vpon them shall come no rayne.

18 And if the familie of [q] Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not [raine] vpon them. [This] shall bee the plague wherewith the Lord wil smite alp heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shalbe the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there bee [written vpon the] bridles of the horses, The holines vnto the Lord, and the [r] pots in the Lords house shalbe like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ierusalem & Iudah shalbe holy vnto the Lord of hosts, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, & seeth therein: and in that day there shall be no more [s] Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hostes.

10 God will not onely raise vp warre with vs, but confusion at home to ery them.

n To hurt, and oppresse him.

o The enemies are riche, and therefore shall not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed blood.

p As the men shalbe destroyed, verse. 12.

q Vp ſ Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to labor service they were put nowe (whether to labour, or to serue in warre) they were nowe holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified.

c But at shalbe pure & cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt ſ true seruice of God.

Malachi.

The Argvment.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they shoulde with more feruent desires looke for the comming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproueth the Priestes for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his worde. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of Idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impaciencie, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promes made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whome the couenant should be accomplished, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the Priests.

a Read Isa. 13.1.

THe [a] burden of the worde of the Lorde to Israel by the ministery of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, sayeth the Lorde: yet ye say, [b] wherein hast thou loued vs? was not Esau Iaakobs brother, saith the Lorde? yet I loued Iaakob, b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham frō out of all the world, and next whose Iaakob the yonger brother of whome they came, and left Esau the elder,

3 And I [c] hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wildernesse for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet sayth the Lorde of hostes, they shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call the, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with

c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made seruant vnto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterwarde in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen nowe before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that his countrey lyeth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabite it, where as ye my people whom the enemie hated more then them are by my grace and loue towarde you deliuered, reade Rom. 9. 13.

playne from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: frō Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel, vnto the Kinges wine presses.

11 And men shal dwell in it, and there shalbe no more destruction, but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.

12 And this shalbe the plague, wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpō their feete, and their eyes shal consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day [m] a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euery one shall take [n] the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shal fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shalbe gathered round about, with [o] golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shall bee the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse and of all the beastes that bee in these tents as this [p] plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall go from yere to yere to worshippe the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of tabernacles.

17 And who so wil not come vp of [al] the families of the earth vnto Ierusalē to worshipp the King the Lord of hosts, euen vpon them shall come no rayne.

18 And if the familie of [q] Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not [raine] vpon them. [This] shall bee the plague wherewith the Lord wil smite alp heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shalbe the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there bee [written vpon the] bridles of the horses, The holines vnto the Lord, and the [r] pots in the Lords house shalbe like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ierusalem & Iudah shalbe holy vnto the Lord of hosts, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, & seeth therein: and in that day there shall be no more [s] Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hostes.

10 God will not onely raise vp warre with vs, but confusion at home to ery them.

n To hurt, and oppresse him.

o The enemies are riche, and therefore shall not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed blood.

p As the men shalbe destroyed, verse. 12.

q Vp ſ Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to labor service they were put nowe (whether to labour, or to serue in warre) they were nowe holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified.

c But at shalbe pure & cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt ſ true seruice of God.

Malachi.

The Argvment.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they shoulde with more feruent desires looke for the comming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproueth the Priestes for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his worde. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of Idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impaciencie, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promes made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whome the couenant should be accomplished, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the Priests.

a Read Isa. 13.1.

THe [a] burden of the worde of the Lorde to Israel by the ministery of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, sayeth the Lorde: yet ye say, [b] wherein hast thou loued vs? was not Esau Iaakobs brother, saith the Lorde? yet I loued Iaakob, b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham frō out of all the world, and next whose Iaakob the yonger brother of whome they came, and left Esau the elder,

3 And I [c] hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wildernesse for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet sayth the Lorde of hostes, they shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call the, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with

c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made seruant vnto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterwarde in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen nowe before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that his countrey lyeth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabite it, where as ye my people whom the enemie hated more then them are by my grace and loue towarde you deliuered, reade Rom. 9. 13.

d Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the priests chiefly, because chiefly they should haue reproued others for their hypocrisie, and obstinacie against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.

e He noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faultes, but most impudently coureed them, and so more blynde guides.

f We receiue all maner offerings for your owne grieuousnes, and do not examine whether they be accepting to my lawe or no.

g Not that they say thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse. h You make it no faulte wherby he condemneth them, & thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that purenesse of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so serued.

i He declareth the Priests who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and he sheweth that they were the occasion that these euils came vpon the people.

k Will God confiner your office & state, seeing you are so couetous & wicked?

l Because the Leuites who kept the doores did not esp whether ſ sacrifices that came in, were according to the lawe, God willeth ſ they wouldo rather shut the doores, then to receiue such as were not perfect. m God sheweth ſ their ingratitude & neglect of his true seruice shall be ſ cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and heare ſ prophet that was vnder the law framed his words to the capacitie of the people, & by the altar, & sacrifice he meaneth ſ spirituall seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, whē an ende should be made to al these legal ceremonies by Christs onely sacrifice. n Both the priests & the people were infected wt this errour, that they pased not what was offred: for they thought ſ God was as wel cōtent with ſ leane as wt the fat: but in ſ meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which he required, & so cōmitted both impietie, & also shewed their contempt of God & courtousnes. o The priests & people were both weary with seruing God, and pased not what maner of sacrifice & seruice they gaue to God, for that which was leaſt profitable, was thought good inough for the Lord,

Whom the Lord is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes shall see it, & ye shall say, The Lorde will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth [his] father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, sayeth the Lord of hosts vnto you, [d] O priests, that despise my Name: and ye say, wherein haue we despised thy Name?

7 Ye offer [f] vncleane bread vpō mine altar, and you say, wherin haue we polluted thee? In that yee say the table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is [h] not euil: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto thy prince: will he be cōtent with thee, or accept thy person, sayth the Lorde of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that he may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will he regarde [k] your persons, sayth the Lorde of hostes?

10 Who is there euē among you, [l] that would shut ſ doores, & kindle not [fire] on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayth the Lord of hosts, neither will I accept an offring at your hād.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto ſ going downe of the same, my name is [m] great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offred vnto my Name, & a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that yee say, The table of the Lord is [n] polluted, and the fruite thereof, [euen] his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, [it is] a [o] wearines, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hosts, and ye offred that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offred an offring: shoulde I accept this of your hande, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lorde a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lorde of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

CHAP. II.

The threatnings against the Priests being seuuers of the people.

AND nowe, O ye [a] Priestes, this cōmandemēt is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glorie [b] vnto my Name, saith the Lorde of hostes, I wil euen send a curse vpon you, & will curse your [c] blessings: yea, I haue cursed thē alreadie, because ye doe not consider it in [your] heart.

3 Behold, I wil corrupt [d] your seede, and cast dongue vpon your faces, [euen] the [e] dongue of your solemne feasts, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And ye shall knowe, that I haue [f] sent this commandement vnto you, ſ my couenant, which I made wt Leui, might stande, saith the Lorde of hostes.

5 My [g] couenant was with him of life and peace, and I [h] gaue him feare, and he feared me, and was afrayde before [i] my Name.

6 The Lawe of [k] trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie foūd in his lippes: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests [l] lippes should preserue knowledge, and they should seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for he is the [m] messenger of the Lorde of hostes.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: ye haue broken the couenant of Leui, saith the Lorde of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I allo made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one [n] father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we trāgresse euery one against his brother, a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.

b To serue me according to my worde.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

d Your seede sowen shall come to no profit.

e You boast of your holines, sacrifices, and feastes, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as dongue.

f The Priests obiected against the prophet that he coulde not reproue them, but he must speake against the priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth that the office is nothing slandered, when these vilaines and dongue are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leuiton Gods part, that he would giue them long life and p That is, hath ability to serue the Lord according to his worde, and yet will serue him according to his couetous minde.

q That is, the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lorde.

r The Priests were bound to teach the people, & to shew them their duetie.

s Because they were not faithfull in their office.

t Which God will not suffer.

u Because they were not faithfull in their office.

x Which God will not suffer.

y Because they were not faithfull in their office.

z Which God will not suffer.

a Because they were not faithfull in their office.

b Which God will not suffer.

c Because they were not faithfull in their office.

d Which God will not suffer.

e Because they were not faithfull in their office.

f Which God will not suffer.

g Because they were not faithfull in their office.

h Which God will not suffer.

i Because they were not faithfull in their office.

k Which God will not suffer.

l Because they were not faithfull in their office.

m Which God will not suffer.

n Because they were not faithfull in their office.

o Which God will not suffer.

p Because they were not faithfull in their office.

q Which God will not suffer.

r Because they were not faithfull in their office.

s Which God will not suffer.

t Because they were not faithfull in their office.

u Which God will not suffer.

x Because they were not faithfull in their office.

y Which God will not suffer.

z Because they were not faithfull in their office.

a Which God will not suffer.

b Because they were not faithfull in their office.

c Which God will not suffer.

d Because they were not faithfull in their office.

e Which God will not suffer.

f Because they were not faithfull in their office.

g Which God will not suffer.

h Because they were not faithfull in their office.

i Which God will not suffer.

k Because they were not faithfull in their office.

l Which God will not suffer.

m Because they were not faithfull in their office.

n Which God will not suffer.

o Because they were not faithfull in their office.

p Which God will not suffer.

q Because they were not faithfull in their office.

r Which God will not suffer and breake the couenāt of o our fathers:

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel & in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which he loued, and hath married the p daughter of a strange god.
12 The Lord wil cut off the man that doeth this: [both] the master & the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that q offereth an offring vnto the Lord of hostes.
13 And this haue ye done againe, and r couered the altar of the Lorde with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offring is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your handes.
14 Yet ye say, s wherein? Because t the Lord hath bene witnesse betwene thee and t wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy u companion, and the wife of thy u couenant.
15 And did not he make one? yet had he x abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly z seede: therefore keepe your selues in your a spirite, and let none trespace against t wife of his youth.
16 If thou hatest [her,] b put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth c the iniurie vnder his garment, saieth the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.
17 Ye haue d wearied the Lord with your wordes: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When yee say, euery one that e doth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delliteth in them. Or where is the God of f iudgement?

o Whereby they had vowed themselues to God to be an holy people.
p They haue ioyned themselues in mariage with the that are of another religion.
q That is, the Priests.
r Be cause the people to lament, because that God doth not regarde their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.
s This is another fault, wher of he accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of mariage.
t As the one half of thy self.
u Shee that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, & by the inuocation of Gods name.
x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?
y By his power and vertue he could haue made many women for one man.
z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate mariage wherein is no excesse of luttes.
a Conteine your selues within your bounds, and be sober in minde, and bridle your affections.
b Not that he doth allowe diuorcement, but of the two faultes he sheweth, which is the lesse.
c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit he take others, and so as it were coureth his fault.
d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you as soone as ye called.
e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him.
f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, & of Christs office.

BEholde, I will send my messenger, and hee shall prepare the way before mee: and the b Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the c messenger of the couenāt whom ye desire: beholde, hee shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expoundeth it, Luke. 7.27.
b Meaning Messiah, as Psal.40.17. Dan.9.17,25.
c That is, Christ by whom the couenant was made and ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant, because he receiueth vs to his father: and is Lord or king, because he hath the gouernment of his Church.

2 But who d may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.
3 And he shall sit downe to trie & fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of e Leui, and purifie them as gold and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnes.
4 Then shal the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem bee acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeeres afore.
5 And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I wil be a swift witnes against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrōgfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, [and vexe] the widow, and the fatheries, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not mee, saith the Lord of hostes.
6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob f are not consumed.
7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away frō mine ordinances, and haue not kept [them:] g returne vnto me, and I wil returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye said, wherin shall we returne?
8 Will a h man spoyle [his] gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, wherein haue we spoyled thee? In i tithes, and offrings.
9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for yee haue spoyled me, euen this whole natiō.
10 Bring ye all þ tithes into the storehouse that there may bee meate in mine house, and proue mee nowe herewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing k without measure.
11 And I will rebuke the l deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroye the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine be baren in the field, saith the Lord of hostes.
12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shalbe a pleasant lande, saith the Lord of hostes.
13 Your wordes haue bene stoute m against mee, saith the Lorde: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?
14 Ye haue saide, [It is] in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that d He sheweth that the hypocrites which were so much for the Lordes comming, will not abide when he draweth neere: for he will consume them, & purge his and make them cleane.

e He beginneth at the Priests that they might be lightes and shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, & sheweth that in that they are not daily consumed, it is a token, that he doth still defend them: and so his mercy toward them neuer chaseth.
g Read Zechariah.1.3.
h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that will defraude their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.
i Whereby the seruice of God should be maintened, and the Priestes, & the poore relieued.
k Not hauing respect howe much ye neede, but I wil giue you in al abundance: so that ye shall lacke place to put my blessings in.
l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruites.
m The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemy against God: first in that they said that God had no respect to them that serueth him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.

We

we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before ỹ Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore wee count the proude blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, & they that tempt God, yea, they are [n] deliuered.

16 [o] Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a [p] booke of remembrãce was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall be to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day [q] that I shal do [this,] for a flocke, and I will [r] spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, & him that serueth him not.

n They are not onely preserued to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.

o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were liuely touched, & encouraged others to feare God.

p Both because the thing was strange, that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to al penitent sinners.

q When I shall restore my Church according to my promes, they shall be as mine owne proper goodes.

r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lord, before the which Eliah should come.

[a] For behold, the day commeth that shall burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, saith ỹ Lorde of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branche.

2 But vnto you ỹ feare my Name, shall the [b] sunne of righteousnes arise, & health [shalbe] vnder his wings, and ye shall [c] go forth, & growe vp as fat calues.

3 And ye shall treade downe the wicked: for they shalbe dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe [this,] saith the Lord of hostes.

4 [d] Remember the Lawe of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements.

5 Behold, I will sende you [e] Eliah the Prophet before the comming of the great and [f] fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And he shal [g] turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come [h] and smite the earth with curling.

a He propheciety of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restauration of his Church.

b Meaning Christ, who with his wings & beames of his grace shold lighten and comfort his Church, Ephe. 5. 14. & he is called the sunne of righteousnes, because in himselfe he hath al perfection, & also the iustice of the father dwelleth in him whereby he regenerateth vs into righteousnes, cleanseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to ỹ image of God.

c Ye shall be set at libertie and increase in the ioye of the Spirit, 2. Corinth. 3. 17.

d Because the time was come ỹ the Iewes should be destitute of Prophets vntil the time of Christ, because they should with more feruẽt myndes desire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in studying the Lawe of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion and also be armed against all tentations.

e This Christ expounded of Iohn Baptist, Matth. 11. 13, 14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Eliah.

f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doth it waken the godly and call them to repentance.

g He sheweth wherein Johns office should stand, in the turning of men to God and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted to Christ, and the sonne shall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob.

h The second poynt of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

THE ENDE OF THE PROPHETS.

The bookes called

Apocrypha, conteining these that follow.

1. Eſdras.	Baruch with the epiſtle of
2. Eſdras.	Ieremiah.
Tobit.	The ſong of the three childrē
Iudeth.	The ſtorie of Suſanna.
The reſt of Eſther.	The idole Bel & the dragon.
Wiſdome.	1. Maccabees.
Eccleſiaſticus.	2. Maccabees.

Anno. 1583.

The Argvment.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the Newe testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to bee read and expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any poynt of Christian religion, saue in asmuch as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to bee read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnes that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

i. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

1 Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the passeouer. 7 Offrings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appointed King. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

2.King.23. 21.2.chro. 35.1.

ANd Iosias kept the *passeouer to his Lorde in Ierusalem, and offered the passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lorde, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the house, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had built,

4 And sayde, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lorde your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the Maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stande in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were [appointed] before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the passeouer, and make readie the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passeouer after the Lordes commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousande lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the Kinges possessions according to the promes, to the people, and to the Priestes, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and ‖ Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priestes for the Passeouer two thousand fiue hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues.

‖Or, Iehiel.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and ‖ Sabias, and ‖ Chielus, and ‖ Iozam captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer fiue thousande sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues.

‖Or, Hasabias. ‖Or, Iehiel. ‖Or, Chorabe.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stoode in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes,

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lorde, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus [they did] in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire as *apperteyned, and they sodde their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pottes, Exod.12.8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offred the fat vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make readie for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, [to wit,] Asaph, and Azarias, & ‖ Eddinus, which was of the Kings appointment.

‖Or, Ieduthun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, [so that] it was not lawfull, that any shoulde passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethren the Leuites made readie for them.

17 And in that day those things which apperteyned to the sacrifice of the Lorde, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that tyme, kept the Passeouer and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Leuites, & the Iewes, and all Israel, which were founde to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eightenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before his Lorde with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, [to wit,] of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, aboue euery nation and kingdome, and grieued him with sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stoode vp against Israel.

Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.

25 ¶ Nowe after all these actes of Iosias, it came to passe that Whē Pharao king of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

2.Chro.35. 20.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lorde hasteneth mee forward: depart from mee, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the words of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lorde.

29 But he set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megeddo, and the Princes came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the King saide to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So hee gate vp on his seconde chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, and was buryed in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewayled, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeyned in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glorie, and his knowledge in the Lawe of the Lorde, and the things which he did before, and the things now [rehersed] are registred in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, & made him King in steade of his father Iosias, when he was three and twentie yeere olde.

2.King.23. 30.2.chro. 36.1.

35 And hee reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the King of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 Hee tared also the people of an hundreth talents of siluer, and one talent of golde.

37 And the King of Egypt made Ioacim his brother King of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And hee bound Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zarates his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fiue yeere olde was Ioacim, when hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lorde.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasse, lead him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, & set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Ioacim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, hee was eighteene yeere olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias King of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yeere olde, and hee reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lorde, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

Iere.38.21.

48 For after that he was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, hee forsware himselfe by the Name of the Lorde and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lorde God of Israel.

49 Also

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things agaynst the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lorde, which was sanctified in Jerusalem.

50 Neuertheleſſe the God of their fathers sent his messengers to cal them backe, because hee spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake [vnto them,] they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that hee, being moued to anger agaynst his people for their great wickednes, commanded the Kings of the Chaldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor maiden, neither old man, nor child among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, & brake downe the walles of Jerusalem, and burnt their towers with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things therof, and brought them to naught, and those that were left by the sworde, he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias, Jer.25.11. & 29.10.

58 And that the lande might inioy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seuentie yeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

2.Chro.36. 22.Ezr.1.1.

NOw* the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus King of the Persians, to fulfill the worde of the Lorde by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and hee made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus sayeth Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made mee King ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, & let him go vp to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and builde the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold & siluer,

7 With giftes, with horses and cattell, & other things, which shalbe brought according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

8 Then arose the cheefe of the families of Judea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lord had moued to goe vp, and buylde an house to the Lord in Jerusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also King Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were giuen to ‖ Abalsar the gouernour of Judea.

‖Or, Shasbazer, or Sanabassar.

13 Wherof this was the number: a thousand golden cuppes, and a thousand siluer cuppes, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twentie violes, of golde thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they caried away, were fiue thousand, foure hundreth, three score and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanaballar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 Then* in the time of Artaxerres king of the Persians ‖ Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖ Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Judea and Jerusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD, Ezra.4.6.

‖Or, Bisthemus.

‖Or, Shimsai.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, & Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it nowe therefore knowen to our lord the King, that the Jewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and buyld the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles bee finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist Kings.

20 And because the things, perteining to the Temple, go forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the King, that if it be thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the Writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwaies rebel, and did trouble both Kings and cities,

23 And that the Jewes are rebellious, raysing alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, we declare it, that if this citie bee built and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Samellius the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were ioined with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that followe.

26 I haue read the epistle, which ye sent to mee: therefore I commaunded, that it should bee sought out, and it was founde, that this citie hath alwaies practised against kings,

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and howe that mightie Kinges and fierce haue reigned in Jerusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the city, & that it be taken heede that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the King, go not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerres had written, they moued their tents with speede to Jerusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Jerusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius King of the Perſians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOw when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiectes and to al those of his own house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to al the gouernours & captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and dronke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the garde, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, [and] he that shal ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the King shal giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of gold, & head tyre of fine linen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shall sit next to Darius for his wisedome, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence & sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius,

9 And saide, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King & the three Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The Wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, & the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the counsell, & the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of Wine,

18 And saide on this maner, O ye men, howe strong is Wyne! it deceiueth all men that that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euerye thought into ioy and gladnes, so that one remembreth no maner of sorowe, nor det.

21 It maketh euery heart riche, so that one remembreth neither King nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all thinges by ‖talents. ‖Or, pounds

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friendes or brethren, and a litle after they drawe out swords.

23 But when they are from the Wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not Wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such thinges? and hee helde his peace when hee had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of truth, which sentence is approued. 47 And his petition graunted.

Then the second which had spoke of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by lande & by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the King is yet greater: for hee ruleth all things, and is Lord of them, so that they doe all thinges which he commandeth them.

4 If hee bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he sende them out against the enemies, they go and breake downe mountaines and walles & towers.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the King: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, as well the spoyles as all other things,

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battel, but til the earth: [for] when they haue sowen it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the King, and compell one another to pay tribute to the King.

7 Yet he is [but] one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 [If] he bid, Smite, they smite: [if] he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: [if] he bid, Build, they build.

9 [If] he bid, Cut off, they cut off: [if] he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh & sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him rounde about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne busines, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, howe should not the King be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed? So he held his tongue.

13 Then the third which had spoken of Women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake.

14 O ye men, neither the mightie King, nor many men nor Wine is strongest: Who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them: are they not Women?

15 Women haue borne the King and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, & they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honorable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all those things and giue them selues wholy vnto her, and gape, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, & his owne countrey, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he leopardeth his life, & neither remembreth father nor mother nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to sayle vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And hee seeth a lion & goeth in darkenes, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his own wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne madde for Women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for Women.

28 Now therefore do you not beleue me: is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 [Yet] I sawe him and Apame, the Kinges concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And she tooke the crowne off the kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the king with her left hand.

31 Vpon the meane season the king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: & if shee were angrie with him, he did flatter her that he might bee reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the trueth.

34 O yee men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauē is hie, and the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth rounde about heauen in one daye, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, & the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble: neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine [is] wicked, the king [is] wicked, women [are] wicked, & all the children of men are wicked, and al their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but she doth the things which are iust, and absteineth from vniust [and] wicked thinges, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength & the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of al ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and the all the people cryed and saide, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King sayd vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art founde the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he said to the king, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to build Jerusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to send againe al the vessels that were taken out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vow to cut of Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to buylde the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt whē Judea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And nowe, O lorde the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewardes and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way [both] him, and all that were with him, which went vp to builde Jerusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenice, and to thē that were in Libanus, that they should bring ceder wood from Libanus to Jerusalem, and builde the citie with him.

49 And he wrote for al ꝑ Jewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Judea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor stewarde should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Jewes which they helde,

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offrings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a cōmandement to offer seuenteene) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to builde the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges and the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Jerusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all ꝑ vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and what so euer Cyrus had commanded to do, he also commanded to doe it, and to send to Jerusalem.

58 And when the ‖ yong man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Jerusalem, and gaue thankes to the King of heauen, ‖ Or, Iuuenis.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of

of thee is wiſedome, and of thee is glorie, & I [am] thy ſeruant.

60 Bleſſed be thou which haſt giuen me wiſedome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of [our] fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters and went out and came to Babylon, and telled all his brethren.

62 And they bleſſed the God of their fathers, becauſe he had giuen them freedome and libertie

63 To go vp and to buyld Jeruſalem, & the Temple, where his Name is renowmed, and they reioyced with inſtruments of muſicke and ioy, ſeuen dayes.

CHAP. V.

1 The number of them that returne from the captiuitie. 43 Their bowes and ſacrifices. 54 The Temple is begun to be buyld. 66 Their enemies would craftily ioyne with them.

Ezra.1.1. AFter* theſe things, the chiefe of the houſes of their fathers were choſen after their tribes, and their Wiues, and their ſonnes, and their daughters, and their ſeruantes, and their maides, and their cattell.

2 And Darius ſent With thē a thouſand horſemen, till they were reſtored to Jeruſalem in ſafetie, and With muſicall [inſtruments,] with tabrets and flutes.

3 And all their brethren played: thus hee cauſed them to goe vp together With them.

4 ¶ And theſe are the names of the men that went vp after their families, by their tribes, [and] after the order of their dignitie.

5 The Prieſts. The ſonnes of Phinees, the ſonne of Aaron, Jeſus [ſonne] of Joſedec, [ſonne] of Saraias, and Joacim the [ſonne] of Zorobabel, the [ſonne] of Salathiel of the houſe of Dauid, of the kinred of Phares, of the tribe of Juda.

6 ‖ Who ſpake Wiſe Words to Darius the king of the Perſians in the ſecond yeere of his reigne, in the moneth Niſan, Which is the firſt moneth. for. Zoro-babel.

7 ¶ And theſe are they of Judea, Which came out of the captiuitie, Where they dWelt, Whome Nabuchodonoſor King of Babylon had caried away into Babylon,

8 And returned vnto Jeruſalem and to the reſt of Judea, euery one into his owne citie: Which came With Zorobabel, and Jeſus, Nehemias, ‖ Zacharias, Reeſaias, Enenius, Mardocheus, Beelſarus, Alpharaſus, Reelius, Roimus [and] Baana their guides. for. Zacar.

9 The number of them of the nation and their gouernours: the ſonnes of Phares two thouſand an hundreth ſeuentie & two, the ſonnes of Saphat foure hundreth, ſeuentie and two.

10 The ſonnes of ‖ Ares ſeuen hundreth, fiftie and ſix. for. Arah.

11 The ſonnes of Phaath Moab, two thouſand, eight hundreth and twelue.

12 The ſonnes of Elam, a thouſand, two hundreth, fiftie and foure: the ſonnes of Zathui nine hundreth fourtie and fiue: the ſonnes of Cozbe ſeuen hundreth and fiue: the ſonnes of Bani ſix hundreth, fourtie and eight.

13 The ſonnes of ‖ Bibe ſix hundreth, twentie and three: the ſonnes of ‖ Sadas three thouſande, two hundreth, twentie and two. for. Bibai. for. Azgad.

14 The ſonnes of Adonikan, ſix hundreth, ſixtie & ſeuen: the ſonnes of Bagoi, two thouſand, ſixtie and ſix: the ſonnes of Adinu, foure hundreth, fiftie and foure.

15 The ſonnes of ‖ Ateriias, nineтie and two: the ſonnes of Ceilan and Azotus, ſixtie and ſeuen: the ſonnes of Azucan foure hundreth, thirtie and two. for. Aterezecia.

16 ‖ The ſonnes of Ananias, an hundreth and one: the ſonnes of Arom, and the ſonnes of Baſſa, three hundreth, twentie & three: the ſonnes of Arſiphurith, an hundreth and two. Or, The ſonnes of Ananias an hundreth, the ſonnes of Arom one, the ſonnes of Baſſa three hundreth, twentie & three 17 The ſonnes of Meterus, three thouſand and fiue: the ſonnes of ‖ Bethlomon, an hundreth, twentie and three. for. Bethlehem.

18 They of ‖ Netophas, fiftie and fiue: they of ‖ Anaboth, an hundreth, fiftie & eight: they of Bethſamos, fourtie and two. for. Netophati. for. Anathoth.

19 They of ‖ Cariathiarius, twentie and fiue: they of Caphiras and Beroth, ſeuen hundreth, fourtie and three: they of ‖ Piras, ſeuen hundreth. for. Kiriath-iarim. for. Pirah.

20 They of Chadias and Ammidioi, fiue hundreth, twentie and two: they of ‖ Cerama and Gaddes, ſix hundreth, twentie and one. for. Arama.

21 They of ‖ Macalon, an hundreth twentie and two: they of ‖ Betolius, fiftie & two: the ſonnes of ‖ Nephis, an hundreth, fiftie and ſix. for. Macalon. for. Bethel. for. Nebus.

22 The ſonnes of Calamolalus and Onus ſeuen hundreth, twentie and fiue: the ſonnes of Jerechus, three hundreth, fourtie and fiue.

23 The ſonnes of ‖ Annaas, three thouſand, three hundreth and thirtie. for. Senaah

24 The Prieſts, the ſonnes of Jeddu, the ſonne of Jeſus, [which are counted] among ỹ ſonnes of Sanaſſib, nine hundreth, ſeuentie ſeuentie and two: the ſonnes of Peruth, a thouſand fiftie and two.

25 The ſonnes of ‖ Phallaron, a thouſand, fourtie & ſeuen: the ſonnes of ‖ Carme, a thouſand, and ſeuentene.

26 ¶ The Leuites. The ſonnes of Jeſſue, Cadmuel, Bannu and Suiu, ſeuentie & foure.

27 ¶ The ſonnes [which were] holy ſingers. The ſonnes of Aſaph, an hundzeth, fourtie and eight.

28 ¶ The pozters. The ſonnes of Salum, the ſonnes of Jatal, ỹ ſonnes of ‖ Tolman, the ſonnes of Dacobi, the ſonnes of Teta, the ſonnes of Sami: all [were] an hundzeth, thirtie and nine.

29 The miniſters of the Temple. The ſonnes of Elau, the ſonnes of Aſpha, The ſonnes of Tabaoth, the ſonnes of ‖ Ceras, the ſonnes of ‖ Sud, the ſonnes of Phaleu, the ſonnes of Labana, the ſonnes of ‖ Agraba, 30 The ſonnes of ‖ Acrua, the ſonnes of ‖ Outa, the ſonnes of Cetab, the ſonnes of ‖ Agaba, the ſonnes of ‖ Subai, the ſonnes of Anan, the ſonnes of Cathua, the ſonnes of ‖ Geddur.

31 The ſonnes of ‖ Airus, the ſonnes of Daiſan, the ſonnes of ‖ Noeba, the ſonnes of Chaſeba, the ſonnes of ‖ Gazera, the ſonnes of Azias, the ſonnes of Phinees, the ſonnes of Aſara, the ſonnes of ‖ Baſthai, the ſonnes of Aſana, the ſonnes of ‖ Meani, the ſonnes of Naphiſi, the ſonnes of ‖ Acub, the ſonnes of ‖ Acipha, ỹ ſonnes of Aſur, the ſonnes of Pharacim, ỹ ſonnes of ‖ Baſaloth.

32 The ſonnes of ‖ Meeda, the ſonnes of Coutha, the ſonnes of ‖ Corea, the ſonnes of Charcus, the ſonnes of Aſerar, the ſonnes of ‖ Thomoi, the ſonnes of ‖ Naſith, the ſonnes of Atiphа.

33 The ſonnes of the ſeruants of Salomon. The ſonnes of ‖ Aſaphion, the ſonnes of ‖ Pharira, the ſonnes of ‖ Jeeli, the ſonnes of Lozon, the ſonnes of Jldael, the ſonnes of ‖ Sapheth.

34 The ſonnes of Agia, the ſonnes of ‖ Phachtzeth, the ſonnes of ‖ Sabie, the ſonnes of ‖ Sarothie, the ſonnes of Maſias, the ſonnes of Gar, the ſonnes of ‖ Addus, the ſonnes of ‖ Subas, the ſonnes of Apherra, the ſonnes of Barodis, the ſonnes of Sabat, the ſonnes of Allom.

35 All the miniſters of the Temple, and the ſonnes of the ſeruantes of Salomon, [were] three hundzeth, ſeuentie and two.

36 Theſe came vp from ‖ Thermeleth and Thelerſas: Caraathalat and Aalar leading them.

37 Neither could they ſhew their families nor their ſtocke howe they were of Jſrael, the ſonnes of ‖ Ladan ỹ ſonne of ‖ Ban, the ſonnes of ‖ Necodan, ſix hundzeth fiftie and two.

38 And of the Prieſts thoſe which exercſed the office of Prieſts, and were not found, the ſonnes of ‖ Oddia, the ſonnes of ‖ Accos, the ſonnes of Addus, *which had taken for wife Augia, [one] of the daughters of ‖ Berzelaus, 39 And was called after his name: and when the deſcription of the kinred of theſe men had bene ſought in the regiſter, and could not be founde, they were ſet apart frō the office of Prieſts.

40 For ‖ Neemias and Attharias ſaide to them, that they ſhould not be partakers of the holy things, till there arole an high Prieſt clothed with doctrine and trueth.

41 So all they of Jſrael from them of twelue yeere olde and litle children, were ‖ fourtie thouſand beſides men ſeruants and women ſeruants, two thouſand, three hundzeth and ſirtie.

42 Their ſeruantes and handmaides [were] ſeuen thouſand, three hundzeth, fourtie and ſeuen: the ſinging men and women, two hundzeth, fourtie and fiue:

43 Camels, foure hundzeth, thirtie and fiue: and hozſes, ſeuen hundzeth, thirtie and ſire: mules, two hundzeth, fourtie and fiue: ‖ beaſtes that bare the yoke, fiue thouſande, fiue hundzeth, twentie and fiue.

44 And [there were] of the gouernours after their families, [which] whē they were come to the Temple in Jeruſalem, bowed to builde the houſe in his owne place accozding to their power, 45 And to giue to the treaſure of the wozkes, ‖ a thouſand pound in golde, & fiue thouſand pound in ſilner, and an hundzeth prieſtly garmentes.

46 And the Prieſts and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Jeruſalem and in the countrey, and the holy ſingers and the pozters and all Jſrael in their ‖ billages.

47 ¶ But *When the ſeuenth moneth was nere, and when the children of Jſrael were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accozde into the open place of the firſt gate, which is toward the Eaſt.

48 Then Jeſus the ſonne of Joſedec and his brethren the Prieſts, with Zozobabel the ſonne of Salathiel and his brethren, riſing vp, made ready the altar of the

Or, Phaflour.
Or, Cheri v
Or, Talmon
Or, Ceroi.
Or, Suia.
Or, Hagaba
Or, Acub.
Or, Pra.
Or, Agab.
Or, Sibe.
Or, Celer.
Or, Raia.
Or, Nerода Or, Gazeme.
Or, Baſte.
Or, Menime.
Or, Naphiſon.
Or, Bacabuh.
Or, Acupha
Or, Aſſur.
Or, Baraloth.
Or, Athida
Or, Charcſeas.
Or, Barcui.
Or, Thomoth.
Or, Naſi.
Or, Hazophereth.
Or, Phiarida.
Or, Iezlah.
Or, Stephetia.
Or, Phacereth.
Or, Sabin.
Or, Sparie Or, Addu.
Or, Subah.
Or, Thermuth, and Thelherſa Caraathalar and Alar.
Or, Dalaie Or, Tubia.
Or, Necoda
Or, Ebdia.
Or, Haccz
Ezra 2. 62.
Or, Barzelaie.
Or, Nehemias and Athirias.
Or, ſeuentie & two thouſand, three hundzeth and ſirtie.
Or, aſſes.
Or, of golde 1000. thouſand pound, and of ſilner 5000. &c.
Or, ſynerers
Ezra 3. 1.

the God of Jſrael,

49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyſes the man of God.

50 Whyther alſo there were gathered againſt them of all nations of the lande: but they dreſſed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the lande were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered ſacrifices according to the ſeaſon, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

Leuit.23. 34. 51 They kept alſo the feaſt of tabernacles, as it is* ordeined in the Lawe, and offered ſacrifices euery day, as was requiſite, 52 And after warde, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths and of the newe moneths and of all holy feaſts.

Ezra.3.6. 53 And all* they which had made any vowe to God, beganne to offer ſacrifice vnto God in the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue alſo money to the maſons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnes, 55 And charets to the Sidonians and to thoſe of Tyrus to bring Ceder wood out of Libanus, which ſhould be brought by flots to the hauen of Joppe according to the commandemẽt giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Perſia.

56 And in the ſeconde yeere and ſeconde moneth came into the Temple of God in Jeruſalem, Zorobabel the ſonne of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſonne of Joſedec, and their brethren, and the Prieſts and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Jeruſalem, Eccluſ.49. 12. 57 And* layed the foundation of ẏ houſe of God in the firſt day of the ſecond moneth of the ſecond yeere after their returne into Judea and Jeruſalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere olde ouer the Woorkes of the Lord, and Jeſus and his ſonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the ſonnes of Hadiadon with the ſonnes of Joda, the ſonne of Heliadun, with their ſonnes, and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the Lord to the worke of the houſe of God: thus the Workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Prieſts ſtoode clothed with their long garmentes with muſicall inſtruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the ſonnes of Aſaph with cymbales, 60 Singing and bleſſing the Lorde, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Jſrael.

61 And they ſung with loud voyce ſongs to the praiſe of the Lord, becauſe his mercie and glorie is for euer in all Jſrael.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loude voyce, prayſing the Lorde for the raiſing vp of the houſe of the Lord.

63 Alſo ſome of the Prieſts and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had ſeene the former houſe,

64 Came to ſee the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets and ioy cryed with loude voyce,

65 So that the people coulde not heare the trumpets, becauſe of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blewe trumpets, ſo that they were heard farre of.

66 Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Juda and Beniamin heard it, they came to knowe what noyſe of trumpets it was,

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Jſrael.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jeſus, and the chiefe of the families, ſaid vnto thẽ, Let vs build alſo wt you.

69 For we obey your Lorde, as you doe, and ſacrifice vnto him ſince the dayes of Aſbaſareth king of Aſſyrias, which brought vs hither.

Or, Aſaraeddon. Aſarhaddon.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Jeſus, and ẏ chiefe of the families of Jſrael ſaid to them, It doth not appertaine to vs, and to you to builde an houſe to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will builde it to ẏ Lord God of Jſrael, as it becommeth vs, and as* Cyrus the king of the Perſians bade vs.

Ezra.4.3.4.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them ſluggiſh that were in Judea, & letted them to build the worke, & by their ambuſhments and ſeditions and conſpiracies hyndred the finiſhing of the building, 73 All the time of king Cyrus life: ſo that they were let from the building two yeere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Siſinnes would let them. 7 His Epiſtle to Darius. 23 The kings anſwere to the contrarie.

BUt* in the ſeconde yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the ſonne of Addo the Prophetes prophecied to the Jewes, euẽ vnto them that were in Judea & Jeruſalem, in the name of the Ezra.5.1. nehe.1.

of the Lord God of Iſrael, which they [called] ‡vpon.

‡Gre. vpon them.

2 Then Zorobabel ſonne of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſonne of Joſedec ſtoode vp, and began to build the houſe of the Lorde, which is in Jeruſalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, [and] helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Siſinnes the gouernour of Syria, and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And ſaid vnto them, By whoſe commandement build you this houſe and this building, ‡ enterpriſe all theſe other things: and who are the builders that enterpriſe ſuch things:

5 But the Ancients of the Jewes had grace of the Lord after that hee had viſited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to builde, vntill it was ſignified vnto Darius of theſe matters, and an anſwere was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epiſtle, which hee did write and ſende to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, preſidentes in Syria and Phenice, ſalute King Darius.

8 It may pleaſe the King our maſter plainely to vnderſtand, that when We came to the countrey of Judea, and entred into ỹ citie of Jeruſalem, We founde in the citie of Jeruſalem the Ancients of the Jewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an houſe to the Lorde, great and new, of hewen ſtones, ‡ of great price, and the timber all ready layde vpon the walles.

10 And theſe workes are done with great ſpeede, yea, and the worke hath good ſucceſſe in their hands, ſo that it will be finiſhed with all glorie and diligence.

11 Then We aſked their Anciẽts, ſaying, By whoſe commandement build you this houſe, and lay the foundation of theſe workes:

12 We aſked them theſe things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore We demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they anſwered, ſaying, Wee are the ſeruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

1.King.6.2. 14 And *this houſe was built vp many yeres ago by a king of Iſrael great ‡ ſtrõg, and was finiſhed.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking [God] to wrath, ſinned againſt the Lord of Iſrael, [which is] in heauen, *hee deliuered them into the handes of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 1.King.24.1.

16 [who] brake downe the houſe [and] burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this houſe ſhoulde bee built vp.

18 And the holy veſſels of golde and of ſiluer, which Nabuchodonoſor had caried out of the houſe at Jeruſalem, and had dedicated them in his owne temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to ‖ Sanaballarus ruler. ‖Or, Shaſſabarzer.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he ſhould cary away thoſe veſſels, and put them in the Temple at Jeruſalem, and that this Temple of the Lorde ſhould be built in this place.

20 Then the ſame Sanaballarus, being come hither, layed the foundations of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, and ſince that time till nowe, it is in building, [and] is not finiſhed.

21 Nowe therefore if it pleaſe the King, let it be ſought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be founde that the building of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem hath bene done by the conſent of king Cyrus, and if it ſeeme good to the lorde our King, let him make vs anſwere concerning theſe things.

23 Then King Darius commanded to ſearche in the kings libraries, that were in Babylon, ‡ there was founde in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where ſuch things were layed vp for memorie.

24 In the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commanded the houſe of the Lorde at Jeruſalem to bee builded, where they did ſacrifice with the continuall fyre.

25 Of the which the height [ſhould be] of threeſcore cubites, ỹ breadth of threeſcore cubites with three rowes of hewen ſtones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrie, and that the coſtes ſhould be payed out of the houſe of king Cyrus.

26 And that the holy veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, aſwell thoſe of golde as of ſiluer, which Nabuchodonoſor had caried out of the houſe in Jeruſalem, and brought into Babylon, ſhould bee reſtored to the houſe, which is in Jeruſalem, and ſet in the place where where they were [afore.]

27 Also hee commanded that Sisinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to refrayne from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lorde, and gouernour of Judea, and the Elders of the Iewes to builde that House of the Lorde in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp agayne, and that they bee diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lorde bee finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yere without fayle, as the Priests, which are in Jerusalem shal testifie to be spent euery day, 31 That offrings may be made to ℘ high God for the king, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore hee commaunded that whosoeuer should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should bee taken out of his possession, and he be hanged theron, and that his goods should be the Kings.

33 And therefore let ℘ Lord whose name is there called vpon, destroy euery king and nation, which stretcheth out his hande to hinder or doe euill to that house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.

Ezra. 6.12. 34 * I Darius the King haue ordeyned that it should bee diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinnes and his companions followe the kings commandement, and helpe the Iewes to builde the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passeouer.

Ezra. 6.13. THen Sisinnes the *gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathabouzanes, and their companions, obeying king Darius commandements, 2 Assisted diligently the holy workes, working with the Ancientes & gouernours of the Sanctuarie.

3 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophetes which prophecied.

4 So they finished all thinges by the commandement of the Lorde God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerres Kinges of the Persians.

5 Thus the holie house was finished in the three and twentieth daye of the moneth Adar in the sixt yere of Darius King of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuity, [and] had any charge, did according to the thinges [written] in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offred for the dedication of the Temple of the Lorde, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambes,

8 [And] twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chief of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests, and the Leuites stood according to their kindreds clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth [day] of the first moneth, after that the Priests & Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselues.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eat, [euen] all they that had separated them selues from the abominations of the people of the lande, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lorde, 15 Because he had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towarde them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdras commeth from Babylon to Jerusalem. 10 The copie of the commission, giuen by Artaxerres. 29 Esdras giueth thankes to the Lord. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

AND after these things when Artaxerres King of the Persians reigned, Esdras [the sonne] of ‖ Saraias, [the sonne] of Ezerias, [the sonne] of Helcias, [the sonne] of Salum, ‖ Or, Azarias.

2 [The sonne] of Sadoc, [the sonne] of Achitob, [the sonne of Amarias, [the sonne] of ‖ Ezias, [the sonne of ‖ Memeroth, [the ‖ Or, Meraioth.

sonne] of ‖ Zaraias, [the sonne] of Sauias, [the sonne] of Boccas, [the sonne] of Abiſum, [the sonne] of Phinees, [the sonne] of Eleazar, [the sonne] of Aaron was the high Priest. ‖ Or, Sem. Or, Azi.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a scribe well taught in the law of Moyses, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also ꝑ king gaue him [great] honour, [and] he found grace in his sight in all his requestes.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, & of the ministers of the Temple vnto Jerusalem,

6 In the seuenth yeere of the reigne of Artaxerres, and in the fifth moneth: this was the seuenth yeere of the king (for they went out of Babylon in the fyrst day of the first moneth),

7 And came to Jerusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their iourney)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that hee wouldе let nothing passe that was in the Lawe of the Lord, and in the commandements, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by King Artaxerres was giuē Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the Lorde: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerres to Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Lawe of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priestes and Leuites, which are in our kingdome, shoulde goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as bee willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friendes the counsellers.

13 That they may visite the thinges that are in Judea and Jerusalem diligently, as it is conteined in the Lawe of the Lord.

14 And carie the giftes to the Lorde of Israel in Jerusalem, which I and my friendes haue vowed: also all the golde and siluer, which shall be found in the countrey of Babylon [appertayning] to the Lorde in Jerusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Jerusalem, aswel siluer as golde, for bulles, and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto perteining, 16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpō the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethrē will do with the gold or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And ꝑ holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Jerusalem.

19 And what other thinges soeuer thou shalt remēber for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerres haue commanded the treasurers of Syria (Phenice, that whatsoeuer Esdras, the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the Iest God, shall sende for, they shoulde giue it him with all speede, euen to [the summe of] an hundreth talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let al things be done to the Iest God according to ꝑ Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the king and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, ꝑ of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters or ministers of the Temple, or of the woorkemen of this Temple, no tribute nor tare be taken, nor that any haue power to tare them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisedome of God, ordeyne iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice al those which are wel instructed in the Law of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let al those which shal transgresse the Law of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the scribe saide, Blessed bee the onely Lorde God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Jerusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before ꝑ king, and the counsellers, and all his friends, and gouernours.

28 ¶* Therefore I was incouraged by the helpe of the Lorde my God, and gathered men of Israel to go vp with me. Ezra.8.1.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerres the King.

30 Of

30 Of the ſonnes of Phinees, Gerſom, of the ſonnes of Ithamar, Gamael, of the ſonnes of Daud, ‖ Lettus.

31 Of the ſonnes of Sechenias, of the ſonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundzeth and fiftie men.

‖or, Hattus.

32 Of the ſonnes of ‖ Salomon, Abeliacmias [the ſonne] of Zacharias, & with him two hundzeth men.

‖or, Pahath Moab, Eliaenai.

33 Of the ſonnes of Zathoe, Sechenias [the ſonne] of ‖ Jezolus, and with him three hundzeth men: of the ſonnes of Adin, ‖ Obeth [ſonne] of Jonathas, and with him two hundzeth and fiftie men.

‖or, Iezhiel.

‖or, Obed.

34 Of the ſonnes of Elam, ‖ Jelias [ſonne] of Gotholias, and with him ſeuentie men.

‖or, Iesaias.

35 Of the ſonnes of Saphatias, Zarias [ſonne] of ‖ Machael, and with him ſeuentie men.

‖or, Michael.

36 Of the ſonnes of Joab, ‖ Badias [ſonne] of Jezelus, and with him two hundzeth and twelue men.

‖or, Obadiah ſonne of Iechiel.

37 Of the ſonnes of ‖ Bamd, Aſſalimoth [ſonne] of Jolaphias, & with him an hundzeth and threeſcore men.

‖or, Banias Iſalmyth.

38 Of the ſonnes of Babi, Zacharias [ſonne] of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

39 Of the ſonnes of ‖ Aſtath, Johannes [ſonne] of Acatan, and with him an hundzeth and tenne.

‖or, Aſgad, Iohanan ſonne of Eccethan.

40 Of the ſonnes of Adonicam the laſt: and theſe are the names of them, Eliphalat, ‖ Jeouel and ‖ Maias, and with them ſeuentie men: of the ſonnes of ‖ Bagouthi [ſonne] of Jlcacourus, and with him ſeuentie men.

‖or, Iebel. ‖or, Semeias ‖or, Begai, Vel ſonne of Iſtaeuri.

41 ¶ And J gathered them together to the flood called * Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbzed them.

Ezra. 8.15.

42 But when J had found there none of the Prieſts nor Leuites, 43 J ſent to Eleazar, and beholde, there came ‖ Maalman, and Anathan, and Samaian, and ‖ Jozibon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mololamon the chiefe, and beſt learned.

‖or, Maſma. Anathan. ‖or, Jarib, Elnathan, Zacharie, and Moſollam.

44 And J bade them to goe to Daddeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treaſurie, 45 with charge to bid Daddeus and his brethzē, and the treaſurers that were there, to ſend to vs them, which ſhould offer ſacrifice in the houſe of our Lozd.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hande of our Lozde learned men of the ſonnes of Moli, [the ſonne] of Leui, [the ſonne] of Jſrael, [to wit,] ‖ Cisebezan and his ſonnes, and his brethzen being eightеene.

‖or, Sirebia.

47 And Aſebia, and ‖ Annon, and Olaian his brethzen of the ſonnes of ‖ Canaaneus with their ſonnes, twentie perſons.

‖or, Anun, Iaſcat. ‖or, Cenaanien.

48 And of the miniſters of the Temple, which Daud gaue, and thole which were rulers ouer the wozke of the Leuites, [to wit,] miniſters of the Temple, two hundzeth and twentie, of whome all the names were regiſtred.

49 ¶ And *there J proclaimed a faſt foz the young men before the Lozde to aſke of him a good tourney both foz vs, and foz thē that were with vs, foz our children, and foz our cattell.

Ezra. 8.22.

50 Foz J was aſhamed to aſke the king footemen, oz horſemen, oz conduct foz ſafegarde againſt our enemies,

51 Becauſe wee had ſayde to the King, that the power of our Lozd ſhould be with them that ſought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefoze wee prayed our Lozde againe, accozding to theſe things, whome We found fauourable.

53 Then J choſe from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Prieſts, twelue men, [to wit,] ‖ Eſebzias and Aſſamas, and with them ten of their brethzen.

‖or, Serebias.

54 And J weighed them the ſiluer and the golde, and the holy veſſels of the houſe of our Lozd, which the King and his counſellers, and [his] Princes, and all Jſrael had giuen.

55 And J weighed them, fiue hundzeth and fiftie talents of ſiluer, and ſiluer veſſels of an hundzeth talents, and an hundzeth talents of golde, 56 And twentie golden baſins, & twelue veſſels of brazſe, of fine brazſe ſhining like golde.

57 And J ſaide to them, You are alſo holy to the Lozd, and the veſſels are holy, and the gold, and the ſiluer is a vow to the Lozd of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe [them,] till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Prieſtes, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Jſrael in Jeruſalē in the chambers of the houſe of our God.

59 So the Prieſtes and Leuites tooke the ſiluer and the golde, and the veſſels, and caried them to Jeruſalem to the Temple of the Lozd.

60 And wee departed frō the flood Thera, in the twelfth [day] of the firſt moneth, and came to Jeruſalem, accozding to the mightie power of our Lorde with vs: and the Lorde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Jerusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer ꝑ was weighed, & the golde was deliuered in the house of our Lord to ‖ Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri,

[Or, Marimoth the sonne of Iuri of Prie.

62 And with him to Eleazar the [sonne] of Phinees: and there were with them, Iozabad [the sonne] of Jesus, and ‖ Moeth [sonne] of Sabbanus, Leuites: all [was deliuered them] by number and weight.

[Or, Noadia, sonne of Banuus.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwardes those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lorde God of Israel, [euen] twelue bulles for all Israel, rams foure score and sixteene, 65 Lambes three score & twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commaundements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria & Phenice who honoured the people, & the Temple of God.

Ezra 9.1. 67 ¶ *When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated [from thē] the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, [to wit,] of the Cananites, & Chetites, and Pherezites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed with the strange people of the lande, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednes frō the beginning of the thing.

70 And assoone as I had heard these thinges, I rent my clothes, & the holy garment, and I pulled the heare of mine head, and of my beard, and sate me downe sorowfull, and very sadde.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the worde of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, & the holy garment, & bowed my knees and stretched forth [mine] hands to the Lord, Ezra 9.6. 73 And said, *O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euē from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers we with our brethren, with our kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword & to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now howe great hath thy mercie bene, O Lorde, that [there] should bee left vs a root, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in ꝑ house of the Lorde our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when wee were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour ꝑ Temple of our Lorde, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, & giue vs assurance in Judea and Jerusalem.

81 And nowe, O Lorde, what shall wee say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandementes, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 *Because the land, which ye go to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the lande, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, Deut.7.1.

83 Therefore nowe yee shall not ioyne [their] daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shal you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may bee made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked Workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lorde, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: [but] we againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy lawe, [and] to mixe [vs] with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote nor seede nor name?

88 [But,] O Lorde of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, [euen] vnto this day.

89 Behold, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we indure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And *as Esdras prayed and confessed Ezra.10.1.

sed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a verie great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of ‖Ieel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out sayde, O Esdras, wee haue sinned against the Lorde God: wee haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land. ‖ or, Iehiel.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therfore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, & to all them that obey the law of the Lord, rise vp [and] put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it apperteine, and We are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, [and] made al the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would do thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the lawe for the strange wiues, 10 They promise to put them away.

Ezra. 10.6. Then* Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, [and] went to the chamber of Ioannan [the sonne] of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, he did eate no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea & Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should bee gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which shoulde not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and he cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda & Beniamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth [day] of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and saide to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmēted the sinnes of Israel.

8 Now therfore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and said with a loude voyce, Wee will doe so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude [is] great, & the time is winter, so that we can not stande without, & the worke is not of one day nor two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, & all they which haue straunge wiues of our families, tarie:

13 And let the Priests and Iudges come out of all places at ỹ day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lorde against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Asaels [sonne,] and ‖Ezecias [sonne of] ‖Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and ‖Mololiam and Sabbateus did helpe them. ‖ or, Iehiezias. ‖ or, Thicua.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine mē, chief of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had married strāge wiues in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priests, which had married strange wiues, 19 Of the sonnes of Iesus, the [sonne] of Iosedec, and of [his] brethren, ‖Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Ioribus, and ‖Ionadan. ‖ or, Maaseias. ‖ or, Iedaiah.

20 Who also gaue their hands to cast out their wiues, and offered a ram for [their] reconciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the sonnes of Emmer, ‖Anamias, and Zabdeus, and Canes, and Samemus, and Iiereel, and Azarias. ‖ or, Anani, and Zabdeus.

22 And of the sonnes of ‖Phaisu, Ellionas, Massias, Ismaelus, and Nathanael, & ‖Ocidelus, and Talsas. ‖ or, Phashur, Eliohenai, Maasseias, Ismael. ‖ or, Obadiel, and Iasu.

23 And of the Leuites, ‖Iozabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called ‖Calitas, and Patheus, and Oudas, and Ionas. ‖ or, Iosabad, Semei. ‖ or, Calita, Pathias, Iohudas.

24 Of the holy singers, ‖Eliazurus, Bacchurus. ‖ or, Eliasib, & Bacbuc.

25 Of the porters, ‖Sallumus, and Tolbanes. ‖ or, Sallum.

26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phoxus, ‖Hiermas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maelus, and Eleazar, and Asibias, and ‖Banaias. ‖ or, Remaias. ‖ or, Banaiah.

27 Of the sonnes of ‖Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and ‖Hierielas, & ‖Hieremoth, and Aedias. ‖ or, Elam. ‖ or, Iehiel. ‖ or, Ieremoth, and Helias.

28 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Zamoth, Eliadas, Eliſimus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and ‖ Sabatus, and Sardeus.

29 Of the ſonnes of ‖ Bebai, Joannes, & Ananias, and ‖ Joſabad, and Ematheas.

30 Of the ſonnes of ‖ Nani, Olamus, Hamuchus, Jedaias, Jaſubus, Jaſael, and Jeremoth.

31 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Addi, Naathus, Moolias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and ‖ Seſchel, and Balnuus, and Manaſſeas.

32 And of the ſonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aleas, and Melchias, & Sabbeus, and Simon a Choſamite.

33 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Aſom, Altaneus, and ‖ Matthias, and Bannaias, Eliphalat, and Manaſſes, and Semei.

34 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Baani, Jeremias, Homdis, Omairus, Jnel, Mamai, and Paelias, and Amos, Carabaſion and Euaſibus, & Mammuatanaius, Eliſiaſis, Uamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the ſonnes of Ozoras, Selis, Eſril, Azailus, Samatas, Sambis, Joliphus.

35 And of the ſonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Jnel, Banaias.

36 All theſe maried ſtrange wiues, & put them away with their children.

37 And the Prieſts and the Leuites dwelt in Jeruſalem, and in the countrey, the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, and the children of Iſrael in their owne houſes.

38 ℭ* Then all the multitude aſſembled together with one conſent into the broade place before the gate of the Temple toward the Eaſt, Nehem. 8.1.

39 And ſpake to Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader, that hee ſhould bring the Lawe of Moyſes, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 The brought Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt the law to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Prieſtes, that they might heare the lawe the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the firſt broade place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Lawe.

42 So Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of ỹ Lawe, ſtood vpon a pulpet of wood that was prepared.

43 And there ſtood by him ‖ Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Durias, Ezerias, Balaſamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hande ‖ Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothalaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Eſdras tooke the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (for hee ſate honourably before them all)

46 And they all ſtoode vpright when he expounded the Lawe, and Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the moſt hie God, the moſt mightie God of hoſtes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Jeſus and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Jacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, & Joazabdus, and Ananias, [and] Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worſhipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Lawe of the Lord, & ſtood alſo earneſtly vpon the reading.

50 Then ſaid ‖ Aththarates to Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt and reader, and to the Leuites, that taught ỹ multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, & all haue wept in hearing of the Lawe.

51 Go therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the ſweete drinkes, and ſend preſents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and bee not ſorie: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all theſe things to the people, ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſad.

54 Then they departed all to eate, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue preſents to them that had not, and to make good chere.

55 For they were yet filled with ỹ words wherewith they were inſtructed, whē they were aſſembled together.

‖ or, Zathoe, Elliadas, Eliſi, or, Sabad, & Sardai. or, Bebe.

‖ or, Joſabet, and Emab.

‖ or, Bani, Olam, Malduch, Iedaia Jaſub.

‖ or, Addin, Naame, Laccun, Banaias. or, Bezelel, Balnue, Manaſſes.

‖ or, Haſum.

‖ or, Mathnai, Mazbaias. or, Ban, Jeremias, Moadi, Euiram.

‖ or, Rami.

‖ or, Nehemias.

ij. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

3 The people is reproued for their vnfaithfulnesse. 30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

Ezra.7.1. THe seconde booke of the Prophet *Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob,

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Allie, the sonne of Marimoth, the sonne of Arua, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Bozith, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Leui) which [Esdras] was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artarerres King of Persia.

Ez.1.1. 4 *And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Goe, and shewe my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against me, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten mee, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the lande of Egypt from the house of bondage: but they haue prouoked mee vnto wrath, & despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the heare of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 Howe long shall I forbeare them, vnto whom I haue done so much good:

Exo.14.28. 10 *Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruantes and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: *I haue destroyed the East, the Nom.21. 24.iosh.8. 12. people of the two countries Tyrus and Sidon, and haue slaine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therfore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord,

Exod.14. 29. for, freere. 13 *I haue led you through the sea, and haue giuen you a sure ‖ way, since the beginning: *I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

Exod.3.10. & 4.14.

Exod.13. 21. 14 *I gaue you light in a pillar of fyre, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue yee forgotten mee, sayth the Lorde.

15 Thus sayth the almightie Lord, The quailes *were a token vnto you: I gaue you tentes for safegarde, wherein yee murmured: Exod.16. 13.psal. 104.40.

16 And yee triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but yee yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you: when yee were hungry in the wildernesse, *did ye not cry vnto me: Numb. 14.3.

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wildernes to kill vs: It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wildernes.

19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, & gaue you Manna to eate: *so ye did eate Angels foode. Wis.16.20.

20 *When yee were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you: from the heate I couered you with the leaues of the trees. Num.20. 11.will. 12.4.

21 And I gaue you fat countries: I cast out the Cananites, the Pherezites, & Philistims before you: *what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord. Ie.5.4.

22 Thus saith the almightie Lord. *Whe ye were in the wildernesse at the bitter waters, being a thirst, and blaspheming my Name, Exod.15. 23.

23 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, & made the riuer sweete.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob: thou *Iuda wouldest not obey: I will turne me to other nations, & vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes. Exod.32.8

25 Seeing yee haue forsaken mee, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercie of me, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

26 *when yee call vpon mee, I will not heare you: for yee haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feete are swift to commit murther, Ie.1.15.

27 Although ye haue not forsaken mee, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the almightie Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, & as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her yong babes,

29 That ye would be my people, as I am your God, and that yee would bee my children, as I am your Father:

30 *I gathered you together as an Mat.23.37.

28 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Zamoth, Eliadas, Eliſimus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and ‖ Sabatus, and Sardeus.

29 Of the ſonnes of ‖ Bebai, Joannes, & Ananias, and ‖ Joſabad, and Ematheas.

30 Of the ſonnes of ‖ Nani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedaias, Jaſubus, Jaſael, and Jeremoth.

31 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Addi, Naathus, Moolias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and ‖ Seſchel, and Balmus, and Manaſſeas.

32 And of the ſonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aleas, and Melchias, & Sabbeus, and Simon a Choſamite.

33 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Aſom, Altaneus, and ‖ Matthias, and Bannaias, Eliphalat, and Manaſſes, and Semei.

34 And of the ſonnes of ‖ Baani, Jeremias, Homdis, Omairus, Jnel, Mamai, and Paelias, and Amos, Carabaſion and Eualibus, & Mammunatanaius, Eliſialis, Uamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the ſonnes of Ozoras, Selis, Eſril, Azailus, Samatas, Sambis, Joſiphus.

35 And of the ſonnes of Ethma, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Jnel, Banaias.

36 All theſe maried ſtrange wiues, & put them away with their children.

37 And the Prieſts and the Leuites dwelt in Jeruſalem, and in the countrey, the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, and the children of Iſrael in their owne houſes.

38 ℭ Then all the multitude aſſembled together with one conſent into the broade place before the gate of the Temple toward the Eaſt,

39 And ſpake to Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader, that hee ſhould bring the Lawe of Moyſes, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 The brought Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt the law to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Prieſtes, that they ought heare the lawe the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the firſt broade place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Lawe.

42 So Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of ꝑ Lawe, ſtood vpon a pulpet of wood that was prepared.

43 And there ſtood by him ‖ Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezetias, Balaſamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hande ‖ Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothalaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Eſdras tooke the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (for hee ſate honourably before them all)

46 And they all ſtoode vpright when he expounded the Lawe, and Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the moſt hie God, the moſt mighty God of hoſtes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Jeſus and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Jacobus, Sabataias, Autamias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, & Joazabdus, and Ananias, [and] Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worſhipped the Lord,

49 And taught the Lawe of the Lord, & ſtood alſo earneſtly vpon the reading.

50 Then ſaid ‖ Aththarates to Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt and reader, and to the Leuites, that taught ꝑ multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, & all haue wept in hearing of the Lawe.

51 Go therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the ſweete drinkes, and ſend preſents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and bee not ſorie: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all theſe things to the people, ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſad.

54 Then they departed all to eate, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue preſents to them that had not, and to make good chere.

55 For they were yet filled with ꝑ words wherewith they were inſtructed, whē they were aſſembled together.

[or, Zathoe, Eliadas, Eliſi, Jer, Sabad, & Sardai.] [or, Bebe.] [or, Iofabet, and Emath.] [or, Bani, Olam, Maduch, Iedaia Iaſub.] [or, Addin, Naaui, Laccun, Banaias.] [or, Bezelel, Balnui, Manaſſe.] [or, Haſem.] [or, Mathuan, Maanbai.] [or, Ban, Jeremiai, Moeth, Baioram.] Nehem. 8.1. [or, Mazitbias.] [or, Pedeias] [or, Bani.] [or, Nehemias.]

ij. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

1 The people is reproued for their vnfaithfulnesse. 30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

Ezra. 7.1. THe seconde booke of the Prophet *Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob,

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Allie, the sonne of Marimoth, the sonne of Arua, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Bozith, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Leui) which [Esdras] was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artarerres King of Persia.

Ez.38.1. 4 *And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Goe, and shewe my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against me, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten mee, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the lande of Egypt from the house of bondage: but they haue prouoked mee vnto wrath, & despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the heare of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 Howe long shall I forbeare them, vnto whom I haue done so much good:

Exo.14.28. 10 *Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruantes and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: * I haue destroyed the East, the Nom.21. 24.iosh.8. 12. people of the two countries Tyrus and Sidon, and haue slaine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therfore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Exod.14. 29. 13 *I haue led you through the sea, and haue giuen you a sure ‖ way, since the beginning: * I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Exod.3.10. & 4.14. Aaron for a Priest.

Exod.13. 21. 14 *I gaue you light in a pillar of fyre, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue yee forgotten mee, sayth the Lorde.

15 Thus sayth the almightie Lord, The quailes *were a token vnto you: I gaue Exod.16. 13.psal. 104.40. you tentes for safegarde, wherein yee murmured:

16 And yee triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but yee yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you: When yee were hungry in the Wildernesse, *did ye not cry vnto me: Numb. 14.3.

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this Wildernes to kill vs: It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this Wildernes.

19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, & gaue you Manna to eate: *so ye did eate An- Wis.16.20. gels foode.

20 *When yee were thirstie, did not I Num.20. 11.wil. 12.4. cleaue the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you: from the heate I couered you with the leaues of the trees,

21 And I gaue you fat countries: I cast out the Cananites, the Pherezites, & Philistims before you: *what shall I doe more Is.5.4. for you, saith the Lord:

22 Thus saith the almightie Lord. *Whē Exod.15. 23. ye were in the Wildernesse at the bitter Waters, being a thirst, and blaspheming my Name, 23 I gaue you not fire for the blaspheme, but cast a tree into the water, & made the riuer sweete.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Jacob: thou *Juda wouldest not obey: I will Exod.32.8 turne me to other nations, & vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

25 Seeing yee haue forsaken mee, I will also forsake you: When ye aske mercie of me, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

26 *When yee call vpon mee, I will not Is.1.15. heare you: for yee haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feete are swift to commit murther,

27 Although ye haue not forsaken mee, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the almightie Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, & as a mother her daughters, and as a nurce her yong babes,

29 That ye woulde be my people, as I am your God, and that yee woulde bee my children, as I am your Father:

30 *I gathered you together as an Mat.23.37.

heune gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I do vnto you: I will cast you out from my sight.

Isa.1.13. 31 *When you bring gifts vnto me, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your newe moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom ye haue taken and slayne, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the almightie Lord, Your house shalbe desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doeth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commaundement, and done the thing, that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleeue mee though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the thinges that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shal they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶I will declare the grace that I will do for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnes, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, and see the people that come frō the East.

39 Unto whome I will giue for leaders Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Jonas, 40 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is Malach. 3.1. called also the *messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth faulte with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

THus saith the Lorde, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruantes the Prophetes, whome they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widowe and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorrowe and heauinesse haue I lost you: for yee haue sinned against the Lorde your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I nowe doe vnto you? I am a widdowe and forsaken: goe yee, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I cal for a witnes for ỹ mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kinred be not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them bee put out of ỹ earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember *what I did vnto Sodom & Gomorrha, Gen.19.24.

9 Whose lande is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare mee not, saith ỹ almightie Lord.

10 ¶Thus sayth the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Jerusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get mee glory by them, and giue thē the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for thole.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of ointment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Goe ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may bee shortened: the kingdome is alreadie prepared for you: Watche.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnes: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, & bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee: saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lorde.

18 I will send thee my seruantes Elaie and Jeremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruites, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mightie mountaines, wherupon there growe roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widdowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale

21 Heale the wounded, and ſicke: laugh not a lame man to ſcorne: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my cleareneſſe.

22 Keepe the olde and the yong that are within thy walles.

Tob.1.17, 18. 23 *Whereſoeuer thou findeſt the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the firſt place in my reſurrection.

24 Abide ſtill, O my people, and reſt: for thy quietnes ſhall come.

25 Nouriſhe thy children, O thou good nurce: ſtabliſh their feete.

26 One of the ſeruants that I haue giuen thee, ſhall periſh: for I will ſeeke them from among thy number.

27 Bee not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauines commeth, other ſhall weepe and bee ſorowfull, but thou ſhalt bee merie and haue abundance.

28 The heathen ſhall enuie thee, and ſhall doe nothing againſt thee, ſayth the Lord.

29 Mine handes ſhall couer thee, ſo that thy children ſhall not ſee hell.

30 Bee ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, ſayth the Lorde.

31 Remember thy children that ſleepe: for I will bring them out of the ſides of the earth, and will ſhewe mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, ſayth the Lord almightie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and ſhewe mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace ſhall not fayle.

33 I Eldras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I ſhoulde goe vnto them of Iſrael, but when I came to them, they caſt me off, and deſpiſed the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I ſay vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderſtand, waite for your ſhepheard, who ſhal giue you euerlaſting reſt: for he is neere at hand, that ſhal come in the end of the world.

35 Bee ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlaſting light ſhall ſhine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the ſhadowe of this worlde: receiue the ioy of your glorie: I teſtifie my ſauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thankes vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Ariſe, and ſtande vp, and beholde the number of thoſe that are ſealed for the feaſt of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the ſhadowe of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and ſhut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longeſt for, is fulfilled: beſeech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may bee ſanctified.

42 *I Eldras ſawe vpon mount Sion a great people whome I coulde not number, and they all praiſed the Lord with ſongs. Reuel.7.9.

43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man hier in ſtature then them all, & vpō euery one of their heads he ſet crowns, & was hier then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I aſked the Angel, & ſaide, who are theſe, my Lord?

45 Who anſwered, and ſayde vnto me, Theſe be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confeſſed the name of God: nowe are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then ſaid I vnto the Angel, what yong man is it, that ſetteth crownes on them, and gineth them the palmes in their handes?

47 And hee anſwered, and ſayd vnto mee, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confeſſed in the worlde. Then began I greatly to commend thē, that had ſtande ſo ſtrongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angell ſaid vnto me, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, & howe great wonders of the Lorde God thou haſt ſeene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Eldras marueileth that God ſuffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are ſinners alſo.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, & my thoughtes came vp to mine heart,

2 Becauſe I ſaw the deſolation of Sion, & the welth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my ſpirite was ſore moued, ſo that I began to ſpeake fearefull wordes to the moſt high, and ſayd,

4 O Lorde, Lorde, thou ſpakeſt at the beginning when thou alone plantedſt the earth, and gaueſt commandement vnto the people,

5 *And a body vnto Adam, without ſoule, Gen.2.7.

soule, who was also the workemanship of thine handes, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer þ earth ‖brought foorth.

‖or, were formed.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whome came nations, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.

Gen.6.12. 8 *And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull thinges before thee, and despised thy commaundements.

Gene.7.10 9 *But at the time appoynted thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them,

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam,

1.Pet.3.20. 11 Yet thou leftest one, [euen] *Noe, with his housholde, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to bee more vngodly then the first.

13 Nowe when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou diddest choose thee a man

Gene.12.1 Gene.17.5 from among them, whose name was *Abraham.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenaunt with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede.

Gene.21. 16 *And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, *vnto Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau,

2.3. Gene.25. 25,26. Malact. 3.rom. 9.13. *and diddest choose Iacob, and cast off Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou leddest his seede out of Exod.19.1 deut.4.10. Egypt, *thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, 18 And enclinedst the heauens and bowedst downe the earth, and diddest moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and diddest astonish the worlde.

19 And thy glorye went thorowe foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and cold, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seede of Iacob, & that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy law might bring foorth fruite in them.

21 For *Adam first hauing a wicked heart, Gen.3.6. Was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenes ioyned vnto the lawe in the heartes of the people, with the wickednes of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euil abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeres were brought to an end, *til thou didest raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid, 1.Sam.16. 13.

24 *Whom thou commandedst to builde 2.Sam.5.1. &7.5,13. a citie vnto thy name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeres, the inhabitants forlooke thee,

26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But do they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespacing) I was discouraged.

30 For I sawe, howe thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, where as thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I can not perceiue how this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people þ knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies, as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and there thorowe out the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes nowe in the balance, & theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shalbe found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commaundements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The angel reproueth Esdras, because hee seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

And

AND the Angell that was sent vnto me, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehende the wayes of the highest.

3 Then saide I, Yea, my Lorde. And he answered me, and said, I am sent to shewe thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee,

4 whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shewe thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lorde. Then sayde he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, what man is borne, that can doe that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee howe deepe dwellings are in the midst of the sea, or howe great springs are in the beginning of ỹ depth, or howe great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I asked thee but of fire and wind, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which thinges thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answere of them.

10 He saide moreouer vnto me, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not knowe:

11 howe shoulde thy vessell then be able to comprehende the wayes of the highest, and nowe outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstande the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then saide I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that wee shoulde liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and saide, *I came to a forest in ỹ plaine where the trees helde a counsell, Iudg.9.8. 2. chron. 25.18.

14 And saide, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woodes.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get an other countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sande stoode vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whome wouldest thou iustifie? or whome wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and saide, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the grounde is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and saide, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the grounde is appointed for the wood, & the sea for his floods, so* they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstande nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the thinges that are aboue the height of the heauens. Ps.55.8, 9. iohn 3. 31. 1. corinth. 2.13,14.

22 Then answered I, and sayde, I beseech thee, O Lorde, let vnderstanding bee giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine high thinges, but of such as we daily meddle withall, [namely] wherefore Israel is made a reproche to the heathen, and for what cause the people, whome thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the lawe of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 why we are tossed to & fro through the worlde as the grashoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthie to obteine mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and said, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruaile: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And can not comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this worlde is full of vnrighteousnesse and weaknesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill sowe that is sowen, be not turned vpside down, and if the place where the euill is sowen, passe not away, then can not ỹ thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seede hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, ginning, and how much vngodlines hath he brought vp vnto this time: and howe much shall he bring forth vntill the harueſt come:

31 Ponder with thy ſelfe, howe much fruite of wickednesse the corne of euill seede bringeth forth, 32 And when the ſtalkes ſhall bee cut downe, which are without number, howe great an harueſt muſt be prepared.

33 Then I anſwered, and ſaide, Howe, and when ſhall theſe things come to paſſe: wherefore are our yeeres ſelde and euill:

34 And he anſwered me, ſaying, Haſte not to be aboue the moſt high: for thou labourest in vaine to be aboue him, though thou indeuour neuer ſo much.

35 Did not the ſoules alſo of the righteous aſke queſtion of theſe thinges in their chambers, ſaying, Howe long ſhall I thus hope: and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages:

36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangell anſwered, and ſaide, When the number of the ſeedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the worlde in the balance.

37 The meaſure of the times is meaſured: the ages are counted by number, and they ſhall not be moued or ſhaken, till the meaſure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, O Lord, Lorde, we are all euen full of ſinne, 39 And for our ſake peraduenture the harueſt of the righteous is not fulfilled, becauſe of the ſinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he anſwered me, and ſayde, Goe, and aſke a woman with childe, when ſhe hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then ſaid I, No, Lorde, ſhe can not. And he ſaid vnto me, In the graue the places of ſoules are like the wombe.

42 For as ſhe that is with childe, haſteth to eſcape the neceſſities of the trauaile, ſo doe theſe places haſte to deliuer thoſe thinges that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou deſireſt to ſee, ſhall be ſhewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then anſwered I, and ſaide, If I haue founde grace in thy ſight, and if it bee poſſible, and if I be meete therefore,

45 Shewe me whether there be more to come then is paſt, or more things paſt, then are to come.

46 What is paſt, I knowe, but what is to come, I knowe not.

47 And he ſaide vnto me, Stand on the right ſide, and I will expounde thee this by example.

48 So I ſtoode, and behold, a hote burning ouen paſſed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the ſmoke had the vpper hande.

49 After this there paſſed before me a watrie cloude, and ſent downe much raine with a ſtorme: and when the ſtormie raine was paſt, the droppes came after.

50 Then ſaid he vnto me, Conſider with thy ſelfe, as the raine is more then the droppes, and as fire exceedeth the ſmoke, ſo the portion that is paſt, hath the vpper hande. And the droppes, and the ſmoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and ſaid, May I liue, thinkeſt thou vntill that time: or what ſhal come to paſſe in thoſe dayes:

52 He anſwered me, and ſaid, Of the tokens whereof thou aſkeſt me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not ſent to ſhewe thee of thy life: for I doe not knowe it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth ſhall be hid. 10 Vnrighteouſnes and all wickednesse ſhall reigne in the worlde. 23 Iſrael is reiected, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all thing in ſeaſon.

NEuertheleſſe concerning the tokens, beholde, the times ſhall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, ſhalbe taken in a great number, and the way of trueth ſhall be hid, and the lande ſhall be baren from faith,

2 And *iniquitie ſhall be increaſed more Mat.24.12 then thou haſt ſeene nowe, or haſt heard in time paſt.

3 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that one ſhal ſet in foote, and thou ſhalt ſee the lande deſolate, which nowe reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou ſhalt ſee after the thirde trumpet, that the ſunne ſhall ſuddenly ſhine againe in the night, and the moone three times in a day.

5 Blood ſhall droppe out of the wood, and the ſtone ſhall giue his voyce, and the people ſhall be moued.

6 And he ſhall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules ſhall change place.

7 And the ſea of Sodom ſhall caſt out fiſh, and make a noyſe in the night, which many ſhall not knowe, but they ſhall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There ſhall be a confuſion in many places, and the fire ſhall oft breake forth, and the wilde beaſtes ſhall change their places, and menſtruous women ſhal beare monſters, 9 And ſalt waters ſhall be founde in the ſweete, and all friendes ſhall fight one againſt another: then ſhall wit hide it ſelfe, and vnderſtanding depart into his ſecrete chamber.

chamber.

10 If thalbe fought of many, & yet not be found: then shal vnrighteousnes and voluptuousnes haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land allso shall alke another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone through thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obteine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe & weepe as now, & fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a searefulnes went through all my bodie, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, helde me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the lande of their captiuitie?

18 Up then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flocke in the hands of the cruell Wolues.

19 Then said I vnto him, Go thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning and weeping, as Uriel the Angell had commanded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were verie grieuous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euerie forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, & of all the flowres of the [ground] thou hast chosen thee one lilie.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of al builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of al the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among al the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a law, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? & vpō one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They tread them downe, which haue withstand thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they shoulde haue beene punished with thine owne handes.

31 ¶ Nowe when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And saide vnto mee, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed & troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines paine me euerie houre, while I labor to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I sayde, Wherefore, Lorde, Wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Jacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto mee, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather me the drops that are scattred, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, & bring me forth the windes, that are shut vp therein: shewe me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou alkest and labourest to know.

38 And I saide, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, howe can I speake of these things, whereof thou alkest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things, that I haue spoke of, so canst thou not find out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shal they do that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he said vnto me, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I anſwered, and ſaid, Couldeſt thou not make at once thoſe that haue bene, thoſe that are nowe, and thoſe that ſhall come, that thou mighteſt ſhewe thy iudgement the ſooner?

44 Then anſwered he me. The creature, ſaid he, can not preuent the Creator, neither can the worlde holde them at once, that ſhall be created therein.

45 And I ſaid, As thou haſt taught thy ſeruant, that thou, which giueſt ſtrength [to all,] haſt giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, & haſt ſuſteined it, ſo might it now alſo conteine all men at once.

46 And he ſaid vnto me, Aſke the wombe of a woman, and ſay vnto her, Why muſt thou haue time before thou bringeſt forth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I ſaid, Surely ſhe cannot, but by diſtance of time.

48 Then ſaid he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times whē ſeede is ſowen vpon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, ſo haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I aſked againe, and ſaide, Seeing thou haſt nowe ſhewed me the way, I will proceede to ſpeake before thee: for our mother, whome thou haſt tolde mee is yong, draweth ſhe neere vnto age?

51 He anſwered me, and ſaid, Aſke a woman that trauaileth, and ſhe will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou haſt nowe brought forth) like thoſe that were before thee, but leſſe of ſtature?

53 And ſhee ſhall anſwere thee, Some were borne in the flowre of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe fayled.

54 Conſider now thy ſelfe, howe that yee are leſſe of ſtature, then thoſe that were before you,

55 And ſo are they that come after you, leſſe then ye, as the creatures which nowe beginne to be olde, and haue paſſed ouer the ſtrength of youth.

56 Then ſaid I, Lord, I beſeech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy ſight, ſhew thy ſeruant, by whom thou doeſt gouerne thy workemanſhip?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreſeene all things in his ſecrete counſell, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

AND he ſayde vnto mee, In the beginning when the rounde worlde was made, and before the borders of the worlde were ſet, and before the windes blewe one againſt another:

2 Before the noyſe of thunders ſounded, before the bright lightning did ſhine forth, before the foundations of Paradiſe were layde:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were ſtabliſhed, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heightes of the aire were lifted vp, before the meaſures of the heauēs were named, before the chimnies in Sion were hote:

5 Before the preſent yeeres were ſought out, and before the affections of them that nowe ſinne, were turned away, and they that haue layde vp the treaſure of fayth, were ſealed,

6 Then did I purpoſe theſe things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me alſo they ſhall be ended, and by none other.

7 Then anſwered I, and ſayde, What ſhall be the diuiſion of times? or When ſhall be the end of the firſt, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he ſayd vnto me, From Abraham vnto Iſaac, when Jacob and Eſau were borne of him, *Jacobs hande helde firſt the heele of Eſau. *Gen.25.26

9 For Eſau is the ende of this worlde, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hande. Other thing, Eſdras, aſke thou not.

11 ¶ I anſwered then, and ſaid, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy ſight, 12 I beſeech thee, make an end to ſhewe thy ſeruant thy tokens, wherof thou ſhewedſt me part the laſt night.

13 So he anſwered me, and ſayd, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mighty ſounding voyce.

14 There ſhall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou ſtandeſt, ſhall not be moued.

15 And therefore when hee ſpeaketh, bee not afraid: for of the ende ſhall be the word, and of the foundation of the earth ſhall it be vnderſtande.

16 Therfore while one ſpeaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it muſt be changed at the ende.

17 And when I had heard it, I ſtood vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voyce that ſpake, and the ſound of it was like the ſound of many waters:

18 And it ſayde, Behold, the dayes come, that I will come and enquire of them that dwell dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I begin to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world, that shal vanish away, shalbe sealed, then wil I shew these signes: the bookes shall bee opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere olde shall speake with their voyces: the women with childe shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places appeare as the vnsowen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found emptie.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afrayed.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shal feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand stil, and in three houres they shal not runne.

25 Whosoeuer remayneth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shall bee saued and see my saluation, and the ende of your worlde.

26 And the men that are receyued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euil shalbe put out, and deceit shal be quenched, 28 But fayth shall flourish: corruption shall bee ouercome, and the trueth which hath beene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when he talked with mee, behold, I looked a little vpō him before whom I stoode.

30 And these wordes sayde he vnto mee, I am come to shewe thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen daies more, I will tel thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastity, which ỹ hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therfore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe and fasted seuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfill the three weekes, which hee had appoynted me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vered within me againe, and I beganne to speake before the most high.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse, 38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy worde. Gen.1.1.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkenesse was on euerie side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commaundedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aire, and commandedst it, that, going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou cōmandedst, that ỹ waters should be gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: fiue partes didst thou drie, and kept them to the intent that of these there should bee that shoulde serue thee, being sowen of God and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy worde went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruite did spring vp, and many diuerse pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 *Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres, Gen.1.14.

46 And gauest them a charge, to do *seruice euē vnto man that was for to be made. Gen.1.14. 15.deut.4. 19.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saidest vnto the seuenth part *where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beastes, as foules and fishes: and it was so. Gen.1.20.

48 For the domme waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous workes.

49 Then didest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, ‖ Or, Enoch. the other thou calledst Leuiathan, 50 And didst separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Unto Behemoth thou gaueſt one part, which was dried vp the third day, that hee ſhould dwell in the ſame part, wherein are a thouſand hilles.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gaueſt the ſeuenth part, that is wet, and haſt prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the firſt day thou gaueſt commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it ſhould bring forth beaſts, cattell and creeping things.

54 And beſides this Adam, whom thou madeſt lord ouer all the workes which thou haſt created, of him come we al, and the people alſo, whom thou haſt choſen.

55 All this haue I ſpoken before thee, O Lord, becauſe thou haſt created the worlde for our ſakes.

56 As for the other people, which alſo come of Adam, thou haſt declared thē that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto ſpittle, and haſt compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a veſſel.

57 And nowe, O Lorde, beholde, theſe heathen which haue beene reputed as nothing, haue begun to bee lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou haſt called the firſt borne, the onely begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their handes.

59 If the worlde then be created for our ſakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in poſſeſſion? or how long ſhall wee ſuffer theſe things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiſeth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Chriſt. 32 The reſurrection and laſt iudgement. 43 After the which all corruption ſhall ceaſe. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnes of God.

AND when I had made an end of theſe wordes, there was ſent vnto mee an Angell, which had beene ſent dowyne to mee the nights afore.

2 And hee ſayde vnto mee, Vp, Eſdras, and heare the wordes that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I ſaid, Speake on, my God. Then ſaid hee vnto mee, The ſea is ſet in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great,

4 But preſuppoſe that the entrance therof were narow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could goe into the ſea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? If hee went not thorowe the narowe, howe could he come into the broade?

6 There is alſo another thing: a citie is builded and ſet vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narowe and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hande, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betweene the fire & the water, ſo that there could but one man go there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorowe the perill before it, how could hee receiue his inheritance?

10 And I ſaid, It is ſo, Lord. Then ſaid he, So is the portion of Iſrael.

11 Surely for their ſakes haue I made the worlde: and when Adam tranſgreſſed my ſtatutes, then came this thing to paſſe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narow, full of ſorowe and trauaile: they are but few and euil, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore worlde were wide and ſure, and brought immortall fruite.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by theſe ſtraite & vnſeemely things, they can not attaine to thoſe thinges that are hid.

15 Why then diſquieteſt thou thy ſelfe, ſeeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, ſeeing thou art mortall?

16 And why haſt thou not cōſidered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are preſent?

17 Then ſaid I, O Lord, Lord, *ſeeing thou haſt ordeined in thy law, that the righteous ſhould inherite theſe things, and that the vngodly ſhould periſh, *Deut.8.1.

18 Should the righteous ſuffer ſtraitnes in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and ſuffered straitneſſe, ſhall not ſee the large things.

19 Then hee ſaide vnto mee, There is no iudge more iuſt then God, and there is none more wiſe then the moſt High.

20 For many periſh in this life, becauſe they deſpiſe the Lawe of God that is appoynted.

21 For God hath diligently admoniſhed ſuch as came, ſo oft as they came, what they ſhould doe to haue life, & what they ſhould obſerue, to auoyd puniſhment.

22 Neuertheles, they were not obedient vnto him, but ſpake againſt him, and imagined vaine things,

23 And deceyued themſelues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the moſt

moſt high, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they deſpiſed his lawe, and refuſed his promiſes: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not perfourmed his workes.

25 And therefore, Eldras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time ſhal come, that theſe tokens which I haue tolde thee, ſhall come to paſſe, and the bride ſhall appeare, and ſhe ſhall come forth, and bee ſeene that nowe is vnder the earth.

27 And whoſoeuer ſhal eſcape theſe euils, he ſhall ſee my wonders.

28 For my ſonne Jeſus ſhall appeare with thoſe that bee with him, and they that remaine, ſhall reioyce within foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After theſe ſame yeres ſhall my ſonne Chriſt die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world ſhall be turned into the olde ſilence for ſeuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, ſo that no man ſhall remaine.

31 But after ſeuen dayes, the world that is yet aſleepe, ſhalbe raiſed vp: and that ſhal die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth ſhal reſtore thoſe, that haue ſlept in her, and ſo ſhall the duſt thoſe that dwell therein in ſilence, and the ſecret places ſhall deliuer the ſoules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the moſt High ſhal appeare vpon the ſeate of iudgement, and miſeries ſhall vaniſh away, and long ſuffering ſhall haue an ende.

34 Juſtice only ſhal continue: the trueth ſhall remaine, and faith ſhall be ſtrong.

35 The worke ſhall followe, and the reward ſhalbe ſhewed: the good deedes ſhall be of force, and vnrighteouſnes ſhall beare no more rule.

Gen.18.23 Exod.32. 31,32. 36 Then ſaid I, *Abraham prayed firſt for the Sodomites, and *Moyſes for the fathers that ſinned in the wildernes, 37 And they that came after him, for Iſrael in the time of Achaz, and Samuel,

2.Sam.24. 17. 38 And *Dauid for the deſtruction, *and 2.Chro.6. 14. Salomō for them that came into the Sanctuarie,

1.King.17. 21.&18. 42.45. 39 *And Elias for thoſe that receiued rain, and for the dead that he might liue,

2.King.19. 15. 40 And *Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.

41 Euen ſo now, ſeeing bice is increaſed, and wickednes aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore ſhall not the ſame effect follow alſo now?

42 Then hee anſwered mee, and ſaide, This preſent life is not the ende: oft times honor is reteined in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement ſhalbe the end of this World, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruptiō ſhall ceaſſe.

44 Intemperancie ſhal paſſe away: infidelitie ſhalbe cut off: righteouſnes ſhall grow vp, and the veritie ſhall ſpring vp.

45 Then ſhall no man bee able to ſaue him that is deſtroyed, nor oppreſſe him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I anſwered then, and ſaide, This is my firſt and laſt ſaying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he ſhould not haue ſinned.

47 For what profite is it for men in this preſent life to be in heauines, & after death to feare puniſhment?

48 O Adam, what haſt thou done? *for Rom.5.18. in that that thou haſt ſinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall alſo redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there be promiſed an immortall life, when we doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euerlaſting hope ſhould be promiſed vs, ſeeing that wee betide our ſelues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there ſhould be appointed vs dwellings of health and ſafetie, if wee haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glorie of the moſt High ſhould be kept to defend them which haue lead a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradiſe ſhould be ſhewed, whoſe fruit remaineth incorruptible, wherein is ſafetie and health, if we wil not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuerſant in vnpleaſant places)

55 And that the faces of thē, which haue abſteined, ſhould ſhine more then ſtarres, if our faces be blacker then darkenes?

56 For while we liued, we did not remēber when wee did vnrighteouſly, that wee ſhould ſuffer after death.

57 Then anſwered hee mee, and ſaide, This is the maner of the battell, which mā, that is borne in the earth, ſhall fight, 58 That if hee be ouercome, hee ſhoulde ſuffer as thou haſt ſaide: but if hee get the victorie, he ſhould receiue the thing that I ſaide.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyſes spake vnto the people while he liued, say-Deut.30.19. ing, *Chuse thee life that thou mayst liue.

60 Neuertheles, they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauines should not so be to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then and said, I knowe, Lord, that the most high is called merciful, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63 And that hee hath pitie on those that walke in his Lawe,

Rom.2.4. 64 And that *he is patient: for hee long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberal: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercie: for he ouercommeth in mercie those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if hee were not aboundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse that they, which haue done euill, might be relieued from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliue.

69 And if hee, being iudge, forgaue not those that be healed with his worde, & tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peraduenture be verie fewe left in an vnnumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The nombre of the godly is small. 6 The works of God are excellent. 20 Esdras praier for him and for his people. 39 The promes of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the vniust.

AND hee answered mee, saying, The most high made this world for many, but the world to come for fewe.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that golde commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

Mat.20.16. 3 *There be many created, but few shall be saued.

4 Then answered I, and sayde, Then swallowe vp the wit, O my soule, and denoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may entreat thee, that thou maiest giue seed vnto our heart, & prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, wherby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set him selfe for man:

7 For thou art alone, and we all are one worke manship of thine handes, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is facioned now in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preserued by fire and water, & the worke, created by thee, doeth suffer nine moneths the creature, which is facioned in it.

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteined, shall both be preserued, & when time is come, the wombe, being preserued, deliuereth þ things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnes, nurturest it in thy Lawe, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroiest him, which with so great labours is facioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preserued.

15 Nowe therefore, O Lorde I will speake (as touching men in generall thou shalt rather prouide) but cõcerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorie, 16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whome I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieued.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faultes that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therfore heare my voyce, and vnderstand my wordes, which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the wordes of Esdras, before he was taken vp:

20 O Lorde, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glorie incomprehensible, before whome the host of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde & fire, whose worde is true, and sayings stedfast, whose commandement is strong, & gouernement uernement terrible,

23 Whose looke driueth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witnesse.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto ỹ wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpō those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember thē that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not be thy wil to destroy them, which haue liued like beasts, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Lawe.

30 Take not displeasure with thē, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them, that allway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou will haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no workes of righteousnesse.

33 For the righteous, which haue layde vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieued towards it?

2 King. 8. 46. 2 chro. 6. 36. 35 *For verely there is no man among thē that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doeth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lorde, thy righteousnesse and thy goodnesse shall be praysed, if thou be merciful vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Thē answered he me, & said, Some thinges hast thou spoken aright, and accordyng vnto thy words it shalbe.

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

Gene. 44. 39 But *I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember ỹ pilgrimage, the saluation and the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken nowe, so shal it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon ỹ ground, & planteth many trees, & yet allway the thing that is sowen, cōmeth not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then & said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, & receiue not raine in due seasō, or if it bee destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine handes, & thou art called his paterne, because hee is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, & likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpō thine inheritance: for thou wilt bee mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and sayd, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art far off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art maruelous before the highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them ỹ shal liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pryde.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, & seeke out the glorie for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: ỹ time to come is prepared, plenteousnes made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfit goodnes and absolute wisedome.

53 The roote of euill is sealed vp from you: the weakenes and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell flieth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, & in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most high: they contemned his Lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there Psal. 14. & 53. 1.

was no God, though they knewe that they should die.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made readie for you: so is thirst & payne prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therfore my iudgemēt is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a fewe like thee: then I answered, and saide,

63 Behold nowe, O Lord: thou hast shewed mee þ many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in þ last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this worlde haue a beginning and an ende. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

THe answered me then, and sayde, Measure the time with it selfe, and whē thou seest that one part of the tokēs come to passe, which I haue tolde thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall be seene an Mat.24. *earthquake in the worlde, and an vproare of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstande that the most high spake of those thinges, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the worlde, hath a beginning and an ende, and the ende is manifest,

6 So þ times also of the most High haue playne beginnings in wonders and signes, and ende in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one þ shal escape safe, & shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue believed,

8 Shall be preserued from the said perils and shall see my saluation in my lande, and within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shal they haue pitie of thēselues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast thē out despitefully, shall dwell in paynes.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my Lawe, whyle they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it,

12 They must be taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore bee thou no more care-full, to know how the vngodly shalbe punī-shed, but inquire how the righteous shalbe saued, and whose the world is, & for whome it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore saide that which I say now and will speake it hereafter, that there be many mo of them which perish, then of them that shalbe saued,

Chap.8.3. mat.20.16.

16 As the flood is greater then a droppe.

17 And he answered mee, saying, As the field is, so is also the seede: as the flowers be, so are þ colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandmā is, so is his husbandrie: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against mee.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but nowe the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetual seede, and by a Law, whereout they can not rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, & behold, there was perill, because of the deuises, that were springing vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, & haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perishe, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, & my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 (Neuertheles, if thou wilt ceasse seuen dayes mo (but thou shalt not fast in thē)

24 But shalt go into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the flowers of the field, and eate no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most high continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as hee had commanded mee, into the fielde, which is called Ardath, & there I sate among the flowers, and did eate of the herbes of the field, and þ meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vp-on the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most high, and to say,

29 O Lord, whē thou wouldest shewe thy selfe vnto vs, *thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderues, in a place

Exod.19.9 & 24.3. deut.4.12.

Where

where no man dwelleth, in a baren place, when they came out of Egypt, 30 And expreſſely ſpakeſt vnto them, ſaying, Heare mee, O Iſrael, and marke my wordes, thou ſeede of Iacob.

31 For behold, I ſowe my Lawe in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers, which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obſerued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Lawe appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

Exod.32. 28. 33 *For they that receiued it, periſhed becauſe they kept not the thing that was ſowen in them.

34 And lo, it is a cuſtome when the ground receiueth ſeede, or the ſea a ſhippe, or a veſſell meate and drinke, if that periſhe wherein a thing is ſowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewiſe the thing that is ſowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, muſt periſh: ſo the things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but in vs it cometh not ſo to paſſe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, periſh in ſinne, and our heart alſo which receiued it.

37 But the Lawe periſheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I ſpake theſe things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right ſide *I ſaw a woman, which mourned ſore, and lamented with a loude voyce, & was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and had aſhes vpon her head. Chap.10. 44.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherin I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And ſaid vnto her, Wherefore weepeſt thou? why art thou ſo ſore in minde?

41 And ſhe ſaid vnto me, Syr, let me alone, that I may bewayle my ſelfe, and increaſe ſorowe: for I am ſore vexed in my minde, and brought very lowe.

42 Then I ſaide vnto her, What ayleth thee? tell me.

43 And ſhe ſaid vnto me, I thy ſeruant haue bene baren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, & euery day theſe thirtie yeeres I pray to the moſt High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard me thine handmaide, and looked vpon my miſerie, conſidered my trouble, and gaue me a ſonne, and I was glad of him: ſo was mine husband alſo, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honor vnto the Almightie.

46 And I nouriſhed him with great trauaile.

47 So when he grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feaſt.

CHAP. X.

Eldras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BUt when my ſonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and dyed.

2 Then we all ouerthrewe the lightes, & all my neighbours roſe vp to comfort me: ſo I reſted vntill the ſecond day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I ſhould be quiet, then I roſe vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field as thou ſeeſt,

4 And am not purpoſed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne & faſt, vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpoſe wherein I was, and ſpake to her angerly, and ſaid, 6 Thou fooliſh woman aboue all other, ſeeſt thou not our heauines, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is al wofull and is ſore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing we be all nowe in heauines, & make our mone (for we be all ſorowfull) art thou ſorie for one ſonne?

9 Demande the earth, and ſhee ſhall tell thee that it is ſhee which ought to mourne for the fall of ſo many that growe vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other ſhall come, and behold, they walke almoſt al into deſtruction, and the multitude of them ſhalbe deſtroied.

11 Who ſhould then rather mourne, ſhee that hath loſt ſo great a multitude, or thou which art ſorie but for one?

12 But if thou wouldeſt ſay vnto me, My mourning is not like ꝑ mourning of ꝑ earth (for I haue loſt the fruite of my Wombe, which I brought forth with heauines, and bare with ſorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the preſent multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then ſay I vnto thee, As thou haſt borne with trauaile, ſo the earth alſo from the beginning giueth her fruite vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therfore withhold thy ſorow in thy ſelfe, and beare conſtantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou alloweſt Gods purpoſe, & receiueſt his counſell in time, thou ſhalt bee commended therein.

17 God

17 Go thy way then vnto the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not go into ỹ citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said,

20 Do not so, but be counseled: for howbe many salles hath Sion: bee of good comfort because of the sorow of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is layed waste: our altar is broken down: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is banished away, and the light of our candelsticke is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonored, & our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captuitie, and our virgines are defiled, and our Wines rauished, & our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake,

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therfore shake off thy great heauines, & put away ỹ multitude of sorowes, that the Almightie may bee mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, & her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her and mused what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly shee cast out a great voyce, verie fearefull, so that ỹ earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a citie builded, & a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cried with a loude voyce, and said, 28 Where is Uriel the Angel * which Chap. 4.1. came to me at the first: for hee hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, beholde, hee came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And lo, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and hee tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, & set me vpon my feete, and said vnto me,

31 What ayleth thee: and Why is thine vnderstanding vered: and the vnderstanding of thine heart: and Wherefore art thou sory:

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according vnto Chap. 5.20 thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnes.

35 For I haue seene that I knewe not, & heare that I do not knowe.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my minde, being hautie, erre:

37 Nowe therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this Wonder.

38 Then he answered me, & said, Heare me, and I will informe thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraied: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sore cõtinually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, Which appeared vnto thee a litle While ago.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, & thou begannest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And Where as shee tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This Woman, Which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and Where as shee tolde thee (euen shee Which thou seest nowe as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that shee said vnto thee, that she was baren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirty yeeres Wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon buylt the citie, and offred offrings: thẽ bare the baren a sonne.

47 And Where as she tolde thee, that she nourished him With labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But Where as she tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance Was, died When shee came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And When thou sawest her like one ỹ mourned for her sonne, thou begannest to comfort comfort her: of these things which haue chanced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For nowe the most High seeth, that thou art sorie in thy minde, & because thou suffrest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clerenes of her glorie, & the faire-nes of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the fielde where no house was built.

52 For I knew that þ most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to go into the field, where no foundation nor buil-dings is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but go in, and see the beautie & greatnes of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehende.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among þ few.

58 But to morowe at night thou shalt re-maine here,

59 And the most high shall shew thee vi-sions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and an other, as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an egle comming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lyon comming out of the forest.

THen sawe I a dreame, and be-hold, there came vp from the sea an egle, which had twelue fea-thered wings and three heads.

2 And I sawe and behold, thee spred her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered them selues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grewe out other contrarie feathers, & they became litle feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the o-ther heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I sawe that the egle flewe with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I sawe that all things vnder hea-uen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I sawe also that the egle stoode vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads bee preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheles, I sawe that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the middes of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrarie fea-thers, & behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholde vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reig-ned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, & the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stoode vp, and reigned: it conti-nued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, & said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou be-ginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee atteine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third & reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, & beholde in processe of time the feathers that followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, & some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ru-led not.

22 After this I looked and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two winges.

23 And there was no more vpon the egles bodie, but two heads that rested, and sixe winges.

24 Then sawe I also that two winges deuided them selues from the sixe, & remai-ned vnder the head, that was vpō the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnder-wings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shor-tly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and lo, the two that remained, thought also in them selues to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, at rest, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I sawe, that the two heads were ioyned there with.

31 And beholde, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnder winges that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the winges that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled like wise vpon earth, & ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and lo the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which saide vnto me, Looke before thee, and consider ỹ thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and beholde as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of ỹ wood: and I sawe that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the egle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, & the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beastes remainest, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the ende of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer ỹ world with great fearefulnes, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppressiō, and that dwelleth so long time in all the worlde with deceit:

41 For thou hast not iudged the earth with trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme,

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pryde vnto the Mightie.

44 The most High also hath looked vpō the proude times, and beholde, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vayne body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, & that shee may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the lyon spake these wordes to the egle, I sawe,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, neither did the foure winges appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp them selues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

4 Lo, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Lo, yet am I wearie in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now I will beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue founde grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede bee come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and differēce of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule.

9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto mee, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The egle, whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. Dan. 7. 7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shalbe feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after an other,

15 Whereof the seconde shall beginne to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this do the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

Which

17 As for the voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out frō the heads, but from the middes of the bodie thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shalbe restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder winges, which thou sawest hang vnto her winges, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shalbe but small, and their yeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the middle time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may bee ended, but two shalbe kept vnto the ende.

22 And where as thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most high raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things vnto them, and they shal haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue al those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the eagle.

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednes, and shall finish his last end.

26 And where as thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with payne.

27 For the two that remaine, the sworde shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shal deuoure the other: but at the last shall he fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And where as thou sawest two vnder wings, that went off towarde the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 Thse are they whome the most high hath preserued for their ende, whose kingdom is little, & full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the egle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the wordes that thou hast heard, 32 This is the winde which ỹ most high hath kept for them, and for their wickednes vnto the end, and he shal reproue them, and cast before them their spoyles.

33 For he shal set them alive in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For hee will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, and hee shall make them ioyful, vntill the cōming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee frō the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast bene meete to know this secret of the most high.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke and hide them, 38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose heartes thou knowest may comprehende and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes mo, that it may be shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth ỹ most high to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto mee, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee: or what euill haue wee done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place:

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as an hauen or ship preserued from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, sufficient:

44 If thou then forsake vs, howe much better had it bene for vs, that wee had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt:

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loud voice. Then Answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie, thou house of Jacob.

47 For the most high hath you in remēbrance, and the Almightie hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for mee I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolatiō of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the lowe estate of your Sanctuarie.

49 And nowe go your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the fielde seuen dayes, as hee had commanded mee, and did eate only of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde comming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His properties and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen daies I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde frō the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and behold, there was a mightie man with the thoulandes of heauen: and whē he turned his countenance to looke, all the thinges trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, al they burned that heard his voice, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I sawe, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from ỹ foure Winds of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, & behold, he grawed him selfe a great mountaine, & fle we vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grawen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraide, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheles, when he sawe the fiercenes of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre,

10 But onely, as I saw, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, & out of his lips the winde of the flame, & out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, [euē] this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fel with violence vpon ỹ multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp al, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke. When I sawe this, I was afraide.

12 ¶ After warde sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, & calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, & some with sad: some of thē were bounde, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and saide, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders frō the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shewe mee nowe therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, wo vnto them that shall be left in those dayes, and much more wo vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Nowe vnderstand I the things that are layde vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils & many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that hee that is in danger, should fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, thē to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he mee, and sayde, The interpretatiō of the vision wil I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Where as thou hast spoken of thē that are left behind, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, he shall keepe him selfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most Mightie.

24 Knowe therefore, that they which be left behinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, where as thou sawest a man comming vp from the middes of the sea, 26 The same is he whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and hee shall order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And where as thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that he neither helde sworde nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And he shall astonish the hearts of thē that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, * and nation against nation, & realme against realme. Mat.24.7.

32 When this commeth to passe, thē shal the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my Sonne bee reueiled, whom thou sawest go vp as a man.

33 And when al ỹ people heare his voyce, euery man shal in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But he shall stande vpon the toppe of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shalbe shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen forth without any hands.

37 And this my Sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are falle into ꝑ tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, wherby they shalbe tormented: and without any labour wil he destroy them, euen by ꝑ lawe, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And where as thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caryed away captiues out of their owne land, *in the time of Oseas the king, whom Salmanasar ꝑ king of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyonde the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

2.King.17. 3.

41 But they tooke this counsell to them selues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne lande.

43 And they entred in at the narrowe passages of the riuer Euphrates.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, *and stayed the springes of the flood till they were passed ouer.

Exod.14. 21.Ios.3. 15,16.

45 For thorowe the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yere & a halfe, and the same region is called ‖Arsareth.

‖Or, Arareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shall holde still the springs of the riuer againe, that they may go thorowe: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behinde of thy people, are those that bee founde within my borders.

49 Now when he destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend ꝑ people that remaine, 50 And then shall hee shewe great wonders vnto them.

51 Then saide I, O Lord, Lord, shewe me this, Wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from the middes of the sea.

52 And he sayde vnto mee, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor knowe these thinges, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my Sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of ꝑ dreame which thou sawest, and wherby thou only art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Lawe, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordred in wisdome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewardes with the most High: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the fielde, glorifying and prayfing the most High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 Howe God appeared to Moyses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

VPon ꝑ thirde day I sate vnder an oke, and behold, there came forth a voyce vnto me out of the bush, & it said, Esdras, Esdras.

2 And I said, Here am I, Lord, and stoode vp vpon my feete.

3 Then said he vnto me, *In the bush I reuealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt: Exo.3.2,

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I helde him with me a long season,

5 And I tolde him many wonders, and shewed him the secrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, saying,

6 These wordes shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And nowe I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine hencefoorth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times begin to ware olde.

10 For the worlde is deuided into twelue parts, and ten partes of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, & comfort ſuch of them as be in trouble, and nowe renounce the corruption.

13 Let go from thee mortall thoughtes: caſt away frō thee the burdens of men, and put off nowe the weake nature, 14 And ſet aſide thy moſt grieuous thoughts, and haſte thee to depart frō theſe times.

15 For greater euils thē thoſe, Which thou haſt ſeene nowe, ſhall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the worlde is by reaſon of age, the more ſhall the euils be increaſed vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for nowe haſteth the viſion to come, that thou haſt ſeene.

18 ¶ Then anſwered I, and ſaide before ther,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou haſt commanded mee, & reforme the people, Which are preſent: but they ꝓ ſhall be borne afterward, who ſhall admoniſh them?

20 Thus the world is ſet in darknes, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the thinges that are done of thee, or the workes that ſhalbe done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, ſend the holy Ghoſt into me, & I will write al that hath bene done in the world ſince the beginning, which was written in thy lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which wil liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he anſwered me, ſaying, Go, and gather the people, and ſay vnto them, that they ſeeke thee not for fourtie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee theſe fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, & Aſiel, Which are ready to write ſwiftly,

25 And come hither, & I will light a candle of vnderſtanding in thine heart, which ſhall not be put out till the things be perfourmed Which thou ſhalt begin to write.

26 And then ſhalt ꝓ declare ſome things openly vnto the perfite men, & ſome things ſhalt thou ſhew ſecretly vnto ꝓ wiſe: to morow this houre ſhalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, and ſaide,

28 Heare theſe words, O Iſrael,

29 *Our fathers at the beginning were ſtrangers in Egypt, frō whence they were deliuered,

30 And receiued the Law of life, *which they kept not, Which ye alſo haue tranſgreſſed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the lande of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye alſo haue done vnrighteouſly, and haue not kept the wayes, which the moſt High commanded you.

32 And for ſo much as hee is a righteous Judge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And nowe are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if ſo be that ye will ſubdue your owne vnderſtanding, & reforme your heart, ye ſhall be kept aliue, and after death ſhall ye obteine mercie.

35 For after death ſhall the iudgement come, When we ſhall liue againe: & then ſhal the names of the righteous be manifeſt, and the workes of the vngodly ſhalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor ſeeke me theſe fourtie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as hee commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The nert day beholde, a voyce called me, ſaying, Eſdras, *open thy mouth, and Ezek.3.2. drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beheld, he reached me a ful cup, Which was ful as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it and dranke, and whē I had dronke it, mine heart had vnderſtanding, and wiſedome grewe in my breaſt: for my ſpirit was ſtrengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and ſhut no more.

42 The moſt high gaue vnderſtanding vnto ꝓ fiue men, ꝓ they wrote the hie things of the night, which they vnderſtoode not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I ſpake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourtie dayes, they wrote two hundreth and foure bookes.

45 And whē the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the moſt high ſpake, ſaying, The firſt that thou haſt written, publiſh openly, that the worthie and vnworthie may reade it.

46 But keepe the ſeuentie laſt, that thou mayeſt giue them to the wiſe among thy people.

47 For in thē is the veine of vnderſtanding, and the fountaine of wiſdome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did ſo.

Gene.47.4.

Act.7.53

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecie of Eſdras is certaine. 5 The euils that ſhall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt ſhall lament. 16 Sedition. 20 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Curſed are they that ſinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

Behold,

Beholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, sayth the Lord:

2 And cause them to bee written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the unfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.

4 For euery unfaythfull shall die in his unfaithfulnes.

5 Behold, saith the Lorde, I will bring plagues vpon all the worlde, the sworde, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, sayeth the Lorde, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things, that they do wickedly.

Reuel. 6. 10. & 19. 2. 8 Beholde, *the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust crie continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, sayeth the Lorde, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them nowe to dwell in the land of Egypt,

11 But I will bring them out with a mightie hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall bee smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowemen that till the grounde, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the worlde, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sworde, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shal stand vp to fight against another with swordes in their handes.

16 For there shal be sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regarde their King, & the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shal desire to go into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shalbe troubled, the houses shall be afrayed, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sworde, and their goods shalbe spoiled for lacke of dread, & because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together al the Kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the ‖ East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpo them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them. ‖ Or, North.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, & recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right hande shall not spare þ sinners, neither shall the sword cease from thē, that shead innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the strawe, that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, & keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the worlde, and yee shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, & the multitude of them shalbe caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen þ Carmanians raging in wrath, shall go forth as the bores of the forest, & shal come with great power, and stande against them in battel, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, & remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then theyr shalbe troubled, & keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemy beliege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shalbe feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold clouds frō the East, & from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another:

and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shalbe from the swoorde vnto the belly, 36 And the dongue of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall be great fearefulnes and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shalbe afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And the there shal come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise and shall open it with the cloude, which hee raised vp in wrath, & the star, raised to feare the East and West wind, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shall be lift vp, full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make al the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euerie hie place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,

41 As fire and haile, and flying swoordes, and many waters, that all fieldes may bee full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hils, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a streight course vnto Babylon, and make it afrayd.

44 They shall come to her, & besiege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, and all the wrath agaynst her: then shal the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, & all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shal doe service vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glorie of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast decked thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue allway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God, 49 I will sende plagues vpon thee, Widowhed, pouertie, and famine, & the swoord, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glorie of thy power shall be dried vp, as a flowre when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt bee sicke as a poore wife that is plagued & beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou haddest not allway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine handes, and laid ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance:

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God do vnto thee, & will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the swoorde, and thy cities shalbe broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the swoord in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shal die of hunger, and eate their own flesh, and drinke their own blood for wāt of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappy, shalt come thorowe the sea, and receiue plagues again.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the flame ritie, and shall roote out one part of thy lande, and consume the portion of thy glorie, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shalbe to thee as fyre.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods and all thy fruitefull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carie away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition howe to gouerne thē selues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit them selues to the Lord. 55 Whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Girde your selues with sack and heare cloth, and mourne your children, and bee sorie: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A swoord is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fyre is sent among you, and who will quenche it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can can driue them away:

5 May any man driue away an hungrie Lion in the Wood: or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne: may one turne againe the arrowe, that is shot of a strong archer:

6 The mightie Lord sendeth ỹ plagues, and who can driue thē away: the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it:

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare: he shall thunder, and who shall not be afrayed:

8 The Lord shal threaten, and who shal not vtterly bee broken in pieces at his presence: the earth quaketh and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his ryght hande, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that hee shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they beginne to be shot into the endes of the worlde.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shal not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shal not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backewarde, so the plagues that shall bee sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Wo is me, wo is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes:

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come:

15 Behold, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendement.

16 But for all these thinges they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be allway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, vitailes shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke thē selues to be in good case: but then shal the euils bud forth vpon earth, euen the sworde, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, & the other that escape the famine, shal ỹ sworde destroy.

19 And ỹ dead shalbe cast out as dongue, and there shall bee no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall bee no man left to till the earth, & to sowe it: the trees shal giue fruite, but who shall gather them:

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shal treade them: for all places shalbe desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shalbee ten left, and two of the field, which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rockes.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where Olines growe, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyarde is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyarde:

25 So in those dayes there shalbe three or foure left by them that searche their houses with the sworde.

26 And the earth shalbe left waste, and the fieldes thereof shall ware olde, and her wayes and all her paths shall growe full of thornes, because no man shal trauaile therethorough.

27 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes bee destroyed, and their husbandes shall perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lorde, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whom the Lorde speaketh: beholde the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauelling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, whē the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her bodie, & when the childe commeth to the birth, they tary not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues bee slacke to come vpon the earth, and the worlde shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my worde: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as hee that fleeth his way: & hee that byeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth marchandise, as hee that winneth not: and hee that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein.

36 Hee that soweth, as one that shal not reape: hee that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the Widdowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vayne.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their marchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angrie against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a Whore enuieth an honest and vertuous Woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, whē he shal come that shall bridle the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the Workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that hee hath not sinned: for coles of fyre shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

Luke 16.16. 46 Beholde, the Lord *knoweth all the Workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

Gene.1.1. 47 *For allcome as hee sayde, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his Word were the starres establi-

Psal.147.4. shed, and he *knoweth the number of them.

49 He searcheth the depth, & the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it conteineth.

50 Hee hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, & with his Worde hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out ỹ heauē like a vawte: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpō the top of the mountaines, to power out floods from the hie rockes to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the midst of the bodie, and gaue him breath, life and vnderstanding.

54 And the spirite of the almughty God, which made all thinges, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, & what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched and sought out al your Workes, and wil put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, ye shalbe confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye do, or how will yee hide your sinnes before God and his angels?

59 Behold, God him selfe is ỹ iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from hence forth with them: so shal God lead you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, & shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto thē, shalbe had in derision and in reproche, & troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shalbe great insurrectiō against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shalbe like mad men: they shal spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shal waste & spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tryed by the fyre.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith ỹ Lord: beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hande, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not ye afraide: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandemēts and precepts, saith the Lord GOD, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift them selues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bounde with their sinnes, & couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauaile: it is shut vp, & is appointed to be deuoured with fyre.

Tobit.

Tobit.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlines. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 23 He fleeth, and his goods are confiscate. 25 And after, restored.

Tobias, being captiue amongst the Assyrians, did not leaue the way of trueth.

THe booke of the woordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Aduel, ỹ sonne of Gabael, of the seede of Asael, ꝛ of the tribe of Nephthalim, for Salmanasar. 2.King.17. 3.

2 Who in ỹ time of ‖ Enemessar King of ỹ Assyrians was * ledde away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of ỹ cittie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galilee aboue Aser.

Tobias was merciful.

3 I Tobit haue walked al my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with mee to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrie in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fel from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of al the tribes of Israel, that al ỹ tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.

2.King.12. 30.

5 *Now al the tribes, which fel frō God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

He fled from idoles. Exod.22. 29.deut. 32.6.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to al Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Jerusalem, at the feastes * bringing ỹ first fruites, and the tenth of beastes, with that which was first shorne, ꝛ offered them at the altar to the Priestes the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to ỹ Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Jerusalem: the other tenth part I solde, ꝛ came ꝛ bestowed it euery yeere at Jerusalem.

8 The thirde [tenth part] I gaue vnto them to whome it was meete, as Debora my fathers mother had commaunded mee: for my father left me as a pupil.

He marieth to wife Anna, which beareth to him Tobiah. Num.36.7. Gen.45. 31.

9 ¶ Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I maried Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 ¶ But when I was ledde captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept me selfe from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

13 Therefore ỹ most High gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so ỹ I was his purueyor.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanasar.

14 ¶ And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael the ‖ brother of Gabrias in the land of Media.

for some, for an Region, a citie of Medie.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Senacherib his sonne reigned in his steade: whose state because it was troubled, I could not go into Media.

16 ¶ But in the time of ‖ Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry, for Salmanasser. The charitie of Tobias.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I sawe any of my kinred dead, or cast about ỹ walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if ỹ king Sennacherib had slaine any, when he * was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath hee killed many) but the bodies were not found: when they were sought for of the king.

2.King.19. 35.36.dan. 37.36,37. ecclus.48. 18,22. 1.mac 7. 41.2.mac. 8.19.

19 Therefore when a certeine Ninenite had accused me to the king, because I did bury them, I hid my selfe: and because I knewe that I was sought to bee slaine, I withdrewe my selfe for feare.

20 Then al my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left mee besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

Tobit fleeth from the face of Sennacherib. 2.King.19. 37. 2.chron. 32.21.

21 Neuertheles * within fiue and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, ꝛ they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, [and] Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accompts and ouer all his domesticall affaires, Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to Nineue: Tobit returneth. nowe Achiacharus was cupbearer ꝛ keeper of the signet, and stewarde, and ouerseawe the accompts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

1 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to bury the dead. 10 How he became blinde. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reproacheth him bitterely.

NOwe when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto me with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecoste, which is the holy [feast] of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner those which feare God.

2 And whē I saw abundance of meat, I said to my sonne, Go, and bring what poore man man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren which doth remember God, and loe I will tary for thee.

3 But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, & is cast out in the market place.

Tobit, leauing his gheetes, taketh by the dead bodie into his house to burie it. Amos.8. 10.1.mac. 2.31.

4 Then before I had tasted any meat, I start vp, & brought him into mine house vntil the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauines,

6 Remembring that prophesie of *Amos, which had said, Your solemne feastes shalbe turned into mourning, & your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, & after the going downe of the sunne I went & made a graue and buried him.

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbours. Chap.2.19

8 But my neighbours mocked mee, and said, Doth he not feare, to die for this cause, who *fled away, and yet loe, hee buryeth the dead againe?

9 The same night also whē I returned from the burial, & slept at the wall of mine house because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered,

10 And I knewe not that sparrowes were in the wall, & as mine eyes were open, the sparrowes cast downe warme dongue into mine eies, and a whitenes came in mine eyes, & I went to the Physitions, but they helped me not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntill I went into Helimais.

Hee is made blinde for an example of patience to his posterite.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to do.

12 And when she had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, & gaue a kid, 13 Which when it was at mine house, & began to bleate, I said vnto her, Frō whēce is this kid: is it not stolen: render it to ꝑ owners: for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stolen.

The iuste of Tobit laboureth for her liuing.

The innocencie of Tobit. Deut.22.1.

14 But thee saide, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blushe, because of her. Furthermore she said, *Where are thine almes, and thy righteousnes: behold, they all now appeare in thee.

Iob.2.9.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, & the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

THē I, being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorowe prayed, saying,

2 O Lorde, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercie and trueth, & thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on mee, neither punish mee according to my sinnes or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs *for a spoyle, and bondage, & captiuitie, & to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and nowe ‖thou hast many and iust causes,

Deut.28. 15.37.

‖or, thy iudgements are many, and true.

5 To do with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because wee haue not kept thy commandements, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Nowe therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and commande my spirite to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: commande therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from mee.

Sarra is cherished of her fathers maydes.

7 ¶ It came to passe ꝑ same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra ꝑ daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides,

8 Because she had bene maried to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not knowe, saide they, that thou hast strangled thine husbandes: thou hast had nowe seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

‖or, when she bare them, for their sakes they fast.

9 Wherefore doest thou beate vs for thē, if they be dead, go thy waies hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When she heard these things, she was verie sorowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And shee saide, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shal bring his age to the graue with sorowe.

Sarra prayeth, & fasteth that she may be deliuered from shame.

11 Then she prayed toward the window & said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, & thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, & honorable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take mee out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproche.

The innocencie of Sarra.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor ꝑ name of my father in the lande of

Her chastitie.

of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any man childe to bee his heire, neither any [Greek, neere kinsman] neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuē [husbandes] are now dead, and why should I liue: But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on mee, and to pitie me that I doe no more heare reproche.

The prayers of Tobit, and Sarra are heard both at a time.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, [that is,] to take away the whitenes of Tobits eies, and to giue Sarra ꝑ daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias ꝑ sonne of Tobit, and to bind Asmodeus the euil spirite, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, & Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

Chap.1.14

THat day Tobit remembred *the siluer, which he had deliuered to Gabael in Rages [a citie] of Media,

2 And sayd with him selfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonishe him before I die:

Tobits exhortation to his son, when hee thought he should die.

3 And when he had called him, he sayde, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie mee, and despise not thy mother, but *honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

The mother is to be reuerenced Exod.20. 12.eccl.3.7.17.

4 Remember, my sonne, howe many dangers shee sustained when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when she dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

God must bee in our hearts.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne or to transgresse the commaundements of God. Do vprightly all thy life lōg, & follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnes: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shal prosperously succeede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

Almes. Prouerb. 3.9.eccles. 4.1.& 14. 13.luk.14. 13.

7 Giue *almes of thy substance: & when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

Eccles. 35.10.

8 *Giue almes according to thy substāce: if thou haue but a little, be not afraide to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessitie, Eccles.29. 23.

10 *Because that almes doeth deliuer frō death, & suffereth not to come into darknes.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

Auoutrie. 1.Thes.4.3

12 Beware of all *whoredome, my sonne, and chiefely take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a straunge woman to wife which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac & Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne that they married wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children and their seede shall inherite the land.

Pride.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fiercenes is scarcety and great pouertie: for ‖ fiercenes is the mother of famine.

Wages of an hired seruant. Leuit.19. 13.deut.24. 14.15.

14 Let not the *wages of any mā, which hath wrought for thee, tarie with thee, but giue him it out of hande: for if thou serue GOD, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and bee well instructed in all thy conuersation.

Mat.7.12. Luke.6.31.

15 *Doe that to no man which thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse goe with thee in thy iourney.

Luk.12.33. The like. Mat.6.2.

16 *Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, & *of all thine aboundance giue almes, and let not thine eye bee enuious, when thou giuest almes.

Pro.be liberall to the iust, euen to their death.

17 ‖ Powre out thy bread on the burial of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Aske counsell alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

Counsell, God is to bee blessed.

19 Blesse thy Lord God alway, & desire of him ꝑ thy wayes may bee made streight, and that al thy purpoles, and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as hee will: nowe therefore, my sonne, remember my commaūdements, neither let them at any time bee put out of thy mind.

Chap.1.14

20 *Furthermore I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

Pouerty with the feare of God.

21 And feare not, my sonne, for as much as we are made poore: for thou hast many thinges, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and do that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages, 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which vndertaketh to conduct him.

Tobias

TObias then answered, and said, Father, I will doe all thinges which thou hast commaunded mee.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

Tobias sent by his father to Rages, seeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom he hyreth to his father.

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, & saide vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.

4 Therfore when he was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But hee knewe not, and said vnto him, May I go with thee into ꝑ land of Media: and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel saide, I will go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias saide to him, Tarie for mee, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Goe, and tarie not: so he went in and said to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will go with me. Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may knowe of what tribe hee is, and whether he be faithfull to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and hee came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doest thou seeke a stocke or familie, or an hired man to go with thy sonne? Then Tobit saide vnto him, I would knowe, brother, thy kynred and thy name.

12 Then he sayde, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

For them commeth happily.

13 Then Tobit said, Thou art welcome, brother: bee not nowe angry with mee, because I haue enquired to know thy kinred, and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knowe Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for wee went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with the errour of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tel me, what wages shal I giue thee? Wilt thou a groate a day and thinges necessarie, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer if ye returne safe, I will adde some thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all thinges for the iourney, his father sayd, Go thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauē, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both and departed, & the dogge of the yong man with them.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angel keeping him company. His mother weepeth. Chap.10.4

17 But Anna his mother wept, & sayd to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God We had not layde money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which GOD hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not careful, my sister: hee shall returne in safetie, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angell doeth keepe him company, and his iourney shalbee prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then shee made an ende of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

1 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 10 He conducteth him toward Sarra.

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

Tobias, inuaded of a fish, is deliuered by the Angell.

2 And When the young man went to wash him selfe, a fishe leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angell said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, & drewe it to land.

4 To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, & the gall, and put them by surely.

5 So the young man did as the Angell commaunded him: & when they had rosted the fishe, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 Then the yong man said to the Angell, Brother Azarias, What auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fishe?

7 And hee said vnto him, Touching the heart & the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirite trouble any, wee must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shalbe no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoynt a man that hath whitenes in his eyes, and hee shalbe healed.

9 And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day wee shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: hee also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giuen thee for a wife.

For

Num.27.8. and 36.8.

11 For to thee doth ỹ right of her perteine, seeing ỹ alone art the remnant of her kinred, 12 And the maide is faire and wise: now therefore heare mee, and I will speake to her father, that wee may make the marriage when wee are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marrie her to another according to the lawe of Moses: els hee shoulde deserue death, because the right doth rather apperteine to thee then to any other man.
13 Then the yong man answered the Angell, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maide hath beene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the mariage chamber:
14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afrayed, least I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no bodie, but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare least I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of mee to the graue with sorowe: for they haue no other sonne to burie them.
15 Then the Angell said vnto him, Doest thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marrie a wife of thine owne kinred: wherefore heare me, O my brother: for the shalbe thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirite: for this same night shall shee bee giuen thee in marriage.
16 And when thou shalt go into the mariage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish, 17 Which if the spirit do smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for thee is appoynted vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and the shall go with thee: moreouer I suppose that she shal beare thee children: nowe when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

Raphael e Tobias come to Raguel.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel: & Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.
2 Then sayde Raguel to Edna his wife, Howe like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin!
3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they said, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.
4 Then he said to thē, Do ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they sayd, We knowe him. Then sayd he, Is he in good health?
5 And they sayd, He is both aliue, and in good health: & Tobias said, He is my father.
6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept,
7 And blessed him, and saide vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when hee had heard that Tobit was blind, he was sorowfull and wept.
8 And like wise Edna his wife, & Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receyued them with a readie minde, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meate on the table. Then sayde Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel saide to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merrie.
10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marrie my daughter: neuertheleſſe, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.
11 I haue giuen my daughter in mariage to seuē men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheleſſe, be thou of a good courage and merrie. But Tobias said, I will eate nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.
12 Raguel said thē, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, & she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.
13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the *Lawe of Moyses, and lead her away to thy father: and he blessed them.

Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias. Nom.36.8.

14 And called his wife Edna, & he tooke a booke and wrote a contract, and sealed it.
15 Then they began to eate.
16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and saide vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.
17 Which when she had done, as he had bidden her, shee brought her thither: then [Sarra] wept, & her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorow: bee of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for the louing in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

AND When they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembred the wordes of Raphael, & tooke coles for perfumes, & put the heart & liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirite had smelled, he fled into the vtmost partes of Egypt, whom the Angell bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, & all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him * Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankinde: thou hast saide, It is not good, that a man should bee alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercie, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He sayde to his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them see whether hee bee aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none knowe it.

13 So the maid opened the doore, & went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came forth, and told them that he was aliue.

15 Then Raguel prayed God, and saide, O God, thou art worthie to be prayed with all pure, and holy prayse: therefore let thy saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lorde: for thou hast made me ioyful, & that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercie.

17 Thou art to bee prayed because thou hast had mercie of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lorde, and finish their life in health with ioye and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And hee kept the Wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had sayd vnto him by an othe, that hee should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the mariage were expired,

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods & returne in safetie to his father, and [should haue] the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias mariage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money and bring him to the Wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the daies: and if I tarie long, he will be verie sorie.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth, both together, & came to the Wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOwe Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, & there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was verie sorie.

4 Then his wife saide to him, My sonne is dead, seeing hee tarieth: and she began to *bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Holde thy peace, and deceiue mee not: my sonne is dead: and shee went out euery day by the way, which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nightes in bewailing her sonne Tobias vntill the fourteene dayes of the Wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tarie there. Then Tobias sayd to Raguel, Let me go: for my father and my mother looke

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell, as Chap. 6.7 [or, 17 marg.].

Gen. 2. 18.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead made a graue for him.

Raguel prayseth God for Tobias.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the mariage of his daughter to Tobias.

Tobias care for his sonne. The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

The father and mother are in ten wines for Tobias tarying.

Chap. 5.17

looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in lawe saide vnto him, Tary with me, & I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father.

Raguel giueth Tobias, and his wife leaue to depart.

10 Then Raguel arose, & gaue him Sara his wife, and half his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money, 11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

Sara is instructed by her parents.

12 And he saide to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in lawe which are nowe thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also sayde to Tobias, The Lorde of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lorde. Beholde now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreate her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How hee was receyued. 10 His father hath his sight restored and praiseth the Lord.

AFter these things Tobias went his way, praysing God that hee had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, & went on his way till he drewe neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael sayde to Tobias, thou knowest, brother, howe thou diddest leaue thy father.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hande the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she sawe comming, shee saide to his father, Beholde, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I knowe, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, hee shall rub and make the whitenes to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and sayde vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from hence forth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth towarde the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke holde of his father & sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenes pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he sawe his sonne, he fell vpon his necke,

14 And he wept & said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged mee, and hast had pitie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and praysing God to the gate of Nineue: and they which sawe him go, marueiled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them al, that God had had pitie on him. And when hee came neere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God bee blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus & Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias mariage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pledges that Raphael had done him, 5 The which he would recompence. 11 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angell sent of God.

THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, & saide vnto him, Proounde, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, & hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man said, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angell, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and go away in safetie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, & sayd vnto them, Prayse God, and confesse him, and giue him the glorie, and prayse him for the things which he hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to prayse God, & to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his eudent Workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secretes of a King, but it is honourable to reueile the Workes of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousnesse. A little with righteousnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes then to lay vp golde.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousnes, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing frō you: neuertheless, I said it was good to keepe close ỹ secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueile the Workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou didst pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the holy one: and when thou didst burie the dead, I was with thee likewise.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with tentation.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, & leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from me: but I was with thee.

14 And nowe God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.

15 I am Raphael one of the seuē holy Angels, which present ỹ prayers of the Saints, and which go forth before his holy maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fel vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shal go wel with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherfore prayse him in all ages.

Gen.18.8. and 19.3. iudg.13.16

19 *All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I go vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they sawe him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great & Wonderfull Workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to prayse the Lord.

When Tobit wrote a prayer of reioicing, and said, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and [blessed be] his kingdome.

2 *For he doth scourge, and hath pitie: he leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyd his hand.

Deut.32. 39.1.sam.2. 6.wil.16.13.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, yee children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnes, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God and our Father for euer.

5 He hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, & deale vprightly before him, then will he turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what hee will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & prayse the Lorde of righteousnes, and extoll the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, & will declare his power, and greatnes to a sinfull nation. O ye sinners, turne and do iustice before him: Who can tell if he will receiue you to mercy, and haue pitie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule [shall praise] the king of heauen, and shal reioyce in his greatnes.

8 Let al men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousnes.

9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, hee will scourge thee for thy childrens Workes, but he will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lord duely, & prayse the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, [euen] gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall prayse thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are al they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall bleese the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shal reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glorie and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule bleese God the great King.

16 For

16 For Jerusalem shall be built vp with sapphires, & emeraudes, & thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.

17 And the streetes of Jerusalem shal be paued with beral, and carbuncle, and stones for, Sophir of ‖ Ophir.

for, prayse ye the Lord. 18 And all her streetes shall say, ‖ Halelujah, and they shall prayse him, saying, ‖ That is, Jerusalem. Blessed bee God which hath extolled it for euer.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophesieth the destruction of Nineue, 5 And the restoying of Jerusalem and the Temple, 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an ende of prayising God.

2 And hee was eight and fiftie yeere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and he gaue almes, and he cõtinued to feare the Lord God, and to prayse him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am readie to depart out of this life)

4 Go into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shalbe destroyed, [and] for a time peace shal rather be in Media, and that our brethren shalbe scattered in the earth from that good lande, and Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

Ezra 3.8. and 6.14. 5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the lande where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euerie place out of captiuitie, and build vp Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, & feare the Lord God truly, and shal burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations prayse the Lorde, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lorde shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lorde in trueth and iustice, shal reioice, and those also which shew mercie to our brethren.

8 And nowe, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust that it may go well with thee.

10 And burie mee honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, howe Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darknes, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darknes. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore nowe, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and howe righteousnes doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghost in the bedde, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honorably.
for, his feete failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, & he buried his father and mother in law honorably, and he inherited their substance & Tobits his father.

14 And hee died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arpharad, and ouercame him. 12 He threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arpharad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles roũd about, of hewen stone, three cubites broade, and six cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towers therof in ỹ gates of it of an hundreth cubites, and the breadth therof in the foundation threescore cubites,

4 And made ỹ gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubites, &

16 For Jerusalem shall be built vp with sapphires, & emeraudes, & thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.

17 And the streetes of Jerusalem shal be paued with beral, and carbuncle, and stones for, Sophir of ‖ Ophir.

for, prayse ye the Lord. 18 And all her streetes shall say, ‖ Halelujah, and they shall prayse him, saying, ‖ That is, Jerusalem. Blessed bee God which hath extolled it for euer.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophesieth the destruction of Nineue, 5 And the restoying of Jerusalem and the Temple, 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an ende of prayising God.

2 And hee was eight and fiftie yeere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and he gaue almes, and he cõtinued to feare the Lord God, and to prayse him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am readie to depart out of this life)

4 Go into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shalbe destroyed, [and] for a time peace shal rather be in Media, and that our brethren shalbe scattered in the earth from that good lande, and Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

Ezra 3.8. and 6.14. 5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the lande where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euerie place out of captiuitie, and build vp Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, & feare the Lord God truly, and shal burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations prayse the Lorde, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lorde shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lorde in trueth and iustice, shal reioice, and those also which shew mercie to our brethren.

8 And nowe, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust that it may go well with thee.

10 And burie mee honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, howe Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darknes, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darknes. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore nowe, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and howe righteousnes doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghost in the bedde, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honorably.
for, his feete failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, & he buried his father and mother in law honorably, and he inherited their substance & Tobits his father.

14 And hee died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arpharad, and ouercame him. 12 He threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arpharad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles roũd about, of hewen stone, three cubites broade, and six cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towers therof in ỹ gates of it of an hundreth cubites, and the breadth therof in the foundation threescore cubites,

4 And made ỹ gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubites, &

the breadth of them fourtie cubites, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in aray of his footemen)

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arpharad in the great fielde, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him al they that dwelt in the mountaines, and al that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris and Hydaspes, and the country of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, & very many nations assembled themselues to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the west, & to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people, that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hier Galile, & the great field of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Jorden vnto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, & Taphnes, and Ramesse and all the land of Gesem, 10 Vnto one come to Tanis, & Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this country did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battel: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was verie angrie with all this countrey, and sware by his throne and kingdome that he would surely bee auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sworde all the inhabitants of the lande of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against King Arpharad in the seuenteenth yeere, and hee preuailed in his battell: for he ouerthrewe all the power of Arpharad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres, and spoiled the streetes therof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arpharad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him through with his dartes, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both hee and all his companie with a verie great multitude of men of warre, and there he passed the time, and banketed, both hee, and his armie an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought in subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie, 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth [day] of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that hee should auenge him selfe on all the earth, as hee had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secrete counsel, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeied the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, & which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lorde of the whole earth, Beholde, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt go against all the west countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoyle vnto them.

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleis, and their riuers, and the flood shall ouerflowe, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, & take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare thē, but put thē to death, and and spoyle them where soeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, & the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandementes of thy lorde, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battel, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth and twentie thousande, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels & asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision,

18 And vitaile for euery man of the army, and very much golde and siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went forth and al his power, to go before in the viage of King Nabuchodonosor, and to couer al the face of the earth westwarde, with their charets, and horsemen, and chosen footemen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is at the left hande of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Thē he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroied Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Rasses, & the children of Ismael, which were towarde the wildernes at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed al that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were towarde the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 Hee compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in ỹ time of Wheat haruest, and burnt vp al their fieldes, & destroyed their flockes and the herdes: hee robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of ỹ swoorde.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon al the inhabitāts of the sea cost, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Oma, and al that dwelt in Iemnaan: & they that dwelt in Azotus, & Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 Hee destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might onely be worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: We lie downe before thee: vse vs as shalbe good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and al our places, and al our fieldes of wheat, and our flockes, and our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Beholde, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisōs in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chose men for the warre.

7 So they and al the countrey round about receiued them, with crownes, with dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy al the gods of ỹ land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues & tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also hee came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great strait of Iudea, 10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there hee taried a moneth, that hee might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid & defended their countrey. 6 Ioacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie thē selues. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled them selues before him.

NOwe the children of Israel that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and howe he had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to naught.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, & were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had byn sanctified because of the pullution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coasts of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoron, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of warre: for their fieldes were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioacim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdraelon towarde the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by thē there was an entrie into Iudea, and it was easie to let thē that woulde come by, because the passage was streit for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioacim the hie Priest had commanded thē with the Ancients of al ꝑ people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem.

9 Thē cried euery man of Israel to God with great feruencie, and their soules with great affection.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinckled ashes vpon their heads, and spred out their sackecloth before the face of the Lorde: also they put sackecloth about the altar, 12 And cried to the God of Israel, al with one consent most earnestly, that hee woulde not giue their children for a praye, and their wiues for a spoyle, & the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproche, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, & looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea and Ierusalē before the Sanctuarie of the Lord almightie.

14 And Ioacim the high Priest, & al the Priests that stoode before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackecloth, and offred the continuall burnt offring, with prayers and the free giftes of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mytres, and cryed vnto the Lorde with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the maner of the Israelites.

WHen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of ꝑ armie of Assur, ꝑ the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, & had walled all the toppes of the hie hilles, and had layde impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith hee was verie angrie, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captains of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he said vnto thē, Shew me, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines: and what are the cities that they inhabite: & what is the multitude of their armie: and wherein is their strength & their power: & what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie:

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the west:

5 Then *said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my Lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I wil declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwel in these mountaines, nere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. *Chap.11. 7.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And *they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe ꝑ gods of their fathers, which were in the lande of Chaldea. *Gen.11.31

8 But they went out of the way of their auncesters & worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knewe: so they cast thē out from the face of their gods, & they fled into Mesopotamia, & soiourned there many dayes.

9 Then *their God commanded them to depart from the place where they soiourned, and to goe into the lande of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with *Gen.12.1.

gold

gold and siluer, and with very much cattel.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there til they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

Exod.1.8. 11 *Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cried vnto their GOD, and he smote all the lande of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the* Egyptians cast thē out of their sight.

Exod.12. 34,33.

Exod.14. 21. 13 And* God dried the red sea in their presence, Exod 19. 2. 14. And* brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wildernes.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroied by their strength al them of Esebon, and passing ouer Jordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

Iosh.12.8. 16 And they* cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pheresites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

Iud.2.11. &3.8. 18 But* when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sorte, *and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: & the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

2.King.25. 9,11.

Esra 1.1,3. 19 But* nowe they are turned to their GOD, and are come by from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Jerusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therfore, my lord & gouernour, if there be any faulte in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shalbe their ruine, and let vs go vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there bee none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, least their Lord defend them, & their God be for them, & wee become a reproch before all the worlde.

22 ¶And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that hee shoulde kill him.

23 For, [say they,] We feare not to meete the children of Israel: for lo, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therfore go vp, O lord Olofernes, & thei shalbe meat for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the handes of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crye vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the mē that were about the counsel, was ceassed, Olofernes, ỳ chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before al the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast saide that the people of Jerusalem is able to fight, *because their God wil defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

Chap.5.5. 21.

3 He wil send his power, and wil destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For wee will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee dronken with their bloud, and their fieldes shalbe filled with their dead bodies, & their footesteppes shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hath said, eue he hath said, None of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntil I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shal the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountains, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mynde, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shalbe in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they shoulde bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So

11 So his seruants tooke him, & brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they wēt out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, & came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the toppe of the moūtaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the toppe of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, & kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went prouily vnder the hill, & bound Achior, and left him lying at ꝑ foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came down frō their citie, and stoode about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, & presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in thole dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancientes of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of ꝑ which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, & whatsoeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the houle of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, beholde their pride, & haue mercie on the baleneſſe of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, & prayed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of ꝑ assemblie into his houle, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doeth beſiege Bethulia. 8 The counſell of the Iournieans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THe next day, Olofernes commāded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their campes against Bethulia, & that they should take all the streites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their campes in that daye, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spred abroade toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Nowe will they thut vp al ꝑ whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines nor the valleis, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second daye, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And vewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and set garrisons of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our captaine nowe heare a worde, least an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the moūtaines, wherin they dwel, because it is not easie to come vp to ꝑ toppes of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore, my lorde, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one mā of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, & let thy men keepe stil the water of the countrey, that cōmeth forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitantes of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will go vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watche that none go out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shalbe consumed with famine, and before the sworde come against them, they shall be ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, reward, because they rebelled and obeied not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Olofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to do as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, & with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, & the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with ỹ children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaine ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of them selues towarde the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of ỹ armie of the Assyrians camped in the fielde, and couered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cried vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, & there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the companie of Assur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen, foure & thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitantes of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, & they had not water inough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, & their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, & fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then al the people assembled to Ozias, & to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cried with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders, Exod.f.11. 24 The *Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For now we haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their hands, ỹ we should be throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoile to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a spoile vnto them, thē to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that we may liue, & not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witnes against you ỹ heauen and the earth, and our God and Lorde of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes & the sins of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crye of all with one consent in the midst of the assemblie, & they cried vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.

30 Then said Ozias to them, Bzethzen, be of good courage: let vs wayte yet fiue dayes, in the which space ỹ Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, & there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life and conuersation of Judeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintnes of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but wayte vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

NOw at that time, Judeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Or, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kinred, who died in the barly harueſt.

3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in ỹ field, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and dyed in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the fielde betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widowe three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And she made her a tent vpō her house, and put on sackecloth on her loynes, & ware her widowes apparell.

6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhode, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbaths, and the daye before the newe moones, and in the feasts & solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance and very beautifull to behoide: and her husbande Manasses had left her gold and siluer, siluer, and men seruants, & maide seruants, and cattell, and possessions, where thee remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for thee feared God greatly.

9 Nowe when she heard the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Judeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had * sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dayes)

Chap. 7. 26. 31.

10 Then she sent her maide, that had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the Ancientes of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and she saide vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of þ inhabitantes of Bethulia: for your wordes that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which ye made and pronounced betweene God & you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And nowe who are you that haue tẽpted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men:

13 So nowe you seeke the Lord almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you can not finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that he thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehẽde his purpose: Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs whẽ he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as þ sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor familie, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship þ gods made with hands, as hath bene afore time.

Iudg.17. & 21. and 18.

19 For * the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God: therfore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our lmage.

21 Neither when we shalbe taken, shall Judea be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shalbe spoiled, and he will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth,

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolatiõ of our inheritance will hee turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, whersoeuer we shalbe in bondage, and we shalbe an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shal turne it to dishonour.

24 Nowe therefore, O brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpõ vs, & the Sanctuarie, & the house, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thankes to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to * Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that he did to * Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

Gen.22.7. Gen.28.7.

27 For he hath not tried vs as he did thẽ to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come nere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were verie thirstie, & compelled vs to do vnto them, as wee haue spokẽ, and haue brought vs to an oth which we may not transgresse.

31 Therefore nowe pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that þ Lord may sende vs rayne to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Judeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will go forth with mine handmaide: and within the daies that ye haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, til the things be finished that I do.

35 Then

35 Then ſaide Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lorde God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wardes.

CHAP. IX.

1 Judeth humbleth her ſelfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Againſt the pride of the Aſſyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

WHen Judeth fell vpon her face, and put aſhes vpō her head, and put off the ſackecloth where with ſhee was clothed. And about the time that ꝑ incenſe of that euening was offered in Jeruſalem in the houſe of the Lord, Judeth cryed with a loud voyce, and ſaid, Gene.34. 2 O Lorde God of my father* Simeon, to whom thou gaueſt a ſworde to take vengeance of the ſtrangers which opened the wombe of the mayde, and defiled her, and diſcouered the thigh with ſhame, and polluted the wombe to reproche (for thou haddeſt commanded that it ſhould not ſo be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gaueſt their princes to ꝑ ſlaughter, for they were deceiued and waſhed their beds with blood) and haſt ſtricken the ſeruantes with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And haſt giuen their wiues for a praye and their daughters to be captiues, and all their ſpoyles for a bootie to the children that thou louedſt: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for aide, O God, O my God, heare me alſo a widdowe.

5 For thou haſt wrought ꝑ things afore, and theſe, and the things that ſhalbe after, and thou conſidereſt the things that are preſent, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doeſt purpoſe, are preſent, and ſay, Beholde, wee are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Beholde, the Aſſyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted thē ſelues with horſes and horſemen: they glory in the ſtrength of their footemen: they truſt in ſhielde, ſpeare and bowe, & ſling, and do not know that thou art the Lord that breakeſt the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their ſtrength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purpoſed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name reſteth, & to caſt downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and ſend thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hande which am a widdowe, the ſtrength that I haue conceiued.

10 *Smite by the deceit of my lippes the ſeruant with the prince, and the prince with the ſeruant: abate their height by the hande of a woman. Iudg.4.11. & 5.26.

11 *For thy power ſtandeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in ſtrong men: but thou, O Lorde, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protector of them that are forſaken, and the Sauiour of them that are without hope. Iudg.7.2. 2.chro.14. 11.& 16.8. & 20.6.

12 Surely, ſurely [thou art] the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Iſrael, the Lorde of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer,

13 And graunt me wordes and craft, and a wound, and a ſtroke againſt them that enterpriſe cruell things againſt thy couenant, and againſt thine holy houſe, and againſt the top of Sion, and againſt the houſe of the poſſeſſion of thy children.

14 Shewe euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art ꝑ God of all power & ſtrength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Iſrael, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Judeth decketh her ſelfe and goeth forth of the citie. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Aſſyrians and brought to Holofernes.

NOwe after ſhee had ceaſed to cry vnto the God of Iſrael, and had made an ende of all theſe wordes,

2 She roſe where she had fallen downe, and called her mayde, and went downe into the houſe, in the which ſhee abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feaſt dayes,

3 And putting away the ſackecloth wherewith ſhee was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowehode, ſhe waſhed her body with water, & anoynted it with much ointment, and dreſſed the heare of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnes, where with ſhe was clad during the life of Manaſſes her huſband.

4 And ſhee put ſlippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and cleenes, and rings, and earings, and all her ornaments, and ſhe decked her ſelfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that ſhoulde ſee her.

5 Then ſhee gaue her mayde a bottell of wine, and a pot of oyle, & filled a ſcrip with flowre, and with drye figges, and with fine bread: ſo ſhe lapped vp all theſe things together and layde them vpon her.

6 Thus they went foorth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and founde standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they sawe her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the thinges which you haue spoke to me. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, shee and her mayde with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill shee was gone downe the mountaine, and till shee had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went streyght forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, & asked her, Of what people art thou: and whence commest thou: and whither goest thou? And she sayde, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby he shal goe and winne all the mountaines, without losing the bodie or life of any of his men.

14 Now when ꝑ men heard her wordes, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lorde: nowe therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntil they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraide in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, & hee will intreate thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, & prepared a charet for her and her mayde, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout ꝑ campe: for her comming was bruted among the tents: and they came and stoode rounde about her: for she stood without the tent of Holofernes vntil they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondred at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remayne, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holofernes garde went out, and all his seruantes, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Nowe Holofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, & they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and shee fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Holofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 And asketh the cause of her coming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire words.

Then saide Holofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in ꝑ mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to them selues.

3 But now tel me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegarde: bee of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, & hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they doe the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth saide vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt followe the wordes of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lorde shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall be made subiect to him by thee, but also the beasts of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shal liue liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirite, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feates of warre marueilous.

Chap.5.5. 9 Now *as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsell, wee haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lorde and gouernour, reiect not his worde, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Nowe therefore least my lorde shoulde be frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may bee taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, [which is] so oft times as they do that which is not beseeming,

12 (For because their victailes fayle, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all thinges that God had forbidden them to eate by his lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Jerusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touche with their hands.

14 Moreouer they haue sent to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as shoulde bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring the worde, they will do it, and they shalbe giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmayde, knowing all this, am fledde from their presence, and GOD hath sent mee to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoeuer shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reueile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes,

18 And I will come and shewe it vnto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee through the middes of Judea, vntill thou come before Jerusalem, and I will set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto mee, and declared vnto mee according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shewe thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Holofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueyled at her wisedome, and sayde, 21 There is not such a woman in all the worlde, both for beautie of face, and wisedome of wordes.

22 Likewise Holofernes sayde vnto her, God ‖ hath done this, to sende thee before the people, that strength might bee in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord. ‖ Or, hath done well.

23 And nowe thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowmed throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Judeth woulde not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5 Shee maketh her request that shee myght goe out by nyght to pray. 11 Holofernes causeth her to come to the banket.

THen he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layde, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that shee shoulde drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Judeth saide, *I may not eate of them, least there shoulde bee an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the thinges that I haue brought. Gene.43. 32.dan.1.8. 10.h.1.11.

3 Then Holofernes sayd vnto her, If the thinges that thou hast, shoulde fayle, howe shoulde wee giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayde Judeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shall not spende those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hande the thinges that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruantes of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill mydnyght, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord commande that thine handmaide may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes commanded his garde that they shoulde not staye her: thus she abode in the campe three dayes, & went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lorde God of Israel, that he Woulde direct her waye to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remayned pure in the tent, vntill shee ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth daye, Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruantes onely, and called none of them to the banket, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then saide he to Bagoas the eunuche who had charge ouer all that hee had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eate, and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if Wee shoulde let such a woman alone, & not talke with her, and if Wee doe not allure her, shee will mocke vs.

13 Then Went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and sayde, Let not this fayre mayde make difficultie to goe in to my lorde, and to bee honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to bee entreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remayne in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then sayde Judeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gainsay my lorde? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioye vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garmentes, and with all the ornamentes of women, and her mayde went, and spred forth her skinnes on ꝑ grounde ouer against Holofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Judeth came and sate downe, Holofernes hart was rauished with her, and his spirite was moued, and he desired greatly her company: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then sayde Holofernes vnto her, Drinke nowe, and be mery with vs.

18 So Judeth sayde, I drinke nowe, my lorde, because my state is exalted this daye more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then shee tooke, and ate and dranke before him the thinges, that her mayde had prepared.

20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then hee had dronken at any time in one day since hee was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Judeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOwe when the euening was come, his seruantes made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dimissed those that were presente, from the presence of his lorde, and they went to their beddes: for they were all Wearie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine. Ecclus.31. 20,25.

3 ¶ Nowe Judeth had commanded her mayde to stande Without her chamber, and to waite for her comming forth as shee did daily: for she said, she Would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth of her presence, and none Was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Judeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of al power, beholde at this present the Woorkes of mine hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bedde which Was at Holofernes head, and tooke downe his sawchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bedde, and tooke holde of the heare of his head, and sayde, Strengthen mee, O Lorde God of Israel this day.

8 And shee smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And roled his bodie downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gaue Holofernes head to her maide,

10 And she put it in her strippe of meate: so they twayne Went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and prayalling through thrǒugh the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶Then saide Judeth a farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open nowe the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Jerusalem, and his force agaynst his enemies, as hee hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to go downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne all together both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that shee shoulde come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stoode round aboute them twaine.

14 Then she saide to them with a loude voyce, Prayse God, prayse God: for he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrip and shewed it, and saide vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and he hath not committed sinne with mee by any pollution or vilenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God, and sayd with one accord, Blessed bee thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to naught the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lorde God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chief of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall prayse, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Judeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior worshipeth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites go out against the Assyrians.

THen saide Judeth vnto them, heare me also, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpō the hiest place of your walles. 2.Macca. 15.33.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euerie valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would go downe into the field, toward the watche of the Assyrians, but go not downe.

3 Then they shal take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and rayse vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you & all that inhabite the coastes of Israel, shal pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, cal me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, and knowe him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of ỹ house of Ozias, and when he was come and sawe the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assemblie of the people, hee fell downe on his face, and his spirite failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Judeths feete, and reuerenced her, & saide, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Juda, and in all nations, which, hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.

8 Nowe therefore tell me all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Judeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that shee had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre she spake vnto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, & made a noyse of gladnes thrǒugh their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing al things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfainedly, and circumcised the foreskinne of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶Assoone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, & they went forth by bandes vnto the straites of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent and said to him ỹ had the charge of al his things, Waken our lorde: for the slaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the dooze of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Judeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and founde him cast vpon the flooze, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loude voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mightie crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, he went into the tent of Judeth where he vsed to remaine, & found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cryed, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes [lieth] vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these wordes, they rent their coates, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crie and a verie great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afrayed and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Joacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Judeth and to prayse God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amased, they fledde by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola and to all the coastes of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpō their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpō them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Jerusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntill they came to Damascus and to the coastes thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Joacim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the childrē of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to confirme the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, & said vnto her, Thou art the exaltatiō of Jerusalem: thou art the great glorie of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almightie Lorde for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Judeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beddes, and basins, and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it and layde it on her mules, and made ready her charets, and laied them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, & made a daunce among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, & her that was with her, and she went before the people in the daunce, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crowns, & with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Judeth prayseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lorde Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continence, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Judeth began this cōfessiō in all Israel, & al the people sang this song with a loude voyce.

2 And Judeth saide, Beginne vnto my GOD with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a psalme: exalte his prayse, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and [pitched] his campe in the middes of the people, and delivered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur

4 Assur came frō the mountaines fooreth of the North: hee came with thousandes in his armie, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers and their horsemen haue couered the valleis. Chap.2.15.

5 He said that he would burne vp my borders and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the grounde, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almightie Lord hath brought them to naught by the hande of a woman.

7 For the mightie dyd not fall by the yong men, neyther dyd the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the hie giantes inuade him, but Judeth the daughter of Merari dyd discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowehoode, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anoynted her face with oyntment, and bounde vp her heare in a coife, and tooke a linen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prysoner, and the sawchin passed throough his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones showted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.

12 The children of maydes perced them, and wounded them as they fledde awaye like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lorde a song and prayse, O Lorde, thou art great and glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirite, and hee made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce. Gene.1.24. pſal.33.9.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete sauour, and all the fatte is too litle for thy burnt offring: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lorde almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpō their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord, & assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offrings, & their free offrings, & their giftes.

19 Judeth also offred all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had giuen her, & gaue the canopie which she had take off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people. ‖ Or, her people.

23 But the increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbandes house, being an hundreth and fiue yere olde, and made her mayde free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neerest of her kinred. Gen.50.10

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraied in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

Esther.

Esther.

Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are founde in some Greeke and Latin translations.

Which followe the tenth Chapter.

4 THen Mardocheus sayde, GOD hath done these thinges.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I sawe cõcerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A litle fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I & Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Jewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from al these euils, & God hath wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therfore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and an other for al the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houre & time appoynted, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore thole dayes shall bee vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assemblie and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolomeus & Cleopatra Dositheus, who said he was a priest and Leuite, and Ptolomeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of Phurai, which they said Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted,

‖Or, Ioses.

2 In þ second yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerres in the first daye of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus þ sonne of Jarus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin had a dreame,

3 A Jew dwelling in the citie of Susis, a noble man, þ bare office in the Kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the King of Babylon brought from Jerusalem with Jechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Beholde a noyse of a tempest with thunders, & earthquakes, & vproare in the land.

6 Behold two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against an other.

7 Their crye was great, whereby al the heathen were ready to fight against þ righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darknes and obscuritie, & trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, and being ready to dye, cryed vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the litle well greWe into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Nowe when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, hee awoke & rose vp & thought in his heart vntill the night, What God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dWelt Mardocheus in the kinges court wt Bagathas, & Thara, the kinges eunuches & keepers of the palace.

Esther.2. 21. & 6.2.

2 *But when hee heard their purpole, and their imaginations, hee perceiued that they went about to lay their handes vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so hee certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the king to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had cõfessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote þ same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, & for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour & reputation with þ king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the King that were put to death.

CHAP.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

Ioseph. antiq.li.11. chap.6.

THe copie of the letters was this, The great king Artaxerres writeth these thinges to the princes & gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lorde ouer many people, & had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed w equitie alway and gentlenes to gouerne my subiects, and wholy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquilitie, that men might safely go thorowe out euery side, and to renewe peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Nowe when I asked my counselers howe these thinges might bee brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisedome, & constant in good will, and shewed him selfe to bee of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdom, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to al people, and haue allway despised the commaundements of Kinges, and so that this generall empire, that wee haue begonne, can not be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing nowe we perceiue, þ this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, & hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shal al with their wiues and children be destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without all mercie, and that none bee spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yere,

7 That they which of olde, and now also haue euer bin rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to þ intent that after this time our affaires may bee without troubles, and well gouerned in all pointes.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes and of the Lorde, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lorde, the King almightie (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstande thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen & earth, & al the wonderous things vnder the heauē.

11 Thou art Lord of al things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lorde.

12 Thou knowest all thinges, and thou knowest, Lorde, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glorie, that I did this, and not bow downe to proude Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feete.

14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glorie of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lorde, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God & King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to naught, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, þ hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion, which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be merciful vnto thy portion: turne our sorowe into ioy, that wee may liue, O Lord, and prayse thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cryed most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QVeene Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And laid away her glorious apparell, & put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In þ stead of precious ointment, she scattered ashes, and dongue vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled she with the heare that she pluckt off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou onely art our King: helpe me desolate womā, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in þ kinred of my father, that thou, O Lorde, tookest Israel from among al people, & our fathers from their predecessours for a perpetuall inheritance, & thou hast performed

that that which thou diddest promise them.

6 Nowe Lorde, wee haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the hands of our enemies,

7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheless, it satisfieth them not, þ wee are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp þ mouth of them that praise thee, and to quenche the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may prayse the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly King for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto thē that be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorne in our misery: but turne their deuice vpon themselues, and make him an example, that hath begonne the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen mee, O King of gods, and Lorde of all power.

13 Giue mee an eloquent speach in my mouth before the Lyon: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to destroy him, & all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe mee that am solitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all thinges, O Lorde: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, & that I abhorre the bed of þ vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shewe my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the kinges feast, nor drunke þ wine of the drinke offrings, 18 And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy since þ day that I was brought hither, vntill this day, but in thee, O Lorde God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare þ voyce of them, that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hande of the Wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to go in to the King and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

MArdocheus also bad Esther to go in vnto the king, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, saith he, þ daies of thy low estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when she had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and sauiour of all thinges, and tooke two handmaides with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was chearefull and amiable, but her heart was sorowfull for great feare.

9 Then she went in thorow all þ doores, and stood before the King, & the King sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodlie araye, all glittering with golde and precious stones, and hee was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone w Maiestie, & looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint and leaned her selfe vpon the head of the maide, that went with her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the kings minde that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to her self againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Ester, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come neere.

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and saide, Talke with mee.

16 Then said she, I sawe thee, O Lord, as an Angel of God, & mine heart was troubled for feare of thy Maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, him, thee fel downe againe for faintnes.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

Ioseph. Antiq. 11. chap. 6.

THe great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth & seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes & rulers þ haue the charge of our affayres, salutatiõ.

2 There be many that through þ goodnesse of princes & honour giuen vnto them, become verie proude,

3 And indeuour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in welth, do also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnesse away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that bee vnmindefull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all thinges, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many, which bee set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by baine entisementes do wrap them in calamities, that can not be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie, & gentlenes of princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those thinges that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heede hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change so euer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand thē with gentlenes.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in deede a stranger from the Persians blood, & farre from our goodnes, was received of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that we beare toward al nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse him selfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifolde deceite also hath hee desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, & innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, & by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust Lawes,

16 And that they be þ children of the most high and almightie and euerliuing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs and our progenitours in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall do wel, if ye do not put in execution those letters, that Aman þ sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them, hangeth at Susis before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath al things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deseruing.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in al places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.

20 And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For almightie God hath turned to ioy the day, wherein the chosen people shoulde haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne days ye shall keepe this day with all gladnes,

23 That both nowe and in time to come this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that bee seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore al cities and countries that do not this, shall horridly be destroyed with sword & fire, and shal not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of þ wilde beasts and fowles for euer.

The

The wisedome of Salomon.

CHAP. I.

1 Howe we ought to searche and enquire after God. 2 Who bee those that find him. 5 The holy Ghost. 8.11. We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrighteousnesse.

2.King.3.3. 2.chron. 26.16.1.

LOue *righteousnes, ye that bee Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

Deut.4.29. 2.chron. 15.4.

2 *For he wil bee founde of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as bee not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughtes separate from GOD: and [his] power when it is tryed, reproueth the vnwise,

4 Because wisedome can not enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

Ierem.4. 22.

5 For the holy *Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, & withdraweth him selfe from the thoughtes that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse cõmeth.

Gala.5.21.

6 For the Spirite of wisedome *is louing, and wil not absolue him, that blaspheme th with his lippes: for God is a witnesse of his reines, & a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lorde filleth all the worlde: and the same that mainteineth all thinges, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, can not be hid: neither shal the iudgement of reprothe let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sounde of his wordes shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of iealousie heareth all things, and the noyse of the grudgings shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and refraine your tongue from slander: for there is no worde so secrete, that shall go for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lies, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life: *destroy not your selues thorowe the workes of your owne hands.

Deut.4.25.

Ezek.18. 23.&33. 11.

13 *For God hath not made death, neither hath hee pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all thinges, that they might haue their being: and the generatiõs of the worlde are preserued, and there is no poyson of destruction in them, and the kingdome of hel is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnesse is immortall, but vnrighteousnes bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call it vnto them both with handes and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to naught: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to bee partakers thereof.

a To wit, death.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsell & gainst the faithfull.

FOr [the vngodly] say, as they falsly imagine with them selues, *Our life is short and tedious: & in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any knowen y hath returned from the graue.

Iob.7.1. & 14.2. mat.22.23. 1.cor.15. 32.

2 For we are borne at al aduenture, and we shall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrels, and the words as a sparke raised out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the spirite banisheth as the soft ayre.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloude, and come to nought as the mist that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heate thereof. Our name also shalbe forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our woorkes in remembrance.

5 *For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our ende there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

1.Chron. 29.15. chap.5.9.

6 *Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures, that are present, and let vs chearefully vse the creatures as in youth.

Isai.22.13. & 56.12. 1.cor.15. 32.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine and oyntments, and let not the flowre of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buddes afore they bee withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnes: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, & this is our lotte.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore, that is righteous: let vs not spare the Widowe, nor reuerence the white heares of the aged, that haue liued many yeres.

11 Let our strength bee the Lawe of vnrighte-righteoufnes: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous: for he is not for our profit, and he is contrarie to our doings: he checketh vs for offending againſt the Lawe, and blameth vs as tranſgreſſours of diſcipline.

13 He maketh his boaſt to haue the knowledge of God: and hee calleth himſelfe the ſonne of the Lord.

Iah.7.7. ephe.5.13. Iam.3.3. 14 He is made* to reproue our thoughts.

15 It grieueth vs alſo to looke* vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of an other faction.

16 He counteth vs as baſtards, and hee withdraweth himſelfe from our wayes as from filthines: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the iuſt, and boaſteth that God is his Father.

17 Let vs ſee[then] if his words be true: let vs proue what end he ſhall haue.

Pſal.22.8,9 mal.2.17. 18 For if the righteous man be the* ſonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

Ier.11.19. 19 Let vs* examine him with rebukes & torments, that we may know his meekenes, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a ſhameful death: for he ſhalbe preſerued as he himſelfe ſayth.

21 Such things do they imagine, and go aſtray: for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderſtand the myſteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteouſnes, nor can diſcerne the honour of the ſoules that are faultleſſe.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the* image of his owne likeneſſe.

Gene.1.27. & 2.7. & 5. 1.eccles. 17.1. Geo.3.19. 24 *Neuertheleſſe, through the enuie of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his ſide, proue it.

CHAP. III.

1 The converſation and aſſurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are vnfortunate.

Deut.33.3. BUt the* ſoules of the righteous are in the hande of God, and no torment ſhall touch them.

Chap.5.4. 2 *In the ſight of the vnwiſe they appeared to die, and their ende was thought grieuous,

3 And their departing from vs, deſtruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they ſuffer paine before men, yet is* their hope full of immortalitie.

Rom.8.24. 2.cor.5.1. 1.pet.1.13. 5 They are puniſhed but in fewe things, yet in many things ſhal they be well rewarded: *for God proueth them, and findeth

Exod.15.4 deut.8.2. them meete for himſelfe.

6 Hee trieth them as the golde in the fornace, and receyueth them as a perfect fruite offring.

7 *And in the time of their viſion they ſhall ſhine, and runne thorow as the ſparks among the ſtubble. Mat.13.43.

8 They* ſhal iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lorde ſhall reigne for euer. Mat.19.28. 1.cor.6.2.

9 They that truſt in him, ſhal vnderſtand the trueth, and the faythfull ſhall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercie is among his Saintes, and hee regardeth his elect.

10 *But the vngodly ſhal be puniſhed according to their imaginations: for they haue deſpiſed the righteous, and forſaken the Lorde. Mat.25.41.

11 Who ſo deſpiſeth wiſedome and diſcipline, is miſerable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are fooliſh, & their workes vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiſcrete, and their children wicked: their offring is curſed.

13 Therefore the barren is bleſſed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the ſinfull bed: *ſhe ſhall haue fruite in the viſitation of the ſoules, Iſai.54.1.

14 And ſ̄ eunuche, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things againſt God: for vnto him ſhalbe giuen the ſpeciall gift of faith, & an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruite of good labours, and the roote of wiſdome ſhall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers ſhal not be partakers of the holy things, & the ſeede of the wicked bed ſhalbe rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet ſhall they be nothing regarded, and their laſt age ſhalbe without honour.

18 If they die haſtily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the ende of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrennes with vertue: for the memorial thereof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is preſent, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they deſire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewardes.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, *yet they shall bee shaken Mat.7.19. with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.

5 For the vnperfect branches shal be broken, and their fruit shalbe vnprofitable and lowre to eate, and meete for nothing.

6 For al the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednesse agaynst their parents when they bee asked.

7 But though the righteous be preuen-ted with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honorable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But Wisdome is the gray heare, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 *He pleased God, and was beloued of Gen.5.24. hebr.11.5. him, so that where as hee liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 He was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceyt beguile his minde.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscu-reth the things that are good, and the vn-stedfastnes of concupiscence peruerteth the simple minde.

13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therfore hasted he to take him away from wickednes.

15 Yet the people see & vnderstande it not,
and consider no such things in their hearts,
how that grace & mercie is vpō his Saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, con-demneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the ende of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lorde hath preserued him in safetie.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne,

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shall hee burst them and cast them downe, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be vtterly wasted, and they shall be in sorowe, and their memoriall shall perish.

20 So they being afraid, shal remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednes shal come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnes of the righteous before their persecuters. 14 The hope of the vnfayethfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

THen shall the righteous stand in great boldnes before the face of such as haue tormēted him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amased for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shall change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde, and say within themselues, This is he whome wee sometime had in derision, and in a parable of re-proche.

4 *We fooles thought his life madnesse, Chap.3.2.
and his end without honour.

5 Howe is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therfore we haue erred from the way of trueth, and the light of righteousnes hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnder-standing rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of Wickednes and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs: or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs:

9 All those things are *passed away like 1.Chro.29.15.cha.2.5.
a shadowe, and as a poste that passeth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11 Or as *a birde that flieth through the Pro.30.19.
the ayre, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noyse of her winges, beating the light winde, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and flieth on shaking her winges, whereas afterwarde no token of her way can be found:

12 Or as when an arrowe is shotte at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went through.

13 Euen so we, assoone as we were borne, wee began to drawe to our ende, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are cōsumed in our owne wickednes.

14 For *the hope of þ vngodly is like the Iob.8.9. psal.144. & 143.4. pro. 10.25. & 11.7.iam.1. 10,11.
dust that is blowen away with the winde, and like a thinne fome that is scattered abroade

broade with the stoorme, and as the smoke, which is dispersed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, and the most high hath care of them.

16 Therefore shal they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hande shall he couer them, and with his arme shall hee defend them.

17 Hee shall take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shal put on righteousnes for a brest-plate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holinesse for an inuincible shield.

20 He will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sworde, and the world shall fight with him agaynst the vnwise.

21 Then shall the thunder boltes goe straight out of the lightnings, and shall flee to the marke as out of the bent bowe of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, and the water of the sea shalbe wroth against them, and the flouds shall mightily ouerflowe.

22 And a mightie winde shall stand vp against them, and like a stoorme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wildernes, & wickednes shall ouerthrow the thrones of the mightie.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, princes and iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisdome.

HEare therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderstand: learne, ye that bee iudges of the endes of the earth.

2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes and glorie in the multitude of people.

Rom.13.2. 3 For the rule * is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the most high, which wil trie your workes, and search out your imaginations.

4 Because that yee being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Lawe, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horribly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For hee that is most lowe, is worthie mercie, but the mightie shall bee mightily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no * person, neither shall he feare any greatnesse: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike,

Deu.10.17 2.chr.19.7 Iob.34.19. eccles.35. 12,16.act. 10.34.rom. 2.11. gala. 6.ephe.6.9. colos.3.25. 1.pet.1,17.

8 But for the mightie abideth the sorer tryall.

9 Unto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that ye may learne wisedome, and not go amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shalbe holy, and they that are learned there, shall find a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delite vpon my wordes and desire them, and ye shall bee instructed.

12 Wisdome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easely seene of them that loue her, and found of such as seeke her,

13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauaile: for he shall find her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfit vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall be soone without care.

16 For shee goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurãce of immortalitie:

19 And immortalitie maketh vs nere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisdome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delite be then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisdome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisdome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her nativitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with consuming enuie: for such a man shall not bee partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the world, and a wise king is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortall and a man like al other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to bee flesh in ten moneths: I was Iob.10.10. 1. *brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receyued the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other do.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

Iob.1.21. 1.tim.6.7. 6 All *men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, & vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the Spirite of Wisdome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

Iob.28.15. 9 *Neither did I cõpare precious stones vnto her: for all gold is but a litle grauell in respect of her, and siluer shalbe counted but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

1.King.3. 33.matth. 6.33. 11 All *good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her handes.

12 So I was glad in all: for Wisedome was the author thereof, and I knewe not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I do not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, & to iudge worthily of the things that are giuē me: for he is the leader vnto Wisdome, and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both wee and our wordes, and all Wisedome, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the world was made, and the powers of the elements,

18 The beginning and the ende, and the middes of the times: howe the times alter, and the change of the seasons,

19 The course of the yeere, the situation of the starres,

20 The nature of liuing things, & the furiousnes of beasts, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of mē, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And al things both secret and knowen do I know: for Wisdome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtill, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtful, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure and subtill spirits.

24 For Wisedome is nimbler then al nimble things: she goeth thorow and atteyneth to all things, because of her pureues.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, & a pure influence that floweth from the glorie of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

Hebr.1.3. 26 For *shee is the brightnesse of the euerlasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remayning in her selfe, renueth all, and according to the ages shee entereth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with Wisdome.

29 For she is more beautiful thē the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome Wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

SHe also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, and comely doeth she order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to mary her, such loue had I vnto her beautie.

3 In that shee is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the schoolemistres of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then Wisdome, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudentie worketh, What is it among among al things, ꝓ worketh better then she:

7 If a man loue righteousnesse, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth sobernes, and prudencie, righteousnesse and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, & discerne things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of words, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that shee would counsell me good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shal I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leasure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 [Moreouer,] by her I shall obteine immortalitie, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shal gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraied when they heare me: among the multitude I shal be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her companie hath no bitternes, and her felowship hath no tediousnes, but mirth and ioy.

17 [Now] when I cõsidered these things by my selfe, & pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdome is immortalitie,

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glorie by cõmuning with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled bodie.

21 Neuertheles, whē I perceiued that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her (& that was a point of wisdome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lorde, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obteine wisedome.

O God of Fathers, and Lorde of mercie, which hast made all things with thy Word,

2 And ordeined man through thy Wisedome, that hee shoulde haue* dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made, * Gen.1.28.

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnes, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 Giue* mee that Wisedome, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children. * 1.King.3.9.

5 For I thy* seruant, and sonne of thine handmaide, am a feeble person, & of a short time, and yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes. * Psal.116.16.

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfite among the children of men, yet if thy Wysedome be not with him, hee shall be nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a king of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. * 1.Chron.28. 2.2.chron. 1.9.

8 Thou hast commanded me to builde a temple vpon thine holy Mount, & an altar in the citie, wherein thou diwellest, a likenes of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning,

9 And thy* Wisedome with thee, which knoweth thy works, which also was when thou madest the worlde, and which knewe what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements. * Prou.8.22. ioh.1.1,2, 3,10.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, & sende her from ꝑ throne of thy maiestie that she may be with me, & labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and she shall leade mee soberly in my workes, and preserue me by her glorie.

12 So shall my workes be acceptable, & then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meete for my fathers throne.

13 For* what man is hee that can knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is: * Iob.42.23. rom.11.34. 1.cor.2.16.

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecastes are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible bodie is heauie vnto the soule, & the earthly mãsion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discerne the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour find we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen:

17 Who can know thy counsel, except thou giue him Wisedome, and sende thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth, are reformed, & men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through Wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous & destruction of the enemies commeth through wisedome.

SHe preserued the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when hee was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

Gen.2.20. 2 And * gaue him power to rule all things,

Gen.4.8. 3 *But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

Gen.7.21. 4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflowen, but Wisedome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood.

Gen.11.1, 31.& 12.1. 5 Moreouer, * when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preserued him faultlesse vnto God, and ‖ kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.

‖ or, kept him strong in his tender loue toward his sonne.

Gen.19.16 6 She preserued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, who he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruite that neuer cõmeth to ripenes: & for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salte.

8 For all such as regarded not Wisdome, had not onely this hurt, that they knew not ỹ things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But Wisedome deliuered them, that serued her.

Gen.28.5 10 *When the righteous fledde because of his brothers wrath, shee led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labors, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnesse of such as defrauded him, she stoode by him and made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them, that lay in wayt, & shee gaue him the prise in a mightie battell, that he might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

Gen.37.28 & 39.1.36. 13 *When the righteous was solde, she forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: shee went downe with him into the dungeon, 14 And failed him not in the bandes, till shee had brought him the sceptre of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him, & them that had accused him, she declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall glorie.

Exod.1.10. & 12.41. 15 *She deliuered the righteous people and faultles seede from the nations that oppressed them.

Exod.5.1. 16 She entred into the soule of the seruãt of the Lord, and stoode *by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

17 She gaue the Saintes the rewarde of their labours, and led them foorth a marueilous way: on the day time shee was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

Exod.14. 21.22. psal. 78.13. 18 *She brought them thorowe the red sea, & caried them through the great water, 19 But she drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of ỹ deepe.

Exo.15.1. 20 So the righteous tooke the spoyles of the vngodly, *and praised thine holy Name, O Lord, & magnified thy victorious hande with one accord.

21 For Wisedome openeth the mouth of the dombe, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The myracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 28 The great power and mercie of God.

SHe prospered their workes in the hands of thine holy Prophet.

Exo.16.1. 2 *They went through the wildernes that was not inhabited, and pitched their tentes in places where there lay no way.

Exod.17. 10.11. 3 *They stoode against their enemies, & were auenged of their aduersaries.

Nom.20. 11. 4 *When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, & their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the [Israelites] helped in their neede.

6 For in steade of a fountaine of running water, the [enemies] were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the cõmandement of the killing of the children, [but] thou gauest vnto thine own abundãce of water vnlooked for,

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time *how thou haddest punished thine aduersaries. Exod.7.20.

8 For when they were tried & chastised with with mercie, they knewe howe the vngodlie were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued thē: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou diddest examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remēbrance of things past.

11 For whē they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the thinges that came to passe, at ỹ last they wondered at him, whom afore they had cast out, deried and derided: for they had another thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednes wherewith they were deceiued, and worshipped *serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beasts, thou sendidst a multitude of vnreasonable beasts vpon thē for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished. Chap.11. 24.exod.7. 23.

14 For vnto thine almightie hande, that made the worlde of *naught, it was not vnpossible to sende among them a multitude of *beares, or fierce Lyons, Gene.1.1. heb.11.3. Leuit.26. 22.ierc.8. 16.17. chap.16.1.

15 Or furious beasts newely created, and vnknowē, which should breathe out blastes of fyre, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightninges out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all thinges in measure, number and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and myght, and who can withstand the power of thine arme?

19 For as the smal thing that the balance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a droppe of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon al: for thou hast power of all thinges, and maiest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amende.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whome thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou haddest hated.

22 And howe might any thing endure, if it were not thy will: or how could any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest al: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The wrathe of God are vnreuocable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest thē measurably that go wrong, & warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the thinges wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednes, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 *As for those old inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them. Deut.9.5. & 12.31. & 18.12.

4 For they cōmitted abominable works, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their owne children with out mercie, & eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banketing, where ỹ raging Priestes [shed] abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the lande which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meet dwelling for the children of God.

8 *Neuertheless, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine host, euen hornets to destroy them by litle and litle, Exod.23. Deut.7. 22.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battel, or with cruel beastes, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by litle & litle, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation & wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them whē they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, *what hast thou done? or who dare stande against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men? Rom.9.20.

13 For there is none other God but thou, *that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare howe that thy iudgement is not vnright. 1.Pet.5.7.

14 There dare neither King nor tyrant in thy sight require accoūts of them whom thou hast punished.

15 For

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou ouerest all thinges righ-Iob.10.13 teously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to be punished.

16 For thy power is ỹ beginning of righteousnes, and because thou art Lorde of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to bee of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reprouest the boldnes of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest whēsoeuer thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man shoulde bee iust and louing, and hast made thy children to bee of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy childrē that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting [vnto them,] giuing thē time and place that they might change from their wickednesse,

21 With howe great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne childrē, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousande times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnes, and when wee are iudged, we shoulde hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap.11.13. rom.1.23. 24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, & esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that wil not be reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they sawe them selues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whome afore they had denied to knowe: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idols are mocked.

SVrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * & Rom.1.19.
coulde not knowe him that is, by the good things ỹ are seene, neither consider by the workes, ỹ worke master.

2 * But they thought the fire, or the wind Deut.4.19. & 17.3.
or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen, how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operatiō of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, howe much hee that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnes of their beautie, & of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would find him, and yet peraduenture do erre.

7 For * they go about by his woorkes to Rom.1.21.
seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the thinges are beautifull that are seene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can knowe so much, that they can discerne the world, why do they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among ỹ dead is their hope, that call thē gods, which are the woorkes of mens handes, gold, and siluer, and the thing that is inuēted by arte, and the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hande of antiquitie.

11 * Or as whē a carpenter cutteth downe Is.44.13. ier.10.3.
a tree meet for the worke, & pareth off al the barke thereof cunningly, & by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the thinges that are cut off from his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill him selfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing ([for] it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobbes) he carueth it diligētly at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and facioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, & couereth euery spotte that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, hee setteth it in a wal, & maketh it fast with yron,

16 Prouiding

16 Pyrounding ſo for it, leſt it fall: for hee knoweth that it can not helpe it ſelf, becauſe it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, & for his marriage and for childē: he is not aſhamed to ſpeake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and ſucceſſe of his affaires he requireth furtherāce of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The deteſtation and abomination of images, 8 A curſe of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatrie.

AGaine, another man purpoſing to ſaile, and intending to paſſe thorowe the raging waues, calleth vpon a ſtocke more rotten then the ſhippe that carieth him.

2 For as for ‖ it, couetouſnes of money hath found it out, and the craftſman made it by cunning. [Or, ſhip]

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: * for thou haſt made a way, euen in the ſea, and a ſure path among the waues, Exod.14. 22.

4 Declaring thereby, þ thou haſt power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the ſea without meanes.

5 Neuertheleſſe thou wouldeſt not, that the works of thy wiſdome ſhould be vaine, and therefore do men commit their liues to a ſmal piece of wood, and paſſe ouer the ſtormie ſea in a ſhippe, and are ſaued.

6 * For in the olde time alſo when the proude giants periſhed, þ hope of the world went into a ſhippe which was gouerned by thine hand, & ſo left ſeede of generation vnto the worlde. Gen.6. & 7.10.

7 For bleſſed is the tree whereby righteouſnes commeth.

8 But that is curſed that is made with handes, * both it, and he that made it: he becauſe hee made it, and it being a corruptible thing, becauſe it was called god. Pſal.115. 8.baruc. 6.3.

9 * For the vngodly, & his vngodlineſſe are both like hated of God: ſo truely the worke and he that made it, ſhalbe punniſhed together. Pſal.5.5.

10 Therefore ſhall there bee a viſitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abominatiō, * & ſtumbling blocks vnto the ſoules of mē, and a ſnare for the feete of the vnwiſe. Ieren.10. 8.habac.2. 18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither ſhall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glorie of mē brought them into the worlde: therefore ſhall they come ſhortly to an ende.

14 When a father mourned grieuouſly for his ſonne that was taken away ſuddenly, he made an image for him that was once dead, whome nowe hee worſhippeth as a god, and ordeined to his ſeruantes ceremonies and ſacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked cuſtome preuailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worſhipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for thoſe that were ſo farre off þ mē might not worſhip them preſently, they did counterfet the viſage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whō they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him þ was abſent, as though he had bene preſent.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftſmā thruſt forward the ignorant to increaſe the ſuperſtition.

18 For he peraduenture willing to pleaſe a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the beſt faſhion.

19 And ſo thorough þ beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, & ſo tooke him now for a god, which a litle afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in ſeruitude, through calamitie and tyrannie aſcribed vnto ſtones and ſtockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warres of ignorance, thoſe ſo great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they ſlew their own children in ſacrifice, or vſed ſecrete ceremonies, or raging diſſolutenes by ſtrange rites, Deut.18. 10. ierem. 7.9. & 19.4

23 And ſo kept neither life nor mariage cleane: but either one ſlew another by treaſon, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood, & ſlaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulnes, tumultes, periurie, 25 Diſquieting of good men, vnthankefulneſſe, defiling of ſoules, chāging of birth, diſorder in mariage, adulterie & vncleānes.

26 For the worſhipping of idoles þ ought not to be named, is the begynning and the cauſe and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be merry, or prophetie lyes, or liue vngodly, or els

els lightly for sweare them selues.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euil opinion of God, addicting them selues vnto idols, and because they sweare vnrighteously to deceiue, and despise holines.

30 For it is not ỹ power of them by whō they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The ioyce of the faithfull, praysing the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BUt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfit righteousnes, and to knowe thy power is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

Rom.9.21. 7 The *potter also tempereth soft earth, and facioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels, that serue to cleane vses, and the contrarie like wise: but whereto euery vessell serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen he, which a litle afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe whence he was taken, *when he shal Luk.12.20. make account for the lone of his life.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour hee taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, & taketh it for an honour to make deceiuable things.

10 His heart is ashes, & his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power & breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they esti our life to be but a passe time, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it bee by euill meanes.

13 Nowe he that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth him selfe to offende aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection, are most vnwise, & more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to bee gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, & their feete are slowe to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borowed spirite, facioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall him selfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whome he worshippeth: for hee liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they bee compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beautie to bee desired in respect of other beasts: for thei are destitute of Gods praise, & of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefites done vnto the faithfull.

THerefore by such things they are worthily punished and *tormented by the multitude of beastes. Chap.11. 13,14. num.21.6.

2 In steade of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange taste, euē *quailes, Num.11. 31.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a newe taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreeme penuertie, and that to these onely it should bee shewed, how their enemies were tormēted.

5 *For When the cruell fiercenes of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruel serpents, Num.21.6. 1.cor.10.9.

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle seasō, that they

‖The sign of the 2. sen. sergea. Nom.21.9.

they might bee reformed, hauing a ‖*signe of saluation, to remember the commandement of thy Lawe.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauiour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliueredst from all euill.

Exod.8.24. & 10.4. reuel.9.7. 9 *For the biting of grashoppers & flies killed them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome the childrē: for thy mercie came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remēber thy words, & were speedily healed, least they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnes, that they could not bee called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy worde, O Lorde, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death,* and leadest down vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

Deu.32.39 1.sam.2.6. tob.13.2.

14 A mā in deede by his wickednes may slaye another: but when the spirite is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

Exo.9.23. 16 *For ỹ vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they couldе not auoyde, and were cōsumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quēcheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fyre so tame, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fyre in the middes of the water aboue the power of fyre, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

Exod.16. 24.num. 11.7.psal. 78.25.iohn 6.31. 20 *In the steade whereof thou hast fedde thine owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread readie from heauen without their labour, which had aboundance of all pleasures in it and was meete for all tastes.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetenesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him, that tooke it, and was meete to that that euery man would.

22 Moreouer the *snowe and yce abode Exod.9.23 the fyre and melted not, that they might knowe, that the fyre burning in the hayle, & sparkeling in the raine, destroyed the fruite of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therfore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all thinges, according to the desire of them that had neede thereof,

26 That thy children whome thou louest, O Lord, might knowe, *that it is not Deut.8.3. mat.4.4. the encreasе of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy worde, which preserueth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not be destroied with the fyre, being onely warmed a litle with the sunne beames, melted,

28 That it might bee knowen that wee ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thankes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankefull shal melte as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked,

FOr thy iudgementes are great, and can not bee expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bounde with the bandes of darkenes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to bee hidde in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroade in the darke couering of forgetfulnes, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the soundes that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of ỹ starres lighten

‖The sign of the 2. sen. sergea. Nom.21.9.

they might bee reformed, hauing a ‖*signe of saluation, to remember the commandement of thy Lawe.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauiour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliueredst from all euill.

Exod.8.24. & 10.4. reuel.9.7. 9 *For the biting of grashoppers & flies killed them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome the childrē: for thy mercie came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remēber thy words, & were speedily healed, least they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnes, that they could not bee called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy worde, O Lorde, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death,* and leadest down vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

Deu.32.39 1.sam.2.6. tob.13.2.

14 A mā in deede by his wickednes may slaye another: but when the spirite is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

Exo.9.23. 16 *For ỹ vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they couldе not auoyde, and were cōsumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quēcheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fyre so tame, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fyre in the middes of the water aboue the power of fyre, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

Exod.16. 24.num. 11.7.psal. 78.25.iohn 6.31. 20 *In the steade whereof thou hast fedde thine owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread readie from heauen without their labour, which had aboundance of all pleasures in it and was meete for all tastes.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetenesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him, that tooke it, and was meete to that that euery man would.

22 Moreouer the *snowe and yce abode Exod.9.23 the fyre and melted not, that they might knowe, that the fyre burning in the hayle, & sparkeling in the raine, destroyed the fruite of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therfore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all thinges, according to the desire of them that had neede thereof,

26 That thy children whome thou louest, O Lord, might knowe, *that it is not Deut.8.3. mat.4.4. the encreasе of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy worde, which preserueth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not be destroied with the fyre, being onely warmed a litle with the sunne beames, melted,

28 That it might bee knowen that wee ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thankes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankefull shal melte as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked,

FOr thy iudgementes are great, and can not bee expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bounde with the bandes of darkenes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to bee hidde in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroade in the darke couering of forgetfulnes, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the soundes that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of ỹ starres lighten lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being a-
‖That is, the mightie vision. fraide of this ‖vision, which they could not see, they thought the things, which they sawe, to be worse.

Exod.7.11. & 8.7,19. 7 *And the illusions of the magical artes were brought downe, and it was a most shamefull reprochе for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare & trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearfull thing did feare them, yet were they afraide at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and saide they sawe not the aire, which by no meanes can be auoyded.

10 For it is a feareful thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth hee esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure ỹ night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeõ of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstruous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their own soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoeuer fel down, he was kept & shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husband mã, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenesse where they all bounde) whether it were an hissing wind, or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the behemencie of hastie running water,

18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beasts, that could not be seene, or the noyse of cruell ỹ, Eccle. beastes, that roared, or the ‖sounde that answereth againe in ỹ hollow mountains: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, & no man was hindred in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauy night, an image of that darkenes that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto thẽ selues more grieuous then darkenes.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fyrie pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuerance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wildernesse. 21 Aaron stoode betweene the liuing and the dead with his censer.

BVt thy Saints had a very great *light, whose voyce because they heard, & saw not ỹ figure of thẽ, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like. Exo.10.23. ‖Or, the Egyptians.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt thẽ afore, they thanked thẽ, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 *Therfore thou gauest them a burning Exo.13.21. & 14.24. pillar of fire to leade them in the vnknowen way, & madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney. psal.78.14. & 105.39.

4 But they were worthy to be depriued of the light, & to be kept in darkenes, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the lawe should be giuen to the world.

5 *Where as they thought to slay ỹ babes Exod.1.16 of the Saintes, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reproue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children and destroyed them all together in the mightie water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuẽ credit, might be of good chere.

7 Thus thy *people receiued ỹ health of ỹ Exo.14.24. & 15. righteous, but ỹ enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom ỹ hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offred secretly, & made a law of righteousnes by one consent, ỹ the Saintes should receiue good and euill in like maner, & that the fathers should first sing prayses.

10 But a disagreeing crye was heard of ỹ enemies, and there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the *master and the seruant were Exod.21.5. & 12.29. punished with like punishment, and the cõmon people suffred alike with the king.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to burie them: for in the twinckling of an eye ỹ noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because of the inchantements, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course,

15 Thine almightie Word leapt downe frõ heauen heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in ꝑ middes of the lande that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfained commandement as a sharpe sworde, and stoode vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Thē the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulnes came vpon them vnawares.

18 Thē lay there one here, another there halfe dead, & shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed thē, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Nowe tentation of death touched the righteous also, and *among the multitude in the wildernesse there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long. Numb.16. 46.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set him selfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the worde hee subdued him that punished, alleadging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For whē the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stood in the middes, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from comming to the liuing.

24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glorie of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head. Exod.28. 4,11.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraide of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meate that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

AS for ꝑ vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercie vnto the ende: for hee knewe what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them. & That is, ꝑ children of Israel whome they before had desired & prayed to go their way.

3 For while yet sorowe was before them, and they lamented by ꝑ graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, & that they persecuted thē in their fleeing, whome they had * cast out afore with prayer.

4 For the destenie, whereof they were worthie, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the thinges that had come to passe, that they myght accomplish the punishment, which remayned by tormentes,

5 Both that thy people might trie a marueilous passage, and that these might finde a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was fashioned of newe, and serued in their owne offices inioyned them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tents, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was Water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene fielde.

8 Through ꝑ which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.

9 For they ‖ neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praysing thee, O Lorde, which haddest deliuered them. ‖Or, were feddie.

10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, howe the ground brought forth flies in steade of cattell, and howe the ryuer scrauled with the multitude of frogges in steade of fishes.

11 *But at the last they sawe a newe generation of birdes, when they were inuited with lust, and desired delicate meates. Exo.16.13. nom.11 31

12 *For the quailes came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishmentes came vpon the ‖ sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thunderinges: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednes, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers. Chap.16.2 ‖Or, Egyptians.

13 For the one sort would not receiue thē when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done thē good.

14 Beside all these things some [would not suffer,] that any regarde should be had of them: for they handeled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banketting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict thē with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindnes, as in old time certaine were at the doores of the *righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darkenes, sought the entrance of his doore. Gen.19.11

17 Thus the elementes agreed among themselues in this change, as whē one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easely be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne bertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames dyd not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neyther melted they that which seemed to bee [b] yee, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was immortall meate.

[b] Hee meaneth span, looke Exo. 16, 14, 15. & Num. 11. 7.

21 For in all thinges, O Lorde, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

The wysdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophetes. Nowe his grandfather, as he him selfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus dyed, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterwarde left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisedome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke conteyneth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certayne diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the authour himselfe: moreouer, what benefites the Lorde had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues hee had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus dyd imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deede.

The prologue of the wisedome of Iesus the Sonne of Sirach.

WHere as many, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Lawe, and the Prophetes, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which thinges Israel ought to bee commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned them selues, but also may be able by þ diligent studie thereof to bee profitable vnto strangers both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen him selfe to the reading of the Lawe, and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, hee purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and woulde giue them selues to these thinges, myght profite much more in liuing according to the Lawe. Wherefore, I exhorte you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though We seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such wordes as are hard to bee expressed: for the thinges that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another fore in them selues then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Lawe it selfe, and the Prophetes, and other bookes haue no smal difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, whe I came into Egypt vnder King Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary, to bestow my diligence, and trauelle to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, þ they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might applie thē selues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Lawe.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisedome commeth of God. 11 A prayse of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisedome.

ALl wisedome * [commeth] of the Lord, & hath byn euer with him, & is with him for euer. 1. King. 3. 9 & 4. 29. * That which is marked with these two markes {{ is read in the Latin copies, & not in þ Greeke.

2 Who can number the sande of the sea, & the drops of the rayne, and the dayes of the worlde? Who can measure the heyght of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisedome of God Which is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easely be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne bertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames dyd not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neyther melted they that which seemed to bee [b] yee, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was immortall meate.

[b] Hee meaneth span, looke Exo. 16, 14, 15. & Num. 11. 7.

21 For in all thinges, O Lorde, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

The wysdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophetes. Nowe his grandfather, as he him selfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus dyed, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterwarde left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisedome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke conteyneth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certayne diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the authour himselfe: moreouer, what benefites the Lorde had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues hee had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus dyd imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deede.

The prologue of the wisedome of Iesus the Sonne of Sirach.

WHere as many, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Lawe, and the Prophetes, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which thinges Israel ought to bee commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned them selues, but also may be able by þ diligent studie thereof to bee profitable vnto strangers both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen him selfe to the reading of the Lawe, and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, hee purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and woulde giue them selues to these thinges, myght profite much more in liuing according to the Lawe. Wherefore, I exhorte you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though We seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such wordes as are hard to bee expressed: for the thinges that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another fore in them selues then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Lawe it selfe, and the Prophetes, and other bookes haue no smal difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, whe I came into Egypt vnder King Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary, to bestow my diligence, and trauelle to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, þ they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might applie thē selues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Lawe.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisedome commeth of God. 11 A prayse of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisedome.

ALl wisedome * [commeth] of the Lord, & hath byn euer with him, & is with him for euer. 1. King. 3. 9 & 4. 29. * That which is marked with these two markes {{ is read in the Latin copies, & not in þ Greeke.

2 Who can number the sande of the sea, & the drops of the rayne, and the dayes of the worlde? Who can measure the heyght of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisedome of God Which which hath bene afore all things.

4 Wisedome hath bene created before all thinges, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.

5 The worde of God most high is the fountaine of Wisedome, and the euerlasting commandementes are the entrance vnto her.

Rom.11. 34. 6 *Vnto whome hath the roote of Wisedome bene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 Vnto whome hath the doctrine of Wisedome bene discouered and shewed? and who hath vnderstoode the manifolde entrance vnto her?

8 There is one Wise, euen the most high Creator of all thinges, the almightie, the King of power, and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lorde, that hath created her through the holy Ghost: he hath seene her, numbred her, and measured her.

10 Her hath powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lorde is glorie, and gladnesse, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lorde maketh a merry heart, and giueth gladnesse, and ioye and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lorde, it shall goe well with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 The loue of God is honourable Wisedome, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.

Psal.111. 10. prou.9. 10.iob.28. 28. 15 *The feare of the Lorde is the beginning of Wisedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: she goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.

16 The feare of the Lorde is an holy knowledge.

17 Holines shall preserue, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnes.

18 Who so feareth þ Lorde, shall prosper, and in the day of his ende, he shalbe blessed.

19 She hath builte her euerlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to bee with their seede.

20 To feare God is the fulnesse of Wisedome, and filleth men with her fruites.

21 Shee filleth their whole houle with all things desireable, and the garners with the things, that she bringeth forth, and both twaine are giftes of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of Wisedome, and giueth peace and perfite health: he hath seene her and numbred her.

23 ‖ She rameth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of Wisdome, & hath brought vnto honour, them that possessed her. ‖ Or, professeth.

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of Wisedome, and her branches are long life.

25 In the treasures of Wisedome is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but Wisedome is abhorred of sinners.

26 The feare of the Lorde driueth out sinne: and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 For Wicked anger can not be iustified: for his rashnes in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 Hee will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lippes shall speake of his Wisedome.

30 In the treasures of Wisedome are the secretes of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire Wisedome, keepe þ commandements, and the Lorde shall giue her vnto thee, and will fill her treasures.

32 For the feare of the Lord is Wisedome and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meekenesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lorde, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 Bee not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heede what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, least thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the middes of the Congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruantes of God to righteousnes, loue, vnderstanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lorde. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impacient.

My sonne, if thou wilt come into þ seruice of God, stand fast in righteousnes and feare, and prepare thy soule to tentation.

2 Settle thine heart, & be patient: bowe downe thine eare, and receiue the wordes of vnderstanding, and chrinke not away, whe thou art assayled, but wayte vpon God patiently.

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be increased at thy last ende.

4 Whatsoeuer cōmeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

Wisd. 3. pro. 17. 5 *For as golde and siluer are tryed in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie.

6 Beleeue in God, and he will helpe thee: order thy way aright, & trust in him: holde fast his feare, and growe olde therein.

7 Ye that feare the Lorde, waite for his mercy: shunke not away from him that ye fall not.

8 Ye that feare the Lorde, beleeue him, and your reward shall not fayle.

9 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioy & merry.

10 Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, and your hearts shalbe lightned.

11 Consider the olde generations of men, Psal. 37. 25 yee children, and marke them well: *was there euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lorde? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise, that called vpon him?

12 For God is gracious and merciful, and forgiueth sinnes, and saueth in the time of trouble, and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the trueth.

For, double. 13 Woe vnto them, that haue a ‖ fearefull heart, and to the wicked lippes: and to the faint handes, and to ỹ sinner that goeth two 2. King. 18. 21. *maner of wayes.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleeueth not: therefore shall hee not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, and haue forsaken ỹ right wayes, & are turned backe into frowarde wayes: & for what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not dis- Iohn 14. 23, 24. obey his worde: and they that *loue him, will keepe his wayes.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the thinges that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shalbe fulfilled with his Lawe.

18 They that feare the Lorde, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandements, and will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, If wee doe not repent, wee shal fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

21 For as his greatnesse is, so is his mercie.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother ought wee to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

THe children of Wisedome are the Church of the righteous, & their offspring is obedience and loue.

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lorde will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall bee forgiuen him, and hee shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his dayly desires.

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 Hee that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and hee that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lorde, honoureth his parentes, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

9 *Honour thy father and mother in Exo. 20. 12. deut. 5. 16. matt. 15. 4. ephe. 6. 2, 3. deede and in worde & in all patience, that thou mayest haue ‖ Gods blessing, and that his blessing may abide with thee in the ende. For, the blessing of men.

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproche of the mother is dishonour to the children, 13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding fayle, haue patience with him, and despise him not whē thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not bee forgotten, but it shall bee a fortresse for thee against sinnes, and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founded for thee in righteousnesse.

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shal melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shal come to shame, and hee that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, perfourme thy doinges with meekenesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

19 The *greater thou art, ỹ more humble Phil. 2. 3. thy thy selfe in all things, and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renowme: but the secretes are reuealed vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lorde is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

Psal.131. pro.15.27. rom.12.3. 22 *Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mightie for thee.

23 But what God hath commaunded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, and be not curious in many of his workes: for it is not needefull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceyued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubberne heart shall fare euill at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shal not prosper: the that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shal be laden with sorowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proude is without remedie, and his steppes shalbe plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, and he shall not be esteemed.

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentiue eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shal prosper in the workes of righteousnes.

Deu 4.24. pſal.41.1. 33 Water quencheth burning fire, * and almes taketh away sinnes.

34 And he that rewardeth good deedes, will remember it afterward, and in the time of the fall, he shall find a stay.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Almes must be done with gentlenes. 12 The studie of wisedome and her fruit. 20 An exhortation to eschew euill, and to do good.

Deut.15.7. MY sonne, defraude not the *poore of his liuing, and make not the needie eyes to waite long.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorowfull, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and deferre not the gift of the needie.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trou-

Tobi.4.7. ble: *turne not away the face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside in anger from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitternes of his soule, his prayer shall bee heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the companie of poore, & humble thy soule vnto the Elder, & bow downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bowe downe thine eare vnto the poore, but pay thy det, & giue him a friendly answere.

9 Deliuer him that suffreth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, and be not faint hearted when thou iudgest.

||Or, to defend him.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherles, & as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and he shal loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, & receiueth them that seeke her, & will goe before them in the way of righteousnes.

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, & they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioye.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherit glorie: for vnto whom she entreth, him ꝑ Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shalbe the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doeth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shal iudge the nations, and hee that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shal haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first she will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntil she haue tried his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will shee returne the streight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shewe him her secrets, & haue heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstãding of righteousnes.

19 But if he goe wrong, shee will forsake him, & giue him ouer into the handes of his destruction.

Rom.12.9. 1 thess.22. 1 To bee ashamed to offende thy God, thy faith, to transgresse ꝑ truth, and to repent for, doth bring sinne vnto thee: ꝑ contrary shame bringeth worship.

20 My sonne, make much of time, & *eschew the thing that is euill, 21 And be not ashamed to say ꝑ trueth for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decaye, & forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisedome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is Wisdome knowne, and learning by the wordes of the tongue, and counsell, Wisdome and learning by the talking of the Wise, and stedfastnes in the workes of righteousnes.

25 In no wise speake against the word of trueth, but bee ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Strive for the trueth vnto death, and defend iustice for thy life, and the LORD God shall fight for thee against thine enemies.

29 Bee not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a lion in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.

Acts.20.35 31 *Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shouldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 Inriches may wee not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

Luk.12.15. 19.20 chap. 11.18,19. pro.10.2. ezech.7.19. zeph.1.18.

TRust not vnto thy *riches, and say not, I haue ynough for my life: for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.

2 Follow not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the waies of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, Howe haue I had strength: for who will bring me vnder for my workes: for God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto me: for the Almightie is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, bee not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercy of God is great: he will forgiue my manifold sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the LORD, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the LORD breake forth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shal not helpe thee in the day of punishment and vengeance.

9 Be not caried about with euery Wind, and go not into euery Way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding and in the way and knowledge of the LORD and haue but one maner of worde, and followe the word of peace and righteousnes.

11 Be humble to heare the Word of God, that thou mayst vnderstand it, and make a true answere with wisedome.

12 *Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answere. Iames 1.19

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hande vpon thy mouth, least thou be trapped in an vndiscrete Word, and so be blamed.

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted *a talebearer, and lie not in waite with thy tongue: for shame and repentance follow the thiefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: but he that is a backbiter, shall be hated, enuied and confounded. Leuit.19. 16.

16 Do not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the propertie of a sinner to be euill tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

BE not of a friend thy neighbours enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproche, and he shalbe in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue. a For that is against the rule of charitie, which loueth al, and hateth nothing but onely sinne. b As a bul teareth in peeces a yong tree with his hornes: so thou crushing in thine own wisdome, and standing in thine own conceit, because of thy wit, thy power, or riches, shouldest destroy thy selfe.

2 Be not proude in the deuice of thine owne minde, least thy soule rent thee as a bull, b

3 And eat vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruite, and so thou be left as a drie tree in the wildernes.

4 For a wicked soule destroieth him that hath it, and maketh him to bee laughed to scorne of his enemies, and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.

5 A sweete talke multiplieth the friends and pacifieth them that be at bariance, and a sweete tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Holde friendship with many, neuerthelesse haue but one counseler of a thousand.

7 If thou getteste a friend, proue him first, and be not hastie to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enimitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Againe some *friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not. Chap.37.5

11 But in thy prosperitie hee will bee as thou thou thy selfe, and will vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought lowe, he will be against thee, and will hide him selfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, & beware of thy friendes.

14 A faythfull friende is a strong defence, and hee that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithful friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight of golde and siluer is not to bee copared to the goodnesse of his faith.

16 A faithfull friende is the medicine of life and immortalitie, and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friende be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine frō thy youth vp: so shalt thou find wisdome, which shall indure till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and wayte for her good fruites: for thou shalt haue but little labour in her woorke: but thou shalt eate of her fruites right soone.

20 Howe exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned: he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Unto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and hee casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdome, but there bee but fewe that haue the knowledge of her.

23 For with them that knowe her, shee abideth vnto the appearing of God.

24 Giue eare, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bowe downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, & be not wearie of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, & she shalbe shewed thee: and whē thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, and a sure foundation: & her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bandes are the laces of purple coulour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt applie thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue doctrine, and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stande with the multitude of the elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, & let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee. Chap.8.9.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steppes of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be continually occupied in his commandements: so shall hee establishe thine heart, and giue thee wisdome at thine owne desire. Or, earnestly. Psal.119.

CHAP. VII.

1 Wee must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 27 The behauiour of the wise toward his wife, his friende, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

DO no euil: so shal no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the forrowes of vnrighteousnes, least that thou reape thē seuen folde.

4 Aske not of the Lorde preeminence, neither of the King the seate of honour.

5 *Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: for he knoweth thine heart, & boast not thy wisedome in the presence of the King. Iob.9.2. Psal.143.2. Eccles.7. 18.Iob.15. 11.

6 Seeke not to be made a iudge, least thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and least thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnes.

7 Offende not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 *Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished. Chap.5.5.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon ỹ multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most high God, he wil accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauinesse of his soule: for God which seeth all things, is he* that can bring downe, and set vp againe. 1.Sam.2.7.

12 Sowe not a lie against thy brother, neither do the same against thy friend.

13 Use not to make any maner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many wordes when thou Mat. 6.7. art among the Elders, neither * repeate a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious * worke, neither Rom.12.11. the husbandrie, which the most high hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for ỹ vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wise and good woman, ‡ that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord: ‡ for her grace is aboue gold.

Leuit.19. 13.chap. 33.29.& 34.13. 20 ℭ * Where as thy seruant worketh truely, intreate him not euil, nor the hireling that destroyeth himselfe wholy for thee.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraude him not of libertie, ‡ neither leaue him a poore man.‡

Deut.15.4. 22 * If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, and if they be for thy profit, keepe thē with thee.

Cha.30.11 23 * If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodie, and shewe not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marrie thy daughter, ‡ so shalt thou performe a weightie matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

Chap.3.9. tob.4.3. 27 * Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorowes of thy mother.

28 Remember that thou wast borne of them, and howe canst thou recompence thē the things that they haue done for thee?

29 ℭ Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honour his ministers.

30 Loue him that made thee, with al thy Deut.11. strength, * and forsake not his seruants. 28.39.

31 Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and Leuit.2.3. honour the Priestes, * and giue them their portion, as it is commanded thee, the first fruites, ‡ and purifications: ‡ and sacrifices for sinne, and the offrings of the shoulders, and the sacrifices of sanctification, and the first fruites of the holy things.

32 Stretche thine hande vnto the poore that thy ‖ blessing, ‡ and reconciliation ‡ may be accomplished. ‖ or, liberalitie.

33 Liberalitie pleaseth al men liuing, and * from the dead restraine it not. Tob.2.4.7. & 4.17. Rom.12.15.

34 * Let not them that weepe, bee without ‡ comfort: ‡ but mourne with such as mourne.

35 * Be not slow to visit the sicke: for that Mat.25.36. shal make thee to be beloued.

36 Whatsoeuer thou takest in hand, remember the end, and thou shalt neuer do amisse.

CHAP. VIII.

Wee must take heede with whom we haue to do.

STriue not with a mightie man, least thou fall into his handes.

2 * Make not variance with a Mat.5.25. rich man, least hee on the other side weigh downe thy weight: * for golde ‡ & Chap.31.6 siluer ‡ hath destroyed many and hath subuerted the hearts of Kings.

3 Striue not with a man that is full of wordes, and lay no stickes vpon his fire.

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, least thy kinred be dishonoured.

5 * Despise not a man that turneth him- Galat.6.1. selfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in ỹ teeth: withall, but remember that We are al woorthy blame.

6 * Dishonour not a man in his olde age: Leui.19.32 for they were as We which are not olde.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemie, but remember that Wee must die all, ‡ so enter into ioy.‡

8 * Despise not the exhortation of thes El- Chap.6.35. ders ‡ that be wise, but acquaint thy self with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisedom, ‡ and the doctrine of vnderstanding, ‡ and how to serue great mē ‡ without complaint.‡

9 Goe not from the doctrine of ỹ Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, ‡ to make answere in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coles of sinners, ‡ when thou rebukest them, ‡ least thou bee burnt in the fierie flames ‡ of their sinnes.‡

11 Rise not vp against him that doeth wrong, that hee lay not waite as a spie for thy mouth.

12 * Lende not vnto him that is mightier Chap.29.4 then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

13 Be not suretie aboue thy power: for if thou be suretie, thinke to pay it.

14 Go not to lawe with the Iudge: for they will giue sentence according to his own honour.

15 * Dwaule not by the way with him Gen.4.8. that is rash, least he do thee inurie: for hee followeth followeth his owne wilfulnes, and so shalt thou perish through his follie.

Pro.22.24. 16 *Strive not with him that is angrie, and goe not with him into the wildernes: for blood is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe, hee will overthrow thee.

17 Take no counsel at a foole: for he can not keepe a thing close.

18 Do no secrete thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what hee goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery mā, least he bee vnthankeful to thee, & put thee to reproofe.

CHAP. IX.

Of iealousie. 12 An olde friende is to bee preferred before a newe, 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

a Let her not haue rule ouer thee, for then will she be contrary vnto thee, take away thy heart & strength, & bring thee to confusiō among thine enemies, as did Heuah to Adam, Delilah to Samson, and strange women to Salomon. Gen.6.1,2. & 3.12. Pro.5.2. Mat.7.28. Gen.34.1. 2.Sam.11 2.Iudeth. 10.17,19. & 12.16,20

BEe not iealous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, neither a teache her by thy meanes an euil lesson.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, least shee ouercome thy strength, and so thou be confounded.

3 Meete not an harlot, least thou fal into her snares.

4 Vse not the companie of a woman that is a singer, and a dancer, neither heare her, least thou be taken by her craftines.

5 Gaze not on a *maide, that thou fal not by that that is precious in her.

6 *Cast not thy mind vpon harlots in any maner of thing, least thou destroy both thy selfe and thine heritage.

7 Go not about gazing in the streetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the secrete places thereof.

8 *Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many * haue perished by the beautie of women: for thorough it loue is kindled as a fire.

9 Euery woman that is an harlot, shal bee troden vnder foote as dongue, of euery one that goeth by the way.

10 Many wondering at the beautie of a strange woman, haue bene cast out: for her wordes burne as a fire.

11 Sit not at all with an other mās wife, neither lie with her vpon the bed, nor banket with her, lest thine heart incline vnto her, and so thorough thy desire fall into destruction.

12 ¶ Forsake not an olde friend: for the newe shall not be like him: a newe friend is as newe wine: When it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

Iudg.9.3. 2.Sam.15. 32. 13 *Desire not the honour and riches of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shalbe his ende.

14 Delite not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not bee founde iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no faute, least hee take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the middes of snares, & that thou walkest vpon the towers of the citie.

16 Trie thy neighbour as neere as thou canst, *and aske counsell of the wise. Chap.6.36 38.& 8.8. & 37.22. Deut.6.7. & 11.19.

17 *Let thy talke bee with the wise, and all thy communication in the Lawe of the most High.

18 Let iust men eate & drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing bee in the feare of the Lord.

19 In the hands of the craftesmen shall the woorkes bee commended, and the wise prince of the people by his worde, & and the Worde by the wisedome of the Elders. (Or, the workeman is praysed according to the work.

20 A man ful of wordes is dangerous in his citie, and hee that is rash in his talking, shalbe hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnes are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praysed.

A Wise iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is him selfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are all they that dwell therein.

3 *An vnwise King destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth. 1.King.12. 1.13.14.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lorde, and all iniquitie of nations is to bee abhorred, & and when time is, he will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hande of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribes will he lay his honour.

6 *Be not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practises. Leui.19.17

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doeth one commit iniquitie.

8 *Because of vnrighteous dealing and wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, kingdome is translated from one people to another. Ecc.10.8. dan.4.14.

9 There

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: Why art thou proude, O earth & ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, thē to loue money: for such one would euen sell his soule, & for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 All tyrannie is of small indurance, & the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the physition.

11 The physitiō cutteth off the sore disease, and hee that is to day a King, to morowe is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proude, seeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of serpents, beastes and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, & to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of sinne, & hee that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions of the wicked to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the ende.

15 The Lord hath *cast downe the thrones of the proude princes, and set vp the meeke in their steade. Luke 1.52. & 14.11. & 18.14. 1.sam.2.7, 8.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the proude nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the landes of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 God destroyeth the memoriall of the proud, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man, which is an honourable seede: the honourable seede are they that feare the Lord: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commaundements of the Lorde: it is a seede for remaineth which feareth the Lord, & a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the Law, and a deceiueable seede that breake the commandements.

21 He that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lorde causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by cruelties and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glorie as wel of the riche and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the riche that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge and the mā of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then hee that feareth the Lord.

26 *Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free, do seruice: *hee that hath knowledge, will not grudge when hee is reformed, and the ignorant shall not come to honour. Pro.17.2. 2.Sam.12, 13.

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest do thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

28 *Better is he that laboureth and hath plenteousnes of all things, then hee that is gorgious, and wanteth bread. Pro.12.9, 11.

29 My sonne, get thy selfe praysle by meekenes, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge and his feare, but the riche is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honorable in pouertie, how much more shal he be when he is riche? and hee that is vnhoneste being riche, how much more [will he be so] when hee is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praysle of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine house.

WIsedome *lifteth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men. Gen.41.40 dan.6.3.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither despise a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the foules, yet doeth her fruite passe in sweetenes.

4 Be not proude of cloathing & raiment, *and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull, and glorious, secrete, and vnknowen, are his workes among men. Act.12.22, 23.

5 Many tyrants haue sit down vpon the earth, *and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne. 1.Sam.15. 28.esther. 6.10.

6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bin deliuered into other mens hands.

7 ¶ *Blame no man before thou haue inquired the matter: vnderstande first, & then reforme: rightcously. Deu.13.14 & 17.4,6. 1oth.7.22.

8 *Giue no sentence, before thou hast heard Pro.18.13.

heard the cause, neither interrupt men in ỹ muddes of their tales.

9 Strive not for a matter that thou hast not to do with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blameles, and if thou followe after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou estape, though thou flee from it. Mat.19.12. 1.cor.6.9. Pro.10.3.

11 * There is some man that laboureth & taketh paine, and the more hee hasteth, the more he wanteth.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthful, and * hath neede of helpe: for hee wanteth strength, and hath great povertie, yet the eye of the Lorde looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his lowe estate, Iob.41.10.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men marueile at him, and giue honour vnto God.

14 * Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouertie and riches come of ỹ Lorde. Iob.1.21. ecclu.38.4.

15 Wisedome and knowledge, & vnderstanding of the Lawe are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Errour and darkenes are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt them selues in euill, ware olde in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is riche by his care and nigardship, and this is ỹ portion of his wages, 19 In that he saith, * I haue gotten rest, and nowe will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not, that the time draweth nere, that hee must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die him selfe. Luk.12.19.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Marueile not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lord, & abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of ỹ Lord, suddenly to make a poore man riche.

22 The blessing of the Lorde is in ỹ wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, what profite and pleasure shal I haue: and what good things shal I haue hereafter:

24 Againe say not, I haue ynough, and possesse many thinges, and what euill can come to me hereafter:

Chr 18.24 25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, & in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lorde in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his workes are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many trames, & are like stomackes that belche stinkingly.

30 As a partriche is taken vnder a basket, and the hind is taken in the snare, so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie waiteth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy prayse hee will finde some faute.

32 Of one litle sparke is made a great fire, and of one deceitful mã is blood increased: for a sinful man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked thinges to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vnquietnes, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whom he ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

WHen thou wilt doe good, knowe to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou bee thanked for thy benefites.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, & thou shalt finde great rewarde, though not of him, yet of the most High. Gala.6.10. 1.tim.5.8.

3 Hee can not haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to ỹ vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least he ouercome thee thereby: els thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not bee knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie bee vnknowen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauines and trouble a mans a mans verie friend wil depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, & beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt knowe that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, least hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hande, least he seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked with my sayings.

Chap.7.8. & 21.1. 14 *Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

15 Who will haue pitie of the charmer, y is stinged of the serpent: or of all such as come neere the beastes: so is it with him that keeketh companie with a wicked man, & wrappeth him selfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will hee bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

Iere.41.6. 17 *An enemie is sweete in his lippes: he can make many good wordes, & speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth howe to throwe thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, hee will not bee satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shal he vndermine thee: hee will shake his head, and clap his hands, and wil make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proude and of the rich are to bee eschewed, 15 The loue of God. 17 Like do companie with their like.

Deu.7.2. HE* that toucheth pitche, shalbee defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proude, shall bee like vnto him.

2 Burthe not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, & richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthē pot together: for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threateneth withal: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the riche haue done wrong, he must yet bee intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straight wayes be threatened.

4 If thou bee for his profite, hee vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, hee will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare mā, and will not care for it.

6 If hee haue neede of thee, hee will defraude thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, what wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meat, vntill hee haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last hee will laugh thee to scorne: afterward, when hee seeth thee, hee will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 §Submit thy selfe vnto God, & waite vpon his hand.§

9 Beware that thou be not deceiued in thine owne conceit and brought downe by thy simplenes: be not to humble to thy wisdome.§

10 ¶If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shal he cal thee the more oft.

11 Preasse not thou vnto him, that thou bee not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, least he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speach, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communicatiō will he tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 He is vnmercifull, and keepeth not promes: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, & take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: whē thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and cal vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶Euery beast loueth his like, & euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man wil keepe companie with such as he is him selfe.

18 Howe can the Wolfe agree with the lambe: no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What felowship hath ‖hyena with a dogge: and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?

‖Which is a wild beast that counterfeiteth the voyce of men, and so entiseth the out of their houses and deuoureth them.

20 [As] the wilde asse is the Lyons pray in the wildernes, so are poore men the meat of the riche.

21 As the proude hate humilitie, so doe the riche abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offende, hee hath many helpers: hee speaketh proude wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though hee speake wisely, wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euerie man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee sayeth, they prayse it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, what fellowe is this: and if he do amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne in his conscience: and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happie is he that continueth in wisdome.

Cha.19.5. 36Iam.3.2.

BLessed is the man *that hath not fallen by the word of his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorowe of sinne.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggarde, and what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his own soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whō will he bee good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a rewarde of his wickednes.

7 And if he do any good, he doeth it, not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednes.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, & despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eie hath neuer inough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

Pro.17.10. 10 A *wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table.

11 My sonne, do good to thy selfe of that thou hast, & giue the Lord his due offrings.

12 Remember that death tarieth not, & a That is, a day of death. Chap.41. 1.Cor.15.7. Iob.14.13. that the couenāt of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 *Do good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine habilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauelles vnto an other, and thy labors for the deuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take and sanctifie thy soule: worke thou righteousnes before thy death: for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 ¶ *All flesh waxeth old, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death. Is.40.6. 1.pet.1.24. Iam.1.10.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some growe, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an end, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall go withall.

20 Euery excellent worke shall bee iustified, and hee that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.

21 *Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisedome, and exerciseth himselfe in iustice, & he that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding, Psal.1.2.

22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secretes.

23 Go thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

24 He shall looke in at her windowes, & hearken at her doores.

25 He shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: he shall pitch his tent besides her.

26 And he shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her he shall be couered from the heate, and in her glorie shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnes that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God reiecteth and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the author of euill.

HE that feareth the Lord, will do good: and hee that hath the knowledge of the Lawe, will keepe it sure.

2 As an honourable mother shall shee meete him, and she, as his wife maried of a virgine, will receiue him. a As a pure virgin newly maried, doeth friendly entreate her husband, so shall iustice pure and vndefiled, gently entertein her louers, Iohn.4.10.

3 With the bread of liue and vnderstanding shall shee feede him, and giue him the *water of wholsome wisedome to drinke.

4 He shal assure himselfe in her, and shal not be moued, and shal hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 Shee shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation shall shee open his mouth: with the spirit of wisdome, and vnderstanding shall she fil him, and cloth him with the garment of glorie.

6 Shee shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take hold vpon her: but such as haue vnderstanding, will meete her: the sinners shall not see her.

8 For she is farre from pride and deceit, and men that lie, cannot remember her: but men of trueth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdome, and be plenteous in a faithfull mouth, then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to do the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused mee to erre: for he hath no neede of the sinfull man.

13 The Lorde hateth all abomination of errour: and they that feare God, loue it not.

Gen. 1.27. 14 *Hee made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsel, and gaue him his commandements and precepts.

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandements, and testifie thy good will.

16 He hath set water and fire before thee: stretche out thine hande vnto which thou wilt.

Ierem. 21. 8. 17 *Before man is life and death, good and euill: what him liketh, shall be giuen him.

18 For the wisdome of the Lord is great, and he is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things continually.

Psal. 34. 15. 16. heb. 4. 13. 19 *And the eyes of the Lorde are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth al the workes of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to do vngodly, neither hath he giuē any man licence to sinne: for hee desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappie, and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of instruction.

DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better thē a thousande such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shalbe wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eies, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 *In the cōgregation of the vngodly shal a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithful people shall the wrath be set on fire. Chap. 21. 9, 10.

7 *He spared not the olde gyants, which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength.

8 *Neither spared hee where as Lot dwelt, those whome hee abhorred for their pride. Gen. 6. 4. Gen. 19. 23, 25.

9 Hee had no pitie vpon the people that were destroyed, puffed vp in their sinnes.

10 *And so he preserued the sixe hundreth thousand footemen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercie, and with chastisement. Num. 14. 15, 16, 20. & 26, 51.

11 Therefore if there bee one stifnecked among the people, it is maruaile if hee escape vnpunished: for mercie and wrath are with him: he is mightie to forgiue, and to powre out displeasure.

12 *As his mercie is great, so is his punishment also: he iudgeth a man according to his workes. Chap. 5. 6.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoyle, and the patience of the godly shal not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that he should not knowe him, and that his workes should be knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowen to all creatures: hee hath separate his light from the darkenesse with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe frō the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shall not be knowen in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule amōg such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, and the *heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shal be moued when he shall visite. 1. Pet. 3. 10. 1. king. 8. 27. 2. chr. 6. 18.

19 All the world which is created, made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundatiōs of the earth shal shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand worthily, but he vnderstandeth euerie heart.

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes?

and

and the stoꝛme that no man can see: foꝛ the moſt part of his woꝛkes are hid.

22 Who can declare the woꝛkes of his righteouſnes? oꝛ who can abide them? foꝛ his ordinance is farre off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, wil conſider theſe things: but an vnwiſe and erronious man caſteth his mind vpon foolish things.

24 My ſonne, hearken vnto mee, and learne knowledge, and marke my woꝛdes with thine heart.

25 I wil declare thee weightie doctrine, & I will inſtruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath ſet his woꝛks in good oꝛder from the beginning, and part of them hath he ſundered from the other when hee firſt made them.

27 He hath garniſhed his woꝛks foꝛ euer, and their beginnings ſo long as they ſhal indure, they are not hungrie noꝛ wearied in their labours, noꝛ ceaſe from their offices.

28 None of thẽ hindreth another, neither was any of thẽ diſobedient vnto his woꝛds.

29 After this the Lorde looked vpon the earth and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beaſts hath he couered the face therof, and they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodnes that God hath done vnto him, 20 Of almes, 22 And repentance.

THe* Lorde hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe. Gen.1.27. & 5.2. wil. 2.23. & 7.1, 61.cor.11. 7.col.3.10.

2 He gaue him the number of daies and certaine times, & gaue him power of the things, that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with ſtrength, as they had neede, and made them accoꝛding to his image.

4 He made al fleſh to feare him, ſo that he had the dominion ouer the beaſts, & foules.

Gen.2.22. 1.cor.11.9. 5 §*He created out of him an helper like vnto himſelf, & gaue them diſcretion and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderſtand, and ſiztly he gaue them a ſpirite, and ſeuenthly hee gaue them ſpeach to declare his woꝛkes.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderſtanding, and ſhewed them good and euill.

7 He ſet his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble woꝛkes,

8 And gaue them occaſion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they ſhould prudently declare his woꝛks, and that the elect ſhould praiſe his holy Name together.

9 Beſide this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Lawe of life foꝛ an heritage, that they might now know that they were moꝛtall. a Thorowe their owne trãſgreſſion.

10 He made an euerlaſting couenant with them, and ſhewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes ſaw the maieſtie of his glorie, & their eares heard his glorious voice.

12 And he ſayd vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. *Hee gaue euery man also a commaundement concerning his neighbour. Exod.20. 16.17. and 22.23.

13 Their wayes are euer beforе him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their ſtonie hearts can not become b fleſh. b That is, ſoft & gentle, foꝛ § holy ghoſt to write his lawes in. Deut.4.10. & 10.15.

15 He appoynted a ruler vpon euerie people, when hee deuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 *And he did chuſe Iſrael, as a peculiar people to him ſelfe, whome he nouriſheth with diſcipline as his firſt borne, and giueth him moſt louing light, and doeth not forſake him.

17 All their woꝛkes are as the ſunne beforе him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteouſneſſe is hid from him, but all their ſinnes are beforе the Lorde.

19 And as he is mercifull, and knoweth his woꝛke, he doeth not leaue them noꝛ forſake them, but ſpareth them.

20 *The almes of a man, is as a thing ſealed vp beforе him, and hee keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their ſonnes, and daughters. Chap.29. 13.

21 *At the laſt ſhall he ariſe, and reward them, and ſhall repay their reward vpon their heades. Mat.25.35.

22 *But vnto them that will repent, he giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth ſuch as faile, with patience, § and ſendeth them the portion of the veritie. Act.3.19.

23 *Returne then vnto the Lord, and forſake thy ſinnes: make thy prayer beforе his face, and take away the offence. Iere.3.12.

24 Turne againe vnto the moſt High: foꝛ he wil bring thee from darknes to wholſome light: foꝛſake thine vnrighteouſneſſe, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 §Knowe the righteouſnes and iudgements of God: ſtande in the portion that is ſet foꝛth foꝛ thee, and in the prayer of the moſt High God, and goe in the partes of the holy woꝛlde with ſuch as be liuing and confeſſe God.§

26 *Who can praiſe the moſt High in the Pſa.6.5. 88.12,13. hell, hell, as do al they that liue and confesse him.

27 ¶ Abide not thou in the error of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.¶

28 Thankefulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and hee that is sound of heart, prayseth the Lord, ¶ and reioyceth in his mercie.¶

29 How great is the louing kindnes of the Lorde our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holines!

30 For all things cannot bee in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, ¶ and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.¶

31 What is more cleare then the sunne: yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euil, ¶ shall be reproued.¶

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marueilous workes of God. 6, 7. The misérie and wretchednes of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

Gen.1.1. HE that liueth for euer, *made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, ¶ and he remaineth a victorious King for euer.¶

2 He ordereth the World with the power of his hande, and all things obey his will: for hee gouerneth all things by his power, and deuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whome hath he giuen power to expresse his workes: who will seeke out the ground of his noble acts:

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnes: or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercie:

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing bee taken from them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither may the ground of them bee found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, he must begin againe, and when he thinketh to come to an ende, he must go againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man: Whereto serueth he: What good or euill can he do:

Psal.90.10. 8 *If the number of a mans dayes be an hundreth yeere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sand, so are *a thousand yeeres to the dayes euerlasting.

2.Pet.3.8. 10 Therefore is God patient with them, and powreth out his mercie vpon them.

11 He saw and perceiued, that the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped he vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnesse.¶

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 He hath mercie of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reproue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable wordes.

15 Shall not ꝓ dewe asswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Lo, is not a worde better then a good gift: but a gratious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 ¶ Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement: ¶ learne before thou speake, ¶ vse physicke or euer thou bee sicke.

19 *Examine thy selfe before thou be iudged, ¶ in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercie. 1.Cor.11. 31.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whiles thou mayest yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vowe in time, and deferre not vnto death to be reformed: ¶ for the rewarde of God endureth for euer.¶

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the *wrath, that shalbe at the end, and the houre of vengeance, whē he shall turne away his face. Chap.7.17 36.

24 *When thou hast ynough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and neede. Chap.11. 25.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the daies of transgression he kéepeth him selfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisdom, and knowledge, and prayseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: they vnderstand the truth and righteousnes, ¶ and powre out wise morall sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lorde alone: for a mortall man hath but but a dead heart.

Rom.6. & 13.14. 30 ¶ *Follow not thy lusts, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, and intangle not thy selfe with such companie.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou hast borowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse: els thou shouldest slaunderously lie in wayte for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredome bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy wordes vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisedome of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest know what is in man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkennes, shall not be rich: and hee that contemneth small things, shal fall by litle and litle.

Gen.19.33 1.King.11. 1.4. 2 *Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, and put men of vnderstanding to reproofe.

3 And hee that companieth adulterers, shal become impudent: rottennes & wormes shal haue him to heritage, and he that is too bolde, shall bee taken away, and be made a publike example.

Iosh.22.11. 22. 4 *He that is hastie to giue credit, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shall be punished: hee that hateth to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of wordes, quencheth wickednesse: but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may line with a troublesome man, and he that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearle not to another, that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueile it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, & marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, hee will hate thee.

Chap.22.22. & 27.17. 10 *If thou hast heard a worde against thy neighbour, let it die with thee, and bee sure, it will not burst thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arow that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a worde in a fooles heart.

Leuit.19.17. Matt.18.15. 13 *Reproue a friend least he do[e euil, and if he haue done it, that he do it no more.

14 Reproue a friende that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that hee say it no more.

15 Tell thy friende his faulte: for oft times a slaunder is raised, and giue no credence to euery worde.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue? Iam.3.2.

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lorde is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdome obteineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruite of immortalitie.

20 The feare of the Lorde is all wisedome, and the performing of the Lawe is perfit wisedome, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a seruant saye vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward he do it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wisedome, neither is there prudencie where as the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen errerable malice: and the foole is voyde of wisedome.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, & feareth [God,] is better then one that hath much wisedome, and transgresseth the law of the most High.

24 There is a tertaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purpoles, do bowe downe them selues, and are sad, whose inward partes burne altogether with deceit: hee looketh downe with his face, and faineth him selfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, hee will bee vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though hee be so weake that hee can doe thee no harme, yet when hee may finde opportunitie, he will do euill.

27 ¶ A mã may be knowen by his looke, and one þ hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 *A mans garment, and his excessiue laughter, & going declare what person he is. Chap.21. 20,23.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake & keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Giftes blinde the eyes of the wise.

THere is some rebuke that is not comely: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.
2 It is much better to reprooue, then to beare euil will: and he that acknowledgeth his fault, shalbe preserued frō hurt.
Chap.30. 20. 3 As *when a gelded man through lust would defile a maide, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.
4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to shewe repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.
5 Some man keepeth silence, & is founde wise, and some by much babbling becōmeth hatefull.
6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answere: and some keepeth Eccles.3.7 silence, wayting a conuenient *time.
Chap.32.4. 7 *A wise man will holde his tongue till he see opportunitie: but a trifler and a foole will regard no time.
8 He that vseth many words, shalbe abhorred, and he that taketh authoritie to him selfe, shall be hated.
9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and [some time] a thing that is found, bringeth losse.
10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is double.
11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.
12 Some man byeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.
Chap.6.5. 13 *A wise man with his wordes maketh himselfe to bee loued, but the merie tales of fooles shall be powred out.
14 The gift receyued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receyue many things for one: he giueth litle, and hee vpbraydeth much: hee openeth his mouth like a towne cryer: to day he lendeth, o morow asketh he againe, and such one is to bee hated of God and man.
15 The foole saith, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euil of me.
16 How oft, and of how many shall he be laughed to scorne: for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.
17 The fal on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.
18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft tolde by the mouth of the ignorant.
19 A wise sentence loseth grace When it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.
20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, & yet is not grieued whē he is alone.
21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.
22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for naught.
23 *A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet Chap.25.2. is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.
24 A thiefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.
25 The conditions of liars are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.
26 A wise man shal bring him selfe to honour with his wordes, and hee that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.
27 *He that tilleth his land, shal increase Pro.12.11. & 28.19. his heape: he that worketh righteousnesse, shall be exalted, & and he that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.
28 *Rewards and giftes blinde the eies Exod.23.8 deut.16.19 of the wise, and make them domme, that they can not reproue faultes.
29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure ẏ is hoarded vp, What profite is in them both?
30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secrete, then a man that hideth his wisedome.
31 The necessarie patience of him, that followeth the Lord, is better then hee that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, *but pray for the fore- Chap.5.5. psal.41.4. luke.15.21. sinnes & that they may bee forgiuen thee.
2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou commest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.
3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sworde, the woundes whereof can not be healed.
4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shalbe desolate.
5 *The prayer of the poore going out of Exod.3.9. & 22.23. the mouth, commeth vnto the eares [of the Lorde,] and iustice is done him incontinently.
6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth ẏ Lord, conuerteth in heart.
7 An eloquēt talker is knowē afarre off: but he ẏ is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

Chap.16.6 9 *The congregation of the wicked is like to owe wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fyre to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made playne with stones, but at the ende thereof is hell, darkenesse and paynes.

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, ruleth his owne affections thereby: and the increase of wisedome is the ende of the feare of God.

For, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer him selfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abounde like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

Chap.33.5 14 *The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessell: he can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth.

15 Whē a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise worde, he will commend it, & increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he wil disalowe it, and cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelines in ꝑ talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shal ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisedome vnto a foole, & the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on ꝑ feete, & like manicles vpon the right hand.

Chap.19. 27.28. 20 *A foole lifteth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise man doeth scarse smile secretely.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewell of golde, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in ꝺ his neighbours ꝺ house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nurtured, will stand without.

24 It is the poynt of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for he that is wise, wil be grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers will bee telling such thinges as perteine not vnto them, but the wordes of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

28 *A backbiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated where soeuer he is: but he that keepeth his tongue, is discrete, shall come to honour.

Cha.28.15

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience reioyceth.

A Slouthfull man is like a [a] filthie stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

a.b That is, like as the idle stone gathereth mosse & filth: so both the slouthfull both sickness of body, and reproche of mind. And as euery man doeth auoide the filthines of dogue, and hateth it: so doeth he auoid ꝑ company of idle lopperers, lest he be accounted like vnto them.

2 A slouthful man is to be compared to the [b] dongue of oxen, and euery one ꝑ taketh it by, will shake it out of his hande.

3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is leall to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but she that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heaunes.

5 She that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, & is not inferiour to the vngodly, ꝺ but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musike in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that glueth a pot sheard together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepeth, from a soūde sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, & haue wherwith, they shal put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with hauti nes and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kindred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is a sleepe: when he hath told his tale, hee saith, what is the matter?

11 *Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for hee wanteth vnderstanding: make smal weeping for the dead, for hee is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

Chap.38. 16.

12 Seuen daies do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for ꝑ foole, and vngodly ꝺ should endure ꝺ all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding: beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou be defiled whē he shaketh himself. Depart from him, and thou shalt find rest, & shalt not receiue sorowe by his foolishnes.

Chap.13. 12.

14 What is heauier then leade? & what other name should a foole haue?

15 *Sand and salte, and a lumpe of yron

Pro.27.3.

is easier to beare, then an vnwise, ‖ foolish and vngodly man.‖

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building can not bee loosed with shaking, so ỹ heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisedome, is as a faire plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reeds that are set vp on hie, can not abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can indure no feare.

19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth forth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birdes, fraieth them away: and he that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friende, yet delpaire not: for there may bee a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friende, feare not: for there may bee a reconciliation, so that vpbrayding or pride or disclosing of secrets or a trayterous wound do not let: for by these thinges euery friende will depart.

23 Be faithful vnto thy friende in his pouertie, ỹ thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwaies to be contemned, nor the riche that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour, ‖ smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words, ‖ rebukes and threatninges ‖ goe before bloodsheading.

25 I will not bee ashamed to defende a friende: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he shoulde do me harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

Psal.141.3. 26 Who shall set * a watche before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of othes, blaspheme and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kindes of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceede of adulterie. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lorde, father ‖ gouernour of all my whole life, leaue mee not to their counsell, and let me not fall by ‖ them.

*or, my lippes.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdome in mine heart, that they may not spare mee in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faultes passe:

‖ That is, of the tongue & lippes.

3 Lest mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abounde to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine ennemies reioice ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, leaue mee not in their imagination: neither giue me a proude looke, but turne away frō thy seruants a stoute minde.

5 Take from mee vaine hope, and concupiscence, and reteine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the griedines of the bellie, nor lust of the flesh hold mee, ‖ giue not mee thy seruant ouer into an impudent mind.

7 Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shal speake trueth: Who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, nor be hurt by wicked workes.‖

8 The sinner shal bee taken by his owne lippes: for the euill speaker and the proude do offend by them.

9 *Accustome not thy mouth to sweare: ‖ for in it there are many falles, ‖ neither take by for a custome ỹ naming of the holy one: ‖ for thou shalt not bee vnpunished for such thinges.‖ Exod.20.7. chap.27. 35.mat.5. 33.34.

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, can not be without some skarre, so hee that sweareth, and nameth God cōtinually, shal not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shal bee filled with wickednes, ‖ the plague shall neuer goe from his house: When hee shall offend, his faute shalbe vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shal not be innocent, but his house shalbee ful of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God graunt that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschewe all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Use not thy mouth to ‖ ignorant rashnes: for therein is the occasion of sinne. ‖ for, inordinate swearing.

14 Remēber thy father ‖ thy mother when thou art set among great men, least thou be forgotten in their sight, ‖ so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou haddest not bene borne, and curse the day of thy nativitie.

15 *The man that is accustomed to oprobrious words, wil neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life. 2.Sam.16. 7.

16 There are two sortes of men that abound in sinne, ‖ the third bringeth wrath ‖ destruction: ‖ a mind hote as fire, that can not be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that glueth his body no rest, til he haue kindled a fire.

17 All

17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish.)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *who seeth me? Esa.29.15. I am compassed about with darkenesse: the walles couer me: no body seeth me: whome neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are tenne thousande times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, and the ground of the deepe, and considereth the most secrete partes.

20 He knew all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

Leuit.20. 10.deut. 22.22. 21 *The same man shall be punished in the streetes of the citie, and shall be chased like a yong horsefoale, and when hee thinketh not vpon it, he shalbe taken: thus shal he bee put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstande the feare of the Lorde.

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife, that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

Exod.20. 14. 23 *For first she hath disobeyed the Law of the most high, and secondly, she hath trespaced against her owne husband, and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adulterie, and gotten her children by an other man.

24 She shall be brought out into the congregation, and examination shall bee made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruite.

26 A shamefull report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lorde, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heede vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glorie to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A prayse of wisedome proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her workes and place where she reigneth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedome shall prayse her selfe, and be honoured in God, and reioyce in the middes of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumphe before his power.

3 In the middes of her people shall she bee exalted, and wondered at in the holy assemblie.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, she shalbe praised, and shall say,

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most high, first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, and couered the earth as a cloude.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloude.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nation, and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and lowe.

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made mee, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Jacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 *He created me from the beginning, and before the worlde, and I shall neuer faile: Pro.8.23. *In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion. Exod.31.2. Pfal.121.8. Or, in Cades.

13 *In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Jerusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honorable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree || about the bankes, and as a rose plant in Jericho, as a faire oliue tree in a pleasant fielde, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinnamom, and as a bagge of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the a terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 *As the vine haue I brought forth fruite of sweete sauour, and my flowres are the fruite of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.

22 Come vnto me all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites.

23 *For a Terebinth is a hard tree spread aboade with long boughes, whereout runneth gumme called a pure turpentine which eateth the Stomacke of putrifieth humors, and purifieth the eares: so the wisedome of God declared in his scriptures, spreadeth abroad her manifold riches of knowledge and vnderstanding, to purge the inward eares of corruption of the sense Iohn 5.1.

Psal.19.10, 23 *For the remembrance of me is sweeter then honie, and mine inheritance sweeter then the honie combe: the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.

24 They that eate me, shal haue yᵉ more hunger, and they that drinke me, shal thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shal not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: they that make me to be knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.

26 All these things are the booke of life, and the couenāt of the most high God, and Exod.20.3. & 34.7. deut.4.2. & 29.9 the knowledge of the trueth, *and the law that Moses commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Jacob, and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.

27 Be not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for yᵉ Lord almightie is but one God, and besides him there is none other Sauiour.

28 Out of Dauid his seruant he ordeined to raise vp a most mightie King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.

29 Hee filleth all things with his wisedome, as *Phyton, and as Tygris, in the Gen.2.11. time of the newe fruites.

30 He maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates and as *Jorden in Iosh.3.15. the time of the haruest.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfitly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I Wisedome haue cast out floods: I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a water conduite.

35 I said, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and lo, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, & I lighten it for euer.

37 I will pearce thorowe all the lower partes of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be a sleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

Chap.33. 16. 39 *Beholde that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which hee hateth. 7 Of nine things that he not to be suspect. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

THree things reioyce mee, and by thē am I beautified before God and men: *the vnitie of brethre, Gen. 13.8. 1. rom. 12. 10. the loue of neighbours, a man & wife that agree together.

2 Three sortes of mē my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proude: a rich man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doteth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 Oh, how pleasant a thing is it whē gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, howe comely a thing is wisedome vnto aged mē, and vnderstanding and prudencie to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happie, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a mā that shall be liueth, hath ioy of his children, and leeth the fall of his enemies.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, *and that hath not Chap.14.1 & 19.16. Iam.3.2. fallen with his tongue, & that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, and he that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 Oh, howe great is hee that findeth wisdome! yet is there none aboue him, that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of yᵉ Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 Blessed is the man, vnto whome it is graūted to haue yᵉ feare of God. Vnto whō shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lorde is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 The greatest heauines is the heauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.

15 Giue mee any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of thē that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head thē the head of the serpent, & there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖enemie. [Or, woman.

18 *I had rather dwell with a lyon and Pro.21.19. dragon, dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance Or, beare blacke as ‖ a sacke.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her he sighеth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednes is but litle to the wickednes of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climing vp of a sandie way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.

Chap.42. 12.Sam. 11.2.and 13.2. 23 *Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

24 If a womã nourish her husband, she is angrie and impudent and ful of reprochе.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sorie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feeble knees, ‡ can not comfort her husband in heauines.

Gen.3.6.1. tim.2.14. 26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, ‡ no not a litle, ‡ neither giue a wicked woman libertie to go out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, ‡ she shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies. ‡ Cut her off then from thy flesh:
a To wit the bil of diuorcement. a Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 20 Of two things that cause sorow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shalbe double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and shee shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion which shall be giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be riche or poore, hee hath a good heart toward the Lorde, and they shall at all times haue a chearefull countenance.

5 ¶ There bee three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraide of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorow and griefe of ẏ heart is a womã that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that drawe diuers wayes: he that hath her, is as though he helde a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as can not be tamed, is a great plague: for shee can not couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be knowen in the pride of her eies, ‡ eye liddes.

Chap.41. 11. 10 ¶ *If thy daughter be not shamefast, holde her straitly, lest shee abuse her selfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and maruelle not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shal she open her mouth, ‡ drinke of euery nere water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of ẏ Lord, ‡ there is nothing so much worth as a woman wel instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to bee compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in ẏ high places of the Lorde, so is ẏ beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 ‡ Perpetuall are the foundations that be laid vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holy woman. ‡

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and ‡ giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fieldes, sowe it with thine owne seede, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stock that shall liue after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberality of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly womã is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameleſſe woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shameleſſe woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A

27 A woman ℣ honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but shee that despiseth him, shalbe blazed for her pride.

28 A lowde crying woman and a babbler let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the minde of euery man that liueth with such, shall bee conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two thinges that grieue mine heart, ℣ the third maketh me angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: ℣ when one departeth from righteousnes vnto sinne: the Lorde appointeth such to the sword.

30 ℣ There bee two thinges, which mee thinke to be hard and perilous. ℣ A marchãt cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a victualer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the power that would be rich. 5 The approbation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vncertainnes of a foole. 16 The ferretes of friendes are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill which turneth vpon him selfe.

Prou.23.4. 1.tim.6.9. BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and *he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioyntes of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the bying.

3 If he holde him not diligently the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthines remaineth in the sue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessell: Pro.27.21. *so doeth ℣ tentation ℣ trie mẽs thoughts.

Mat.7.17. 6 *The fruite declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word ℣ declareth ℣ what man hath in his heart.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the tryall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnes, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, ℣ and shalt dwel with her, and she shal defend thee for euer: ℣ in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde stedfastnesse. ℣

9 The birdes resort vnto their like: so doeth the trueth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.

10 As the lyon waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that do euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisedome: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscrete, obserue the time, but haunt still the assemblie of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, and their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

14 *The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the heare to stande vp: and to striue with such, stoppeth the eares. Chap.23. 9,10.

15 The strife of the proude is blood sheading, and their scouldings are grieuous to heare.

16 *Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will. Chap.19. 10.& 22.22.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewraiest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird go out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friende, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Followe after him no more, for he is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of ℣ snare: ℣ for his soule is wounded. ℣

21 As for woundes, they may be bounde vp againe, and an euill worde may be reconcied: but who so bewrayeth the secretes of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

22 *He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone. Pro.10.10.

23 When thou art present, he will speake sweetly, and prayse thy wordes: but at the last hee will turne his tale, ℣ slaunder thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vpon his owne head: and bee that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wounde.

26 Who so *diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, ℣ and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon, ℣ and hee that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it him selfe. Psal.7.15. pro.26.27. eccles.10.8

27 He that worketh euill, shalbe wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whẽce they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproche followe the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shalbe taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despite and anger are abominable things, and the sinful man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

He

Deut.32. 35.rom. 12.19.

HE* that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his sinnes.

‖ Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

2 ‖ Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also, when thou prayest.

3 Shoulde a man beare hatred against man, and *desire forgiuenesse of the Lord?

Mat.6.14.

4 He wil shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiuenes of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, ‡and aske pardon of God,‡ who wil intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the ende, and let enmitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but persuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandementes: so shalt ỹ not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: ‡ consider diligently‡ the couenant of the most high, and forgiue his ignorance.

Chap.8.1.

8 *Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife.

9 And ỹ sinfull man disquieteth friendes, and bringeth in falle accusations among the that be at peace.

Pro.26.21.

10 *As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more behement the anger is, the more he is inflamed.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheadeth blood: ‡ a tongue that beareth falle witnesse, bringeth death.‡

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shal burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall bee quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

‖ The tongue. Chap.21. 28.

13 ‖ *Abhorre the slaunderer and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

14 The [a] double tongue hath disquieted many, ‡ driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, ‡ ouerthrowen the houses of great me: ỹ strength of the people hath it brought downe, ‡ bene the decay of mightie nations.‡

a That is, the tongue which saith and vnsaith, or speaketh one thing, & thinketh an other. Or the tongue which speaketh neither out of the newe or old testament, but of their owne hyaine.

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shal neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh marks in the flesh, but ỹ stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sworde, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euil death: hel were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lorde, shall fall therein: and it shall burne them, and no man shall bee able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leoparde.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, ‡ make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer and golde, and weigh thy wordes in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, ‡and a sure bridle‡ for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in waite, ‡ ỹ fall be incurable, euen vnto death.‡

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lende money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friende. 24 The poore mans life.

‖ Of well doing.

HE that wil shew mercy, ‖ lendeth to his neighbour: ‡ hee that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

2 *Lende to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and paye thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

Deut.15.7. 8.mat.5.42. luk.6.35.

3 Keepe thy worde, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt allway finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckened it to bee founde, and grieued them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their boyce: but when they should paye againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a careleſſe answere, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he bee able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, and reckeneth the other as a thing found: else he deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemie without a cause: he paieth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill wordes for his good deede.

7 There bee many which refuse to lende because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth him selfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for ỹ commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

Dan. 4.24. mat.6.20. luk.1.1.41. and 12.33. act.10.4.1. tim.6.18. 19.

11 *Bestowe the treasure after the commandement of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 ‖Laye vp thine * almes in thy secrete chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

‖Or, giue thine almes secretly. Tobit.4.8. 9,10,11.

13 ¶A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, & afterwarde shall it aryse, & pay euery man his rewarde vpon his head.¶

14 It shall fight for thee against thine ennemies, better then the shielde of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

‖Of sure tiship.

15 An honest man is ‖suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudēt, forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath laide his life for thee.

aAs he is a foole ỹ is suretie thy euery man: so is he vngodly that in no wise will be surety for anie man.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and he that is of an vnthankeful minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 ¶Some man promiseth for his neyghbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.¶

20 Suretishippe hath destroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the waues of the sea: mightie men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandementes of the Lorde, shall fall into suretyshippe: and hee that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuersies.

22 ¶Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

Chap.39. 26.

23 *The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame.

‖Sober liuing.

24 ‖The poore mans life in his owne lodge is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feede vnthankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, ¶saying,¶

28 Come, thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast readie.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to bee lodged, and I haue neede of mine house.

30 These things are heauie to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpbrayding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health. 17 Death is better then a sorowfull life. 22 Of the ioy and sorowe of the heart.

HE that loueth his sonne, * causeth him oft to feele the rodde, that hee may haue ioy of him in the ende. Pro.13.24 & 23.13.

2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 Hee that *teacheth his sonne, grieueth the enemie, and before his friendes hee shall reioyce of him. Deut.6.7.

4 Though his father die, yet is hee as though hee were not dead: for hee hath left one behinde him that is like him.

5 In his life he sawe him, and had ioy in him, and was not sory in his death, neither was he ashamed before his enemies.¶

6 He left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that shoulde shewe fauour vnto his friendes.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his woundes, and his heart is grieued at euery crie.

8 An vntamed horse will bee stubburne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, he shall make thee afraide: and if thou play with him, he shall bring thee to heauines.

10 Laugh not with him, lest thou bee sorie with him, and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the ende.

11 *Giue him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his folie. Chap.7.23

12 Bow downe his necke while he is yong, & beate him on the sides, while he is a childe, lest he ware stubburne, and bee disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, & be diligent therein, lest his shame grieue thee.

14 ¶Better is the poore, being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his bodie. ‖The profite of health.

15 Health and strength is aboue all golde, and a whole bodie aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sounde body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death

17 Death is better then a bitter life, and long reſt, then continuall ſickneſſe.

a Like as meate that is ſet vpon the graues of dead men is vnprofitable for that they eate it not: euen ſo knowledge in him that openeth not his mouth to vtter it, is vnprofitable, Chap. 41.14. Chap.20.5 Prou.12.23. & 15.13. & 17.28.

18 a The good thinges that are powred on a mouth ſhut vp, are as meales of meate ſet vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offring vnto an idole? for he can neither eate, nor ſmell: ſo is he that is perſecuted of the Lord, and beareth the reward of iniquitie.

20 He ſeeth with his eyes, & groneth like * a gelded man, that lieth with a virgin and ſigheth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde to heauineſſe, and vexe not thy ſelfe in thine owne counſell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladneſſe is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne ſoule, and comfort thine heart: driue ſorowe farre from thee: for ſorowe hath ſlaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuie and wrath ſhorten the life, and carefulneſſe bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue conſideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXJ.

Of couetouſneſſe. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The prayſe of a rich man without a faute. 12 We ought to ſhew temperaunce and faſtinge ſobernes.

‖ Couetouſnes. 1.Tim.6.9. 10.

WAking ‖ after * riches pineth away the body, & the care thereof driueth away ſleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the ſleepe, as a great ſickneſſe breaketh the ſleepe.

3 The riche hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his reſt he is filled with pleaſures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is ſtill poore.

5 He that loueth gold, ſhall not be iuſtified, and hee that followeth corruption, ſhall haue ynough thereof.

Chap. 8.2. 6 * Many are deſtroyed by the reaſon of golde, and haue founde their deſtruction before them.

7 It is as a ſtumbling blocke vnto them that ſacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

Luk.6.24. 8 Bleſſed is the * riche which is founde without blemiſh, and hath not gone after gold, nor hoped in money and treaſures.

9 Who is he, and we will commend him? for wonderfull things hath he done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, & found perfit? let him bee an example of glory. Who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therfore ſhal his goods be ſtabliſhed, and the congregatiō ſhal declare his almes.

12 If thou ſit at a coſtlie table, ‖ open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and ſay not, Behold much meate. ‖ Temperācie.

13 Remember y an euill eye is a ſhrewe: and what thing created is worſe then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cauſe.

14 Stretch not thine hand whereſoeuer it looketh, & thruſt it not with it into y diſhe.

15 Conſider by thy ſelfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modeſtly that which is ſet before thee, and deuoure not, leſt thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off firſt for nurtours ſake, and be not inſatiable, leſt thou offend.

18 When thou ſitteſt among many, reach not thine hand out firſt of all.

19 * Howle litle is ſufficient for a man well taught: and thereby hee believeth not in his chamber, nor feeleth any payne. Chap.37. 29.

20 A wholeſome ſleepe commeth of a temperate belly: hee riſeth vp in y morning, and is well at eaſe in him ſelfe: but paine in watching and cholerike diſeaſes, and pangs of the belly are with an vnſatiable man.

21 If thou haſt bene forced to eate, ariſe, goe forth, a vomit, and then take thy reſt: ſo thou ſhalt bring no ſickneſſe vnto thy body. a This counſell only concerning y health of the body, is here alleaged rather for a remedy to helpe digeſtiō vnto a weake ſtomake, (bē for an inſtruction to tolerate intemperācie: for ſuffering is forbidden vs, Luk. 21. 34. Prou.23.9. ‖ Liberalitie. Iudech.13. 23. Pſal.104. 15. pro.31. 4,5,6,7.

22 My ſonne, heare mee, and deſpiſe mee not, & at the laſt thou ſhalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes be quicke, ſo ſhal there no ſickneſſe come vnto thee.

23 * who ſo is ‖ liberall in his meate, men ſhall bleſſe him: and the teſtimonie of his honeſtie ſhalbe beleeued.

24 But againſt him that is a nigarde of his meat, the whole citie ſhal murmure: the teſtimonies of his nigardneſſe ſhalbe ſure.

25 Shewe not thy valiantneſſe in wine: for * wine hath deſtroyed many. Prou.23.9.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: ſo doeth wine the heartes of the proude by drunkenneſſe.

27 * Wine ſoberly dronken, is profitable for the life of man: What is his life that is ouercome with wine? Liberalitie.

28 Wine was made from the beginning to make men glad, and not for drunkenneſſe. Wine meaſurably dronken and in time, bringeth gladneſſe and cherefulnes of the minde.

29 But wine dronken with exceſſe, maketh bitterneſſe of minde with braulings and ſcouldings.

30 Drunkenneſſe increaſeth the courage of a foole, till he offende: it diminiſheth his ſtrength and maketh woundes.

Chap.20.1

31 *Rebuke not thy neighbour at ỹ wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull wordes, and presse not vpon him with contrary words.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modestie. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thanks after the repast. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

(Thumblenes.

IF thou be made the master of the feast, ‖ lift not thy selfe vp, but be among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so sit downe.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duetie, sit downe, that thou mayest bee merry with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sounde iudgement, and hinder not musicke.

4 Powre not out wordes, where there is Eccles.3.7 chap.20.7.

no audience, * and shewe not forth wisdome out of time.

5 The consent of musicians at a banket is as a signet of carbuncle set in golde.

6 And as the signet of an emeraude well trimmed with gold, so is the melodie of musicke in a pleasant banket.

7 ¶ Giue eare, and be stil, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be loued. ¶

8 Thou that art yong, speake if neede be, and yet scarsely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprehend much in fewe words: ¶ in many things be as one that is ignorant: ¶ be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

Iob.32.6.

10 If thou bee among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay, 13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euill, or vse proude words.

14 But aboue all things, giue thankes vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lorde, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall finde fauour.

16 He that seeketh the Lawe, shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended therat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, and shall kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not bee reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a lewde and proude man is not touched with feare, euen whē he hath done rashly.

20 ¶ My sonne, ¶ doe nothing without aduisement: so shall it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Goe not in the way where thou mayest fall, nor where thou mayest stumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is playne.

22 And beware of thine owne children, ¶ and take heede of them that be thine owne household. ¶

23 In euery good worke be of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commandements.

24 Who so beleeueth in ‖ the Lorde, keepeth the commandements: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

(Or, his Lawe.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hande of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

(The feare of God.

THere shal no euill come vnto him that ‖ feareth the Lord: but whē he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but hee that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Lawe, and the Lawe is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.

Chap.21. 16.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cart-wheele: and his thoughtes are like a rolling axeltree.

6 As a wilde horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a stomefull friende.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the lyght of the dayes of the yeere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and hee hath by them disposed the times and solemne feastes.

9 Some of thē hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath hee put among the dayes to number.

Gen.1.27. & 2.7.

10 And all men are of the * grounde, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lorde hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuerse.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, and some of them hath hee sanctified, and appropriate to him selfe: but some of them hath hee curſed, and brought them lowe, and put them out of their eſtate.

of

Iſa.45.9. rom.9.20. 21.

12 *As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleaſure, ſo are men alſo in the hande of their Creator, ſo that hee may reward them as liketh him beſt.

13 Againſt euill is good, and againſt death is life: ſo is the godly againſt the ſinner, and the vngodly againſt the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the moſt High thou maiſt ſee that there are euer two, one againſt another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp laſt of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the bleſſing of the Lorde I am increaſed, and haue filled my winepreſſe, like a grape gatherer.

Chap.24. 39.

16 *Beholde, howe I haue not laboured onely for my ſelfe, but for all them that ſeeke knowledge.

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the congregation.

18 Giue not thy ſonne and wife, thy brother & friend, power ouer thee while thou liueſt, and giue not away thy ſubſtance to another, leaſt it repent thee, and thou intreat for the ſame againe.

19 As long as thou liueſt, and haſt breath, *giue not thy ſelfe ouer to any perſon.

a That is, let no man vſe thee as his ſeruãt, whē thou haſt cõmitted all thy goodes into his hande.

20 For better it is that thy children ſhould pray vnto thee, then ‖ thou ſhouldeſt looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer ſtayned.

22 At the time when thou ſhalt ende thy dayes, and finiſh thy life, diſtribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip and the burden belong vnto the aſſe: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy ſeruant.

24 If thou ſet thy ſeruant to labour, thou ſhalt find reſt: but if thou let him go idle, he ſhall ſeeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whip bowe downe the hard necke: ſo tame thine euill ſeruant with the whippes and correction.

26 Sende him to labour, that he go not idle: for idlenes bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, ‖ put on more heauie fetters.

‖ Howe ſlaues were ordered in old time.

28 But be not exceſſiue toward any, and without diſcretion do nothing.

Chap.7.20. 29 *If thou haue ‖ a faythfull ſeruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne ſoule: for in blood haſt thou gotten him. If thou haue a ſeruant, intreat him as thy brother: for thou haſt neede of him, as of thy ſelfe. If thou intreate him euill, and he runne away, wilt thou ſeeke him?

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames, 13 The prayſe of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The head of the needie, 27 God doeth not allowe the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

THe hope of a fooliſh mã is vaine & falſe, ‖ & dreames make fooles to haue winges.

‖ Dreames

2 Who ſo regardeth dreames, is like him that will take holde of a ſhadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen ſo is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenes of a face is before an other face.

4 Who can be cleanſed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be ſpoken of a liar?

5 Soothſayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a minde that is occupied with fantaſies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as ſuch viſions come not of the moſt high to trie thee, ſet not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their truſt therin.

8 The Lawe ſhalbe fulfilled without lies, and wiſedome is ſufficient to a faithfull mouth: ‖ what knowledge hath hee that is not tried?

9 A man that is inſtructed, vnderſtandeth much, & he that hath good experience, can talke of wiſedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth is full of craft.

11 When I wandred to and fro, I ſawe many things, and mine vnderſtanding is greater then I can expreſſe.

12 I was oft times in daunger of death, yet I was deliuered by theſe things.

13 ¶ The ſpirit of thoſe that feare the Lord, ſhal liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who ſo ‖ feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

‖ The feare of the Lord.

15 Bleſſed is the ſoule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth hee his truſt? Who is his ſtrength?

16 *For the eyes of the Lorde haue reſpect vnto them, that loue him: hee is their *mightie protection, and ſtrong grounde, a defence from the heat, and a ſhadow for the noone daye, a ſuccour from ſtumbling, and an helpe from falling.

Pſal.33.18. Pſal.91.2.3.

17 He ſetteth vp the ſoule, and lightneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and bleſſing.

18 The ‖ *gifte of vnrighteous goods, offreth a mocking ſacrifice, & the gifte of ‖ vnrighteous, pleaſe not him.

Pro.21.27. ‖ The gifte of vnrighteous goods. ‖ vnrighteous

19 ‖ But the Lorde is theirs onely, that patiently abide him in the way of trueth and righteousnes.‡

20 The most High doth not alow the ‖offrings of the wicked, *neither is he pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

‖ The offrings of the wicked and their prayer.

21 Who so bringeth an offring of ỹ goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

Prou.15.8.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbours living, slayeth him, *and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hyre, is a bloodshedder.

Deut.24. 14,15. chap.7.20.

24 ¶ When one buyldeth, and another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voyce will the Lord heare?

Nom.19. 11,12.

26 *He that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing?

2.Per.2.20, 2.ioh.8.

27 *So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doeth his fasting helpe him?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherles, and of the widow, and him that humbleth himselfe.

1.Sam.15. 22.iere.7. 3,5,6,7.

WHolo keepeth the Lawe, *bringeth offrings ynow: he that holdeth fast the commandements, offreth an offring of saluation.

‖ True sacrifices.

2 He that is thankfull to them that haue well deserued, offreth fine flowre: * and hee that giueth almes, sacrificeth prayse.

Phil.4.18.

3 To depart from euill is a thankefull thing to the Lorde, and to forsake vnrighteousnes, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 *Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord.

Exo.23.15 & 34.20. deut.16.16

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement.

Gen.4.4,5.

6 *The offring of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweete before the most high.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shal neuer be forgotten.

8 Giue the Lord his honour with a good and liberall eye, and diminish not the first fruits of thine hands.

9 *In all thy gifts shew a ioyfull countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnes.

1.Cor.9.7.

10 Giue vnto the most high according as hee hath enriched thee, * & looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheerefull eye.

Tob.4.8.

11 For the Lord recompenceth, and will giue thee seuen times as much.

12 *Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receiue it, and abstaine from wrongfull sacrifices: for the Lorde is the iudge, and regardeth no * mans person.

Leu.22.21, 2.deu.15, 21. Deu.10.17 2.chr.19.7. iob.34.19. wisd.6.7. act.10.34. rom.2.11. galat.2.6. ephes.6.9. colos.3.25. 1.pet.1.17.

13 He accepteth not ỹ person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 He despiseth not the desire of the fatherles, nor the widowe, when she powreth out her prayer.

15 Doeth not the teares runne downe the widowes cheekes? and her crye is against him that caused them: ‡ for from her cheekes doe they goe vp vnto heauen, and the Lorde which heareth them, doeth accept them.‡

16 He that serueth the Lorde, shalbe accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reache vnto the cloudes.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth him selfe, goeth thorowe the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart till the most high haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not bee slacke, nor the Almightie will tarie long from them, till he hath smitten in sunder the loynes of the vnmercifull, and auenged him selfe of the heathen, till hee haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till he giue euery mã after his workes, and rewarde them after their deuises, till hee haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercie.

19 Oh, how faire a thing is mercie in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloude of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faythfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The prayse of a good woman.

HAue mercie vpon vs, O Lorde God of all things, and behold vs, and ‡ shewe vs the light of thy mercies.‡

2 And send thy feare ‖ among the nations, which seeke not after thee, ‡ that they may knowe that there is no GOD but thou, and that they may shewe thy wonderous workes.‡

‖ Against the wicked.

3 Lift vp thine *hande vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

Ier.10.25.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before thē, so be thou magnified amōg them before vs.

5 That they may knowe thee, as wee know thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renue the signes, and change the wonders:

ders: shewe the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shewe forth thy wonderous actes.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemie.

8 Make the time short: remember thine othe, that thy wonderous woorkes may be praysed.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, and saye, There is none other but we.

‖ A prayer for the godly.

11 ‖ Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, ⁊ that they may knowe that there is none other God but onely thou, ⁊ that they may shewe thy wonderous woorkes, ⁊ and inherit thou them as from the beginning.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, ⁊ vpon Israel, Exod.4.22. whom ye hast liknened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh, bee mercifull vnto Jerusalem the citie of thy Sanctuarie, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and [fill] thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witnes vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and rayse vp the prophecies that hath bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Rewarde them that waite for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lorde, heare the prayer of thy ser- Num.6.23. uants according to the *blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, ⁊ and guide thou vs in ye way of righteousnesse: that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord the eternall God.

18 ¶ The belly deuoureth all meats, yet is one meate better then another.

19 As the throte tasteth venison, so doeth a wise minde [discerne] false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenes, and wholsome talke, then is not her husbande like other men.

‖ The prayse of a good woman.

24 Hee that hath ‖ gotten a ⁊ vertuous ⁊ woman, hath begun to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possessiō is spoyled: and hee that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a theefe that is alway readie and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, where soeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellers. 12 To keepe his companie that feareth God.

EVerie friend sayeth, ‖ I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name. ‖ Of friendship.

2 Remaineth there not heauines vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprong vp to couer the earth with deceite?

4 *There is some companion which in Cha.6.10. prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke ‖ no counsell at him of whome thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee. ‖ Of whom we should take counsell.

8 *Euerie counseller prayseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe. Chap.8.19 & 9.16.

9 Beware of the counseller, and be aduised afore ‖ whereto thou wilt vse him: for he will counsell for himselfe, least he cast the lot vpon thee. ‖ Or, what neede he hath.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterwarde he stande against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 ⁊ Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice, ⁊ nor of a woman touching her of whome shee is ielous, nor of a cowarde in matters of warre, nor of a marchant cōcerning exchange, nor of a byer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankefulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, ⁊ nor of an vnhonest man of honestie, ⁊ nor of the slouthfull for anie labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a woorke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commandements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sorie for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart:

for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to tell more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an high towre.

15 And aboue all this praye to the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason go before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The changing of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life & death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto him selfe.

19 Some man wil be wise in words, and or, vnmeete is hated, yea, he is destitute of all ‖ foode.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 An other is wise for him selfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruits of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shall bee plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shal obteine credit among his people, and his name shalbe perpetuall.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for al men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

[Of temperancie. Chap. 31. 27, 28. 28 Be not ‖ gredie in all delites, and bee not too hastie vpon all meates.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknes, and gluttony commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but he Or, taketh heede, that ‖ dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physition is commendable. 16 To bury the dead. 24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

[Of physitions & physicke. HOnour the ‖ Physition with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lorde hath created him.

2 For of the most high cometh healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Physition lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shall be in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 *Was not the water made sweete with Exo. 15. 25. wood, þ men might know þ vertue thereof:

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, þ hee might bee glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doth hee heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the apothecarie make a confection, and yet hee can not finish his own workes: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and welth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickues, but *praye vnto the Lord, and he will make thee Esa. 38. 2, 5. whole.

10 Leaue off from sinne, and order thine handes aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednes.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flowre for a remembrance: make the offring fat, for thou art not the ‖ first giuer.

[God beflowreth first his benefites and we must remember a portion therof to such vses as hee appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the Physition: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall praye vnto þ Lord, that he would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, & their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 Hee that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the Physition.

16 My sonne, * powre foorth teares ouer the dead, ‖ and beginne to mourne, as if thou haddest suffred great harme thy selfe, & then couer his body according to ‖ his appointment, and neglect not his buriall. Cha. 22. 12 ‖ Of mourning. ‖ Or, the ceremonies.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation as he is worthy, and that, a day or two, least thou be euil spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauines.

18 * For of heauines commeth death, Pro. 15. 13. & 17. 22. and the heauines of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt do him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shall be like wise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 *Seeing the dead is at rest, let his re- 2 Sam. 12. 20. membrance membrance rest, and comfort thy self against for him, when his spirite is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisedome of a learned man commeth by thing wel his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisedome.

25 How can he get wisedome that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of ỹ breed of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to make forowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, & workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make sundrie diuersities, and giue them selues to counterfait imagerie, & watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, & he must fight with the heat of the fornace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon ỹ thing ỹ he maketh: he setteth his minde to make by his workes: therefore hee watcheth to polish it perfitly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the wheele about with his feete: he is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He facioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete hee tempereth the hardnes thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with lead, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one is wise in his worke.

32 Without these can not the cities bee maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they can not declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintein the state of the worlde, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The works of God. 24 Unto the good, good things profit, but unto the euill, euen good things are euill.

HE only that applieth his minde to the Lawe of the most High, & is occupied in the meditation therof, seeketh out the ‖wisdome of all the ancient, and exerciseth him selfe in the prophesies.

‖Or, true wisdome

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous mẽ, & entreth in allo to the secretes of darke sentences.

3 Hee seeketh out the mysterie of graue sentences, and exerciseth him selfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall serue among great men & appeare before the prince: hee shall trauaile through strange countries: for he hath tried the good and the euil among men.

5 He wil giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and wil open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lorde will, hee shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lorde in his prayer.

7 ‖Hee shall derect his counsell, & knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

‖Or, the Lord.

8 He shall shewe forth his science & learning, and reioyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, & his memorie shal neuer bee put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 *The congregation shall declare his wisedome, and shew it. Chap.44.15.

11 Though he bee dead, hee shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of mo things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto me, ye holy children, & bring forth fruit, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

14 And giue yee a sweete smell as ‖ incense, and bring foorth flowres as the lilie: giue a smell and sing a song of prayse: blesse the Lord in all his workes.

‖Or, Libanus.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, & shew forth his prayse with the songes of your lippes, and with harpes, and ye shall saye after this maner, 16 *All the workes of the Lorde are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season. Gen.1.31. mar.7.37.

17 And none may say, what is this? wherfore is that? for at time conuient they shall all bee sought out: at his commaundement the water stoode as an heape, and at the worde of his mouth ỹ waters gathered them selues.

18 His whole fauour [appeared] by his cõmaundement, and none can diminish that which which he will saue.

19 The workes of al flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not to say, What is this? Wherefore is that? for hee hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall runne ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the Waters into saltnes, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the Wicked.

25 ¶ For the good, are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

Chap.39. 26 *The principall things for the whole 23. vse of mans life is Water, fyre, and yron, and salt, and meale, Wheat and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these thinges are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigour lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shew foorth their power, and accomplish þ wrath of him that made them.

Chap.40. 29 *Fire, and hayle, and famine, & death: 9,10. all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shalbe glad to do his commandements: and when neede is, they shalbee ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these thinges, and haue put thē in Writing.

Gen.1.31. 33 *All the workes of the Lord are good, and hee giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy prayse.

35 And therefore praise the Lorde with whole heart and mouth, and bleste þ Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and preroguatiue of the feare of God.

GReat ‖ trauail is created for all men, & an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from þ day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, til the day that they returne to the mother of all things,

‖ The miseries of mans life.

2 [Namely] their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of þ things they wayte for: and the day of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blew silk, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble, and vnquietnes and feare of death, and rigour, & strife, & in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping hee is as in a watch to worke in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen folde to the vngodly:

Chap.39. 9 Moreouer, *death and blood, and strife, 29,30. and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These thinges are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the *flood Gen.7.21. also.

11 *All things that are of the earth, shall Gen.3.19. turne to earth againe: and they that are of þ chap.41.10. *waters, shall returne into the sea. Eccles.1.7

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnes shalbe put away: but ‖ faithfulnes shall endure for euer.

‖ Faithfulnes.

13 The substance of the vngodly shalbe dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressours shal come to naught.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soeuer it be or water banke, it shalbee pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlines is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercie endureth for euer.

18 *To labour & to be content with that Phili.4.11. a man hath, is a sweete life: but hee that find- 1.tim.6.6. eth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children,

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musike reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisedome is aboue thē both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desyreth fauour & beautie: but a greene seede time, rather then them both.

23 A friende, and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friendes and helpe[are good] in the time of trouble, but almes shal deliuer more then them both.

25 Golde and siluer fasten the feete: but counsel is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches & strength lift vp the mynde: but the feare of the Lord is aboue thē both: there is no want in the feare of the Lorde, & it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasaunt garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶My sonne, lead not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on an other mans table, is not to bee counted for a life: for hee tormenteth himselfe after other mens meat: but a wise man and well nourtured, will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Lawe of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what thinges a man ought to be ashamed.

¶ Of death.

Death, howbe bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needefull, & vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is nowe in the last age, and is vexed with all thinges, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, & that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lorde ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou be against þ pleasure of the most High: whether it bee tenne or an hundreth, or a thousand yeres, there is no defence for life against þ graue.

5 ¶The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they þ keepe companie with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posteritie shall haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complayne of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the most high GOD: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shalbe borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shalbe your portion.

10 *All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: so the vngodly[goe] from the curse to destruction. Cha.40.11

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shalbe put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shal continue with thee aboue a thousande treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but ‖ a good name endureth euer. ‖A good name.

14 My children, keepe wisdome in peace: *for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both: Cha.20.29

15 A man that hideth his foolishnes, is better then a man that hideth his wisdome.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to bee ‖ashamed: neither are all things alowed as faithfull in all men. ‖Of shamefastnes.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: bee ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnes before a companion and friend,

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his couenaunt: and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the ‖bread, or to bee reproued for ‖ taile. giuing or taking,

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euil minded toward an other mans wife,

22 Or to sollicite any mans mayde, or to stand by her bed, or to reprooche thy friends with wordes,

23 Or

23 Or to vpbraide when thou givest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueile secret wordes.

24 Thus mayest thou wel be shamefast, and shalt find favour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Lawe of God must bee taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secretes of thine heart.

‖In what things wee ought not to be ashamed.

IF these things be not thou‖ashamed, neither haue regarde to offende for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his covenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godlie:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligēt to keepe true balance, & weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou give any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is given out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vnwise, and the aged, that contend against the yong: thus shalt thou be wel instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

‖ It is a secret watch to the father.

9 ¶ The daughter ‖ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnes that he hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in ỹ youth, least shee shoulde passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husbande, least she should be hated:

10 In her virginitie, least shee shoulde be defiled, or gotte with child in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husbande, least she misbehaue her selfe: and when shee is married, least she continue vnfruitefull.

Eccl.26.10

11 *If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitly, least shee cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, & diffame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

Eccl.25.23

12 *Behold not euery bodies beautie, and companie not among women.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: *so doeth Wickednes of ỹ woman.

Gen.3.6.

14 The Wickednes of a man is better thē the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproche.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lorde, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the worde of the Lorde are his workes.

16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glorie of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saints shoulde declare all his Wonderous workes, which the almightie Lorde hath stablished to confirme all thinges by in his maiestie:

18 He seeketh out the depth, & the heart, and hee knoweth their practiles: for the Lorde knoweth all science, and hee beholdeth the signes of the World.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 *No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

Iob.42.4. Isa.29.15.

21 He hath garnished ỹ excellent workes of his wisedome, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, & for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be minished: hee hath no neede of any counseler.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his works, and to bee considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue al, and endure for euer: and whensoeuer neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: hee hath made nothing that hath any faute.

‖ or stablisheth.

25 The one ‖ commendeth the goodnes of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glorie?

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

‖ The wonderfull workes of God.

THis high ornament ‖ the cleare firmament, the beautie of ỹ heauen so glorious to beholde,

2 The sunne also, a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth, at his going out, the worke of the most high.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a fornace with continual heate: it casteth out the firie vapours, & with ỹ shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement hee causeth it to runne hastily.

6 *The moone also hath hee made to appeare according to her season, ỹ it shoulde bee a declaration of the time, and a signe for the World.

Gen.1.16.

7 *The feastes are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

Exod.12.2

8 The

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the holy one they continue in their order, and fayle not in their watche.

Gen.8.13. 14. 11 ¶ *Looke vpon the raine bowe, and praise him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnes thereof.

Ez.40.13. 12 *It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the handes of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commandement hee maketh the snowe to haste, & sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath he strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the Southwinde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doth the storme of the North: the whirlewinde also, as birdes that flie, scatereth the snowe, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenes thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 He also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frosen, it stieketh on the toppes of pales.

20 When the cold North wind bloweth, and yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, & clotheth the waters as with a breastplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wildernes, & destroyeth that that is greene, like fyre.

22 The remedie of al these is whē a cloud commeth hastily, and when a dewe cōmeth vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 ¶ By his word he stilleth the wind: by his counsell hee appeaseth the deepe, & planteth ylandes therein.

24 They that sayle ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it w our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there be strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beastes, and the creation of whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good ende, & are stablished by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we cannot attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to prayse him? for he is aboue all his workes.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very great, Psal.96.4. and marueilous is his power.

30 Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth hee farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and bee not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 *Who hath seene him, that he might tel vs? and who can magnifie him as he is? Iohn.1.18. Psal.106.2.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, and we haue seene but a fewe of his workes.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, & giuen wisdome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The prayse of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

LEt vs nowe commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whome we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glorie by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, & were renowmed for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

4 *They gouerned the people by counsell and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sententes. Exo.18.15

5 They inuented the melodie of musike, & expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behind them, so that their prayse shall be spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memorial, and are perished, as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them. Gen.5.24.

10 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousnes hath not bene forgotte.

11 For whose posteritie a good inheritance is reserued, and their seede is conteyned in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is conteined in the couenant, and their posteritie after them.

13 Their seede shal remaine for euer, and their prayse shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

Cha.39.10

15 *The people speake of their wisedome, and the congregation talke of their praise.

‖ Enoch, Gen.5.24. hebr.11.5.

16 ‖*Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an example of repentance to the generations.

‖ Noe. Gen.6.9.& 7.1.hebr. 11.7.

17 ‖* Noe was found perfite, and in the time of wrath he had a rewarde: therefore was hee left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

18 An euerlasting couenant was made with him, that all flesh should *perish no more by the flood.

Gen.9.11.

‖ Abrahā, Gen. 12.3. & 15.5.& 17.4.

19 ‖Abraham was a *great father of many people: in glorie was there none like vnto him.

20 He kept the Lawe of the most High, & was in couenant with him, and he set the co-

Gen. 21.4.

uenant *in his flesh, and in tentation he was found faithfull.

Gen.22.16 17,18. gal.3.8.

21 Therefore he assured him by an *othe, that he would blesse the nations in his seed, and that hee would multiplie him as the dust of the earth, and exalt his seede as the starres, and cause them to inherite from sea to sea, and from the Riuer vnto the ende of the worlde.

Gen.26.2,3 ‖ Isaac,

22 *With ‖Isaac did he confirme like wise for Abraham his fathers sake, the blessing of all men, and the couenant,

‖ Iacob. ‖ Or, knewe him. Gen.27.28 and 28.1. Gen.28.14

23 And caused it to rest vpon the head of ‖Iacob, and ‖made himselfe knowen by* his blessings, and gaue him an heritage and deuided his portions, * & parted them among the twelue tribes.

‖ Ioseph.

24 And he brought out of him a ‖mercifull man, Which found fauour in the sight of all flesh.

CHAP. XLV.

The prayse of Moyses, Aaron, and Phinees.

‖ Moyses Exod.1.13. acts.7.22.

AND ‖Moyses, the *beloued of GOD and men, [brought hee forth,] Whose remembrance is blessed.

2 Hee made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

3 By his wordes hee caused the won-

Exo.6.28. 9.chapters

ders to cease, and hee made him *glorious in the sight of Kinges, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glorie.

Num.12.3.

4 *He sanctified him with faithfulnesse, and meekenes, and chose him out of all men.

5 Hee caused him to heare his voyce, and brought him into the darke cloude, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the Lawe of life & knowledge, that he might teach Iacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

Exod.19.7

6 Hee exalted ‖Aaron an holie man like ‖ Aaron.

Exod.4.18.

vnto him, euen his *brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euerlasting couenant made he with him, and gaue him the priesthoode among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 He put perfite ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

9 He compassed him about with belles of golde, and with many belles round about,

Exo.28.35.

*that when he went in, the sound might bee heard, and might make a noise in the Sanctuarie, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people,

10 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blew silke, and purple, and diuers kinds of workes, and with a breastlappe of iudgement, and with the ‖signes of trueth, ‖ Thim & Thummim.

11 And with woorke of skarlet cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like seales, and set in golde by goldsmithes worke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel.

12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holines, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholy cōsumed euery day twise continually.

15 Moyses filled his hands, and *anointed him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seede, so long as the heauens should remaine, that hee should minister before him, & also to execute the office of the priesthoode, and blesse his people in his name.

a That was, either put into his hand the booke of the Law written to reade vnto the people, or els some sacrifice that hee might offer vnto God for their offences. Leuit.8.12. Deu.17.10. & 21.5.

16 Before all men liuing the Lorde chose him that hee should present offrings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 *He gaue him also his cōmandements and authoritie according to the Lawes appointed, that he should teach Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Lawe.

Nu.16.1,2.

18 *Strangers stood by against him, and enuied him in the wildernes, euen the men that tooke Dathans & Abirams part, and the compasse of Core in furie and rage.

19 This

19 This the Lord saw, & it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fyrie flame.

Num.17.8 20 *But hee made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially hee appointed breade in aboundance.

21 For the [priests] did eate of the sacrifices of the Lorde, which hee gaue vnto him and to his seede.

Deu.12.12 and 18.1. 22 *Els had he none heritage in the land of his people, neither had he any portion among the people: for [the Lord] is the portion of his inheritance.

‖Phinees. Num.25. 12,13. 1.mac.2.54. 23 The thirde in glory is ‖* Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because he had zeale in the feare of the Lord, & stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chiefe of the Sanctuarie and of his people, and that hee and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the Priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritãce of the kingdome shoulde remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the only sonne of his sonne, and to his seede. God giue vs wisedome in our heart to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue, bee not abolished, and that their glorie may endure for their posteritie.

CHAP. XLVI.

The prayse of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

‖Iosue. Num.27. 18.deu.34. 9.Ios.1.2. and 12.7. IEsus ‖* the sonne of Naue was valiant in the warres, and was the successour of Moyses in prophesies, who according vnto his name, was a great saueour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, and to set Israel in their inheritance.

Ios.9.13. 2 *What glorie gate hee, when he lift vp his hand, and drewe out his sword against the cities?

3 Who was there before him, like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

Ios.10.12, 13,14. 4 *Stoode not the sunne still by his meanes, and one day was as long as two?

5 He called vnto the most high Gouernor when the enemies prealled vpon him on euery side, and the mightie Lord heard him with the haylstones, & with mightie power.

6 He rushed in vpon the nations in battell, and in the *going downe [of Bethoron]

Ios.10.11. hee destroyed the aduersaries, that they might know his weapons, & that he fought ‖in the sight of the Lorde: for he ‖followed the Almightie.

‖Or, shot the Lord so, moued his hand. ‖or, gouerned the mightie men.

7 *In the time of Moyses also hee did a good worke: he and ‖Caleb the sonne of Jephune stoode against the enemie, and withheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring.

Num.14.6. 1.mac.2.55 56. ‖Caleb. Nũ.26.65. deu.1.35, 36.

8 *And of sixe hundreth thousand people of foote, they two were preserued to bring them into the heritage, euen into the lande that floweth with milke and honie.

9 *The Lorde gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his old age, so that he went vp into the high places of the land and his seede obteined it for an heritage, Ios.14.11.

10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

11 Concerning the ‖iudges, euery one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, their memorie be blessed.

‖Iudges

12 Let *their bones flourish out of their place, & their names by succession remaine to the that are most famous of their children.

Cha.49.14

13 ¶ ‖Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, beloued of his Lord, *ordeined Kings, and anointed the princes ouer his people.

‖Samuel. 1.Sam.10. 1.& 16.13.

14 By the Lawe of the Lord hee iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Iacob.

15 This Prophet was approued for his faithfulnes, and he was knowen faythfull in his wordes and visions.

16 *He called vpon the Lorde almightie, when his enemies pressed vpon him on euerie side, when he offred the sucking lambe.

1.Sam.7.9, 10,11.

17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noyse.

18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians, and all the rulers of the Philistims.

19 *And before his long sleepe hee made protestation in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, that he tooke no substance of any man, no, not so much as a shoe, and no man could accuse him.

1.Sam.12. 3.

20 *After his sleepe also hee tolde of the kings death, and from the earth lift he vp his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednes of the people should perish.

1.Sam.28. 18,19.

CHAP. XLVII.

The prayse of Nathan, Dauid and Salomon.

‖Nathan 2.Sam.12.1 AFter him rose vp ‖* Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

2 For as the fatte is taken away from the peace offering, so ‖Dauid. was ‖Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

1. Sam.17. 34. 3 *Hee played with the lions, as with kiddes, and with beares, as with lambes.

1. Sam.17. 49,50,51. 4 *Slewe he not a gyant when he was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when hee lift vp his hande with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliah?

5 For he called vpon the most high Lord, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warriour, and that hee might set vp the horne of his people againe.

2. Sa. 18.7. ‖Or, the people. ‖Or, with blessings of the Lord. 2.Sam.7.9. 6 *So ‖he gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with ‖great prayses, and gaue him a crowne of glorie.

7 *For he destroyed the enemies on euery side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

8 In all his workes he praysed the Holy one, and the most high with honourable wordes, and with his whole heart he sung songs, and loued him that made him.

1.Chro.16. 4. 9 *He set singers also before the altar, and according to their tune hee made sweete songs, that they might praise [God] dayly with their songs.

10 Hee ordeyned to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appointed the times perfitely, that they might prayse the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

2.Sa.12.13. 11 *The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glorie in Israel.

12 After him rose vp a wise sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

‖Salomon. 13 ‖*Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about, that he might builde an house in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuarie for euer.

2.King.4. 29,30. 14 *Howe wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

15 Thy minde couered the whole earth, and hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy Name went abroade in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloued.

2.King.4. 31,32. 17 *The countries marueiled at thee for thy songs, and prouerbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

1.King.10. 27. 18 In the name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast *gathered golde as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead.

19 *Thou diddest bow thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy bodie. 1.King.11 1.

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posteritie, and hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorow for thy follie.

21 *So the kingdome was deuided, and Ephraim beganne to bee a rebellious kingdome. 1.King.12. 15,16,17.

22 *Neuertheles the Lord left not off his mercie, neither was hee destroyed for his workes, neither did hee abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but hee left a remnant vnto Iacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid. 2.Sa.7.15.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, & of his seede he left behinde him ‖Roboam, euen ‖the foolishnes of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, *who turned away the people through his counsell, and ‖Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, *which caused Israel to sinne, & shewed Ephraim the way of sinne, ‖Roboã. ‖Or, a most euident foole. 1.King.12. 10,11,13. 14. ‖Ieroboam. 1.King.12. 28,30.

24 So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the lande.

25 For they sought out all wickednes, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Elisæus, Ezekias and Isaias.

‖Elias. THen stoode vp ‖*Elias the Prophet as a fire, & his worde burnt like a lampe. 1.King.17. 1.

2 He brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale he diminished them: for they might not away with the cõmandements of the Lord.

3 By the worde of the Lorde he shut the heauen, *and three times brought he the fire from heauen. 1.King.18. 38,and 2. king.1.10, 12.

4 O Elias, how honourable art thou by thy wonderous deedes! Who may make his boast to be like thee!

5 *Which hast raised vp the dead from death, and by the word of the most high out of the graue: 1.King.17. 21,22.

6 Which hast brought kings vnto destruction, and the honorable from their seate:

7 Which heardest the rebuke of the Lord in Sina, *and in Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance: 1.King.19. 15.

8 *Which diddest anoint kings that they might ‖recompence, and Prophets to be thy successours: 1.King.19. 16,17. ‖The wickednes of Achab and Iezabel.

9 *Which wast taken vp in a whirle wind of fire, and in a charet of firie horses: 2.King.2. 11.

10 Which hast appointed * to reproue in due season, and to pacifie the wrath of the Lordes Mala.4.5.

Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Iacob.

11 Blessed were they that sawe thee, and slept in loue: for a we shall liue.

a That is, they that are liuely.

12 *When Elias was couered with the storme, ‖ Eliseus was filled with the spirit: while hee liued, he was not moued for anie prince, neither could any bring him into subiection. 2.King.2. 11,15. ‖ Eliseus

2.King.13. 21. 13 Nothing could ouercome him, *and after his death his bodie prophecied.

14 He did wonders in his life, & in death were his workes marueilous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sinnes: 2.King.18. 21,12. *till they were caryed away prisoners out of their lande, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a verie fewe people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

‖ Ezekias. 2.King.18. 2. 17 ‖*Ezekias made his citie strong, and conueied water into the middes thereof: he digged through the rocke with yron, and made fountaines for waters.

2.King.18. 13. 18 *In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabsaces, and lift vp his hande against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and handes, so that they sorowed like a woman in trauell.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, and lift vp their handes vnto him, and immediatly the holy one heard them out of heauen.

21 He thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies, & but deliuered them by the hand of Elai.

2.King.19. 35 &c.37. 36.&c.1. 18.1.mac. 7.41. 2. mac8.19. 22 *He smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angell destroyed them.

‖ Isaias. 23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lorde, and remained stedfastly in the wayes of Dauid his father, as ‖ Elai the great Prophet, and faithfull in his vision had commanded him.

2.King.20. 10,11. Isai. 38.8. 24 *In his time the sunne went backward, and he lengthened the kings life.

25 He sawe by an excellent Spirit what shoulde come to passe at the last, and hee comforted them that were sorowfull in Sion.

26 He shewed what should come to passe for euer, and secret things, or euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Hezekiah, Dauid, Ieremie, Ezechiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem and Seth.

THe remembrance of ‖*Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the apothecarie: it is sweete as honie in all mouthes, and as musike at a bāquet of wine. ‖ Iosias. 2.King.22. 1.&c.23. 2.chr.34.

2 He behaued him selfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 He* directed his heart vnto the Lord, and in the time of ỹ vngodly hee established religion. 2.King.23. 4.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednes: for euen the kings of Iuda forsooke the Lawe of ỹ most High, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue their ‖ horne vnto other, and their honour to a strange nation. ‖ Or, power.

6 He burnt the elect citie of the Sanctuarie, * and destroyed the streetes thereof according to the ‖ prophesie of ‖ Ieremias. 2.King.25. 9. ‖ Or, hand. ‖ Ieremias. Iere.38.6. Ierem.1.5.

7 For they* intreated him euill, which neuertheles was a Prophet, *sanctified frō his mothers wombe, that hee might roote out, and afflict, and destroy, & that he might also buylde vp, and plant.

8 ‖*Ezechiel sawe the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the charet of the Cherubims. ‖ Ezechiel. Ezec.1.3,5

9 *For he made mention of the enemies vnder [the figure] of the raine, and directed them that went right. Ezek.13.9. &c38,11,16

10 ℭ*And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourish out of their place, and let their memorie bee blessed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by assured hope. Chr.46.12

11 ℭ*How shall we prayse ‖ Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand! Hagg.2.24. ezra.3.2. ‖ Zorobabel.

12 So was ‖*Iesus also ỹ sonne of Iosedec: these men in their time builded the house, & set vp the Sanctuarie of the Lorde againe, which was prepared for an euerlasting worship. ‖ Iesus. Zecha.3.8. ezra.3.2. hagg.1.12, &c3.

13 ℭ*And among the elect was ‖ Nemias whose renowme is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were falle, and set vp the gates and the barres, and layed the foundations of our houses. Nehe. 7.1. ‖ Nemias.

14 ℭBut vpon the earth was no man treated like ‖*Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth. ‖ Enoch. Gen. 5.24. cha.44.16. hebr. 11.5.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto ‖*Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and ỹ vpholder of his people, whose bones were kept. ‖ Ioseph. Gen.41.46 & 42.6. 45.8.

16 ‖*Sem and ‖ Seth were in great honour amōg men: and so was ‖ Adam aboue euery liuing thing in the creation. ‖ Sem. Gen.5.3. ‖ Seth. ‖ Adam.

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias, 22 An exhortation to prayse the Lord. 27 The authour of this booke.

‖Simon 2. Mac. 3. 4.

SImon *the sonne of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the ‖ Temple,

‖Or, people.

2 Under him was the foundation of the double height layed, and the hie walles that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, [were restored,] and the brasse was about in measure as the a sea.

a Which Salomõ made, 1. Kings. 7. 23.

4 Hee tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house couered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning starre in the middes of a cloude, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the rainebow that is bright in the faire cloudes,

8 And as the flowre of the roses in the spring of the yere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of sommer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of massie gold, set with all maner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the cloudes.

11 When he put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, hee went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When he tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, he himself stood by the herth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, & they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lorde in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offring of the most High, and almightie, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offring, & powred of the blood of the grape, and he powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, & made a great noyse to bee heard, for a remẽbrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hasted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God almightie, and most high.

18 The singers also sang with their voyces, so that the sounde was great, and the melodie sweete.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lorde were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went hee downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue prayse with their lips vnto the Lorde, and reioyce in his Name.

21 He began againe to worship, þ he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Nowe therefore giue prayse al ye vnto God, that worketh great thinges euery where, which hath increased our dayes frõ the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercie,

23 That he would giue vs ioyfulnesse of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in olde time, 24 That he would confirme his mercie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There bee two maner of people, that mine heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistims, and the foolish people that dwell in ‖ Sichimus.

‖or, Sichem

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Sirach, [the sonne] of Eleazarus, of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisedome of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth him selfe therein: and hee that layeth vp these in his heart, shalbe wise.

29 For if he doe these things, he shall bee strong in al things: for he setteth his steppes in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisedome to the godly. The Lorde be praysed for euermore: So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lorde and King, and praise thee, O God my Sauiour: I giue thankes vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender & helper, and hast preserued my body frõ destruction, and from the snare of the slaunderous tongue, and

and from the lippes that are occupied with lyes: thou hast holpen mee against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of thē that were ready to deuoure mee, and out of the handes of such as sought after my life, and frō the manifolde afflictions, which I had,

4 And frō the fire that choked me round about, and from the middes of the fire that I burned not,

5 And frō the bottome of the bellie of hel, from an vncleane tongue, frō lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, and from the slaunder of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 ¶ My soule shall prayse the Lorde vnto death: for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed mee on euery side, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lorde, and vpon thine actes of olde, howe thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the handes of the ‖ enemies. [Or, nations]

9 Then lyfted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lorde the father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, & in the time of the proud without helpe.

11 I will prayse thy Name continually, and will sing prayse with thankesgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst me frō destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thankes, and prayse thee, & bleſſe the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet yong, or euer I went abroade, I desired wisedome openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countreys, and thee was as a grape that wareth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, and frō my youth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, & gate me much wisdome:

17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisedome.

18 For I am aduised to do thereafter: I will be iealous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, & I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I founde her in purenes: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowelles are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I wil prayse him.

23 Draw neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwel in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slowe: and what say you of these thinges, seeing your soules are very thirstie:

25 I opened my mouth, and saide, *Buye her for you without money. [*Esa.55.1.]

26 Bowe downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instructiō: the is ready that ye may finde her.

27 Behold with your eyes, *howe that I haue had but litle labour, & haue gotten vnto me much rest. [*Chap.6.28]

28 Get learning wt a great summe of money: for by her ye shal possesse much gold.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie [of the Lorde,] and bee not ashamed of his prayse.

30 Do your duetie betimes, and hee will giue you a rewarde at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, ỹ sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖ Asadias, ỹ sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon, [Or, Sedeias]

2 In the fift yeere, & in the seuenth [day] of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the woords of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim King of Juda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And

and from the lippes that are occupied with lyes: thou hast holpen mee against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of thē that were ready to deuoure mee, and out of the handes of such as sought after my life, and frō the manifolde afflictions, which I had,

4 And frō the fire that choked me round about, and from the middes of the fire that I burned not,

5 And frō the bottome of the bellie of hel, from an vncleane tongue, frō lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, and from the slaunder of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 ¶ My soule shall prayse the Lorde vnto death: for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed mee on euery side, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lorde, and vpon thine actes of olde, howe thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the handes of the ‖ enemies. [Or, nations]

9 Then lyfted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lorde the father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, & in the time of the proud without helpe.

11 I will prayse thy Name continually, and will sing prayse with thankesgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst me frō destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thankes, and prayse thee, & bleſſe the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet yong, or euer I went abroade, I desired wisedome openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countreys, and thee was as a grape that wareth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, and frō my youth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, & gate me much wisdome:

17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisedome.

18 For I am aduised to do thereafter: I will be iealous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, & I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I founde her in purenes: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowelles are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I wil prayse him.

23 Draw neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwel in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slowe: and what say you of these thinges, seeing your soules are very thirstie:

25 I opened my mouth, and saide, *Buye her for you without money. [*Esa.55.1.]

26 Bowe downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instructiō: the is ready that ye may finde her.

27 Behold with your eyes, *howe that I haue had but litle labour, & haue gotten vnto me much rest. [*Chap.6.28]

28 Get learning wt a great summe of money: for by her ye shal possesse much gold.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie [of the Lorde,] and bee not ashamed of his prayse.

30 Do your duetie betimes, and hee will giue you a rewarde at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, ỹ sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖ Asadias, ỹ sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon, [Or, Sedeias]

2 In the fift yeere, & in the seuenth [day] of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the woords of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim King of Juda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, & of the Kings sonnes, & before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the hiest, before all them that dwelt ‖Or, Sidi. at Babylon by the riuer ‖ Sud.

5 Which [when they heard it,] wept, fasted and made prayers before the LORD.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Jerusalem vnto Joacim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other Priestes, and to all the people which were with him at Jerusalem,

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the LORD, that were take away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the lande of Juda, the tenth daye of [the ‖Or, Sibat. moneth] ‖ Siuan, [to wit,] siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Josias King of Juda had made,

9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had ledde away Jechonias from Jerusale, and his Princes, and his nobles, prysoners, and the people, and caryed them to Babylon.

10 And they saide, Behold, We haue sent you money, wherewith yee shall bye burnt offrings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a ‖Or, Manna for minhah, which was also euening and morning sacrifice. ‖ meate offring, and offer vpon the altar of the LORD our God.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen, 12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the shadowe of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe them seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the LORD our God (for wee haue sinned against the LORDE our God, & vnto this day the furie of the LORDE and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which we haue sent to you to be rehearled in the Temple of the LORD) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

Chap.2.6. 15 Thus shall ye say, * To the LORD our God [belongeth] righteousnes, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto the of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,

16 And to our Kings, and to our Princes, and to our Priestes, and to our Prophetes, and to our fathers,

Dan.9.5. 17 Because wee haue * sinned before the LORD our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the LORDE our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the LORD brought our fathers out of the lande of Egypt, euen vnto this day, We haue bene disobedient vnto the LORDE our God, and wee haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

20 *Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the LORD appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and honie, as [appeareth] this day. Deut.28. 15.

21 Neuerthelesse, We haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the LORD our God, according to all the woords of the Prophetes, whom he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the LORD our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 He promiseth that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and euerlasting Testament.

THerefore the LORDE our God hath performed his woorde, which hee pronounced against vs, & against our iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kinges, and against our Princes, and against the men of Israel and Juda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Jerusalem, according to thinges, that were written in the Law of Moyses,

3 That some among vs should *eate the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesche of his owne daughter. Deut.28. 53.

4 Moreouer, hee hath deliuered them to be in subiection to al the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproche and desolation among all the people round about where the LORD hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because wee haue sinned against the LORDE our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

6 *To the LORD our God [apperteineth] righteousnes, but vnto vs & to our fathers open shame, as [appeareth] this day. Cha.1.15.

7 [For] al these plagues are come vpon vs, which the LORDE hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue We not prayed before the LORD, that that wee might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lorde hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

Dan. 9.15. 11 *And now, O Lorde God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and an hie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as [appeareth] this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in al thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a few left amõg the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine own sake, and giue vs fauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may knowe that thou art ẏ Lord our God, & that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

Deut. 28. 15. &c. 63. Psal. 6.5.6. & 115.17. 18. &c. 38. 28.19. ‖ For, glory, nor praise of righteousnesse.

17 *Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graues, & whose soules are out of their bodies, *giue vnto the Lord neither ‖ praise, nor righteousnes.

18 But the soule that is vexed for ẏ greatnes [of sinne,] and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee praise and righteousnes, O Lord.

19 For wee doe not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnes of our fathers, or of our kings,

20 But because ẏ hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by ‖ thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

For, by the hand of thy seruants. Ier. 27.7.

21 *Thus saith the Lord, Bowe downe your shoulders, and serue the king of Babylon: so shall ye remaine in the lande, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if ye will not heare the voyce of ẏ Lord, to serue the king of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of myrth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shalbe desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruaunts the Prophets: [namely,] that ẏ bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers should bee caried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heate of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as [appeareth] this day, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie, 28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy Lawe before the children of Israel, saying,

Leuit. 26. 14. deut. 28. 15.

29 *If ye will not obey my voyce, thẽ shal this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very fewe among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I know that they will not heare me: for it is a stifnecked people: but in the lande of their captiuitie they shal remember them selues, 31 And knowe that I am the Lord their God: then wil I giue them an heart [to vnderstand,] and eares.

32 And they shal heare, and prayse me in the lande of their captiuitie, and thinke vpõ my Name.

33 Then shal they turne them from their hard backes, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into ẏ land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shalbe lords of it: and I will increase them, & they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will bee their God, and they shalbe my people: and I wil no more driue my people of Israel out of the lande that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begun for their deliuerance. 9 He praiseth wisdome vnto the people, shewing that so great auerities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord almightie, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirite that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare,

2 Here, O Lorde, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, and we vterly perish.

4 O Lord almightie, the God of Israel, heare now ꝑ prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpō thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lorde our God, and thee, O Lord, will we prayse.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and prayse thee in our captiuitie: for wee haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to paimēts, according to al the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed frō ꝑ Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou maiest learne wisedome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies lande, and art waxen old in a strange countrey:

11 And art defiled with ꝑ dead: & art counted with them, that go down to the graues:

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisedome.

13 [For] if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisedome, where is strength, where is vnderstāding, that thou maiest knowe also from whence commeth long continuance, and life, & where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of ꝑ heauen, that hoarded vp siluer & golde, wherein men trust, and made none ende of their gathering?

18 For they that coyned siluer, and were so carefull of their worke, and whose inuention had none ende, 19 Are come to naught, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steades.

20 When they were yong, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstoode not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the paths thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdome vpon the earth, nor the marchāts of Merran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisedome haue knowen the way of wisedome, neither do they thinke vpon ꝑ paths therof.

24 O Israel, howe great is the house of God! & how large is ꝑ place of his possessiō!

25 It is great, and hath none ende: it is hie, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the gyantes, famous frō the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisedome, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauē, to take her, & brought her downe from ꝑ cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer ꝑ sea, to finde her, and hath brought her, rather thē fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he ꝑ knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beastes.

33 Whē he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when hee calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with chearefulnes they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 He hath found out all ꝑ way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The rewarde of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Jerusalem and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

This is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall dye.

2 Turne thee, O Jacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnes before ỹ light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, We are blessed: for ỹ things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good cõfort, O my people, Which art the memorial of Israel.

6 Ye are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because yee prouoked God to wrath, yee were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offring vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotte him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and ye haue grieued Jerusalem that nourished you.

9 When thee sawe the wrath comming vpon you from God, she said, Hearken, yee ỹ dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me vnto great heauines.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlasting wil bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue thẽ with weeping & mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Lawe of God.

13 They would not know his righteousnes, nor walke in the wayes of his commãdemẽts: neither did they enter into ỹ pathes of discipline, through his righteousnes.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euerlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For he hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue caryed away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing mee alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the handes of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, & put vpon me ỹ sackecloth of prayer, & so long as I liue, I will cal vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: crie vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation through the Euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercie, which shall quickely come vnto you from our euerlasting Sauiour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioye and perpetuall gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as nowe the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluatiõ from God, which shal come vnto you with great glory, and brightnesse from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently ỹ wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, & shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My darlinges haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crye vnto God: for hee that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God, so endeuour your selues tenne times more, to turne againe & to seeke him.

29 For he ỹ hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioye againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Jerusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, & such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whome thy children serue: miserable is shee that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as shee reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall shee be sorie for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall bee turned into mourning.

35 For a fyre shall come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, & shee shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Jerusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Lo, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let go) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP.

CHAP. V.

1 Jerusalem is moued vnto gladnes for the returne of her people, & vnder the figure there of the Church.

PUt off thy mourning clothes, O Jerusalem, and thine affliction, & decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee frō God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousnes, that commeth from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glorie of the Euerlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnes to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The Peace of righteousnes, and þ glorie of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and behold thy children gathered from the East vnto the west by the word of the Holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glorie, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery high mountaine, and the long enduring rockes, and to fill the valleyes, to make the ground plaine, that Jsrael may walke safelie vnto the honour of God.

8 The woodes and all sweete smelling trees shall ouershadowe Jsrael at the commandement of God.

9 For God shall bring Jsrael with ioy in the light of his maiestie, With the mercie & righteousnes that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the king of the Babylonias, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

In this chapter are þ makers and maintainers of images mightily confuted.

BEcause of þ sinnes, that yee haue committed against God, ye shall be led away captiues vnto Babylō, by Nabuchodonosor, king of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeeres, and a lōg season, euen a seuen generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceablie frō thence.

a That is seuentie yeres.

Ps.44.8.9. 10.& 46.5. 7.psal.115. 4.wil.13.10

3 *Now shall ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of golde, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that yee in no wise be like the strangers, neither bee ye afraide of them, when ye see þ multitude before thē and behinde them worshipping them,

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lorde, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angell shalbe with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, and layde ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take gold for a maide that loueth to be deckte,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the priestes themselues conuey away the golde, and siluer from their gods, and bestowe it vpon themselues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto þ harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of gold, and of wood with garmentes like men,

11 Yet can not they be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered thē with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though hee were a certaine iudge of the cōtrie: yet can he not slay such as offende him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is he not able to defende him selfe from battell, nor from theeues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therfore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth whē it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: When they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in:

17 And as the ‖ gates are shut in rounde about vpon him that hath offended the King: or as one that should be ledde to bee put to death, so the Priests keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, & with barres, lest their [gods] should be spoyled by robbers.

‖ or, couered.

18 They light vp candles before them: yea, more then for them selues, whereof they can not see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They consume, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the Temple.

21 The owles, swalowes and birds flie vpon their bodies, & vpon their heads, yea, and and the cattes also.

22 By this ye may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they can not shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

Isa.46.7. 25 *They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth: yea, and they that worshippe them, are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the grounde at any time, they can not ryse vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vp right, can they moue of themselues, neither if they be bowed downe, can they make them selues streight: but they set giftes before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the thinges that are offered vnto them, their Priestes sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childebed, touche their sacrifices: by these things ye may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring giftes to the gods of siluer, and golde, and wood.

30 And the Priests sit in their Temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heades and beardes are shauen, and being bare headed.

31 They roare, and cry before their gods, as men do at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The Priestes also take away of their garmentes, and clothe their wiues and children.

33 Whether it be euil that one doeth vnto them, or good, they are not able to recompence it: they can neither set vp a King nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a powe vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mighty.

36 They can not restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can shewe no mercy to the widowe, nor do good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, golde and siluer, are as stones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 Howe should a man thinke or say that they are gods?

40 Moreouer the Chaldeans themselues dishonour them: for when they see a domme man, that can not speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that he would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstande these things, can not leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore the women, girded with coardes, sit in the streetes, and burne ‖ straw. ‖ or, branne.

43 And if one of them be drawen away, and lye with any such as come by, she casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because she was not so worthily reputed, nor her coarde broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lyes: howe may it then be thought or sayde, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldesmithes make them, neyther bee they any other thing, but euen what the woorkeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: howe should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there commeth any warre or plague vpon them, the Priestes imagine with them selues, where they may hide them selues with them.

49 Howe then can men not perceyue, that they bee no gods, which can neither defende them selues from warre, nor from plagues?

50 For *seeing they be but of wood, and Psal.115.4. vid.13.10. of siluer, and of golde, men shall knowe hereafter that they are but lyes, and it shall bee manifest to all nations and Kings, that they bee no gods, but the woorkes of mens handes, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the lande, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer and of golde, the Priestes will escape and saue them selues, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They can not withstande any king or enemies: how can it then be thought or said that they be gods?

56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of gold, & of siluer can neither defend thēselues from theeues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their golde and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get thē away: yet can they not helpe them selues.

58 Therefore it is better to bee a King, and so to shew his power, or els a profitable vessell in an house, whereby hee that oweth it, might haue profite, then such false gods: or to bee a doore in an house, to keepe such thinges safe as bee therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a pallace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne and the moone, and the starres that shine, whē they are sent downe for necessarie vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is euident: & the winde bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commandeth ỹ clouds to goe about the whole worlde, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hilles and woods, it doeth that which is cōmanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say ỹ they bee gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do mē good.

64 For so much now be as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse Kings:

66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neyther shine as the moone.

67 The beastes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themselues good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a skarrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a White thorne in an orcharde, that euery birde sitteth vpon, & as a dead body that is cast in the darke.

71 By ỹ purple also & brightnesse, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they them selues shall bee consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall bee farre from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children,

which followeth in the thirde Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the middes of the hote firie fornace.

CHAP. I.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The crueltie of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children praise the Lord and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 AND they walked in the middes of ỹ flame, praysing God, and magnifiyng the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stoode vp, and prayed on this maner, & opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, sayde,

26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be prayzed and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in al ỹ things, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In al ỹ things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgementes: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these thinges vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all thinges haue we trespassed,

30 And not obeyed thy commaundements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that wee myght prosper.

31 Wherefore in all ỹ thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done

saue them selues, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They can not withstande any king or enemies: how can it then be thought or said that they be gods?

56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of gold, & of siluer can neither defend thēselues from theeues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their golde and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get thē away: yet can they not helpe them selues.

58 Therefore it is better to bee a King, and so to shew his power, or els a profitable vessell in an house, whereby hee that oweth it, might haue profite, then such false gods: or to bee a doore in an house, to keepe such thinges safe as bee therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a pallace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne and the moone, and the starres that shine, whē they are sent downe for necessarie vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is euident: & the winde bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commandeth ỹ clouds to goe about the whole worlde, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hilles and woods, it doeth that which is cōmanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say ỹ they bee gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do mē good.

64 For so much now be as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse Kings:

66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neyther shine as the moone.

67 The beastes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themselues good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a skarrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a White thorne in an orcharde, that euery birde sitteth vpon, & as a dead body that is cast in the darke.

71 By ỹ purple also & brightnesse, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they them selues shall bee consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall bee farre from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children,

which followeth in the thirde Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the middes of the hote firie fornace.

CHAP. I.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The crueltie of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children praise the Lord and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 AND they walked in the middes of ỹ flame, praysing God, and magnifiyng the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stoode vp, and prayed on this maner, & opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, sayde,

26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be prayzed and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in al ỹ things, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In al ỹ things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgementes: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these thinges vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all thinges haue we trespassed,

30 And not obeyed thy commaundements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that wee myght prosper.

31 Wherefore in all ỹ thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done done to vs, thou hast done thē in true iudgement:

32 As in delinering vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, and most hatefull traitours, and to an vnrighteous King, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And nowe wee may not open our mouthes: wee are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy Names sake, We beseech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake, 36 To whome thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiplie their seed as the starres of heauen, and as ỹ sand, that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For we, O Lord, are become lesse thē any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes:

38 So that nowe we haue neither prince, nor Prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that we might finde mercie.

39 Neuertheless in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullockes, and as in ten thousand of fat lambes, so let our offring be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And nowe wee followe thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy myracles, and giue thy Name the glorie, O Lord.

44 That all they which do thy seruants euill, may bee confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken.

45 That they may know, that thou only art the Lorde God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

a Which is a certaine kinde of fat and chalkie clay, as Plinius writeth. 2. booke. Chap. 105.

46 ¶ Nowe the Kings seruantes that had cast them in, ceased not to make ỹ ouen hote with a naphtha, & with pitch, and with towe, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lorde went downe into the fornace with thē that were with Azarias, & smote the flame of the fire out of the fornace, 50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moyst hyssing winde, so that the fyre touched them not at all, neither grieued, nor troubled them.

51 Thē these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the fornace, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praysed, and exalted aboue all things for euer, and blessed bee thy glorious and holy Name, & praysed aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed bee thou in ỹ Temple of thine holy glory, and praysed aboue al things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou ỹ beholdest ỹ depths, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in ỹ glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praysed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed bee thou in the firmament of heauen, and praysed aboue all thinges, and glorified for euer.

57 All ye woorkes of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

58 O heauens, blesse ye ỹ Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer. Psal.148.4.

59 O Angels of the Lorde, blesse yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

60 All ye waters that bee aboue the heauen, blesse ye the Lorde: prayse him, & exalte him aboue all things for euer.

61 All ye powers of the Lord, blesse ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

62 O Sunne and Moone, blesse yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

63 O Starres of heauen, blesse yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

64 Euery showre, and dewe, blesse ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

65 All ye windes, blesse ye ỹ Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue al things for euer.

66 O fire and heate, blesse ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all thinges for euer.

67 O ‖ winter and sommer, blesse ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

68 O dewes and ‖stormes of snow, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer. ‖or frostes.

69 O frost and colde, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all thinges for euer.

70 O yce and snowe, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all thinges for euer.

71 O nyghtes and dayes, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

73 O lightninges and cloudes, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

74 Let the earth bless the Lorde: let it prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

75 O mountaines, and hilles, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

76 All things þ grow on the earth, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

77 O fountaines, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

78 O sea, and floods, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that moue in the waters, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

80 All ye foules of heauen, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

81 All ye beastes and cattell, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

82 O children of men, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

83 Let Israel bless þ Lord, prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

84 O Priestes of the Lorde, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

87 O Saints and humble of heart, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, bless ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs from the hel, & saued vs frō the hand of death, & deliuered vs out of the middes of the fornace, & burning flame: euen out of the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confesse vnto þ Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercie endureth for euer.

90 All ye that worshippe the Lord, bless the God of gods: prayse him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie [endureth] worlde without ende.

The historie of ‖ Susanna, which ‖ for, Susanne

some ioyne to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with þ loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednes. 23 She chooseth rather to obey God, though it bee to the danger of her life. 34 Shee is accused. 45 Daniel woeth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Joacim,

2 And hee tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, þ daughter of Helcias, a very fayre woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Lawe of Moles.

Nowe Joacim was a great rich man, had a fayre garden ioyning vnto his house, & to him resorted the Jewes, because he was more honorable then all others.

5 The same yere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be iudges, such as the Lorde speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These hanted Joacims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Lawe, came [thither] vnto them.

7 Nowe whē the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two elders sawe her that shee went in dayly and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 There-

68 O dewes and ‖stormes of snow, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer. ‖or frostes.

69 O frost and colde, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all thinges for euer.

70 O yce and snowe, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all thinges for euer.

71 O nyghtes and dayes, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

73 O lightninges and cloudes, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

74 Let the earth bless the Lorde: let it prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

75 O mountaines, and hilles, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

76 All things þ grow on the earth, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer.

77 O fountaines, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

78 O sea, and floods, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that moue in the waters, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

80 All ye foules of heauen, bless yee the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

81 All ye beastes and cattell, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

82 O children of men, bless ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

83 Let Israel bless þ Lord, prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

84 O Priestes of the Lorde, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

87 O Saints and humble of heart, bless ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, bless ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs from the hel, & saued vs frō the hand of death, & deliuered vs out of the middes of the fornace, & burning flame: euen out of the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confesse vnto þ Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercie endureth for euer.

90 All ye that worshippe the Lord, bless the God of gods: prayse him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie [endureth] worlde without ende.

The historie of ‖ Susanna, which ‖ for, Susanne

some ioyne to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with þ loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednes. 23 She chooseth rather to obey God, though it bee to the danger of her life. 34 Shee is accused. 45 Daniel woeth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Joacim,

2 And hee tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, þ daughter of Helcias, a very fayre woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Lawe of Moles.

Nowe Joacim was a great rich man, had a fayre garden ioyning vnto his house, & to him resorted the Jewes, because he was more honorable then all others.

5 The same yere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be iudges, such as the Lorde speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These hanted Joacims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Lawe, came [thither] vnto them.

7 Nowe whē the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two elders sawe her that shee went in dayly and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 There-

9 Therefore they turned away their a To wit, frō God. a minde, and caſt downe their eies, that they ſhould not ſee heauen, nor remember iuſt iudgements.

10 And albeit they both were wounded with her loue, yet durſt not one ſhewe another his griefe.

11 For they were aſhamed to declare their luſt, that they deſired to haue to do with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to ſee her.

13 And the one ſaide to the other, Let vs go now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, & departed, one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the ſame place, and after that they had aſked one another the cauſe, they acknowledged their luſt: then appointed they a time both together when they might find her alone.

15 Now when they had eſpied out a conuenient time, that ſhe went in, as her maner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to waſh her ſelfe in the garden (for it was an hote ſeaſon)

16 And there was no body there, ſaue the two Elders that had hid themſelues, and watched for her:

17 She ſaid to her maides, Bring me oile and ſope, and ſhut the garden doores, that I may waſh me.

18 And they did as ſhe bade them, & ſhut the garden doores, & went out themſelues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that ſhe had commanded them: but they ſaw not the Elders, becauſe they were hid.

19 Now when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders roſe vp and ranne vnto her, ſaying,

20 Beholde, the garden dores are ſhut, that no man can ſee vs, and we burne in loue with thee: therefore conſent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witnes againſt thee, that a yong man was with thee, and therefore thou diddeſt ſend away thy maides from thee.

22 Then Sufanna ſighed, and ſaide, I am in trouble on euery ſide: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I do it not,
I cannot eſcape your hands.

23 It is better for mee to fall into your handes, and not doe it, then to ſinne in the ſight of the Lord.

24 With that Sufanna cried with a loud voyce, and the two Elders cryed out againſt her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the ſeruants of the houſe heard the crye in the garden, they ruſhed in at the backe doore, to ſee what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the ſeruants were greatly aſhamed: for there was neuer ſuch a report made of Sufanna.

28 On the morowe after, came the people to Joacim her huſbande, and the two Elders came alſo, full of miſchieuous imagi-natiō againſt Sufanna, to put her to death,

29 And ſaid before the people, Send for Sufanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife. And immediatly they ſent.

30 So ſhe came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Now Sufanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And theſe wicked men commaded to vncouer her [face] (for ſhee was couered) ſ
they might ſo be ſatisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her,
and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders ſtoode vp in the middes of the people, and laide their hands vpon her head,

35 Which wept and looked vp towarde heauen: for her heart truſted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders ſaid, As we walked in the garden alone, ſhee came in with two maides, whom ſhe ſent away from her, and ſhut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then we which ſtoode in a corner of the garden, ſeeing this wickednes, ranne vnto them, and we ſaw them as they were together,

39 But we could not holde him: for hee was ſtronger then we, & opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now when wee had taken this woman, wee aſked her what yong man this was, but ſhee would not tell vs: of theſe things are we witneſſes.

41 The the aſſemblie beleeued them, as thoſe that were the Elders & iudges of the people: ſo they condemned her to death.

42 Then Sufanna cried out with a lowde voyce, and ſaide, O euerlaſting God, that knoweſt the ſecretes, and knoweſt al things afore they come to paſſe,

43 Thou knoweſt, that they haue bo falſe witneſſe againſt me, and behold muſt dye, where as I neuer did ſuch as theſe men haue maliciouſly inu gainſt me.

44 And the Lord heard her vo

45 ¶ Therefore when thee was led to be put to death, the Lorde raysed vp the holy spirite of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this Woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, & said, What meane these words, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stoode in the middes of them, and said, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnesse against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders sayde vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then saide Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, nowe thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, & hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lorde saith, *The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. Exod. 23.7

54 Now then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, Vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? who answered, Vnder a lentisk tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verely thou hast lyed against thine owne ‖ head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two. ‖ or life.

56 So put he him aside, and commanded to bring the other, & saide vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beautie hath deceyued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Juda would not abide your wickednes.

58 Now therefore tell me, Vnder what tree didst thou take them companying together? who answered, Vnder a ‖ prime tree. ‖ or Mirtle tree.

59 Then saide Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assemblie cryed with a lowde voyce, and praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witnesse by their owne mouth)

62 *And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put the to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. Deut. 19. 19. pro. 19. 5.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praysed God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, & all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputatiõ in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was layd with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his steade.

The historie of Bel and the dragon,

which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel

after the Latin.

NOw when King Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

Nowe the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day, twelue great measures of fine flowre, and fourtie sheepe, and sixe great vessels of wine.

3 And the king worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: But Daniel worshipped his own God. And the king said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

4 Who answered, & said, Because I may not worship idols made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, & hath power vpon all flesh.

5 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

6 Then Daniel smiled & said, O King, bee not deceiued: for this is but claye within,

45 ¶ Therefore when thee was led to be put to death, the Lorde raysed vp the holy spirite of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this Woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, & said, What meane these words, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stoode in the middes of them, and said, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnesse against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders sayde vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then saide Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, nowe thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, & hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lorde saith, *The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. Exod. 23.7

54 Now then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, Vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? who answered, Vnder a lentisk tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verely thou hast lyed against thine owne ‖ head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two. ‖ or life.

56 So put he him aside, and commanded to bring the other, & saide vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beautie hath deceyued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Juda would not abide your wickednes.

58 Now therefore tell me, Vnder what tree didst thou take them companying together? who answered, Vnder a ‖ prime tree. ‖ or Mirtle tree.

59 Then saide Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assemblie cryed with a lowde voyce, and praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witnesse by their owne mouth)

62 *And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put the to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. Deut. 19. 19. pro. 19. 5.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praysed God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, & all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputatiõ in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was layd with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his steade.

The historie of Bel and the dragon,

which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel

after the Latin.

NOw when King Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

Nowe the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day, twelue great measures of fine flowre, and fourtie sheepe, and sixe great vessels of wine.

3 And the king worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: But Daniel worshipped his own God. And the king said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

4 Who answered, & said, Because I may not worship idols made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, & hath power vpon all flesh.

5 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

6 Then Daniel smiled & said, O King, bee not deceiued: for this is but claye within, withyn, and drasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his priests, and said vnto them, If ye tel me not, who this is that eateth vp these expences, ye shall die:

9 But if ye can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel saide vnto the King, Let it bee according to thy worde.

10 (Nowe the Priests of Bel were three score and tenne, beside their wiues and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priestes sayde, Beholde, we will goe out, and set thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine bee filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morowe when thou commest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, wee will suffer death, or els Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Nowe they thought them selues sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the King set meates before Bel. Nowe Daniel had commanded his seruantes to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the King alone: thē went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kinges signet, and so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came the Priestes, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and dyd eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the King arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the King sayde, Daniel, are the seales whole? who answered, Yea, O king, they be whole.

18 And assoone as he had opened ꝑ doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loude voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceite.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the King that he should not go in, and said, Beholde nowe the pauement, and marke well whose footesteppes are these.

20 And the King saide, I see the footesteppes of men, women, and children: therefore the King was angrie,

21 And tooke ꝑ priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table, 22 Therefore the King slewe them, & deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 Moreouer in that same place there was a great dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King said vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasse also? loe, he liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing god: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the King, I will worship the Lorde my God: for hee is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O King, & I will slay this dragon without sword or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitche, & fatte, & heare, and did seethe them together, & made luppes thereof: this hee put in the dragons mouth, and so the dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel sayde, Behold, whom ye worshippe.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderful wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a Iew: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the dragon, and put the priests to death.

29 So they came to the King, and sayd, Deliuer vs Daniel, or els wee will destroy thee and thine houle.

30 Now when the King saw, that they preassed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrayned him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 who cast him into ꝑ lyons den, where he was fiue dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, & was going into the fielde for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Goe, carie ꝑ meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the lyons denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.

36 Thē the Angel tooke him by ꝑ crowne of the head, and bare him by the heare of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then saide Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer fayleſt them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the king went to bewaile Daniel: and whē he came to the denne, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate [in the middes of the Lyons.]

41 Then cryed the King with a lowde voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lorde God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And hee drewe him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

The first booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Jerusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp Idoles.

AFter that Alexander ꝑ Macedonian, the sonne of Philippe, went forth of the land of Chettiim, and ᵃ slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia, a The first battell with the Carthaginēses, was fought at this time.

2 Hee tooke great warres in hande, and wanne strong holdes, and slewe the Kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to the endes of the worlde, and tooke spoyles of many nations, in so much that the worlde stoode in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hawtie.

b The beginning of the kingdom of Egypt.

4 ᵇ Now when he had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, & knewe that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp wᵗ him of children, & parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

c The beginning of ꝑ kingdome of Syria.

9 ᶜ And his seruants reigned euery one in his roome.

10 And they all caused them selues to be crowned after his death, & so did their children after them many yeres, and much wickednes increased in the worlde.

for, noble.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, [euen] Antiochus ‖ Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bin an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Greekes.

d The beginning of ꝑ kingdome of the Partchians. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 6.

12 ᵈ In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entited many, saying, Let vs goe, & make a couenant with the heathen, that are rounde about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorowe.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of ꝑ people were ready, & went to the King which gaue them licence to do after the ordinances of the heathen.

e The wicked fal headlong into mischiefe.

15 ᵉ Then set they vp a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the facions of ꝑ heathen, f By vnwaring the skin ouer the part that was circumcised, as Celſ. 7. cap. 25. Epiph. lib. de ponderib. & mensur.

16 And made them selues ᶠ vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy Couenant, & ioyned them selues to the heathen, and were sold to do mischiefe.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore he entred into Egypt with a mightie compame, with charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great naule, g The second battel with the Carthaginenses.

19 ᵍ And moued warre against Ptolemeus king of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, and fled, & many were wounded to death.

20 Thus [Antiochus] wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, & tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, hee turned againe in ꝑ hundreth, fourtie and three yere,

22 And went vp towarde Israel & Jerusalem with a mightie people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments

him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then saide Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer fayleſt them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the king went to bewaile Daniel: and whē he came to the denne, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate [in the middes of the Lyons.]

41 Then cryed the King with a lowde voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lorde God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And hee drewe him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

The first booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Jerusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp Idoles.

AFter that Alexander ꝑ Macedonian, the sonne of Philippe, went forth of the land of Chettiim, and ᵃ slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia, a The first battell with the Carthaginēses, was fought at this time.

2 Hee tooke great warres in hande, and wanne strong holdes, and slewe the Kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to the endes of the worlde, and tooke spoyles of many nations, in so much that the worlde stoode in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hawtie.

b The beginning of the kingdom of Egypt.

4 ᵇ Now when he had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, & knewe that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp wᵗ him of children, & parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

c The beginning of ꝑ kingdome of Syria.

9 ᶜ And his seruants reigned euery one in his roome.

10 And they all caused them selues to be crowned after his death, & so did their children after them many yeres, and much wickednes increased in the worlde.

for, noble.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, [euen] Antiochus ‖ Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bin an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Greekes.

d The beginning of ꝑ kingdome of the Partchians. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 6.

12 ᵈ In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entited many, saying, Let vs goe, & make a couenant with the heathen, that are rounde about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorowe.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of ꝑ people were ready, & went to the King which gaue them licence to do after the ordinances of the heathen.

e The wicked fal headlong into mischiefe.

15 ᵉ Then set they vp a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the facions of ꝑ heathen, f By vnwaring the skin ouer the part that was circumcised, as Celſ. 7. cap. 25. Epiph. lib. de ponderib. & mensur.

16 And made them selues ᶠ vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy Couenant, & ioyned them selues to the heathen, and were sold to do mischiefe.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore he entred into Egypt with a mightie compame, with charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great naule,

g The second battel with the Carthaginenses.

19 ᵍ And moued warre against Ptolemeus king of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, and fled, & many were wounded to death.

20 Thus [Antiochus] wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, & tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, hee turned againe in ꝑ hundreth, fourtie and three yere,

22 And went vp towarde Israel & Jerusalem with a mightie people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments struments thereof, & the table of the shewbread, & the powring vessels, & the bowles, and the golden basins, and the vaile, and ỳ crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 He tooke also the siluer and gold, and the precious iewels, and he tooke the secret treasures that he founde, and when he had taken away all, he departed into his owne lande, 25 After he had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes & the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feeble, and ỳ beauty of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, & she that sate in the marriage chamber, was in heauines.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for al the house of Jacob was couered with confusion.

h The battel of Macedonia.

30 h After two yeres the King sent his chiefe taxe master into the cities of Juda, which came to Jerusalē with a great multitude,

31 Who spake peaceable words vnto thē in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, & destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fyre on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattel.

35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, & with mighty towres, and made it a strong holde for them.

36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, & vngodly persons, and fortified them selues therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vitailes, and gathered the spoyle of Jerusalem, and layed it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare and were in ambushment for the Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled ỳ Sanctuarie, 40 In so much that the citizens of Jerusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of straungers, being desolate of them whom shee had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuarie was left waste as a wildernes: her holy daies were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honour brought to naught.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also ỳ King wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should bee as one, & that euery man should leaue his lawes. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 8.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offring vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by ỳ messengers vnto Jerusalem, and to the cities of Juda, that they should followe the strange lawes of the countrey, 47 And that they should forbid ỳ burnt offrings and sacrifices, and the ‖ offrings in the Sanctuarie, ‖ or, drinke offring.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feasts,

49 And pollute the Sanctuarie and the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars, and groues, and chappels of idoles, & offer vp swines flesh, & vncleane beastes,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannes, and pollute them selues, that they might forget the Lawe, & change all the ordinances.

52 And that whosoeuer would not doe according to the commandement of ỳ King, should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, [for to compell them to doe these things.]

54 And he commanded the cities of Juda to do sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Lawe, and so they committed euill in the land.

56 And they droue the Israelites into secrete places, euen whereseoeuer they could flee for succour.

57 The fiftenth day of Casleu, in ỳ hundreth and fiue and fourtieth yere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Juda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, & in the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And

59 And the bookes of the Lawe, which they founde, they burnt in the fyre, and cut in pieces.

i It is a manifeſt note of the enemies of God, to burne ỹ bookes of the Lawe, Hiſt. eccleſi. li. 8 chap. 2.

60 Wholoeuer had a booke of the Teſtament founde by him, or wholoeuer conſented vnto the Lawe, the Kings commandemẽt was, that they ſhould put him to death by their authozitie.

61 And they executed theſe things euery moneth vpõ the people of Iſrael that were found in the cities.

62 And in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, they did ſacrifice vpõ the altar, which was in the ſtead of the altar of ſacrifices.

63 And accozding to the commandemẽt, they put certaine women to death, which had cauſed their childzen to bee circumciſed, 64 And they hanged vp the childzen at their neckes, and they ſpoyled their houſes, and ſlewe the circumciſers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Iſrael, which were of courage, and determined in themſelues, that they would not eate vncleane things, 66 But chooſe rather to ſuffer death, thẽ to be defiled with thoſe meates: ſo becauſe they would not breake the holy couenant, they were put to death.

67 And this ‖ tyrannie was very ſore vpon the people of Iſrael.

‖ Or, rage.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his ſonnes for the deſtruction of the holy citie. 19 They refuſe to do ſacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are ſlayne and will not fight againe becauſe of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying commandeth his ſonnes to ſticke by the wozde of God, after the example of the fathers.

Ioſep. Antiq. li. 12. cha. 7.

IN thoſe dayes ſtood vp Mattathias the Prieſt, [the ſonne] of Joannes, [the ſonne] of Simeõ, of the ſonnes of Joarib of Jeruſalem, and dweit in Modin.

2 And he had fiue ſonnes, Joanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thaſſi,

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called ‖ Abaron, & Jonathan, whoſe name was Apphus.

‖ or, Auaron

6 Now he ſawe the blaſphemies, which were committed in Juda and Jeruſalem:

7 And he ſaid, Woe is me: wherfoze was I borne, to ſee this deſtructiõ of my people, and the deſtruction of the holy citie, & thus to ſit ſtil: it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies,

8 And the Sanctuarie [is] in the hands of ſtrangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renoume.

9 Her glozious veſſels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are ſlaine in the ſtreetes, and her yong men are fallen by the ſwozde of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not ſome poſſeſſion in [her] kingdome, oz hath not gotten of her ſpoyles?

11 All her glozie is taken away: of a free woman, ſhe is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our Sãctuarie & our beautie, and honour is deſolate, & the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his ſonnes, and put ſackcloth vpon thẽ, and mourned very ſoze.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin to compell thẽ to forſake God, and to ſacrifice.

16 So many of the Iſraelites conſented vnto them: but Mattathias and his ſonnes aſſembled together.

17 Then ſpake the commiſſioners of ỹ King, and ſaid vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, & great in this citie, and haſt manie childzen and bzethzen.

18 Come thou therefoze firſt, and fulfill the Kinges commaundement, as all the heathẽ haue done, and alſo the men of Juda, and ſuch as remaine at Jeruſalem: ſo ſhalt thou and thy familie be in the Kings fauour, and thou & thy childzen ſhalbe enriched with ſiluer and golde, and with many reWardes.

19 Then Mattathias anſWered & ſaide with a loude voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the Kinges dominion, obey him, and fall aWay euery man from the religion of their fathers, & conſent to his commandements, 20 a Yet Will I and my ſonnes, and my bzethzen, Walke in the couenant of our fathers.

a The father promiſeth for his childzen that they ſhal ſerue God: ſo doth Joſhua for his houſhold, Joſh. 24. 15.

21 God be merciful vnto vs, that We forſake not the Lawe and the ozdinances.

22 We Will not hearken vnto the Kings Wozdes to tranſgreſſe our religion, neither on the right ſide, noz on the left.

23 And When hee had left off ſpeaking theſe Wozds, there came one of the Jewes, in the ſight of all to ſacrifice vpon the altar Which Was at Modin, accozding to ỹ Kings commandement.

24 Now When Mattathias ſawe it, he was ſo b inflamed With zeale, ỹ his reines ſhooke, & his Wzath Was kindled accozding to the ozdinance [of the Lawe:] therefoze hee

b It is a griefe to the godly to ſee the wicked offend, hee ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the same time hee slewe the kings commissioner, that compelled him to do sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Law of God, * doing, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom. Num.25.7

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loud voyce in the citie, saying, Wholoeuer is zealous of the Lawe, and will stande by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So hee, and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left al that they had in the citie.

29 Then many that ‖ sought after iustice and iudgement, ‖ Or, that iudicially and vprightly.

30 Went downe into the wilderneſſe to dwell there, both they, and their children, & their wiues, and their cattell: for the afflictions increased sore vpon them.

31 ¶ Nowe when it was tolde vnto the Kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ieruſalē in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings cōmandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernes,

32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped against them, & set the battel in array against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And said vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commandement of the King, & yee shall liue.

34 But they answered, Wee wil not go forth, neither will we do the Kinges commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at thē, nor stopped the prime places, 37 But said, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slewe both men & cattell, their wiues and their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstoode this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we al do as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shall they innocently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therfore they concluded at the same time, saying, Wholoeuer shall come to make battel with vs vpon the Sabbath day, Wee will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of ye Assideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were wel minded toward the Lawe.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned them selues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, & smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto ye heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friendes went about, and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coastes of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proude men: & this acte prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Lawe out of the hand of ye Gentiles, & out of the hand of Kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Nowe when the time drewe neere, that Mattathias should dye, he sayde vnto his sonnes, Nowe is pryde and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, & the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the lawe, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall yee receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

52 * Was not Abraham founde faithfull in tentation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnes? Gen.22. 9,10. rom.4.3.

53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, & was made the lorde of Egypt. Gen.41.49

54 * Phinees our father, because he was zealous and feruent, obtained the couenant of the euerlasting Priesthoode. Nu.25.13. ecclus.45. 23,24.

55 * Iesus for fulfilling the worde, was made the gouernour of Israel. Ioſh.1.2.

56 * Caleb, because he bare witnes before the congregation, receiued the heritage of the land. Num.14. 6,7 ioſh. 14.13.

57 * Dauid, because of his mercie obtained ye throne of the kingdome for euermore. 2.Sam.2.4.

58 * Elias, because he was zealous and feruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen. 2.King.2. 11.

59 * Ananias, Azarias & Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame. Dan.3.16, 17,18,26.

60 * Daniel, because of his innocēcie, was deliuered from the mouth of the lyons. Dan.6.22.

61 And

61 And thus yee may consider throughout all ages, that whosoeuer put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

Mat.10.26 28.31.Esa. 40.6.7.8. & 51.7.8.

62 *Feare not yee then the wordes of a sinfull man: for his glorie is but dongue and wormes.

Isai.1.10. 1.pet.1.24 ecclus.14. 18.

63 To day is he set vp, and to morow he shall *not bee found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore, my sonnes, take good heartes, and shewe your selues men for the Lawe: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue eare vnto him alway: hee shall bee a father vnto you.

66 And Judas Maccabeus hath beene mightie & strong, euen from his youth vp: let him bee your captaine, and fight you the battel for the people.

67 Thus shal ye bring vnto you al those that obserue the Law, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commaundement of the Lawe.

69 So he blessed them, and was layed with his fathers,

70 And dyed in the hundreth, fourtie & fiue yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Judas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Judas towarde God. 55 Judas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his host.

THen Judas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with his father, & fought with courage the battel of Israel.

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a brestplate as a gyant, and armed him selfe, and set the battel in array, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his actes he was like a lyon, & as a lyons whelpe roaring after the pray.

5 For hee pursued the wicked, & sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people,

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And hee grieued diuers Kinges, but Jacob reioyced by his actes, & his memorial is blessed for euer.

8 He went also thorow the cities of Juda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was he renowmed vnto ỹ ends of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But a Apollonius gathered the Gētiles, & a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

a Who was gouernour of Syria, Josep. Antiq.12. chap.9.

11 Which when Judas perceiued, he wēt forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Judas tooke their spoyles, & tooke also Apollonius sworde, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Nowe when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Judas had gathered vnto him the cōgregation, & Church of the faithfull, and went forth to ỹ warre, 14 He sayd, I wil get mee a name, & will bee glorious in the Realme: for I will goe fight with Judas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings cōmandement.

15 So he made him readie to go vp, and there went with him a mightie host of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Judas went forth to meete him with a small companie.

17 But when they sawe the armie comming against them, they sayde to Judas, Howe are we able, being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing wee bee so wearie, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then sayde Judas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of fewe, and there is no differēce before [the God] of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small companie.

19 For the victorie of the battel standeth not in the multitude of ỹ host, but ỹ strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruel and proud multitude, to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But wee doe fight for our liues, & for our Lawes,

22 And God him selfe willl destroy them before our face: therefore bee not ye afrayde of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron & his host destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued thē from ỹ going downe of Bethhoron vnto ỹ plaine: where there were slaine eight hundreth men of them, them, and the residue fled into the lande of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Judas and his brethren fel vpon the nations round about,

26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Judas.

27 ¶ But when King Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered al the power of his realme a verie strong armie.

28 And opened his treasurie, and gaue his host a yeeres wages in hande, commanding them to be readie for a yere for all occasions.

29 Nevertheles, when he sawe that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that hee had brought vpon the lande, in taking away the Lawes which had bene of old time,

30 He feared least he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie he farre passed the other Kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his mind, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, & to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man and of the Kings blood to ouersee the Kings busines, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt, 33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer, hee gaue him halfe of his host and elephants, & gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Juda & Jerusalem, that he should send an army against them, to destroy & root out the power of Israel & the remnant of Jerusalē, & to put out their memorial from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, and part their lande among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the host that remained, & departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yere an hundreth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorowe the hie countries.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorimmus, & Nicanor, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the Kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourtie thousand footemen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to go into the land of Juda, and to destroy it, as the King commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by ||Emmaus in the plaine countrey. ||Emmaus.

41 Now when the marchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke verie much siluer and gold, & seruants, and came into the campe to bye the children of Israel for slaues, & the strēgth of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Nolde when Judas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the host drew neere vnto their borders, considering the kings wordes, whereby he had cōmanded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them, 43 They said one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, & let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the congregation were soone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Jerusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernes. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the straungers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathē: and the mirth of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselues together, & came to Maspha before Jerusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed afortime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, & put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heades, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the Lawe, wherein the heathen sought to paint the likenes of their Idoles, 49 And brought the Priestes garments, and the first fruites, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loude voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall wee doe with these: and whither shal we carie them away:

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priests are in heauines, and brought downe.

52 And beholde, the heathen are come against vs to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs:

54 Then they blewe the trumpets, and cryed with a lowde voyce.

55 And after this Judas ordeyned captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or maried wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearful, that they should returne euery one to his owne house, accor-Deu.20.5. ding *to the Lawe.
and.7.3. 57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Judas saide, Arme your selues, and bee valiant men, and be readie against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuarie.

60 Neuertheles as the will [of God] is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Judas goeth against Gorgias which lieth in wait. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his host to flight. 28 Lysias inuadeth Judea. 29 But Judas ouercometh him out. 43 Judas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

Ioseph. lib. 12.cha. 10. Then tooke Gorgias fiue thousand [foote] men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, & departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

3 Now when Judas heard it, hee remoued, & they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Judas campe: & when he founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

6 But assoone as it was day, Judas shewed himselfe in the field with three thousand men, which had neither harneste nor swordes to their minds.

7 And they sawe that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, & that these were expert men of warre.

8 Then said Judas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their assault.

9 Remember, how our fathers were de-Exo.14.9, liuered *in the red sea, when Pharao pur-&c. sued them with an armie.

10 Therefore nowe let vs crie vnto heauen, and the Lorde will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shall all the heathen know, ỹ there is one, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming against them, 13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Judas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sworde, and they pursued them vnto ||Gaze- ||Or, Azaria. mith.
ron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Jamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Judas turned againe with his host from pursuing them,

17 And said vnto ỹ people, Be not greedie of the spoiles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye nowe fast against your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoyles.

19 As Judas was speaking these words, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when [Gorgias] sawe that his were fled, and that Judas souldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene, declared what was done.)

21 When they saw these things, they were sore afraied, & when they saw also that Judas and his host were in the field readie to set themselues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the lande of strangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to spoile the tents, where he gate much gold and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, & sung psalms, and prayed towarde the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercie endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victorie in that day.

26 Now al the strangers that escaped, came, and tolde Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who whē he heard these things, was sore afraied, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as he would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lysias three score thousand chosen [foote] men, and fiue thousand horsemen to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into ||Idumea, and pit- ||Or, Iudea. ||Or, Beth-ched their tēts at ||Beth-sura, where Judas horon.
came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And

30 And when he saw that mightie armie, he prayed & said, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, which diddest destroy the assault of the mightie man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, and gauest the host of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

1.Sam.17. 50,51.

2.Sam.14. 23,24.

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them bee confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias host, fiue thousande men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his army put to flight, and the manlinesse of Judas souldiers, and that they were readie, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, hee thought againe (being prepared) to come against Judea.

36 Then sayde Judas and his brethren, Beholde, our enemies are discomfited: let vs nowe goe vp to cleanse, and to repayre the Sanctuarie.

37 So all the host gathered thē together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuarie layed waste, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, & the shrubbes growing in the courts, as in a forrest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamētation, and cast ashes vpon their heades, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blewe an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Judas commanded certaine of the men to fight against thole which were in the castel, till he had cleansed the Sanctuarie.

42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delited in the Lawe, 43 And they cleansed the Sanctuarie, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And cōsulted what to do with the altar of burnt offrings, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, least it should be a reproch vnto thē, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar,

46 And laid vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shewe what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Lawe, and builded a new altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, & the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also newe holy vessels, & brought into the Temple the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offrings, & of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlestick, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, and finished all the workes that they had begonne to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chasleu, in the hundreth and eight and fourtieth yeere they rose vp betimes in the morning,

53 And offered sacrifice according to the Lawe, vpō the new altar of burnt offrings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping & praising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offring burnt offrings with gladnes, and offred sacrifices of deliuerance and prayse, 57 And dectte the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was verie great gladnes among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Judas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel ordeined that the daies of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fiue and twentie day of the moneth Chasleu, with mirth and gladnes.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles and strong towres rounde about, least the Gentiles should come, and treade it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Judas vanquished the heathen that go about to destroy Israel, and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Jonathan. 50 He ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorow it.

Ioseph. lib. 13. cap. 12.

NOwe when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renued, as afore, they were sore grieued.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Judas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at ‖ Arrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and he smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straites, and tooke their spoyles.

Or, Arabathene.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had beene a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towres, and besieged them, and destroyed them vtterly, and burnt their towres with fire, with all that were in them.

6 After warde, went hee against the children of Ammon, Where he found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So hee had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer with ꝑ townes thereof, and so turned againe into Judea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castell of Dathema,

10 And sent letters to Judas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathē that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs, 11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortresse, Whereunto wee are fledde, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therfore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine:

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galile with their clothes rent, which tolde the same tidings, 15 And said, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.

16 When Judas, and the people heard these words, a great Congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethrē, that were in trouble, & whom they besieged.

17 Then sayd Judas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Jonathan, will go into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So he left Josephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Judea, 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the ouersight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men to go into Galile, and to Judas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so hee tooke their spoyles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile & in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, & all that they had, & brought them into Judea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Judas Maccabeus also, & his brother Jonathan went ouer Jorden, and trauciled three daies iourney in the wildernes,

25 where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and told them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosora, and Bosor, in Alemis, ‖ Chaldon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong, and great)

Or, Chaspor.

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morowe they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Judas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wildernes towarde Bosora, and wan the citie, and slewe all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all all their ſpoile, and ſet fire vpon [the citie.]

29 And in the night hee remoued from thence, and went toward the fortreſſe.
30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and inſtruments of warre, to take the fort, and had aſſaulted them.
31 When Judas ſawe that the battell was begunne, and that the crie of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpettes, and a great ſound, 32 Then hee ſaide vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.
33 So he went forth behinde them with three companies, and they blewe the trumpets, and cried with prayer.
34 Then the hoſte of Timotheus knew, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, & he ſmote them with a great ſlaughter, ſo that there was killed of thē the ſame day, almoſt eight thouſand men.
35 ¶ Then departed Judas vnto Malpha, and laid ſiege vnto it, and wanne it, and ſlew all the males thereof, and ſpoyled it, and ſet fire vpon it.
36 From thence went he and tooke Chalbon, Maged, and Bolor, and the other cities in Galaad.
37 After theſe things gathered Timotheus an other hoſte, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.
38 Now Judas had ſent to eſpie the hoſte, and they brought him worde againe, ſaying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoſte is verie great,
39 And hee hath hyred the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyonde the flood, and are readie to come & fight againſt thee. So Judas went to meete them.
40 Then Timotheus ſayd vnto the captaines of his hoſte, when Judas & his hoſte come neere the flood, if he paſſe ouer firſt vnto vs, we ſhall not be able to withſtande him: for he will be too ſtrong for vs.
41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and ſhall preuaile againſt him.
42 Now when Judas came neere to the flood, he cauſed the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, and commaded them, ſaying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.
43 So he went firſt ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were diſcomfited before him, and caſt away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.
44 Which citie Judas wanne, & burnt the temple with all that were in it: ſo was Carnaim ſubdued, and might not withſtād Judas.
45 ¶ Then Judas gathered all the Iſraelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the leaſt vnto þ moſt, with their wiues and their childrē, and their baggage, a very great hoſte, to come into the lande of Juda.
46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the waye, and ſtrongly defenſed: they could not paſſe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but muſt goe thorowe it.
47 But they that were in the citie, ſhut them ſelues in, & ſtopped vp the gates with ſtones: and Judas ſent vnto them with peaceable wordes, ſaying, 48 Let vs paſſe thorow your land, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none ſhall hurt you: we will but onely goe thorowe on foote: but they would not open vnto him.
49 Wherfore Judas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoſte, that euery man ſhould aſſault it accōding to his ſtanding.
50 So the valiant men ſet vpon it, and aſſaulted the citie all that day, & all that night, and the citie was giuē ouer into his hands:
51 Who ſlewe al the males with the edge of the ſworde, and deſtroyed it, & tooke the ſpoyle thereof, and went thorowe the citie ouer them that were ſlayne.
52 Then went they ouer Jorden into the great plaine before Bethſan.
53 And Judas gathered together thoſe that were behinde, & gaue the people good exhortation all the waye thorowe, till they were come into the land of Juda.
54 Thus they went vp with ioy, & gladnes vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offrings, becauſe there were none of thē ſlaine, but came home againe in ſafetie.
55 ¶ Now whiles Judas and Jonathan were in þ land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Joſeph the ſonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiāt actes, and battels which they had atchieued, ſaid, 57 Let vs get vs a name alſo, & goe fight againſt þ heathen that are round about vs.
58 So they gaue their hoſte a cōmandement and went toward Jamnia.
59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight againſt them.

60 And Joseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow amõg the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Judas, and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, whereseuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

Ioseph. Antiq.12. chap.11.& 12.

65 Afterwarde went Judas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau in the lande towarde the South, where he wan Hebron, & the townes therof, and he destroyed the castell thereof, & burnt the townes thereof round about.

66 Then remoued he to go into the lande of the ‖strangers, & went thorow Samaria.

‖Or, Philistims.

67 At the same time were the Priests of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shewe their valiantnes, and went forth to battell without counsell: and when Judas came to Azotus in the strangers lande, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, & tooke away the spoyles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus, willing to take the citie of Elimais, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickness, & dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The maner to prouoke elephantes to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant act. 48 The siege of Sion.

Ioseph. Antiq.12. chap.13.

NOw when King Antiochus trauelled thorow the hie countreys, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Persia was a citie greatly renowned for riches, siluer and gold,

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, whereas were couerings of golde, cote armours, and harnesse, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Philippe (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heauines, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Juda, were driuen away,

6 And how Lysias, which went forth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, & that they were made strong by the armour, and power, & diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Jerusalem, and fensed the Sanctuarie with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

8 So when the king had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therfore he layde him downe vpon his bed, & fell sicke for very sorowe, because it was not come to passe, as he had thought.

9 And there continued hee many dayes: for his griefe was euer more & more, so that he sawe he must needes die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friendes, and sayde vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart fayleth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my self, Into what aduersity am I come: and into what floods of miserie am I fallen nowe, where as afore time I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power:

12 And nowe doe I remember the euils that I haue done at Jerusalē: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitantes of Juda without cause.

13 I knowe that these troubles are come vpõ me for the same cause, & behold I must dye with great sorowe in a strange lande.

14 Then called hee for Philippe, one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, & his robe, and the ring, that he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till hee might reigne himselfe.

16 So King Antiochus died there in the hundreth and fourtie and ninth yeere.

17 When Lysias knewe, that the King was dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers steade, and called him Eupator.

Ioseph. Antiq.12. chap.14.

18 Nowe they that were in the castell [at Jerusalē,] kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuarie, and sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundreth and fiftie yeere, and made instrumentes to shoote and other engins gins of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gate forth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselues)

22 And they went vnto the king, saying, Howe long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren:

23 Wee haue bene readie to serue thy father, and to go forward in those things, that hee appoynted, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fel from vs for this cause, & wheresoeuer they found any of vs, they slewe them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layed hande vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And beholde, this day are they besieging the castell at Jerusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, & Beth-sura.

27 And if thou doest not preuent them quickely, they will doe greater thinges then these, and thou shalt not bee able to ouercome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angry, and called all his friendes, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen,

29 And bands that were hired, came vnto him from the Kings, that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundreth thouland footemen, and twentie thouland horsemen, and two and thirtie elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Idumea & drewneere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engins of warre: but they came out, and burnt thē with fire, & fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Judas frō the castell, and remoued the host toward Beth-zacarias ouer against the Kings campe.

33 So the King arose very earely, and brought the armie and his power towarde the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie set themselues in array to the battell, & blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies,

35 And they set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stood a thouland men armed with coates of mayle & helmets of brasse vpon their heads, & vnto euery beast were ordeined fiue hundreth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were ready at al times wheresoeuer the beast was: and whithersoeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towres of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, & vpon euery one was two and thirtie men, that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of p horsemen vpō both the sides in two wings of the hoste to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleyes.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the Kings armie was spred vpon the hie mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, & in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the cōpanie, and the rating of the harnesse, were astonished: for the armie was very great & mightie.

42 Then Judas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slewe fiue hundreth men of the Kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, [the sonne] of Abaron, sawe one of the elephants armed with royall harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beastes, hee thought that the King should be vpon him. [Or, Saura.]

44 Wherefore he ieoparded him selfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name, 45 And ranne boldly vnto him through the middes of the hoste, slaying on the right hande, and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the elephants feete, & gate him vnder him, [a] and slewe him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, & there he died. [a] This example is not to be followed, because it is contrary to the commandement.

47 But [the other,] seeing the power of the king and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the Kings armie went vp to meete them toward Jerusalem, & the king pitched his tents in Judea towarde mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, p King tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but whē they came out of the citie, because they had no vitailes there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The King tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it,

51 And besieged the Sanctuarie many daies, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre, and instrumentes to cast cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast dartes and slings.

52 ‖ They also made engins against their engins, and fought a long season. ‖ Or, the lower.

53 But in the garners there were no victailes: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Judea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store,

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lysias heard that Philip (whom Antiochus the king, whiles hee liued, had ordeyned to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia, and Media, and the Kings host with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things,

57 He [and his] hasted, and were stirred forward by them in the castell to go and tell the King, and the captaines of the host, and to others, [saying,] We decrease daily, and our vitailes are but small: and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depende vpon vs.

58 Nowe therefore let vs ‖ agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation, ‖ Or, giue hande.

59 And graunt them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and do al these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when hee sawe that the place was well defensed, he brake his othe that he had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall rounde about.

63 Then departed he in al haste, and returned vnto Antiochia where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so he fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lysias. 5 He troubleth the children of Israel, though the counsell of certaine wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Prieste against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

Iosephus. Anno. 12. chap. 5.

IN the hundreth and one and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a fewe men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, hee said, Shewe me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Nowe when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bin the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the King, saying, Judas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friendes, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore send now some man, whom thou trustest, that he may go and see all the destruction, which hee hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings lande, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the King chose Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the floud, and was faithful vnto the King, and sent him,

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom hee made hie Priest, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the lande of Juda, and sent messengers to Judas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleeued not their saying: for they saw that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a companie of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable pointes.

13 And the ‖ Aldeans were first that required peace among the children of Israel. ‖ Or, Hasidims.

14 For sayd they, Hee that is a Priest of the seede of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and sware vnto them, and saide, We will do you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleeued him: but he tooke of them threescore men, and slewe them in one day according to the wordes that were written.

17 *They haue [cast] the bodies of thy Saintes, and their blood round about Jerusalem, and there was no man that would burie them. *Psal. 79.2.

18 So there came a feare and trembling among all the people: for they sayde, There is neither trueth nor righteousnes in them: for they haue broken the appointment and othe othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remoued from Ie-rusalem, and pitched his tent at ‖Beth-ze-cha, where he sent forth and tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whome he slewe [and cast] into the great pit.

‖Or, Bethsethor, Bezeth.

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthode.

22 And all such as troubled the people resorted vnto him: in so much, that they obtained the land of Juda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Judas sawe all the mis-chiefe, that Alcimus and his companie had done among the Israelites more then the heathen,

24 Hee went foorth round about all the borders of Judea, and punished those, that were falle away, so that they came no more abroade in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus saw that Judas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, & knewe that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the king, and accused the of wicked things.

26 Then the king sent Nicanor one of his chief princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commanded him, that he should destroy the people.

Iosep. Antiq. 12. cha. 26.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a great host, and sent vnto Judas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying,

28 Let there be no warre betweene me, and you: I will come with fewe men, to see howe ye do, friendly.

29 So he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Judas.

30 Neuertheles, it was tolde Judas, that he came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore hee feared him, and would not see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his cousell was bewrayed, hee went out to fight against Judas, beside ‖Carphalalama.

‖Or, Caphsarama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors host about fiue thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priestes with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, & to shewe him the burnt offring that was offred for the king.

34 But he laughed at the, & mocked the,
and counted the prophane, & spake proudly,

35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Judas and his hoste be not deliuered nowe into mine handes, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stoode before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 For so much as thou, [O Lord,] hast chosen this * house, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, & petition for thy people,

* Iai. 56.5.7

38 Be auenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ Whē Nicanor was gone from Jerusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Judas pitched in ‖ Adala with three thousand men where Judas prayed, saying,

‖Or, Adarsa

41 [O Lord,] * because the messengers of king Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slewe an hundreth, foure score, and fiue thousand of them.

* 2. King. 19. 35. 2. Esd. 18. eccles. 48. 22. Isai. 37. 36. 2. mac. 8. 19.

42 So destroy thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may knowe that hee hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuarie, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar:
but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and he him selfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney from Adala vnto Galera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of al the townes of Judea round about, & rushed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sworde, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyles, & the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he helde vp so proudly, & brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Jerusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnes.

49 And they ordeined, to keepe yeerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Juda was in rest a litle whyle.

CHAP.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas, considering the power and policie of the Romaines, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

Iosep. Antiquit. 12. chap. 18.

IUdas heard also the fame of the Romaines, þ they were mightie, and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them,

2 And þ they were men of great power, and they told him of their battels, and their worthie actes, which they did among the ‖ Galathians whom they had conquered, & made to paye tribute,

‖ Or, Frenchmen.

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and golde,

4 And that by their counsell, & gentle behauiour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discõfited, & giuen great ouerthrowes to the kings that came against thẽ, from the vttermost part of the earth, & that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 Howe they had also discomfited by battell Philippe and Perses kings of the ‖ Macedonians, and others, that arose against them, and how they ouercame them,

‖ Or, Cittim.

6 And how great Antiochus king of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundreth and twentie elephantes, with horsemen, and charets, and a very great armie, was discomfited by them,

7 And howe they tooke him aliue, & ordeined him, with such as shoulde reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe when it was tolde them that þ Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battell, and slew many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoiled them, and conquered their lande, and destroied their strong holdes, and subdued them to be their bondmen vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, howe they destroyed, and brought into subiection other kingdomes & yles, whosoeuer had withstande them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friendes, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, in so much that whosoeuer heard of their renoume, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined thẽ selues a counsel, wherein three hundreth & twentie men consulted daily, and prouided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well,

16 And that they committed their gouernement to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whome euery mã was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eupolemus the sonne of John, [the sonne] of Accus, and Jason, the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome to make friendship, and mutuall felowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they sawe that the kingdome of þ Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate where they spake and said,

‖ Or, counsel.

20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethrẽ, and þ people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, & peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friendes.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse & sent to Jerusalem, þ they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace, & mutuall felowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sworde, and enemy be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon þ Romaines, or any of their friẽds throughout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Iewes shall helpe them, as the time shalbe appointed, with al their heart, 26 Also ‖ they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheat nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romaines, but ‖ they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

‖ Or, the Romaines.

‖ Or, the Iewes.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the natiõ of þ Iewes, the Romaines shall helpe them with a good wil, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shal wheat be giuen vnto thẽ, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, ney, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romaines, who will keepe theyr couenantes without deceit.

29 According to theyr articles the Romaines made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these pointes the one partie, or the other will adde or diminish, they may do it, at their pleasures, & whatsoeuer they shall adde, or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, wee haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friendes, & confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, wee will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slayne. 21 Ionathan is put in the steade of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Ionathan, and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsie, and dyeth. 68 He commeth vpon Ionathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Ionathan with Bacchides.

Iosep. Antiq. 12. cha. 18.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard howe Nicanor, and his host had giuen the battell, he sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his ‖ chiefe strength with them.

‖ Or, the right horne

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Mesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and slewe much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundreth, fiftie and two yeere, they layed their siege against Ierusalem.

4 But they rayled their campe, & came to Berea, with twentie thousand [foote] men and two thousand horsemen.

‖ Or, Elisa.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleasa, & three thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they sawe, that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraide, and many conueyed them selues out of the hoste, so that there abode no moe of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Iudas sawe that his host failed him, and that hee must needes fight, hee was sore troubled in minde that hee had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuertheles, he saide vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, & goe vp against our enemies, if peraduenture we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe nowe, seeing our brethren are departed: for shal we fight against them, that are so fewe?

10 Then Iudas said, [a] God forbid, that We should do this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, & let vs not staine our honour.

[a] He that was wont to pray & ouercome, is ouercome when he trusteth in his strength, and omitteth prayer.

11 Then the hoste remoued out of the tentes, and stoode against them, who had deuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threwe with slinges, and the archers marched in the forewarde, & they that fought in the forewarde, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in þ right wing. So the armie drewe neere on both sides, & blewe the trumpets.

13 They of Iudas side blewe the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, and the battell cõtinued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas sawe þ Bacchides and the stregth of his armie was on þ right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, & followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Nowe when they which were of the left wing, saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas behind, and them that were with him hard at þ heeles.

17 Thē was there a sore battel: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also him selfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Ionathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamēted many dayes, saying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Iudas, both the battels and the valiant actes that he did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Nowe after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in al the coastes of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue them selues to iniquitie.

Iosep. Antiq. 13. cha. 2. & 3.

24 In those daies was there a very great famine in the lande, & all the countrey gaue ouer them selues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked mē, and made them lordes in the land.

26 These sought out, and made searche for Iudas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged him selfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friendes together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe foorth against our enemies, euē against Bacchides, and ‖ against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

‖ Or, Against the enemies of our nation.

30 Therfore, this day We chuse thee that thou maiest be our prince & captaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, & ruled in steade of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knewe it, hee sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, perceiuing that, fled into the Wildernes of Thecua With all their companie, and pitched their tentes by the water poole of Alphar.

34 Which When Bacchides vnderstood, he came ouer Jorden With all his hoste vpō the Sabbath day.

35 (Nowe had Jonathan sent his brother [John,] a captaine of ỹ people, to pray his friendes the Nabathites, ỹ they would keepe their baggage Which was much.

for, Lambri.

36 But the children of ‖ Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke John, and all that he had, and When they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came Worde vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, & brought ỹ bride from ‖ Medaba With great ponpe: for the was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

for, Nadabath.

38 Therefore they remēbred John their brother, and went vp, and hid them selues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friendes and his brethrē met them With tymbrels, and instruments of muslike, and many Weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, & slew many of them, and the remnant fled into ỹ mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoyles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so When they had auenged the bloud of their brother, they turned againe vnto Jorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Jorden With a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his cōpanie, Let vs rise now, & fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, & behinde vs, & the Water of Jorden on this side and that side, and the marisle, and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore cry now vnto heauen, that ye may bee deliuered frō the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hande to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and reculed.

48 Then Jonathan, and they that were With him, lept into Jorden, and swimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe through Jorden after thē.

49 So in that day Were slayne of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Jerusalē, and builte vp ỹ strong cities in Juda, as the castell of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, & Thamnatha, ‖ Pharathoni, and ‖ Tephoo, With high Walles, With gates, and With barres, for, Phara. for, Thopo.

51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the citie Beth-sura, & Gazara, and the castell, and set a garison in them With prouision of vitailes.

53 He tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castell at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ After Warde in the hundreth, fifte and three yeere, in the seconde moneth, Alcimus commanded, that the Walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, and hee pulled downe the monuments of the Prophetes, and beganne to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterpalles were hindred, & his mouth was stopped: for hee was smitten With a palsie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus dyed Alcimus With great torment at the same time.

57 And When Bacchides sawe, that Alcimus was dead, hee turned againe to the King, and so the lande of Juda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men helde a counsell, saying, Behold, Jonathan and his companie dWell at ease, and without care: Wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and he Will take them all in one night.

59 So they Went & consulted With him.

60 Who arose & came With a great hoste, and and sent letters priuily to his adherentes, which were in Iudea, to take Ionathan & those þ were with him: but they couldenot, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.

61 And || they tooke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednes, and slewe them. || or, Ierusalem.

62 ¶ Then Ionathan and Simon with their company departed vnto || Beth-basin which is in the wildernes, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong. || or, Bethbasim.

63 When Bacchides knewe this, hee gathered all his hoste, and sent worde to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Bethbasin, & fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, & went forth into þ countrey, and came with a certaine number,

66 And slewe || Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so he beganne to slay, and increased in power. || or, Odarei.

67 Simon also and his companie went out of the citie, & burnt vp the instrumentes of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, b that gaue him counsel to come into the countrey, and slewe many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey. b Wicked counsell falleth on the counsellers.

70 Whereof whē Ionathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadours vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing hee accepted, & did according to his desire, & made an oth, þ he would neuer do him harme al the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne lande, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, & destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slayne. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

IN the hundreth and three score yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, & tooke Ptolemais, & they receiued him, and there he reigned. Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 3.

2 Now When Demetrius þ King heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionathan, with louing wordes, as though hee would preferre him.

4 For he saide, We will first make peace with him, before hee ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so he gaue Ionathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be cōfederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castel, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Ionathan to Ierusalem, & read the letters in the audience of all the people, & of them that were in the castel.

8 Therefore they were sore afrayde, because they heard that the King had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castel, deliuered the hostages vnto Ionathā, who restored them to their parents.

10 Ionathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to builde, and repaire the citie.

11 And he commanded the workemen to builde the walles, & the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castels which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Only at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Law and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Nowe when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Ionathan: and when it was told him of the battels & noble acts, which he & his brethrē had done, and of the paynes that they had indured, 16 He saide, Might we finde such a man: now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Ionathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthie to bee our friende.

20 Wherefore this day wee ordeine thee to bee the hie Priest of thy nation, and to bee called the Kings friend: (and he sent him a purple robe, and a ‖ crowne of golde,) that thou maiest ‖ consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs.

Or, mine. Or, take our part.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundreth and threescore yere, vpon the feast day of the Tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an host, & prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was marueilous sory, and saide, Ioseph. Antiq.13. chap.3.

23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort thē, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant towarde vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Nowe therefore remaine still, & keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompence you for the good thinges that yee haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And nowe I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruite of the trees which is mine owne duetie, I so release thē that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Juda, or of the three gouernments which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, [a] from this day forth for euermore.

a And of the country beyonde Iorden, as Iosephus writeth.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the tenths and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castell which is at Jerusalem, and giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreouer I freely deliuer euery one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Juda throughout al my realme, and euery one of them shall be free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell,

34 And all the feasts, and Sabbaths, and new moones, and the dayes appointed and the three daies before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme, 35 So that [in them] no man shall haue power to do any thing, or to vexe any of thē in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousande of the Iewes shalbe written vp in the Kings host, & haue their wages paied them as appertaineth to al them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shall be ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holdes.

37 And some of them shall be set ouer the Kings most secret affaires, and their gouernours and their princes shall bee of themselues, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Juda.

38 And the three gouernements that are added vnto Judea frō the countrey of Samaria, shalbe ioyned vnto Judea, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuarie at Jerusalem, for the necessarie expenses of the holy things.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sicles of siluer of the kings reuenues out of the places appertayning vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they dyd in the former yeres, from henceforth they shal giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fiue thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for ỹ intertainement of the Sanctuarie, these yeeres passed, euen these thinges shall be released because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, Whosoeuer they be that flee vnto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetted to ỹ King for any maner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they haue in my realme.

44 For the building also & repairing of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expenses shal be giuen of the Kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it rounde about, that the holdes in Judea may bee built vp, shal also the costs be giuen out of the Kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan & the people heard these words, they gaue no credit vnto them, neither receiued thē: for they remembred the great wickednes that he had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for hee was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him allway.

48 Then

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great host, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two Kings ioyned battel, but Demetrius host fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that sore battell continued till the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

Ioseph. Antiq.13. chap.5.

51 ¶ Thē Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ptolemeus the King of Egypt with these words, saying,

52 For so much as I am come againe to my realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by mee, & I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs nowe make friendship together, & giue me nowe thy daughter to wife: so shal I be thy sonne in lawe, and giue thee rewardes, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemeus the King gaue answere, saying, Happie be ỹ day, wherin thou art come againe vnto ỹ land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Nowe therefore will I fulfil thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemais ỹ we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in Lawe, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in ỹ hundreth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where King Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and maried them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the maner of Kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote King Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come & meete him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, & there he met the two kings, & gaue thē great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, & found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellowes of Israel, & wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the King commanded that they should take off ỹ garments of Jonathan, & clothe him in purple: and so they did: and the King appoynted him to sit by him.

63 And saide vnto his princes, Goe with him into the middes of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complayne against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So whē his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And ỹ King preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chiefe friendes, and made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnes.

67 ¶ In the hundreth, three score and fiue yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers lande.

68 Whereof when King Alexander heard, he was very sory, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius ỹ gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, & camped in Jamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the hie Priest, saying,

70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs: and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: nowe therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the playne fielde, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stande before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And nowe howe wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen & footemen in the playne, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore hee chose tenne thousande men, and went out of Jerusalē, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And hee pitched his tents at Joppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garrison was in Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it, & they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen w a great host of [foote] men, and went toward Azotus, as though he would goe forward, & came immediately into ỹ plaine field, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in thē.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousande horsemen behinde him in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behinde him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood stil, as Jonathan had commanded them, til their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his host, and set them against the bande: but the horses were wearie, and hee discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the fielde, 83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagō their idole, that they might there saue themselues.

84 But Jonathan set fyre vpon Azotus and al the cities round about it, & tooke their spoyles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slayne and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the host frō thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, & met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoyles.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, hee beganne to doe Jonathan more honour, 89 And sent him a colar of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of ỹ kings blood: hee gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissension betweene Ptolemeus & Alexander his sonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after ỹ death of Ptolemeus. 22 Gion is besieged of Jonathan. 41 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 7.

AND ỹ King of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sande that lieth vpon the sea shore, and manie shippes, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne Realme.

2 Upō this he went into Syria wt friendly wordes, and was let into the cities, & men came forth to meete him: for King Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in lawe.

3 Nowe when he entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bandes and garisons in euery citie.

4 And when hee came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbes thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of thē by the way where he should passe.

5 And they tolde ỹ king what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the King held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met ỹ king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So whē Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So King Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpō the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander, 9 ¶ And sent Ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus hee slaundered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, & forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where hee set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But when Alexander heard it, hee came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought forth his host, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.

16 Thē fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, King Ptolemeus died: and they that were in the holds, were slayne one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundreth, threescore and seuenth yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege vnto the castell, which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto vnto King [Demetrius,] and told him that Jonathan beſieged the caſtel.

22 So when he heard it, he was angrie, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that he ſhould lay no more ſiege vnto it, but that hee ſhoulde meete him and ſpeake with him at Ptolemais in all haſte.

23 Neuertheles when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to beſiege it: he choſe alſo certaine of the Elders of Iſrael, and the Prieſts, and put himſelfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him ſiluer and gold, and apparell, and diuers preſents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and found fauour in his ſight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predeceſſers had done, and promoted him in the ſight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the hie Prieſthood with all the honourable things, that he had afore, & made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan alſo deſired the King, that he would make Judea free with the three gouernments, and the countrey of Samaria, and [Jonathan] promiſed him three hundreth talents.

29 Whereunto the King conſented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the ſame, conteining theſe words, 30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes ſendeth greeting.

31 We ſende you here a copie of the letter, which we did write vnto our couſin Laſthenes concerning you, that ye ſhould ſee it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Laſthenes his father, ſendeth greeting.

33 For the faythfulnes that our friends the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, We are determined to do them good.

34 Wherefore wee aſſigne to them the coaſtes of Judea with the three gouernments Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that ſacrifice in Jeruſalem: both concerning the paiments which the king tooke yerely afore time, both for the fruites of the earth, and for the fruites of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertayning vnto vs of the tenthes and tributes, which were due vnto vs, & the cuſtomes of ſalt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we diſcharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof ſhalbe reuoked from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore ſee that ye make a copie of theſe things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may be ſet vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the king ſawe that his land was in reſt, and that no reſiſtance was made againſt him, hee ſent away all his hoſte, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bandes of ſtrangers, whom he brought frō the yles of ꝑ heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoſte hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he ſawe that all the hoſte murmured againſt Demetrius, he went to ‖ Simalene the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus ꝑ ſonne of Alexander, ‖ Or, Emeſene.

40 And lay ſore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that hee might reigne in his fathers ſteade: he told him alſo what great euill Demetrius had done, and howe his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long ſeaſon.

41 Alſo Jonathan ſent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the caſtell at Jeruſalem, & thoſe that were in the fortreſſes: for they fought againſt Iſrael.

42 So Demetrius ſent vnto Jonathan, ſaying, I will not onely do theſe things for thee and thy natiō, but if opportunitie ſerue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Nowe therefore thou ſhalt do me a pleaſure, if thou wilt ſende me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan ſent him three thouſand ſtrong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king: wherfore the king was very glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of ꝑ citie, euen an hundreth, and twentie thouſande men, gathered them together in the middes of ꝑ citie, and would haue ſlaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the ſtreetes of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Jewes for helpe, which came to him all together, & went abroade through the citie,

48 And ſlewe the ſame day an hundreth thouſand, & ſet fire vpon the citie, and tooke many ſpoyls in that day, & deliuered ꝑ king.

49 So when the citizens ſawe that the Jewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they thē ſelues were diſappointed of their purpoſe, they made their ſupplicatiō cation vnto the King, saying,

50 ‖ Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie. ‖or, giue vs the right hand.

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace, & the Iewes were greatly honoured before the King, and before all that were in his Realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius sate in ꝑ throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheles he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrew himselfe from Ionathan, neither did he rewarde him according to the benefites which hee had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, & they fought against him, who fled and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the ‖ beastes, and wanne Antiochia. ‖or, elephantes.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoynt thee to bee the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernments, that thou maiest bee a friend of the Kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in golde, and to weare purple, and to haue a colar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coasts of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went forth, and passed thorow the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourablie.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ionathan, and hee made peace with them, and tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Ionathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come vnto Cades, which is in Galile, with a great host, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 He came against them, & left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, & shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he graunted them, & afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Ionathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And beholde the hostes of the ‖ strangers met him in the plaine, and had layed ambushments for him in the mountaines. ‖or, heathen

69 So that when they came against thē, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Ionathās side, fled: and there was not one of thē left, except Mattathias the sonne of ‖ Absalomus, and Iudas the sonne of Calphi the Captaines of the hoste. ‖or, Absolon.

71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, & cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, & put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his own men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after al vnto their tentes at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strāgers the same day about three thousand men, & Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan sendeth Ambassadours to Rome, 2 And to the people of Sparta, to renewe their couenant of friendship. 24 Ionathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius, 40 Tryphon taketh Ionathan by deceit.

IOnathan nowe seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish & renewe the friendship with them. Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 8.

2 He sent letters also vnto ‖ the Spartiās and to other places, for the same purpose. ‖or, Lacede-monians.

3 So they went vnto Rome, & entred into the Senate, and said, Ionathan the hie Priest & the natiō of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renewe friendship with you, & the bonde of loue, as in times past.

4 So the [Romanes] gaue them free passportes, that men should leade thē home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 ¶ [AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Ionathan wrote vnto the Spartians,

6 Ionathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, & the rest of the people of the Iewes, sende greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Omias the hie Priest, from ‖ Arius, which thē reigned among you, that ye would be our brethren, Ioseph. Antiquit. 12. chap. 5. ‖or, Darius.

bzethzen, as the copie here vnder Writtē specifieth.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honourably, & receiued the letters: Wherein there was mention made of ỹ bonde of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, wee neede no such Writings: for wee haue the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuertheleſſe we thought it good to sende vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhoode and friendship, least we shoulde be strange vnto you: for it is long since ỹ time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore we remember you at al seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appoynted, when wee offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our bzethzen.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the Kings rounde about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet woulde we not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friends in theſe warres.

15 For wee haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, & wee are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius [the sonne] of Antiochus, and Antipater [the sonne] of Jason, and sent thē vnto the Romaines, for to renewe the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And nowe ye shall do vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writting, that the Spartians and Jewes are bzethzē, and come out of the generation of Abzaham.

22 And nowe for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shal doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs, we haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, & ours are yours: these things haue wee commanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Now when Jonathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 He went from Jerusalem, & met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tēts, which came againe, & told him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, when the sunne was gone downe, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheles Jonathan & his company knewe it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but hee coulde not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabiās, which were called Zabedei, & slewe them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 Hee proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went thorowe all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went foorth, and came to Ascalon and to the nert holds, departing vnto Joppe, and wanne it.

34 For he heard that they would deliuer ỹ holde to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Jonathan home, & called the Elders of the people together, & deuised with them for to build vp the strong holdes in Judea, 36 And to make the walles of Jerusalem hier, and to make a great mour betwixt the castel and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, & that mē should neither bye, nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the citie: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to bee crowned when he had slaine the King Antiochus. Ioseph. Anno. 13. chap. 9.

40 But he was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: Wherefore he went about to take Jonathā, and to kil him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell with fourtie thousande chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathan came with so great an host, he durst not lay hand vpon him,

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friendes, and gaue him rewardes, and commanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to him selfe,

44 And saide vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauell, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore sende them nowe home againe, and chuse certaine men to wayte vpon thee, and come thou with mee to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holdes, and the other garisons, and all the that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Jonathan believed him, and did as he said, and sent away his host, which went into the land of Juda, 47 And retained but three thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Nowe assoone as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, & slewe all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an host of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, and into the great plaine, to destroy all Jonathans companie.

50 But when they knewe þ Jonathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they incouraged one another, & came forth against them ready to the battel.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes al they came into the land of Juda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were rounde about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they saide, Nowe haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs nowe fight against them, & roote out their memorie from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Jonathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children, and money for the redemption of Jonathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the towre of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne John captaine.

NOwe when Simon heard that Tryphō gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Juda, & to destroy it, Ioseph. Anno 13. cap. 9.

2 And saw that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Jerusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Ye know what great things I, & my brethren, & my fathers house haue done for þ Lawe, and the Sanctuarie, and the battels, & troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof al my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, þ I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I wil auenge my nation, and the Sanctuarie, & our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the heartes of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in steade of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fyght thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will do it.

10 ¶ So he gathered al the mē of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Jerusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent he Jonathan the sonne of Ablalomus with a great hoste vnto Joppe, which droue them out that were therein, & remained there him selfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the lande of Juda, & Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at ‖Addidis vpon the open plaine. ‖ or, Addus.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stoode vp in stead of his brother Jonathan, and that hee would fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Where as wee haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the kings account concerning the busines that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send nowe an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when hee is letten foorth, he will not turne from vs, and wee will send him againe.

17 Neuertheless Simon knew that he dissembled in his wordes, yet commanded hee the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, least he should bee in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who

18 Who might haue sayde, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundreth talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Jonathan go.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into ꝑ land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, ꝑ leadeth vnto Adora: but whersoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castel, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he should make haste to come by the wildernesse, and to send them vitailes.

22 So Tryphon made ready al his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snowe, so that hee came not, because of the snow: but he remoued and went into ꝑ coūtrey of Galaad.

23 And whē he came neere to Bascama, he slew Jonathan, & hee was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take ꝑ bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Jsrael bewayled him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto, of hewen stone behind & before,

